MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS

INDEX TO VOLUME XXXVIII 1924

Compiled by A. H. PIKE.

NOTE:—Regular features, to be found in most every issue, are not indexed by titles. These include Editorial, Chronicle, News Gleanings, Answers to Correspondence, etc. Items of special importance, however, which occur under these headings, have been indexed by their subject matter. Reference in general are to subjects rather than in the exact form of the titles. The proper names placed in brackets denote the author of the article indexed. Special reference to individuals will be found under "Personals". Activities of stamp clubs will be found under "Organized Philately". Deaths under "Obituary".

LIEUT. COL. ERNEST F. WURTELE.

By WILLIAM BUTLER.

Prominent in the business, social and military life of Montreal, is Lieutenant-Colonel Ernest Frederick Wurtele, chartered accountant and Reserve Officer in the Canadian Militia, who, to use a military term, is one of the old "vanguard" of Canadian collectors. During the many years that he has been a devotee of the cult, Col. Wurtele has accumulated a very fine collection, numbering 22,000 specimens, besides a splendid array of precancels and revenues. He is interested in advertising and commemorative postmarks, too.

An active member of the St. Lawrence Stamp Club, Col. Wurtele is constantly acquiring new items for his already extensive collections, and he has made several "good" finds. On one occasion he bought a collection in Quebec City for $25.00 and found therein four beautiful one penny Ceylons, which today catalogue $4,000. On another occasion he had an envelope full of ordinary stamps presented to him which contained a Newfoundland one shilling carmine valued at approximately $250. This makes good reading, but to use a colloquialism, "them days is gone forever!"

Col. Wurtele is a graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ontario, an institution ranking with America's West Point and England's Sandhurst. Upon being graduated from that highly efficient seat of learning in 1882 he received his commission as a Lieutenant (unattached) in the Canadian Militia, and was employed in connection with public works as an assistant engineer and also in other capacities. He is now practising as a chartered accountant and estate agent with an office, 365 University Street, Montreal.

Appointed Lieutenant in the 8th Royal Rifles of Canada in 1885, the Colonel has had a long and honorable career in the Canadian Militia, and holds the Long Service Medal and Officer's Decoration. In 1894 he was transferred to the Reserve Officers, engineering branch, with the rank of Captain, but on the organization of the 18th "Saguenay" Regiment he was gazetted senior Major, being later promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel commanding. He later succeeded to the commands of the 15th and 19th Infantry Brigades, finally being retired to the Reserve of Officers after a career in the Militia extending over thirty-five years.

"Like Father like Son" is an adage that has held true in many an instance, and the Colonel's son, Harold H., holds the Military Cross and a Lieutenant-Colonel's commission in the Canadian Military Forces. Col. Wurtele is an Anglican by religion, a Conservative in politics, and a member of the A. F. & A. M., besides many other clubs and associations.

A New Blank Album

made exactly like the famous "Oriel" but without the fancy trimmings. This new album is canvas bound, has fifty leaves of the finest possible quadrille ruled paper and has the same peg attachment as the Oriel. When we say this book is just as fine an Album as anyone needs, we are going pretty strong but we mean it. Oriels may be imitated, which some people say is "the sincerest form of flattery."

THE OPENING OF A NEW YEAR

We have all by this time launched 1924 on its way with a multitude of good resolutions, some of which we hope may keep throughout its twelve months.

Philatelically, most have resolved to better their collections and to extend them. To better them is to remove all poor and damaged copies and replace them with good specimens. To extend them is to fill some long vacant spaces.

If United States stamps are what you want, write for my new 48-page price-list entitled

"Stamps of United States and Colonies."

Not a damaged or even slightly defective stamp is sold under price-list orders—there is a whole page describing condition, which is a guaranty you may rely upon. There is no question about finding stamps to fill vacant spaces.

19th Century Canadians

Here are some stamps that specialization is advancing rapidly. They are far scarcer than their U. S. contemporaries, and to the American collector almost equally interesting from the historical or pictorial standpoints. Further, early Canadians are found in few dealers' stocks. We made a considerable investment in them some years ago or we could not offer them at these prices.

EARLY LOW VALUES SPECIALIZED.

By WARNER BATES.

73 W. Eagle St., Buffalo, N. Y.

(This department deals only with U. S. issued before 1890 and mainly postal issues. The editor cannot give valuations on minor varieties, etc. Stamps sent for examination should be of interest because of oddity, scarcity, etc., or to clear up some debated question. Postage should be enclosed with registration fee when desired, also self-addressed envelope.—Ed.)

F. O. Salianoff, of San Francisco, has sent another generous installment of his check list of postmarkings on U. S. stamps before 1890.

This list contains a description of some extremely rare and most interesting cancellations and will be received by the readers of this department with a distinct feeling of appreciation for the generous motives and self sacrificing patience which have inspired Mr. Salianoff to do this work for the benefit of readers of MEKEEL'S.

With the aid of this check list many collectors will be able to identify cancellations in their own collections which have lacked identification. With many of us it will serve to make us realize how really incomplete our cancellation collections are and inspire us to renewed efforts along this line.

Of course the collector who, like myself, collects only a single issue of U. S. stamps or only a few values of a single issue, many of these cancellations will be unobtainable. But no matter what old U. S. stamps the collector may specialize in, he will find a distinct pleasure in studying Mr. Salianoff's exhaustive work on this subject:—

Billions of Marks

Here are some of the highest value stamps ever issued for Danzig and Germany. Danzig has already changed her currency to gold basis and is using the Gulden as a basis. The 5gld stamp is the highest value in the set. Germany will likely go onto a different currency basis soon.

We can supply practically everything in recent Germans and Danzig and offer some below. Anything you want in these or other stamps you do not see offered, let us know and we'll send it if it's here. Our connections are of the best and prices reasonable. For offers in these and thousands of other first class stamps, get Phillips' Monthly Bulletin, 24 pages and free for the asking.

Want Lists. A Specialised Service

For years I have made a specialty of the execution of Want Lists. Few firms in this country have developed this side of the business to the same extent.

Owing to the great increase in my American business, I have now established a WANTS REGISTER on the basis of Scott's catalogue. Collectors may therefore send me their full want lists and be confident that they will not be side tracked and that they will receive constant attention. Selections will be sent on approval at regular intervals.

I sell stamps in Fine Condition only. My prices average half catalogue, and will bear comparison with any market in the world. I have, at the moment, nothing to offer in old U. S., but have an immense stock of British and French Colonials, Europeans, Asiatics, Africans and South Americans. I stock no common stamps and New European rubbish.

Approval selections of any country against references. [tf]

OUR REVIEW.

"Old Irish Postage Stamps and Franks" by F. W. Meredith with Catalogue priced by Walter Morley, is a work of about 100 pages that makes one rejoice that there are historians among the philatelic body who really are savants. In the preface, Mr. Meredith calls attention to the comparative neglect of old Irish "stamps" and postmarks, a circumstance due in great measure to the difficulty in securing material for systematic study. It is interesting to learn that forty years ago, collectors of Irish postal markings organized a club for the purpose of comparing and exchanging these forms of postal markings. It is instructive to hear that the Irish Post Office was established in 1784 by Act of the Irish Parliament and that it was not until the year 1831 that it was merged into the English Post Office. Consequently, for forty-seven years the Irish postal system was a distinctive service with "indicia" that affords a special field for philatelic diversion. It is in these hand-stamped markings showing that postage had been paid for mail transit that the chief interest lies. The story of the use (and abuse) of franks in Ireland is interesting and has its historic side. Page after page appears with pictures of the "stamps" and franks; and it will readily be admitted that illustrations of the kind make a decided appeal to the interest of students. The book is one that has performed a service in which the philatelic or postal is nicely blended with the historical details, attending the use of the markings. The catalogue with prices is a feature of the book and Mr. Morley may be trusted to exercise proper discrimination in work of the kind, as he is known as a leading authority on the postal markings of Great Britain and Ireland. The book is a well dressed production and we hope that it will receive the favorable welcome to which it is entitled. Published for F. W. Meredith by Walter Morley, 325 Brownhill Road, Catford, London, S. E. 6, England: price seven shillings, six pence, net.

"The Boys' Own Guide to Stamp Collecting" is the title of a new book by Fred J. Melville and published by the Philatelic Institute, 26 Plumstead High St., S. E. 18, London, England. The book is attractively gotten out at the very low price of 25c. The title of the book carries with it a good idea of the contents, and written in Mr. Melville's entertaining way the book will no doubt command a large sale.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Emil H. Swenson calls our attention to the fact that the specialized stamp collection owned by Baron Erik Leijenhufvud is being catalogued for sale at auction, the place to be Stockholm, at an early date. The collection includes the finest lot of Swedish stamps in existence.

—We have received from A. S. Davenport and Richard C. Berresford clippings from the magazine section of the New York Tribune dated Dec. 23. A. J. Pegler has a full page story on "What the World War did to Stamp Albums." It is illustrated.

—K. Baumann sends us a clipping which credits Germany with three hundred varieties of stamps since the war closed. We should consider this a very moderate estimate. Mr. Baumann also notes the receipt of three values of the new gold mark issue, 5, 10 and 20pf.

—We have received from Adolph Sonntag a letter giving a list of interesting covers received by him from Germany. One of these covers had a total postage of 480 billion marks, viz.:—twenty-four stamps of 20 billions each.

—Frank A. Goldsmith has shown us an advertising cancellation from Merced, Cal., differing a little from that heretofore noted:—"Visit Yosemite National Park This Year."

—A Chicago subscriber, Paul G. Andres, wishes to know what has become of Mr. Ritchie and his studies on cancellations. We have previously announced in the WEEKLY that Mr. Ritchie's health did not permit of his continuing the work along the line indicated. It is a matter of regret to us, fully as much as to our many subscribers who were interested in cancellations.

—Replying to your letter regarding the rotary coil stamps would inform you that these are printed from cylindrical plates, two plates being fitted together to form a cylinder which revolves and produces what we call a rotary stamp. Where the two plates are joined, there is a crevice which takes up ink, and this gives us the line between certain pairs on the sheet. Stamps from the rotary press are about 1mm. wider than those from the flat plate and are of a much softer appearance. When the eye is accustomed to picking them out, the stamp may be separated without close inspection. The lines upon examination are also not as heavy and the whole appearance of the stamp differs. —PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

—We have received a great many Christmas cards from friends of the WEEKLY and we wish to acknowledge the same with our sincere thanks. One card came from Gustave G. LaChasse formerly of San Francisco and at the present time in France. He writes that he plans to be in Detroit at the A. P. S. convention in August.

A GREAT WORK.

One of the most impressive books on stamps that we have ever received is "Die Briefmarken der Schweiz" or "Spezial-Katalog und Handbuch über die Briefmarken der Schweizerischen Eidgenossenschaft," third edition. The frontispiece is a fine portrait in memoriam of Ernest Zumstein, founder of Zumstein & Company, who died in 1918; he prepared the first and second editions of this monumental work. In order that proper consideration might be done to the book, it has been placed in the hands of a collector who has given no little attention to Swiss stamps; and he submits his conclusions as follows:

Like Gaul, the postage stamps are divided into three parts: the Cantons, the Transition Period and the Federal stamps.

Cantons have ever been among the classics of stampdom. They were (in 1843) the first issue of continental Europe and their rarity as well as their distinctive designs has no doubt helped their popularity. Lives there a collector—a true lover of stamps—who has not yearned for a copy of the Basel dove—a beauty of beauties among aristocrats! This handbook contains countless illustrations consisting of halftones (enlarged as well as normal size) and drawings (pointing out varieties in detail). Covers, pairs, strips and even large blocks are clearly shown. The illustrations of greatest interest and beauty are 14 color pages of stamps issued prior to the seated Helvetia type.

Zurich 4 and 6 are shown in strips of five, illustrating the five types of background. The other Cantons are shown in singles. The colors and presswork are beyond reproach. Fine cardboard stock is used for all the color pages.

Full sheets in color are shown of the Orts Post, Poste Locale and all the Rayon issues. For plating purposes, as well as the detection of counterfeits, these color pages are of inestimable value.

Practically all items in the book are priced not only unused and used but also on cover; some are also priced on piece of cover. In the later issues unused blocks of four are priced. In the earlier issues used pairs and blocks are priced. Cancellations are priced in a separate section, of which more is given later.

As price plays such an important role in our philatelic lives, we submit the following comparisons, limiting this list to the commoner variety of each stamp mentioned. Swiss francs have been figured at 20 cents, English shillings at 22½ cents.

	21a and 23e priced by Zumstein according to relative completeness of frame.

The writer has his own opinion as to the value of some of the above. The same can be said for probably every student of philately. Nevertheless prices of stamps depend on the inevitable law of supply and demand.

In this hand-book there are voluminous statistics as to the quantities issued, remainders if any, and quantities officially destroyed. Zumstein calls attention to the fact that statistics do not make price. There were more stamps issued of a certain kind than another stamp, which latter sells at a considerably lower price. Why this is so is not definitely known, except perhaps that the stamp that brings the higher price might be more popular with collectors, or it might be absorbed in larger quantities for plating purposes or smaller quantities have withstood the ravages of time—and the waste basket.

No matter what we think about the pricing of a stamp here or there, the reasonable man must admit that Zumstein, Scott and Gibbons know individually more about pricing than the vitriolically inclined critic; certainly their combined knowledge is a safeguard for philatelists.

The second part of this fine handbook consists of thirty pages of essays and reprints. Much valuable and interesting information is given.

The third section is devoted to entires. The fourth section deals with privately issued stamps, which correspond roughly with our Locals.

The fifth part treats entirely of cancellations and this is second only in importance and interest to the preceding pages concerning the stamps themselves.

Some idea of the wealth of illustration may be gathered by noting that the description of normal postage stamps occupies the first 204 pages in which there are 276 illustrations in black and 14 pages in color; after page 204 the illustrations are numbered by sections instead of consecutively. As the writer of this review has to occasionally rest his addled brain in sleep, he could not count all the illustrations. To guess would be like estimating the number of beans in a bushel.

In the fifth section there are depicted 705 different cancellations with tables showing the respective towns of use; practically all are priced. This portion of the book consists of only 70 pages of detail in getting together all these facts must have been tremendous. Assuredly patience is a virtue and genius consists of the capacity for work.

We are without information as to the price of this book. However, we know

ARGENBRIGHT CONTRACT.

We are pleased to announce that Hugh C. Argenbright of Staunton, Va., has taken out a contract for 4,000 lines displayed advertising to be used during 1924. Mr. Argenbright has been using the WEEKLY for a long period and feels that he is now amply justified in taking larger space than heretofore.

A NEW WAY OF DEALING WITH THE GERMAN PROBLEM

Our stock of the numerous new, recent and earlier issues of Germany has been accumulating so rapidly that we were at a loss to know how to bring them to the attention of collectors, in other words, how to advertise them. We knew that if today we prepared an ad containing specific items, by the time our ad is published, two weeks later, we would have many more new stamps which would not appear in our ad. We have, therefore, come to the conclusion that the best way to solve the problem is to revert to the age-old system of approvals.

To interested parties we are prepared to send on approval in envelopes marked 1c, 2c, 3c, etc., practically all the recent issues of Germany up to 20 billion Marks (or more), both mint and postally used. When applying, please indicate whether you are interested in used or unused stamps or both, whether you collect blocks (all mint stamps can be furnished in blocks and we also have a number of fine postally used blocks). If unknown to us, kindly give reference.

Remember that many experts predict that some of these German stamps, especially the postally used ones, will be mighty scarce, and if you don't buy them now at bargain prices, you will at some future date have to pay several times as much for them.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF HAYTI.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER IX.

The 1891 Provisional.

In November, 1891, Le Timbre Poste recorded the 3c of the 1891 series surcharged 2c, so it would appear that the date 1892 usually accorded this provisional by the catalogues is incorrect. The same handstamp was employed as was used in the production of the provisional stamp of 1890, so that varieties of defective lettering similar to those described in Chapter VII are frequently met with. Both the gray and lilac stamps are found with this overprint and both may be found with double and inverted surcharges as well as in pairs one stamp of which has no surcharge. Scott's catalogue insists that the gray shade, listed as "slate," is the rarer while Gibbons catalogue says it is the commoner. Our experience has always been that the gray shade is at least three times as plentiful as the stamp printed in lilac. How many of these stamps were overprinted and how long the provisionals remained in use are matters upon which no information is available.

CHAPTER X.

The 1893 Issue.

Early in 1893 the same five values as were included in the previous set were issued in a modified design and while it was, apparently, intended to use similar colors these are very different except in the case of the 7c. The 1c, 2c and 7c denominations were chronicled in the Monthly Journal for February, 1893, and the 3c and 5c values were mentioned in the following April. Two years later, April, 1895, a 20c denomination was added to the series, the old "Liberty Head" 20c having at last become sold out.

The chief distinguishing feature of the new design is the palm tree, which now has the branches drooping instead of straight. But the whole design was redrawn, for the lettering of the word "CENT" is smaller, the flags are smaller and are placed at a more acute angle, the curve of the foliated border is more pronounced, the shading of the background is deeper, there is a dash instead of an apostrophe in "D'HAITI," and the tail of the "Q" of "REPUBLIQUE" is exactly under the letter, etc.

The stamps were printed in sheets of 100 arranged in ten rows of ten, and the sheets were numbered consecutively—usually in the upper left hand margin. Whether there was a separate series of numbers for each value or not we cannot say, but as the number on each sheet would differ from that of all the others in any particular consignment the philatelic interest of these marginal varieties is small.

It has usually been considered that these stamps were manufactured by the firm which produced the 1891 series, but Mr. Crouch states positively that they were manufactured in London by Messrs. Charles Skipper & East, the firm that produced the Salomon issue. The plates were all produced from a single die which had the value tablets blank and, curiously enough, the numerals of value were added to each stamp separately. There are small differences in the figures, especially in the case of the 5c and 20c denominations, but these variations are not nearly so pronounced as they are in the subsequent issue of similar type.

The paper is wove and fairly thick, like that employed in 1891, and the gum is quite white on all values except the 20c. On all the specimens of this stamp we have seen the gum is quite yellowish, and sometimes is almost brown.

The perforation differs from that of the preceding issue in that it gauges exactly 14. It is the work of single-line machines, two of which were apparently in use. One of these made small regular holes in perfect alignment and the other made larger holes often badly out of line.

The 2c, 3c and 7c values are known entirely imperforate, the 5c may be found imperforate horizontally, and the 3c and 20c are known imperforate vertically.

There are striking varieties of shade in the 1c and less prominent shades in the other values, and the 7c was recorded in brown in 1898. We think, however, this can only have been a badly oxidized copy.

For several days in October, 1894, the 2c revenue stamp is said to have been requisitioned for postal use in Port-au-Prince owing to a temporary shortage of the ordinary 2c labels.

CHAPTER XI.

The 1896 Issue.

In 1896, a new series was issued containing the same six values as the preceding set and with the palm tree design again modified. The colors were all changed except as regards the 3c which was printed in much the same tint as the corresponding value of 1893. The design is very similar to that of the preceding series, but that an entirely new die was engraved may be proved from the following list of the chief points of difference: the inscription "REPUBLIQUE D'HAITI" is in shorter letters and the apostrophe is less pronounced; the "C" of "CENT" is more open, the "E" slopes upwards, the "N" is wider, and the "T" has a larger top; the flags are a trifle shorter, and the lowest one on the left does not touch the foliated border; the point of the bayonet on the left touches the fourth branch of the palm tree, etc. The stamps are about 1/4mm shorter than those previously in use.

The 2c was issued in March, 1896, the 3c appeared in August, the 5c was placed on sale in November and in the following month the other three values were issued.

The change of design was due to another change of printers and apparently this issue was produced in Paris. Much the same method was employed as was used for the first "palm-tree" issue of 1891, only this issue was printed in sheets of 100 (ten rows of ten), instead of in sheets of fifty.

The original die had the value tablets blank, as in the case of the two previous designs. It would appear that in making the plates a vertical strip of five impressions was taken from this die, and this subsidiary "die" was then reproduced twenty times in two vertical rows of ten. The complete plate was then reduplicated five times, so that there were six plates, all exactly similar, and all minus the numerals of value. The middle stamp of each vertical strip of five has a tiny dot after the word "CENT," and another above the letter "E" of the same word between the two lines of the upper border. Thus every stamp in the third and eighth horizontal rows of the sheets of all six values supplies us with a minor variety consisting of small period after "CENT." This, we think, satisfactorily proves our contention that the plates are composed of vertical strips of five impressions. The fact that the plates for the respective denominations were taken from one common plate can be proved by the presence of a small dot above and about 1/4mm from the right-hand end of the upper frame line of the ninth stamp in the third row of each sheet. A careful examination of entire sheets may possibly reveal the presence of other minor varieties.

The numerals of value were probably added to the plates by hand, for they vary considerably in size, shape and position. They are also of quite a different character from those employed for the two preceding "palm-tree" issues. The differences are rather difficult to describe in print but it will be found, speaking generally, that the "1" has a broader serif at top and wider base, the "2" has the base line projecting on the left, the "3" is larger and has a much longer line at top, the "5" is usually smaller, the "7" has a thinner downstroke, and the "20" usually has a wider "0" and narrower "2."

As we have already stated the numerals also vary in shape, often on the same stamps. These variations are most striking on the 5c, in which one finds specimens with the "flag" either abnormally long or unduly short.

The paper is white wove similar to that employed for the first "palm-tree" stamps, and the gum is usually white and smooth. Fairly distinct shades may be found of all denominations.

The stamps were perforated by a single-line machine having a gauge of exactly 13 1/2. All values are known entirely imperforate and there are innumerable varieties of faulty perforation. Thus all values except the 2c are known imperforate vertically, the 1c and 7c are found imperforate horizontally and probably all values may be found with double perforation. The 7c is found perforated down the centre instead of at the sides and the 5c is known in vertical pairs imperforate between. The 1c, 2c and 7c values were recorded some years ago with pin-perforation and also with roulette, but we think there can be little doubt these varieties were entirely unofficial.

CHAPTER XII.

The 1898 Provisionals.

The old 2c handstamp was again brought into use in March, 1898, owing to a temporary shortage of the ordinary 2c stamps. At first the remainders of the 20c brown of 1895 were converted into the lower value and when these were exhausted the then current 20c orange stamps were similarly disfigured. The usual crop of minor varieties, letters broken or missing, etc., due to defective impressions of the handstamp may be found and both values also exist with double and inverted surcharges. The 2c on 20c brown is known with triple surcharge and also in pairs with and without overprint, while the 2c on 20c orange may be found with double surcharge, one inverted.

CHAPTER XIII.

The First 1898 Issue.

Le Timbre Poste for April, 1898, announced that a supply of 1c, 2c, 3c, 5c, 7c and 20c stamps in an entirely new design had been despatched to Hayti a little time previously. The design consists of the Arms of the republic, on a smaller scale than before, on a horizontally lined background with a branch of oak at the dependencies of Barbuda and Redonda, have the picture of a small hill. Antigua was named by Columbus after a hill in Spain. On approaching Antigua he saw a hill resembling "Sancta Maria della Antigua." That is the reason why Antigua is supposed to have a hill in her Crest. The Island of Redonda which in Spanish means "round Island" is only a rock of about 1,000 feet in height rising out of the ocean. Phosphate of Alumina is found there.

Barbuda is an island nearly as large as Antigua, but practically uncultivated and very thinly populated. Cotton grows well there, but alas! for the poor Barbudians the days of the cotton boom are over. But the Barbudians are wise old birds (or was it someone else who did the thinking for them.)

"Why not let us have a Postage Stamp of our own," said they, "for stamps do help to swell the Treasury's Funds."

"A splendid idea!" went the answer back from headquarters,—so forth came the "Barbuda Stamps" to the world—if only for a little while. Barbuda was formerly owned by the Codrington family who made it a game preserve.

The stamps of Dominica have nothing historic about them, just the view of a mountain and a little town with a steamer at anchor in the harbour.

The old stamps of Nevis, and some of the St. Kitts-Nevis stamps have the picture of two women standing near a spring of water with another sick woman sitting where the water can fall on her. In the Island of Nevis there are Thermal Springs of which the waters are said to be an excellent cure for Rheumatism. Even in the days before colonisation the Caribs used to carry their sick to be cured by bathing in the warm waters of that Island.

Some of the St. Kitts-Nevis Stamps also have the picture of Columbus spying with a telescope the Islands. If that famous old pioneer could look down on his picture, doubtless he would wonder what he was holding in his hand, as telescopes were invented some little time after he left this terrestrial sphere. However, mistakes are made by the best of us at times, and we can imagine Columbus standing on the deck of his little ship, and seeing far away an Island rising out of the sea, and looking in the shadows and glories of a tropical sunset like an immense statue of St. Christopher carrying the Christ Child on his back.

Montserrat undoubtedly has the prettiest stamp of the group, that of a woman clinging to a cross and holding a harp. Oftentimes called the "Emerald Isle" of the West, Montserrat was settled by Irish Rebels in 17th century. Good old Irish who refused to give up their Faith and traditions and were exiled to a far away new Colony. There is one peculiarity about Montserrat, and that is up to this day although several hundred years have elapsed, the natives still speak an Irish brogue. The Crest of old Ireland became that of Montserrat, and in the course of years has never changed.

The Virgin Islands were called after St. Ursula and her faithful Companions, and not after the seven wise and seven foolish Virgins as is oftentimes stated. Over a thousand small islands stretching out in a blue scintillating sea remind one on having the first glance at them of the legend of those faithful Virgins of historical fame. The picture on the stamp is supposed to be that of St. Ursula.

THE STAMPS OF THE LEEWARD ISLANDS.

By CARIBBEA.

The Leeward Islands are one of Great Britain's Colonies in the Caribbean Sea. Small in proportion to some of the larger Colonies, nevertheless they have been the centre of many a battle in the "good old days" when Great Britain and France were not on as friendly terms as they are now. The Islands of the Colony consist of the Presidency of Antigua, with the dependencies of Redonda and Barbuda; the Presidencies of Dominica, St. Kitts-Nevis, Montserrat and the Virgin Islands. Each Presidency is governed by an Administrator who is under the Governor of the Colony. The Governor resides at Antigua, which is the headquarters of the Government. Within the Colony the penny postage on letters still remains the same as before the war. Twopence is charged for a letter sent to a British Possession outside the Colony, and to the United States of America.

The "Leeward Islands" stamps all have Queen Victoria's or the reigning King's Head on them. They came in use in 1890 when each Island ceased from issuing new stamps, except the Virgin Islands. It was thought best to have one kind of stamp for the whole Colony. However, that did not last very long, for in 1903, new stamps were issued in each Presidency and sold along with the "Leeward Islands" stamps. This time instead of the Queen's Head, they bore, more or less, the pictures of their respective Crests. Only the Five Shilling Stamp of each Island bore the King's Head.

The picture of a little Crown on each stamp denotes that the Colony is under Crown Colony Rule, that is governed directly from the Home Government in England.

The stamp of Antigua, with the De-were sent to Berne to be distributed among the countries composing the Universal Postal Union, 350 of each were presented by the Director of the Haytian Post Office to his friends, and the remainder were sold to an American speculator. But though the 1c, 3c, 7c and 20c were never actually issued, they seem to have passed without question as having legitimate franking power. Consequently used or postmarked copies of these unissued varieties may be met with occasionally.

The 2c exists in a number of very distinct shades ranging from a bright carmine-red to a deep lake red, the 5c may be found in pale and deep green, but the other values show practically no shade variations. The 5c is known doubly printed and the 2c is sometimes seen with an extra line of perforation running vertically through the stamp. All seven values are known entirely imperforate.

Proofs of all denominations may be found in all sorts of colors and on various kinds of paper. In fact, proofs of this issue are more plentiful and varied than probably those of all the other emissions combined, and no useful purpose would be served in listing them separately. Whether they are proofs in the generally accepted meaning of the term—i.e., trial impressions taken from the plates before the actual colors of the respective denominations had been decided on—or posthumous impressions taken at a later date to supply a philatelic demand, we are unable to say.

We have seen the 2c and 5c stamps of this type overprinted NORD ALEXIS—PRESIDENTE—21 DECEMBRE 1902 in four lines within an ornamental frame. It would appear that these are essays made for a mooted provisional issue after the civil war of 1902. The date is that on which Nord Alexis was declared President by his successful troops after the overthrow of Simon Sam's government.

1c ultramarine,	20,000
2c lake red,	500,000
3c violet,	20,000
5c green,	440,000
7c grey,	10,000
20c orange,	10,000

As a matter of fact only the 2c and 5c values were actually placed on sale to the public, and these were in use only a short time before the new set was ready. Of the balance 650 of each denomination

EDITORIAL.

Our suggestion that the government issue a special stamp in celebration of the international philatelic exhibition to be held in Philadelphia on the occasion of the sesquicentennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in that city has brought a gratifying response from a gentleman whose co-operation will be valuable. He says that while the proposal is a somewhat ambitious one, it is not so unreasonable as might be thought at first glance. We realize that the likelihood of special stamps to celebrate the festival at Philadelphia must be admitted but we cannot see why we cannot have a badge of distinction in the way of a special issue, as well. In asking for recognition, we stand on the most favorable ground and no other class of people has any warrant to compare with that of us, as philatelists are the champions of the postage stamp in every sense and exalt it to the skies. It must be acknowledged that stamp collectors have proved their faith in stamps as objects of collection by investing heavily in the unused stamps of the U. S. A., in particular, and on the score there is a material claim for consideration of their wishes; and sentimentally there are so many reasons in support of a tribute to collectors that it is a task to enumerate them. The fact of the matter is that we are surprised that some of the more susceptible governments who have all reason to know of the activities of stamp collectors have not shown philatelists attention by a stamp or so dedicated to our clan. In the instance of the U. S., any kindness in the manner indicated would be based on good feeling and a willingness to visit approval on a body of men and women worthy of it.

* * *

Philatelists understand the functions of government in a stamp sense and do not make a request for a special stamp with the lightness that sometimes characterizes the ingenuous demands of the booster who does not know that compliance with his wishes entails a movement that starts many wheels, large and small, a-whirring. Feeling that our position is one that is strong and that our sincerity as partisans of the stamp has been proved, we advance our views with confidence and knowing that as a class, collectors have elements of influence in their ranks, we believe that the subject so near to our affections will receive a review that may develop an important event in philatelic history.

* * *

We are always interested in the accounts of the stamp experiences of our philatelic travellers in Europe and elsewhere. Mr. O. H. Sampson of Chicago, who recently returned from abroad spent several months hunting the elusive old U. S.; and his stories afford an insight into conditions, particularly in France,
 as affecting the hunter of U. S. issues.
 He combed Paris well in six weeks,
 where his stay was under advantageous conditions and while the big dealers were not neglected, attention was given particularly to the out of the way places and the little shops in jewelry and other stores, where sometimes the seller was a collector and disposed only of his duplicates. Mr. Sampson's conclusion is summed up, broadly, in the statement that there are no U. S. stamps in Europe from the speculator's view-point. He fortifies his opinion by citing instances to show the unfruitful results; and the conviction follows that Europe is no longer the happy hunting-ground of the American collector. Mr. Sampson said that the knowledge of the smaller and scarcer varieties of U. S. on the part of dealers was rather general and that the pickings in this respect were small. He visited the Stamp Bourse frequently and on the big day, Sunday, he estimated that as many as two thousand collectors foregathered on the traditional spot. The other day of the Bourse, Thursday, was not so active a one. The large number of women at the mart was mentioned and the number of old women there with their stands was noticeable. Rare stamps are the exception at the Bourse and one must be on the lookout for repaired and otherwise unacceptable specimens.

The third assistant postmaster-general, under date of December 20th, has instructed postmasters at direct and central accounting stations to place on sale
 the three cent stamp in coil and to remove the three cent stamps in books and dispose of them as ordinary sheet stamps in meeting calls for the stamp of this denomination, "so far as practicable." The postmasters at district offices having the three cent coil and books in stock will apply for exchange at central accounting offices.

We have been asked to say that due to the unprecedented demand by collectors for stamps on sale at the Philatelic Agency, the force at the department in question is still behind in filling orders.
 When customers realize that extra help at the Agency is not always to be had for the asking, they will possess themselves in patience and wait their turn for attention without any misgivings.

As members of the American Stamp Dealers' Association know, the secretary of that organization, W. F. Slusser, Fort Hancock, New Jersey, issued a warning in the Bulletin of the A. S. D. A., several months ago, concerning the alleged 1923 issue of Paraguay, bi-colored, one to fifty pesos, inclusive, as a set that was not an authentic one, in an official sense, even though the stamps have been chronicled and catalogued here and there. The stamps were sent broadcast by one James Collins of the Argentine Republic and several weeks later Mr.

 Slusser had pieced together evidence that prompted him to say that beyond a reasonable doubt the signature of James Collins was made by a person who penned those of C. P. Mego, P. V.
 Hiorjan, Frank Warner and Marcos Rachitoff, all of the Argentine Republic, whose operations have been at the expense of philatelists heretofore. In the Bulletin of December 6, 1923, Mr. Slusser does not mince words but summarizes the case against Collins as attempting a world wide fraud, in the light of further developments that he discovered. Collins may be operating as a "one man gang" or he may have confederates. Secretary Slusser has now submitted at the request of the Chief Post Office Inspector at Washington, his charges against the individual, one or more, who operating from Buenos Ayres has flooded the world with the fraudulent Paraguay stamps, which were offered to dealers in this country at 10% over face, in fifty set lots, or ninety dollars. Mr. Slusser calls upon the Argentine Republic postal authorities for action in his letter to our Chief Post Office Inspector, trusting that Washington will take action officially to that end. While Mr. Slusser in arriving at his decision which seems to be incontrovertible, had assistance from members of the A. S. D. A. in so far as it was in their power to give it, yet it was he who worked up the case in a way that shows deductive ability of a high order.
 His analysis with the results as now made known is one that shows cleverness and pertinacity, as he began his investigations with little, if any, evidence of a tangible nature. His suspicions, which may be said to have become nicely trained through many years of experience with crook psychology were aroused and then he set to work to verify them.
 Philatelists owe Mr. Slusser and the A.
 S. D. A. a debt of gratitude in exploding a sinister get-rich-quick scheme to swindle philatelists.

POETICAL ESSAY ON STAMPS.

By MONTGOMERY MULFORD.

(This is written with apologies to Alexander Pope. It is somewhat of a parody on his "Essay On Man".)

Awake! my dear brother; Leave all meaner things
 To low ambition and the pride of kings.
 Let us (since life can little more supply Than just to look about and die)
 Expatriate free on all the stamps of man:
 A mighty group, all printed by a plan;
 Stamps with portraits and flowers promiscuous shoot,
 Of queer designs, and trees of sprouting
 fruit;
 Together let us eye this ample field
 Try but to study—let the covers yield;
 The cancelled and precancelled to explore,
 Of airplane stamps whose prices soar,
 Aye, animals that walk and fly,
 See Roosevelt with but one eye!
 Laugh where we must, be candid where we can,
 But study most, the stamps portraying man!

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith)

SUPERB UNITED STATES

During the last several weeks I have purchased three very fine United States collections, including the Charles A. Schleicher collection, which was strong not only in the early classics, but contained such rarities as the 1869 15c and 24c inverts, the 1c, 2c and 4c Pan American inverts, the 24c air mail invert, all of the blue papers and other rarities such as are found in a collection of this size. A second collection was strong in late blocks in perfection mint condition, as well as fine singles, so that I again have in stock these most desirable 20th century items that are rapidly being absorbed and are beginning to become almost unobtainable.

A perfection mint horizontal pair of the Franklin Carriers is offered with A.P.S. certificate containing such guarantees as Luff, Klemann, Bartels, Poole, Stern, Klein and Leavy.

It is a pleasure to receive wants lists from those who appreciate really fine things in unusual condition. Let me know what you are looking for.

Also in the market to purchase at highest cash prices fine United States collections, duplicates or stock, or offer excellent exchange for those items that you desire to trade for something that can be used in your collection. Where really important properties are offered, will gladly furnish the best of banking, commercial and philatelic references.

Over 500 Copies

of the 10c 1847 belonging to members of the Philatelic Chapter of the Noble Order of Good Scouts have been submitted for examination to help in the work of reconstructing the plate of this most interesting U. S. stamp.

If sufficient material can be examined, it is probable that 80% to 90% of all the varieties can be identified and their positions on the plate definitely located. If you haven't yet submitted the black tens you are proud to own, won't you do so, or at least write me about them. Copies submitted for sale or exchange should be priced. See previous ads.

UNITED STATES.—Because of the finding of the substantial number of the 10c 1847, mentioned in my column of last week, the work of Mr. Elliott Perry in plating this variety has been considerably helped. The plating of this stamp had been attempted before but the great lack of pairs and strips made the work almost impossible. We now know that the plate consists of 200 subjects instead of one hundred as heretofore thought and besides, evidence will be produced to show that these were distributed in sheets of two hundred instead of being cut into panes, of one hundred as might be supposed. Of course there is the possibility that they were at first so issued and that later they were issued in panes of one hundred, this method being carried down through the next several emissions. I understand that about 80% of the positions have been definitely located and we will await with the greatest of interest the publication of the results of Mr. Perry's study.

Another piece of news that will come as a surprise to many is the fact that the wonderful collection of the Franklin and Eagle Carriers gotten together by that real student of United States issues, Dr. Carroll Chase, has been purchased by a well known collector in the middle west. Dr. Chase had been working with these two stamps for some little time and had acquired an unusual lot.

Under date of December 20, 1923, the Third Assistant Postmaster-General ordered that postmasters at direct and central accounting offices should remove from books and coils the 3 cent stamps and place them on sale as ordinary sheet stamps to meet the postal requirements for stamps of this denomination. This rule should be applied to all surplus 3 cent coils, but where an excessive quantity of booklets are held, making it impracticable to dispose of the books in this way, a report stating the number in stock should be submitted to the department. It will not be necessary for the postmaster to send the book covers and coil wrappers to the department for credit, but an attested report should accompany the next quarterly postage stamp account showing the number of 3 cent books and coils sold as sheet stamps.

In my Chronicle for December 17th mention was made of a new supplementary mail cancellation recently located by Mr. Miller. Dr. Warren L. Babcock writes a very interesting letter upon the subject informing me that this is a Chicago supplementary mail cancellation which he designates as type CA to distinguish from the New York type A. An article by Dr. Babcock dealing with the New York supplementary mail cancellations recently appeared in the American Philatelist and he now writes that an article on the Chicago types will soon appear.

Dr. Babcock kindly submits for inspection a cover with the 3c 1857, addressed to Rochester, N. Y., and cancelled in blue within a circle 1 1/4 inches in diameter "CHICAGO—SUPPLEMENTARY MAIL" and in the center "Mar 14". A second cover bearing a 3c of the issue of 1861, addressed to Pittsburgh, Pa., bears a black cancellation consisting of two concentric circles 1 1/16 inches and 5/8 inches in diameter respectively and between the two circles the same wording with date in the center. This time the year date also seems to be present but the cancellation is so light that this may not be the case. Dr. Babcock calls attention to the fact that the stamps upon the covers paid a domestic rate and were not intended for foreign mail.

While on the subject of supplementary mails a letter from the Postmaster at New York under date of December 19, 1923, will be of interest.

"In reply to your letter of the 14th instant, you are informed that regular closings of supplementary mails are made at the General Post Office, City Hall Station and Varick Street Station, but no special cancelling impressions are used on such mail.

In addition to the closing of supplementary mails at the above mentioned points, such mail is also accepted at the supplementary mail offices opened on the piers on the days of sailing of certain steamers. The impressions used for cancelling the stamps on supplementary mail articles received at the piers contain a number, which number is used principally to indicate at what pier the mail was received."

In a middle west auction sale of some months back one lot consisted of the 3c red, error, circular die envelope on amber. Mention was made of the variety at the time which was already known on both blue and white, but as the variety had not been inspected by those posted on the subject it was thought that this might be a changling or that the white paper may have been discolored. Mr. J. M. Bartels now informs me that a little lot of this variety on an amber window envelope has been found. It would not be surprising to see the buff variety come to light at some future date.

Mr. R. H. Mason sends me a list of new varieties of the surcharged provisional envelopes that have not been listed heretofore. These are all overprinted 2c on 3c in black.

COSTA RICA.—A new issue of stamps has just appeared, of which we have received full supplies. Two values, 10c and 12c appear to be a belated issue to commemorate the first Pan American Postal Congress, as they are dated 1921; the 10c shows Christopher Columbus before Queen Isabella of Spain and the 12c bears a portrait of Columbus in centre, flanked on the left by his fleet, and on the right by a map of the American Continent. The remaining values are all dated 1923, and are as follows:—1c, National Monument; 2c, girl gathering cocoa pods; 4c natives gathering bananas; 5c, General Post Office; 20c, Columbus at Cariari; 40c map of Costa Rica; 1 colon, portrait of Manuel Maria Gutierrez. All are beautifully engraved by the American Bank Note Co., and form a very handsome set.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

LATVIA.—Mr. George H. Jaeger writes the following regarding the recently noted surcharged stamps:

"November 10th, there have come out the new surcharged stamps in favour of the Latvian Invalids of War consisting of 1 sant. lilac, 2 sant. yellow and 4 sant. green of the Coat of Arms series (Gold currency)—1 Lat=50 Rbl.=1 Goldfranc. All three values are surcharged with 10 sant., each (total 7+30=37 gold centimes) and with same type: Maltesian Cross with laurel-wreath, in midst the rising sun (Badge of the War-Invalids); around the cross 4 initials in 4 corners; L. K. I. S. (Latwijas Kars Invalidu Savieniba); beneath print: Kara—Invalidiem—s.10.s.

Perf. 10x10. The 1 and 4 santimi issue surcharg.: dark blue; the yellow 2 santimi-issue surch.: bright blue, overprint is made of Prof. Sarrinsob, leader of the Latvian Public Printing office. According to a resolution of the Ministry (viz.: public notice in the "Waldibas Westnesis") the stamps have been printed on order of the Latvian General-Postmaster in an edition of only 200,000 series. Postage-value: the complete series 7 sant. (face-value 37 sant.) Currency: one year. Genuine authentic issue in favour of the invalids of War, who have suffered severely in the Great War. The society of the Latvian War-invalids was founded in 1917; 4,500 members. Head-office in RIGA; 19 Branch-Offices in the province. Members of honour: Latvian President I. Tschakste and the ministry-president, Sigfried A. Meierowitz.

STANDARD PRECANCEL COIL TYPES.

By ROY C. FRANK.

Coil stamps have presented weird problems to the precancel collector during the past two years. A page of coil stamps, precancelled, as nearly approximates a crazy quilt as anything we might select from the "precan" family. The multiplicity of types (the variety of sizes, the frequency of change of types and positions of the precancelling), all have combined to give us one of the most fascinating of studies.

Rochester, N. Y., coils are a unique example of a crazy quilt. The reason for the number of varieties is a scientific one, however, and therefore is excusable. "Jimmy Multipost," a firm interested in mailing and stamping devices, has its headquarters in Rochester. Coil vending machines, and the advancement of the use of coil stamps has been one of the firm's major interests; for this reason experimentation with coil precancel types have been numerous. From these tests a coil type has resulted that pleases the government.

The first coil type which seemed to satisfy the Multipost concern was a regulation style precancel with a bar above and below the inscription of the city in two lines. This cancel was in reduced size, and spaced so that the inscription fitted neatly on each respective coil. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing, for whom the firm manufactures numerous sample machines which were used by the way in Chicago, St. Louis, New York City, Los Angeles and Washington—was not content that this small type would always register exactly for all coil stamps. For this reason the box type of cancellation, on which the name of the city always reads down, was accepted. This box type, called the "bastard" type by the trade, is the type now in current use as the standard coil type. It may be described as follows: There are two horizontal bars between which the name of the city is set, with the state abbreviation, in two lines, running down; a line divides each of these vertical inscriptions of town and state, meeting the two bars, and thus forming a box. These boxes come at regular ten millimeter distances, so that the complete name of the town and state appears clearly at least once on each stamp. The usual result is a "once and a half" impression. It was this assurance of impression that pleased the bureau.

The salesmanship of the firm had to be directed towards the government officials. It was impractical, at least at first, to attempt to sell these machines to the individual concerns since most coils are used on third class matter and not on parcel post. It does not seem that the average firm is as interested in a quicker dispatch of their third class mail. With parcel post the issue is different, for parcel post is of greater importance from the delivery viewpoint. Third class mail is the last to receive attention by postal clerks. This seems to be a universal postal rule.

Why, then, if firms were not interested in these coils precancelling machines, should the government be?

The reason is that it is good efficiency. The government has a problem on its hands in the way of office management and economics in the matter of the swatting of stamps with town names. Any method whereby units of machine may be substituted for hand labor, with quicker action, is carefully considered. The precancel coil machine permits less swatting of pieces of mail by dabbers. The precancel of the coil stamps is therefore a vital efficiency device. Any practical plan to provide this saving of time was bound to be accepted sooner or later.

But there was a further reason for this machine being accepted. Steel dies, and not the ordinary electros, are used in this machine. The electros, which are made of an alloy far less substantial than steel, were not practical for coil work, since there is more wear and tear in this type of work. The firm which cuts the original dies is that of Chambers Brother, of Lodge, Virginia. They also furnish the steel dies for the machines.

Some little trouble by the offices using the machines has been prevalent, due to the tendency of the local help thinking that every screw in sight must be tightened. This difficulty has been adjusted by timely instructions, and understanding of working details seems to result in a very presentable degree of work.

OUR HONOR CLUB.

P. R. Carrington, Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Elwood W. Schwerin, Brooklyn, N. Y.

James K. Doughty, Lamar, Colo.

E. C. Evans, Chicago, Ill.

A. T. Benjamin, Grand Rapids, Mich.

C. J. Lyczynski, Toledo, O.

Wm. T. Kimball, North Andover, Mass.

Our first applicant for membership this week in the Five Year Renewal Club is P. R. Carrington of Newark, N. J. He makes his remittance of $5 with best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year. He is certainly bringing to the office of the WEEKLY his portion of good cheer.

An old friend of the WEEKLY, Judge James K. Doughty of Lamar, Colo., takes his place in the Honor Club with a remittance of $5. Judge Doughty has been a subscriber since the WEEKLY first began publication in 1891, and he believes that paying in advance for the next five years will act as a life preserver, "for one cannot afford to die as long as his subscription is paid in advance." May we quote from his letter the following:—

"I started my collection at the mature age of nine years, in 1862, and have been at it ever since. If I had kept all the good stamps I have had in the past there would be quite a nest-egg stored away. I can remember that I had the 1861 and 1869 issues except the 90c value by the dozens, and I had quite a few of the 90c. I also had the various grills, but then I did not know much about them. However, I have quite a good collection of United States as it is." It pleases us to receive a chatty letter like this from one of our subscribers.

W. F. Lawrence in renewing his subscription for the coming year makes an additional remittance of $5 for Mrs. Schwerin, a Brooklyn, N. Y., subscriber. We are very glad to add her name to the list of members in our Honor Club.

Our Christmas mail brought us a letter from Mr. Severn at our Chicago office and it contained a check for $8 covering a five years' subscription from E. C. Evans of Chicago, one two years' subscription and a single. We add Mr. Evans' name to our list with pleasure.

A. T. Benjamin of Grand Rapids, Mich., of the firm of Benjamin, Robinson & Benjamin, architects and construction superintendents, takes out a five-year renewal and in connection with his remittance he writes:—"I started collecting as a youngster in 1893, and now I have three lively youngsters of my own and all collectors. It must be hereditary." This is a good example for other dads.

In a very informal manner C. J. Lyczynski takes out a membership in our Honor Club. He takes the current wrapper indicated that his subscription had expired, writes on it "Continue for five years," and his check does the rest.

It is with great pleasure that we chronicle the admission of Wm. T. Kimball to the charmed circle. Mr. Kimball writes that he is in his seventieth year and the renewal of his subscription for five years proves that he is an optimist. He adds: "However, my physician says I ought to live several times five and I surely want your paper while I do live. The only fault that I have to find with your paper is that the Managing Editor has given up his Boston office, as I certainly used to enjoy seeing him now and then." Surely we can reciprocate the kindly expression of esteem that our friend has written.

Seven in a single week!

of even the cheaper values of

are hard to get. Take any unpicked lot of 10,000 stamps—out of the 10,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, full, rich color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes or missing perforation and lightly canceled.

Scott's Prices

are for ordinary commercial copies and a perfection copy as described above is worth more. Each one of the 10,000 stamps that was in fair condition would be worth the catalogue price, theoretically. But you might not find 100 perfection copies in the lot. Is a perfection copy, then, worth only full catalogue? You know the answer.

In Collecting Cancellations perfection has additional meaning. Not only should the stamp be in nice condition, but I want the cancellation clean-cut with enough of it showing so that one may read it at a glance. I want it right side up with the stamp so that it is not necessary to mount the stamp bottom side up in a collection. The color must be pronounced, but the cancellation must not be smudgy.

Naturally You Cannot Buy

stamps of this nature at bargain prices. But because of the prices which this kind of material always demands, the prices at which I sell are reasonable. Stamps in my stock that are a little off from what I have described are marked at correspondingly low prices. Therefore, whatever your own standards of collecting, providing you are not expecting to buy single stamps at the prices of quantity lots, you will find much to interest you in a selection from my stock, which is strongest in the three cent 1861, three cent 1869, one, two, three, four, five, six and ten cent, 1870 to 1888, inclusive.

Send good reference, society reference preferred, and name the stamps you specialize in. [24]

DERIVATION OF STATE NAMES.

(Clipping from Postage Stamp.)

Curiosity of nomenclature is probably an integral part of the workings of every collector's brain. Those particularly inclined toward Philology have found in Philately a fascinating vent to their spleen, and this is especially true of postmark collectors, most of whom are constantly pleasantly bewildered by strange place names and linguistic "jaw-breakers."

The names of American States are as curiously compounded as any names in the world and I take this opportunity to present a few explanations, gathered by Mr. F. W. Lawrence, which would not be amiss to know:

ALA.—Named from a brave Indian tribe, the Alibamons. These people migrated to the territory bearing their name in 1541, after a defeat at the hands of Hernando de Soto. The translation "Here we rest" is questionable, owing to the migratory habits of the tribe.

ARIZ.—Named by a peaceful Southwestern Indian tribe, the Papagos, from a former locality of theirs,—"Arizonaca," meaning a "Place of Small Springs," near what is now Nogales. The name does not mean "Arid Zone."

ARK.—"Bend or Bow in the Kansas (River)" is a mistaken translation. It is named from a tribe, the Alkansas. The meaning is lost.

CAL.—Name given to what is now part of Lower Cal. by some of Cortez's followers whose minds were fired by reading "Las Sergas de Esplandian," in which romance of chivalry occurs a golden island called California.

COLO.—Meaning ruddy earth (Spanish).

CONN.—Originally Quonoktacut.

SOME RECENT ISSUES.

Means "River whose water is driven in waves by tides or winds" (Indian). Other meanings are "On long river," "Long river without end."

DEL.—From Lord de la Warr, first governor and captain-general of Virginia, who visited that region in 1630.

FLA.—Spanish name for flowery; or, as a compound of "Pascua Florida," meaning Easter Sunday, on which day the country was discovered by Ponce de Leon in 1512.

GA.—From King George II, who, in 1732, granted a charter to General Oglethorpe.

IDAHO.—Indian language, meaning "Gem of the mountains."

ILL.—From the Illini Indian tribe. Meaning "Men," and French termination "ois."

IND.—Strictly an American name, the lands being purchased from numerous Indian tribes.

IA.—Indian "Ah-hee-oo-ba." "The Sleepy Ones." The name explains why this tribe was nearly exterminated by the Sioux.

KANS.—Named from the Kanza Indians, who were of the Sioux family. The name means "Wind People," or "People of the South Wind."

KY.—The meaning of this is somewhat obscure. "Kentake" means "Meadow Land." According to General George Rogers Clark the meaning is "River of Blood." The name may be of Swannee Indian origin, "At the head of the river." The popular translation, of dark and bloody ground, was given to Daniel Boone by an intelligent chief, this region being battle ground.

LA.—This state was named after Louis XIV, in 1683 by La Salle.

ME.—It is generally accepted that it was named for an early French province, wherein was situated the private estate of Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I, King of England. Its name may be from an old term formerly applied "The Mayn Land."

MARYLAND.—Named after the Queen of Charles I, who was Henrietta Maria, daughter of King Henry of Navarre. Henry was Catholic in faith. The first Roman Catholic settlement was in Maryland (1634). (By the way, this State was the first to extend religious tolerance to all).

MASS.—Named from the Bay, meaning, in Indian; "At or near the Great Hills." The reference is to the height of land around Boston, seen from the Bay.

MICH.—From Indian "Mishigamaw," meaning "Big Lake" or "Great Water."

MINN.—In the Sioux language, meaning "Cloudy Water," or perhaps "Sky-tinted Water."

MISS.—"The Gathering of all waters." From a word meaning river or rivers. "Great Long River" has been given; it may also be interpreted "Father of Waters"—though not a technically correct translation.

MO.—"Muddy River" (root same as above).

MONT.—Some claim it to be from the Latin meaning "mountainous."

NEB.—From the Sioux Otoe, meaning "Shallow Water" or "Broad Water." We are indebted for the perpetuation of the name to the then Secretary of War—Wilkins, who was in Tyler's Cabinet, 1844.

NEV.—Means "Snowy."

N. H.—By a patent from the Plymouth Colony to John Mason, 1629. The State was named from the English County.

N. J.—Caterat named it after one of the Channel Islands which he had bravely defended against the Parliamentary forces in the civil war.

N. M.—From Mexitli of the Aztecs; a tutelary divinity. Another meaning is "Habitation of the God of War."

N. Y.—Originally "New Netherlands," the city being "New Amsterdam." The name was changed when taken by the English in 1664. It was not named after the English city, but in honour of Charles II's brother, the Duke of York, afterwards James II.

N. C. (AND S. C.)—The name Carolinas was first applied to this region after Charles II, in 1663.

N. D. (AND S. D.)—Name from the home of the Sioux or Dakota tribes. In the dialect it is Lakota, or Nakota, meaning "Allies."

OHIO.—Named from the river, meaning a "Beautiful River."

OKLA.—From the tribe of Choctaws—"Red People."

ORE.—There are three theories as to the origin of this name—

1.—Origanum—a species of wild sage.
2.—Oregones—(Spanish) "Big-Eared Men," supposed to have been given to the natives by a Jesuit Priest.

3.—According to Joaquin Miller, named from Aura Aqua or Gently Fall-Waters.

PA.—Sir William Penn, a Lord of the Admiralty, bequeathed a debt claim from Charles II, to his son, the Quaker, who wanted it called Sylvania.

R. I.—Named by Adrian Block. The fiery aspect of the shore suggests Roode Eylandt. It was later anglicised by Roger Williams, who received the English charter in 1633. Another and lesser theory was that it was named from the Island of Rhodes, but there is no resemblance.

TENN.—Origin obscure. Probably from the river, name being of Cherokee origin. A village named Tanasse was inhabited by the Cherokees, a great southern tribe. Name means "The Bend in the River."

TEX.—(Indian) "Friends" or "Allies," a term used as a form of greeting.

UTAH.—Named after the Ute Tribe.

VT.—Named by Samuel de Champlain the "Green Mountain" State.

VA.—Named from Elizabeth, the Virgin Queen, by Sir Walter Raleigh.

WASH.—One of the two States, with strictly American names.

Wis.—Origin is uncertain. Maybe from the Sac Indians, a word meaning "Wild Rushing Channel." It also has a reference to the holes in the banks of streams where birds nest.

Wyo.—The name originated in Pennsylvania. Two theories exist:—

1.—Maugh-wau-wama, meaning "Extensive Plains," in the Delaware tongue.
2.—"Mountains with valleys alternating."

An example of the variances of languages in the Indian tongue can be had in the Alconquin name for Great Peak, the Delaware for which is "Kita-

THEY DO THEIR BEST.

Are parcel-post packages bearing a special-delivery stamp supposed to receive the same prompt delivery as a special-delivery letter? The department provides no delivery service, except by boys with bicycles who can not deliver packages weighing 50 or 70 pounds, thus leaving the method of delivery to local postmasters to make whatever arrangements can be made at 8 cents per package.

Answer. Where parcels bearing special delivery stamps can not be handled within the 8-cent fee, special messenger service is not given. However, where special-delivery service can not be given at a cost within the 8-cent fee, every effort should be made to notify the addressee by telephone, or otherwise, that the parcel has arrived and will be delivered when called for; otherwise such parcels are delivered by the regular parcel-post carriers with as much expedition as possible. Postmasters are authorized to make whatever arrangements they can with regard to delivery of special-delivery parcels within the 8-cent fee.—

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS.

By "PHILATELIA."

Iraq.—The question has been raised in some circles as to whether Iraq is any longer a British colony or dependency, or will it be transferred to the next Part II, Gibbons. The answer to both is probably in the negative; one useful test is whether it comes into the Empire scheme of postage rates of 1½d. As a matter of fact, the postage to Iraq has recently been raised from 1½d to 2½d for the first ounce, so in official Post Office circles at least, it is no longer regarded as a British colony. At the same time collectors of Colonials will still probably continue to take its stamps, as its case is somewhat analogous to Egypt.
There is still much room for information as to the overprinted series, which were in use until recently. Our catalogue only gives one, but there is no doubt they will be more fully listed later. The difference in size of the later overprint on some values at least, is very marked, both as to the type itself and the distances apart of the lines being different.

These are well shown on the One Rupee values, where the difference is so distinct that the two printings could hardly be omitted from the simplified collection, whilst the size of the original stamp varies also, showing that a different plate was probably used. The relative value of the two printings is still somewhat problematical, and doubtless bargains can be now picked up. A question sometimes asked is—Were there two printings of the ¼ anna? Perhaps some specialist can notify us on this point, as it has decreased in value of late.

An American correspondent recently raised the question as to the relative value of the £1 values of Transvaal and Union of South Africa. Why is the latter dearer, he asks. The question may be partly one of temporary supply and demand. When Transvaal stamps became obsolete about 1913, the high values were much dearer than they are now.
Afterwards, however, considerable stocks of telegraphically used high values came on the market and the prices slumped.

The £1 Union is still current, but is only stocked by some of the larger offices, and there is a comparatively small postal demand, and no large stocks of the telegraph cancelled stamps have as yet appeared. The lowest advertised quotation for the Union stamp noticed is about 4sh, whereas the Transvaal £1 is more easily obtainable at 2s6d. Presumably the catalogue quotations refer to postally used copies of each.

The British £1 George is now quite a scarce stamp, both mint and used. In the latter condition, however, distinction should be made between the cancellations. The common Channel Island ob-literation is really a revenue mark, and stamps with this are not worth nearly as much as genuinely postally used copies, which are really becoming rare, and worth well over half catalogue. The same remarks apply to the £1 K. Edward stamp.

British Solomon Island 3d on yellow paper and from the postage and revenue key-plate should be picked up whilst it is still current, as it is rumoured that the next printing will be in blue, and although there may be a fair number of the yellow stamp about at present, the man who lays down a little stock of a few dozen will not regret it, as it is almost certain to show a substantial rise on becoming obsolete.

Comment is sometimes made on the difference in prices quoted for "mint" stamps in the lists or auction prices. It is remarked that a stamp at auction may fetch 50 per cent. more one time than another. It is generally found that the cheaper one generally has some slight defect such as "off centre," creased, surface rubbed or only "part gum." Strictly speaking, such should only be described as unused, and if the term "mint" was reserved only for absolutely perfect specimens there would be no need for the superlative adjectives one sometimes sees associated with it.

"Edwards" still are very popular, and the demand for the scarcer items and fine used copies continues brisk. The question was recently raised as to whether a group collection of these stamps should only contain those with the King's head on. The term Edwardian Colonial is almost always given to that group of stamps issued during his late Majesty's reign, irrespective of design, and it would be foolish to only pick out those bearing the actual head. In countries like Antigua and Dominica one could only take the 5sh duties, and these are generally hard to get stamps, whilst the collection would be quite incomplete, and all the fascinating lower values would be omitted; whilst in Jamaica one's collection would be represented by the solitary 2d grey, issued posthumously.

From a financial standpoint all collectors are urged to steadily buy all such stamps as these, as, although there may appear to be a good number about, they are steadily becoming absorbed; the stamps of this era are likely to prove very remunerative at current rates.

The 2½d Falkland Is. has started coming over in a new colour, yellow, so that the old colour is going to become scarce, especially with Script Watermark in used condition. There is always a brisk demand for the stamps of this country both mint and used, and it is likely that the Georgians will follow in the wake of the Edwardians.

The permanent Newfoundland set would have been better if it had been in the larger format of now-seldom-seen Tercentenary (Guy) set of 1910. The Caribou set will probably show the same rapid appreciation as the previous sets.

The Solomon Is. 3d in Postage and Revenue design should be picked up whilst still current on the old paper.

A fair demand continues for Air Stamps. Covers are considered desirable; some of the Continental ones are becoming quite common, but probably the rarest, or rather those that will fetch, in this country at least, the highest prices, are the various ones from Newfoundland. These are mostly beyond the reach of the ordinary collector,

but mint copies are also interesting, and likely to show similar appreciation in value, and are, with one exception, obtainable at quite reasonable prices in view of the small numbers issued.—Philatelic Magazine.

BERLIN—MOSCOW AIR MAIL.

The following information gleaned from Flight throws light on the air post between the Russian Embassy in Berlin and Moscow in July, 1922. As this was an entirely official service, it has hitherto been difficult to obtain any information regarding the stamps:—

"One of the scarcest of European air stamps is, of course, the surcharged Russian fiscal stamp, used provisionally on official correspondence despatched from the Russian mission in Berlin via Königsberg and Smolensk in July, 1922. There are four values in the series, uniformly overprinted in Russian characters, reading "Air Post R. S. F. S. R." and surcharged with the following values in German marks: 12 mk. on 2.25 rbls., rose and purple on green; 24 mk. on 3 rbls., green and red on pink; 600 mk. on 3 rbls., green and red on pink; 1,200 mk.
on 10 rbls., rose and violet on green.
Only 50 copies of the 1,200 mk. are believed to exist and the other denominations are almost equally scarce."—*Aero

STAMP COLLECTING.

A decade or two ago "stamp collecting" was a much more popular hobby with young people than it appears to be today. The explanation probably is that hobbies have their day. Other hobbies have come to the fore, crowding stamp collecting into the background. This is greatly to be regretted, as there is no cleaner or more instructive pastime for boys and girls than making stamp collections. The thing can, of course, be carried too far, as any hobby can; but one can derive a vast amount of pleasure and information out of it without becoming "a philatelist" and spending a small fortune for a single rare specimen. Stamp collecting can be made as expensive or inexpensive as the collector wishes, which should make it a favorite with all classes.

Swapping stamps appeals to young collectors as strongly as swapping horses does to some of their elders, without leaving a sting behind. A neatly kept stamp collection is something which the collector, young or old, exhibits with pride and pleasure, and affords an inexhaustible topic of agreeable and cultural conversation. The strongest "talking point" for stamp collecting by young people is not, however, so much the pleasure they derive from it as the education they receive through it. The writer can remember when he was the only boy in a class of 20 who knew to what country a certain island in the Caribbean belonged—and he knew it because the postage stamps of the island bore the likeness of Queen Victoria.

When children begin to collect stamps they want to know something about the countries for which the stamps they possess are issued. This leads them to the atlas and the encyclopaedia. They learn the names of rulers and statesmen of foreign countries by studying their stamps. Commemoration issues draw their attention to important historical events. A new issue of stamps by an important country is an epoch in the collector's life. The reason for the issue must be ascertained. A great many new issues have appeared in Europe since the political readjustments resulting from the late war took place. The collector wants to know all about them. The search for this knowledge leads him to a wider knowledge of new countries than he would perhaps acquire in any other way.

That is why stamp collecting holds so much in store for boys and girls. The intense interest which they take in their stamps is unconsciously translated to the countries and peoples which the stamps represent. Stamp collecting is therefore more than a hobby. It is education sugar-coated. As such it is something which parents should encourage and assist their children to go in for.—Regina (Canada), Daily Post.

SPRINGFIELD, MO., ORGANIZES.

Ira Hall was elected president of the Springfield Missouri Philatelic society during the organization meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce. The society applied for a charter in the American Philatelic association, which has headquarters at Denver. Other officers elected were: Paul Doernenburg, first vice-president; Roy Toupin, second vice-president; Clinton L. Chalfant, third vice-president, and William Hoffman, secretary-treasurer.

Committees announced by President Hall were: Program, Paul Doernenburg, chairman; Jack Denton and Richard Gardner, membership, Roy Toupin, chairman; Paul Peck, Ray Faubin and Carlos Cox, library and publicity, Clinton L. Chalfant, chairman; Hadley Patterson, J. H. Stanley and William Hoffman.

The society members are desirous of obtaining old and valuable stamp collections.

The next meeting will be at the public library, January 14, when Doernenburg will lead a discussion, "The Value of Stamp Collecting." It is expected by the present members that the society will have an active membership of more than 50.—Republican.

WAR STAMPS OF GREECE.

By P. J. Drossos.

At the beginning of the War, 1914, the series in the 1911 type but "lithographed" was used in Greece, although many post-offices still possessed considerable quantities of the "engraved" type. The lithographed values were at that time only 10 in all, viz., from the 1 lepton to the 50 lepta inclusive. The drachma values continued to be engraved.

The first war issue that appeared was the Venizelos Salonica issue, which the Revolutionary Government ordered from Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., London, during autumn 1916. These stamps appeared for sale at Salonica on the 15th February, 1917, and were distributed to the P. O. of Macedonia, Crete and several of the Aegean Islands which had been occupied by the Revolutionists.

This set comprised the following values, and the number issued of each value is as follows:—

1 lepton	50,000
5 lepta	2,000,000
10 lepta	4,000,000
25 lepta	1,000,000
50 lepta	2,000,000
1 drachma	2,000,000
2 drachmas	500,000
3 drachmas	100,000
5 drachmas	100,000
10 drachmas	50,000
25 drachmas	50,000
4 drachmas	50,000

Not a single copy of the 4 drs. was ever sold as a postage stamp, as all the stock, as well as half of the above quantity of the 10 and 50 lepta and 1 dr. stamps were surcharged.

"Chartosimon" (Bill stamp) and used for fiscal duty. A considerable number of the Salonica issue were sold in England, where they were printed, so that this explains how the 4 drachma stamps got on the market. All these stamps have been used up completely, excepting a certain quantity of the 25 dr. stamps, but which has been put out of use. Some sheets of these stamps were printed on watermarked paper. Imperforated copies were only sold from London. Most of the 10 and 25 drachmas sold at Salonica were without gum. The explanation of this is, that these stamps were damaged by water during transport. All stamps of the lithographed issue which had been found in the P. O. of the towns occupied by the Revolutionists were of course used up, till the new issue arrived from London, and again when these stamps began to run short.

As a considerable stock of stamps was seized by the Venizelists, the Athens Government, so as not to sustain a loss, was obliged to surcharge all current stamps with a "crown" and E. T. (Ellinikon Tachydromion—Greek Post). These stamps appeared on the 1st November, 1916. A respite was given to all holders of stamps "without surcharge" to exchange them at the P. O. against "surcharged" ones; which, after a certain date, could not be used any more. A certain number of arrests were subsequently made, as persons who had stolen stamps from the P. O. of the towns occupied by the Revolutionists, were detected as wishing to exchange large quantities at once.

The whole lithographed set was surcharged, as well as the 1, 2, 3, 5 and 10 drs. engraved. There is no information as to the number of stamps surcharged, but for some values the quantity is fairly considerable, as at the time the order was issued (for the surcharge to be executed) not only were the then existing stamps surcharged, but when new stamps were printed at Corfu, they were first brought to Athens, surcharged there, and then again distributed for sale, which operation continued for several months. Packets of 3 and 30 lepta "engraved" having been returned to Athens by some P. O. to be exchanged for "surcharged stamps," these were also surcharged. The 30 lepta is fairly rare as the quantity surcharged was small.

The values surcharged are the following:—2, 3, 3, 10, 30, 30l and 2 and 3 drs. in black, and 1, 5, 20, 25, 40, 50l and 1, 5 and 10 drs. in red.

It is said that sheets of the 25 drachmas were surcharged also, with the same surcharge as the other values, but as the 25 dr. stamp is twice as large as the others of the same issue, this stamp would have appeared with a double surcharge. Therefore these sheets were all destroyed and no further attempt made to surcharge the 25 drs. in any way.

Reversed and double surcharges exist on nearly all the values, as sheets were either twice put on the press or upside down. It is interesting when finding used copies to trace the P. O. at which they were sold from the date of the stamp, which is usually always the same day, as the sheets were used up during the same day, excepting in the case of drachma values.

The Yvert Tellier catalogue under No. 278 quotes a 25 lepta "engraved," a stamp which never existed. No such stamp was ever surcharged. As the colours of the 25 lepta lithographed vary in shade and hue, from dark blue to ultramarine, some of these stamps resemble the 25l "engraved," but it is easy to see that it is lithographed from the paper on which it is printed.

From the 1st April, 1917, to the 30th September, an additional tax was enforced on all letters for the benefit of the Public Charity Fund, and several of the 1901 and 1913 sets were surcharged with the letters K.II, standing for the initials of the words "Kinoniki Pronia—Social Charity." The extra rates were 1 lepton for each postcard, 5l for each letter and 10l for postage of parcels under a drachma and 30 lepta for postage of parcels over drachma one.

The following are the stamps surcharged, and the number of each kind:—

Type 1901.

1 lepton on 1 lepton	280,000
1 lepton on 3 lepta	1,000,000

Thick surcharge.

---------------------	-----------

Thin surcharge, of which 1,000,000 were surcharged separately and contain the error K.M. in stamp No. 80, of the sheet.

5 lepta on 1 lepton	750,000
5 lepta on 20 lepta	1,500,000
5 lepta on 40 lepta	300,000

A part of the 40l surcharge are of the thin paper and of the greyish colour type.

5 lepta on 50 lepta	400,000
5 lepta on 1 drachma	950,000
10 lepta on 30 lepta	548,000
30 lepta on 30 lepta	250,000

Type 1913.

5 lepta on 25 lepta	400,000
5 lepta on 40 lepta	400,000
5 lepta on 50 lepta	200,000

The 1 lepton on 1 lepton, 1901, "brown surcharge" mentioned in divers catalogues is probably an essay.

From the numbers issued, the 1 lepton on 1 lepton is by far the rarest. This stamp mint should be catalogued at a very high price. (Used copies can of course be forged.) There are a great many errors in all the sheets, and which are exceedingly well explained in Stanley Gibbons Catalogue. A considerable number 1906 Olympic Games 1 lepton were surcharged by some forger and sold in France and England, and even the S. G. Catalogue of Dec., 1919, quoted these stamps, which never existed.

Sheets of most of these values also exist with double and inverted surcharges. This additional tax was stopped at the end of September and the 15 lepta blue then appeared; Government also granted the Public Charity Fund a yearly fixed grant.

During the last four months that these stamps were in use, and even before, communications with the provinces and Athens were very difficult, so that for considerable intervals the P. O. authorities had none of these stamps to use. As the tax for the benefit of the Charity Fund also applied to bill stamps, etc., a number of such stamps had been surcharged for fiscal use. The P. O. authorities were then granted the permission to use these stamps for postage. Twenty-five sorts in all were used in the divers provinces, especially in the islands, where communications were very difficult. None of these values are very rare, as the number issued is fairly big. As it has been proved now, some of these towns used these fiscal stamps solely during the nine months they were in use, as consignments of the first issue printed in Athens never reached them, owing to the then prevailing conditions.

The island of Corfu (where the Greek stamps are printed by Messrs. Aspiotis Bros.) had eight special stamps printed for fiscal use and then distributed to the Ionian Islands. As mentioned above, the Ionian Islands only used the Corfu issue during the whole period.

The fiscal stamps surcharged are the following:—

Altogether, Greece issued 75 War stamps, including the principal varieties, comprising 12 Salonica—17 E.T.—13 K.II and 35 fiscal. All these stamps can be bought everywhere without great expense, excepting the 35 fiscal K.P., which have not yet been properly catalogued.

Fakes of these issues are very few, as the forger has scarcely any profit in doing so. Even drachma values of the engraved 1911 issue are just as dear as the "E.T." set, if not dearer. The same applies to all the values of the K.II set; the stamps of the issues which were surcharged are several times dearer mint than the surcharged stamps, and just as dear used.

Care should, of course, be taken when purchasing "errors," which should only be bought from reliable firms.

Greek issues since 1918, after the Armistice, are of course a separate chapter, on which there is a lot to be said.—Philatelic Magazine.

ITEMS ABOUT GERMAN STAMPS.

By ERWIN STRASSER.

It seems that stamp collectors will get a little rest at last, as far as German stamps are concerned. I have received the 3 and 5 pfennig in prewar gold currency.

My correspondent says that on November 26th all Milliarden (Billion) values were sold at four times face value, and on December 1st were discontinued, due to the fact that the gold currency was put into use. His letter is dated December 2nd, and he claims that everybody is looking for those high provisionals, as they are bound to go up in price shortly and they are a good investment at the present market prices.

The 50 mark, Scott's No. 192, in the catalogue, has been issued in a few towns on revenue stamp paper, watermarked quatrefoils, and is listed as Scott's No. 220. This is the scarcest stamp so far issued, and will sell for $1 or so in a short time to come, providing a supply of same can be obtained. I have been looking for this stamp for the past 6 months, but I have not been able to get any from my many correspondents. So it must be scarce.

FRAUDULENT PRODUCED STAMPS AT THE LONDON EXHIBITION.

By P. MALONE.

With eight eminent philatelists from different parts of the world comprising the International Jury that made the awards at the recent London International Stamp Exhibition, which was probably also witnessed by a number of the leading lights of philately in the world, and the members of the London Royal Philatelic Society, it is a very remarkable fact that at least two stamps, which are absolutely fraudulent were exhibited as great rarities at the exhibition, and the exhibit was awarded a silver medal (vide Official Catalogue). Yet not one of these great collectors and experts seem to be aware that these stamps were not genuine. I refer to two Tasmanian stamps:—1904, 1½d, on 5d, inverted surcharge and 1½d on 5d mint pair, one without overprint, exhibited in Class L, Section 4. The existence of these fraudulent stamps (not catalogued) has been known in Tasmania for many years, and if collectors or dealers holding them went to the trouble of making inquiries through the Tasmanian Philatelic Society, their status would soon be solved. It would be very interesting to know what opinion the expert committee of London Royal Philatelic Society would give regarding these stamps if submitted for their inspection. They would have the original 5d stamp and the original 1½d type of surcharge, and one might surmise, if not in possession of any other information regarding them, they would say in their opinion they are all right. However, they are very much all wrong, they were never issued, and did not see the light of day in the Post Office. Perhaps it would be well to give a brief history of them, which is as follows:—In 1904, when the stamps were surcharged 1½d, only a portion of the 5d value was overprinted, with the result that both values, 1½d and 5d were on sale concurrently at the post-office. Mr. A., a visitor to Hobart, purchased several sheets of the 5d value, and got a very obliging official in the printing department to do the necessary overprinting of 1½d with the original type of surcharge. The official no doubt did not think he was doing any harm, and in reducing a 5d stamp to a 1½d value was actually increasing the revenue of the country to the extent of 3½d per stamp, but he apparently did not notice that Mr. A. had affixed a block of four stamps in the centre of each sheet, in an inverted position, with the result that when the overprinting was done, each sheet had four inverted surcharges, as well as four without the surcharge, the latter being the four stamps covered over by the former, which constituted these fraudulent varieties, exhibited as rare stamps at the recent London Exhibition.—Australian Philatelist.

EDITORIAL NOTE: The foregoing article is interesting because it gives inside information about these particular Tasmanian varieties and shows how such things may be created by the help of careless or culpable officials. The article states that these varieties were made with the original type and the work done by the printer who made the ordinary 1½d on 5d of 1904. From this it would seem that they would properly be termed fancy reprints, surreptitiously made. Under these circumstances it could not be expected that the International Jury, the members of the Royal Philatelic Society, or any expert, would find anything wrong with the stamps, unless they had knowledge of the manner of their production and that no such varieties had been regularly made and issued. There could be nothing in the stamps themselves to proclaim their irregular origin.

It is also quite apparent that the writer of the article has never had experience as a Juror at an international exhibition, or he would know that minute examination of the stamps is not possible. They are shown under glass and often in a poor light. When a Jury has to review hundreds of thousands, if not millions of stamps in four days, they cannot linger long over individual specimens. The Jury cannot constitute themselves an Expert Committee and take with them a reference collection and a library. They must depend, to a large extent, on the good faith of the exhibitors and take it for granted that each man has studied his own stamps and done his best to display only such as are above suspicion. And it must be remembered that awards are based on the evidence of study and knowledge of the subject and not on the possession of oddities of surcharge.—Scott's Monthly Journal.

PHILATELY OR PHILOTELY?

By STEPHEN G. RICH.

Your item, published Nov. 26, about the attempt of Dr. Machymichalos of Athens, Greece, to "replace the erroneous term philately" by his own coinage, "Philotely," is amusing indeed. If Dr. "Big Mike" (for such is the English equivalent of his name) knew a little more philology, he would know that the "a" was deliberately and purposely inserted when Mr. Herpin invented the word some sixty years ago. The derivation is: "philos," fond of; "a," without; "telos" a tax. That is, being fond of things that show there was nothing to be paid when the letter was received. Now comes Dr. "Big Mike" and wants to change it to make it mean "fond of being taxed." All I can say is—Oof!

1c BLUE SHIFTED TRANSFERS.

By MAJOR C. H. BONESTEEL.

(Contributed to Warner Bates' Dept.)

In these drawings it was necessary to deepen and strengthen the shifted lines in order that the engraver could catch the shifts in making his plate. Therefore, the collector in comparing these illustrations with copies of the stamps showing shifted transfers will find that the drawings are somewhat exaggerated. In plate No. 4, most copies show the shift mostly in lines which have a blurred appearance, rather than clean-cut as in the drawing.—WARNER BATES.

Major C. H. Bonesteel of West Point has submitted one of the most interesting contributions it has yet been the good fortune of this department to print. In this article I will describe five distinctly different shifted transfers on the one cent blue which Major Bonesteel has forwarded to me, together with illustrations of each, and in a subsequent article some other interesting plate varieties will be given. All of the shifts described are on the one cent blue, issue of 1879 (American printing all on soft paper), but I believe that there is a likelihood of some of the same shifted transfers being found on the Continental printings, as it is a well known fact that some Continental plates were used for a time by the American company.

This ought to start the specialists in this interesting stamp, at least those who have not already obtained these varieties, looking for shifted transfers and I can promise those who have not yet gone into this subject plenty of fun. Not only have they the possibility of turning up some of these five, but of others which are not included. I know, because I have some others in my own collection. (I have not, however, all of the varieties which Major Bonesteel submits.)

In connection with this matter I may say that the one cent blue (issues of 1870 to 1882 inclusive—National, Continental, American and Re-engraved) is without question the most prolific United States stamp in shifted transfers. Why this should be so, I have no idea, unless it just happened that careless engravers worked on the one cent all the way through. Can any reader advance a plausible opinion?

In the writer's collection there are a few varieties of shifted transfers on the National emissions (both grilled and ungrilled), ten distinctly different shifts on the Continental printings and quite a number of the American and Re-engraved.

In spite of their variety all these shifted transfers are scarce (one might even say rare). Scott lists the "double" transfer on No. 134, one cent 1870-71 grilled at $6; on No. 145, the one cent 1870 ungrilled, $5; No. 156, one cent 1873, $4; No. 182, one cent, 1879, on soft paper, no price given; No. 206, one cent Re-engraved, no price given.

In my own experience I should say that the shifted transfer on No. 182 should be priced about the same as 156, $4, and the one cent Re-engraved, No. 206, at about as much as No. 145, $5. The price of No. 134 is, I believe, far too low. Personally, I believe this variety is easily worth $10 if the ungrilled stamp is worth $5, as it surely is.

Now for the feast. In describing the varieties which Major Bonesteel submitted, I have given each a different number and it is my intention to number in a similar manner other shifts on this stamp as they are described later, merely as a makeshift for reference.

U.R. Slight double of lines in top part of U.R.F.O. Lower part of ball between two parts of U.R.F.O. is doubled. Double lines in lower half of U.R.F.O. Trace in "T" of "POSTAGE."

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

H. F. COLMAN

double and forms what is sometimes known as a "triple transfer." It might more properly be called a double shift.

Unfortunately, this copy is heavily postmarked, covering the lower left side and lower left label containing the word "ONE." If some reader possesses what is apparently this same shifted transfer, but which shows what may be in the L.L., I wish he would send it in so that description may be completed.

No. 2 (ONE CENT BLUE).

U.L. Top. U.R. Right side. L.R. Bottom.

Trace of double lines show in three places in the top half of the U.L.F.O. Lines of background U.L., deepened around foliated ornament. The tiny separate ornament to the right of the top half of U.L.F.O. is shifted at the bottom. Traces show in "O" and "S" of "POSTAGE."

U.R. Traces in "TAGE" of "POSTAGE," the "T" especially showing double in two places at its top. Two or three extra lines show in top half of U.R.F.O., and the entire bottom of the ball beneath this ornament over the space between the "A" and "G" of "POSTAGE" is nicely doubled. Ball between two halves of this U.R.F.O. is distinctly shifted at the bottom. Lower half of U.R.F.O. is doubled top and bottom.

Slight trace of shift in shading on lower part of bust.

Top. Slight trace in "P" and "S" of "POSTAGE."

For Twentieth Century Specialists

Among the scarce items in the post war period of surface printing is the 2c rose, Type IV, (Gibbons' Type I) imperforate. These stamps are easily identified by the fact that the vertical lines on the button are connected from first to second and fourth to fifth at top and bottom

Last year's Scott's Specialized Catalog prices this stamp at $2.50. Unpriced in Gibbons' blue book but mentioned as "very rare". We have a limited number and offer

Single copies, full o.g., perfect . . . each $1.50

Mint blocks of four 6.00

We think they are worth putting away.

J. O. Moore, Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y.

U.L. Three distinct traces in top half of U.L.F.O. and badly blurred above this. Little separate ornament to right of top half of U.L.F.O., shifted above the "P" of "POSTAGE." Ball between upper and lower half of U.L.F.O. shows shift. Lower half of U.L.F.O., shifted in two places.

Top. All letters of "U. S. POSTAGE" show traces. Frame over "U. S. POSTAGE" shows shift. Lines of background of top label badly blurred, probably due to shifting. Oval containing bust is slightly shifted along top.

Bust. Shading along top part of Franklin's head, shading over his ear and at bottom of bust show traces of shift, although this is difficult of determination, the copy submitted being a slightly blurred printing.

U.R. The little separate ornament to the left of the top half of the U.R.F.O. is shifted. Traces show in two or more places on the top half of U.R.F.O., and also in the bottom half of U.R.F.O., under the "E" of "POSTAGE." Ball-like end of ornament underneath the top part of U.R.F.O., shows three little marks at bottom.

L.R. The bottom three pearls of the four pearls on top of the L.R.F.O. show traces of the shift, although this may be due to blurred printing. Traces show in several places on the upper and lower portions of L.R.F.O. Some of these traces may be due to the blurred printing but the double line is very clear under the "N" of "CENT."

No. 5 (ONE CENT BLUE).

U.L. Trace shows in top part of the upper half of U.L.F.O., and the separate ornament to the right is broken. A questionable trace exists in the lower half of U.L.F.O.

U.R. The little line which tends to separate the ball-like ornament, from the rest of the upper half of U.R.F.O., is extended to the right about twice its natural length (the natural length is about two millimeters and in this copy it is about five millimeters long). This extension of the line shows above the "G" of "POSTAGE." Trace shows at bottom of the lower half of U.R.F.O., under the "E" of "POSTAGE."

Here are some of the highest value stamps ever issued for Danzig and Germany. Danzig has already changed her currency to gold basis and is using the Gulden as a basis. The 5gld stamp is the highest value in the set. Germany will likely go onto a different currency basis soon.

We can supply practically everything in recent Germans and Danzig and offer some below. Anything you want in these or other stamps you do not see offered, let us know and we'll send if it's here. Our connections are of the best and prices reasonable. For offers in these and thousands of other first class stamps, get Phillips' Monthly Bulletin, 24 pages and free for the asking.

Want Lists. A Specialised Service

For years I have made a specialty of the execution of Want Lists. Few firms in this country have developed this side of the business to the same extent.

Owing to the great increase in my American business, I have now established a WANTS REGISTER on the basis of Scott's catalogue. Collectors may therefore send me their full want lists and be confident that they will not be side tracked and that they will receive constant attention. Selections will be sent on approval at regular intervals.

I sell stamps in Fine Condition only. My prices average half catalogue, and will bear comparison with any market in the world. I have, at the moment, nothing to offer in old U. S., but have an immense stock of British and French Colonials, Europeans, Asiatics, Africans and South Americans. I stock no common stamps and New European rubbish.

Bottom. Trace shows at the bottom, right side of the figure "1." Also in the white frame line of the lower right label, over the "T" of "CENT," also in the "T." The background lines of the oval containing the bust in places seem to extend into the white oval frame line.

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE "WEEKLY".

We have on hand a few bound volumes of the WEEKLY, and offer them for sale at very reasonable prices. The years in question are 1902, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909. The price of these books is $2 each and this price is extremely reasonable in view of the high cost of binding in these days. Just to show you what we can do in the way of a handsome, substantial sample volume of the WEEKLY we will send you the year 1907 for $1.50 plus the zone parcel post charges on three pounds. This offer is for immediate acceptance.

TRANS-POLAR AIRPLANE FLIGHT.

By ARTHUR O. LITT.

In May, 1924, an airplane flight is contemplated by Captain Roald Amundsen, the discoverer of the South Pole. This flight will start from Spitzbergen, Norway, in the Arctic Circle over the North Pole to some point in Alaska on United States territory. Arrangements have been made to fit up three airplanes to make this trip. The purpose of this undertaking is to discover, if possible, lands or waterways heretofore not surveyed.

The philatelic part of this undertaking enters into the question because of the fact that in order to defray part of the expenses of the flight, a limited number of postcards at $1.00 each have been placed on sale, though not at United States Post Offices, in the United States. A postcard leaving New York would have a long way to travel before reaching its destination. From New York it would proceed to Christiania, Norway; from Christiania to Spitzbergen, thence by airplanes commanded by Capt. Amundsen, across the North Pole to some point in Alaska, thence to some post-office of the United States, and then probably by dog sledge to where this mail could be put on a train. Perhaps Uncle Sam will collaborate by taking the trans-polar airplane mail further on its journey.

These postcards which have been printed in green by the American Bank Note Company of New York have on one side partially completed circles showing arctic territory with a picture of an airplane in flight over the North Pole and on the top "Trans-Polar Flight Expedition, Christiania, Norway;" on the bottom under the airplane, "In commemoration of Amundsen's Trans-Polar Flight 1924."

The Trans-Polar Flight Expedition of Christiania, Norway, is the company making arrangements for this trip, of which Capt. Roald Amundsen is the moving spirit. Postcards mailed in the United States will be received by this company at Christiania, Norway, and then further mailed or sent to Spitzbergen, Norway, which is nearer the North Pole than any portion of Norway. Then the Norwegian Post Office will surcharge the legalizing stamp as well as the North Pole cancellation. The bags of mail will be stowed in the three airplanes and then for the unknown. A distance of about 1,400 miles separates Spitzbergen, Norway, and an inlet on the coast of Alaska, United States Territory. While this is a perilous trip, airplanes are perfect enough at the present time to make the trip successful.

There is a question at present being considered by the United States postal authorities as to whether the postcard can be registered from the United States to the Trans-Polar Flight Expedition of Christiania, Norway. If this is answered in the affirmative, the chances of the card going astray between the United States and the offices of the company in Christiania, Norway, are slim. If registration is not desired a common stamp, value two cents in U. S. Postage can be placed on the side where the address of the Trans-Polar Flight Company has been printed. On the other side in addition to the imprint as described in the first part of this article in green, the Norwegian Government will surcharge to legalize as per the following radio-gram from Christiania, Norway, a copy of which I have been able to obtain: "December 21st, 1923."

AMUNDSEN HAMMER."

Let us then hope that the flight be successful, for upon its proper conclusion depends knowledge that will help the world and will perhaps open up parts of the world and especially Alaskan United States that even Secretary Seward whose purchase of Alaska was called "Seward's Folly" did not dream of. Philatelically speaking the bridging of Europe and America via the Pole by means of a postcard would be treasured in the albums of collectors for all time.

POWER ON THE AIR.

With commendable enterprise Eustace B. Power of Stanley Gibbons, Inc., N. Y. City, got on the air Thursday, Jan. 3, from Station WJY, N. Y. City, in connection with a stamp talk. We have no doubt that a large number of radio stamp fans had the privilege of hearing Mr. Power. Springfield and Chicago (and possibly other centers) have been similarly favored and dealers should not be slow in appreciating the fact that radio stations are pleased to have features of this kind.

AUSTRALIAN AIR MAIL.

Mr. Steinmetz has shown us a cover carried by aeroplane from Longreach to Charleville, Queensland, Australia, bearing the postage of 5d and in addition, a green sticker reading "By Air Mail." This is one of three lines of air mail service now in operation in Australia. This cover was carried by the Queensland and Northern Territory Aerial Services, Ltd., operating from Cloncurry to Charleville, calling at Tambo, Blackall, Longreach and Winton. The other lines are the Australian Aerial Mail Services, Ltd., of Sydney, N. S. THE NEW IRAQ SET.

By OSCAR G. WHITING.

I would like to make a few remarks on an item in the December 17th issue, about the new set of Iraq stamps. It says, so far as is known these are the first stamps ever to be designed by women.

Now it is known that ladies have designed other stamps. They do not appear to have been very successful in some of the competitions, but two ladies secured several prizes in the New South Wales contest in 1887, and one of them, Mrs. F. W. Stoddard had her design used for the highest denomination in the N. S. W. centennial set in 1888. Another lady, Lady Gertrude Carter, the wife of the Governor of Barbados, designed that beautiful Olive Blossom stamp of Barbados issued in 1906.

I have the 3 annas of the new Iraq set, and in the lower right hand corner, within a tiny upright rectangle, seen only with a magnifying glass, are the initials, "MJM—1921" in two lines in a ruled frame. Now, if Mrs. Colin C. Garbett and Miss Edith Cheesman are the designers of this set, what do these initials stand for? (Probably the engraver.—Ed.)

Lets begin at the end this year:

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO.,

7 West 42nd St., New York City.

A BIT OF AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

By HUGH C. ARGENBRIGHT.

I was first heard from on March 7, 1895. Eight years later on the same day of the month I received a package of foreign postage stamps from a relative. At the same time I spent a nickel and obtained a canvas-backed memorandum book, and so began my first activities along philatelic lines. In those days hinges, catalogs, watermark detectors, perforation gauges, etc., were an unknown quantity, so I industriously applied mucilage to the backs of my stamps and ruined them for life.

As the years passed I came to know more about my stamps and gradually added to my collection, which became housed in four loose-leaf albums. Through the military preparatory school and college I kept steadily at my collection building and eventually I had eight albums containing around 22,000 varieties, closely mounted on both sides of each page. About this time I married and then started the untoward effects of a non-philatelic help-meet, but it wasn't long before Mrs. Argenbright began to like the little bits of paper and as she grew to understand their infinite variety she too took up the hobby.

A little later a tiny junior philatelist put in her appearance and shortly after came the great world war. I had been trained along engineering lines but owing to my eye-sight was refused a commission in the army although I had military training at V. M. I. I then went into the Emergency Fleet Corporation and alternated between torpedo boat inspector and ventilation designer for the battleships Maryland and West Virginia. It was killing work and before long the strain began to tell on my eyes.

During this time I had made a large number of acquaintances among French, Belgian and English sea captains coming into the various ports, and practically all of these men were stamp collectors. From them I obtained names of people in their respective countries who would either exchange stamps or buy from me, and it wasn't long before I had representatives in practically every British colony and in many desirable points in South America.

Then came the calamity. One morning while working over the drafting table my eyes blinked out. It was a reflex or general laxing of the muscles and optic nerve. "A breakdown" the doctor described it. Then came months of blackness, during which Mrs. Argenbright was my eyes and my guide. But one day my sight came back. However, I was prohibited from following my profession and I was like a fish out of water, not knowing what to do. One day while rummaging around my effects I found my stamp albums and a notion came into my head that resulted in the creating of "Old Dominion Approvals" named after my native state of Virginia. It wasn't long before the collecting public realized that here was a man who sold stamps on the theory that a large volume of sales at small profits was better than a smaller volume at tremendous profits. Through my foreign correspondents I was able to import and resell at very favorable prices.

The above likeness of Mr. Argenbright will be welcomed by our readers, many of whom have come to know and respect him. He has taken out a 4000 line advertising contract for 1924.—ED.

With the increasing tide of stamp issues from New Europe I determined that the time had come to specialize and so I have taken British Colonials and South America, together with a general selection of sets chosen primarily for their artistic effect when mounted upon the loose-leaf page.

I claim that British Colonials are the best investment that a collector can find. A perusal of the standard catalogs over a period of the last ten years will show a steady increase, sufficient to justify my assertion. I favor British Colonials even over our scarce and popular United States issues, on account of the extreme difficulty in getting together a representative stock of United States stamps.

I have selected British Colonials with a side-line of South American stamps as I have faith in them, and it is justified by the growing and steady demand that they have experienced. My sources of supply are enviable and my stock has been carefully selected to combine uniqueness, quality and variety. My office is conducted along the line of the most modern merchandising methods, completely equipped with every kind of time-saving device and supervised by myself in person.

Back of the commercial side of my business is the great pride that I take in it. I love the work, am still a collector at heart, and so delight in building up attractive selections for my clients. I do not stop at the mere selling of stamps but hold myself and my organization ready to render the collector gratis any service possible in connection with philately.

Opportunity is knocking on the door of the one interested in French Colonies. Here is your chance to get wonderful copies at unheard prices. Breaking up the collection of Prof. J. Dusset. A collection extraordinary, and containing besides the listed varieties, many unknown pieces.

Our Slogan: Rights Reserved—Wrongs Revenged!

Our Motto:

"If feelin's 're hurt where no harm's meant,"
"Yur sense of humor ain't wuth a cent,"
"N yur slant at life's a leetle bent."

By M. T. DOME.

Author of "Do You Philatelist?"

PHILATELIST, phil-at-e-list — (erroneously supposed to be derived from the Greek, but recent research finds it an enticing and intricate non-phonetic compounding of "fill-at-a-list," no one ever being able to fill up a list of all stamps issued).

(a) One obsessed with the peculiar mania or "complex" of collecting and preserving, and who does collect and preserve postage and revenue stamps (which see).

(b) One as above whose collection numbers 'teen thousand stamps, including a number of "rarities" (which see), the whole having a catalog value (as of Swatt, Ynvert, Givem, etc.,) of $10,000 and up.

(c) One who (as "a" or "b" above) writes as an authority on stamps to the consternation generally of the poor sap who prizes a $1 catalog-value stamp and now finds that 1,500,000,000 others were issued exactly like the sticker in his album.

COLLECTOR, col-lect-or.—One who imagines he enjoys the pleasures of a "philatelist" (which see), whose limit is a $3 catalog-value stamp and a $10 credit on "approvals." He is the chief means-of-support of stamp-dealers, etc., through his album being the final resting-place of the label out-puts of those governments whose stamps are sold for postal use merely as a side-line to their greater sale to collectors, stamp-nuts, stamp-bugs, etc.

STAMP NUT.—One who as a collector (which see) orders approvals from every dealer within postal reach who will send any. He buys 25c worth from a $10 selection sent by each and frequently returns the remainder one month after due.

STAMP-BUG.—One who, posing as a collector (which see) orders approvals, buys a few, never returns the remainder until at least one month past due and frequently "trades" some of his "punko" copies for better ones from the sheets. Like most bugs he finally becomes a real pest by at last not returning approvals at all. He is very frequently called harsher and even ugly names by quick-tempered dealers.

REFERENCE(S), ref-er-en-ce(s).—What most dealers in "approvals" want, others preferring cash in advance. A dealer sometimes prefers a list of the dealers who have been "stuck" by the applicant, or vice-versa, but a statement from his banker or of other persons having obtained money from the applicant will generally do. Beginners, especially minors, must refer to other reputable persons besides fathers (anyone well rated in Dun or Bradstreet, whom you might know, will do equally well).

DEPOSIT, de-pos-it.—A sum of money required in advance by some dealers, showing susceptibility, loss of faith in the buyer's honesty, or that the dealer has been bitten by "stamp-bugs" (which see).

STAMP, Postage.—The obligation of this or other governments issued in a paster, label or sticker form and generally sold for postal use. Stamps are ordinarily printed and issued in sheets and made easy of separation one from another by perforations (which see), or "rouletting" (see Peri.), but at times not so perforated (see Imperforate). Stamps are usually issued with an adhesive gum of various flavors or colors on back for affixing (see Gum). A cancellation (which see), indicates that the obligation has been fulfilled.

Many stamps are decorative or otherwise in design, the most highly colorful usually being the most noticeable in "collectors' albums," "philatelists" being of the old-school not yet educated to "futurist" art.

Stamps are usually sold at face-value at post-offices, and at double by dealers, when current issues. When out-of-date, the dealers will be found to have "cornered the market" and to ask twice what they expect to get (see "Approvals, 50% off").

There have been issued in all about 1,724,359 different varieties of stamps by governments, fake-makers, counterfeiters and others, but this should in nowise discourage or deter the beginner as all older collectors have had the same drawback or more so.

GUM.—An adhesive or supposedly adhesive gum placed on the backs of stamps to be moistened for affixing. The gum originally issued is called O. G. or "ordinary goo." The color or taste varies greatly on different issues and some experts can thus tell the difference between stamps without consulting the face.

As far back as the '50s there were heated arguments and discussions between the users and the U. S. Government over the flavor and stickability of stamp-gum which finally led to the Hon. Josh Billings' fiery oration, "Consider the postage-stamp, my son. Its value lies in sticking to a thing until it gets there,"—with which he filled his mouth with "fine-cut," and licked, stamped and mailed out 500 almanacs with a 1c blue, Type 1, 1851, stamp on each! Since which time there has been more sweetening and less alum in the glue.

MARGIN, mar-gin.—The part of the imperforate (which see), stamp between the design itself and the edge of the stamp. A large margin is most desirable, as they say in Wall Street. Most stamp dealers start selling on small margins which increase geometrically with the amount of their sales and their own popularity.

CONDITION, con-di-tion (do not accent the "con").—The state of preservation in which a stamp is offered for sale, received, found or preserved. This varies greatly and has many gradations,—collectors usually using "fine," "good," or "average" as class distinctions, while dealers add to these, "splendid," "superb," "sound," "magnificent," in bold face type.

(NOTE.—The P. D. Editor has bought stamps described as "fine" and found them on receipt "punk." The geographical location of the dealer and no doubt the climatic conditions must have had something to do with this phenomenon.)

Again we say, "Mint, O. G." does not denote the flavor of the gum.

PERFORATION, per-for-a-tion.—A method of making stamps easy of separation by means of (a) closely spaced small round holes punched in a line between stamps, (b) narrow long holes, and (c) short slits called "roulettes," as it was a gamble whether the stamps would separate properly or tear. Perforations are generally made at government stamp printing establishments but some of the rare ones are home-made from parts of imperforate sheets or on straight-edged stamps. A "perforation gauge" makes it easy for the beginner to tell the difference between an 8 and a 12½ perf. or even a perforate and an imperforate stamp.

CANCELLATION, can-cell-a-tion.—A mutilation on a postage, or revenue, stamp usually by ink showing that the obligation has been fulfilled. Among the many forms of cancellation are the "smudge," "pen-check," "cross," "star," "grid-iron," "bull's-eye," "cork," "wave," "town" (name), "PAID," and home-made or made-to-order. Cancellations in color or odd forms sometimes add value to stamps in the eyes of specialists. The "kicking mule" is an historical example, now thought to have been gotten up by an irate postmaster as his visible complaint against the lowering of postal rates and his income (from selling stamps on a percentage basis).

Revenue-stamp cancellation by punched hole or cut is often seen, but early issue revenues are often found heavily pen-and-ink initialed and dated which proudly proved that the cancellor could write a free and flowing hand beside being able to tell the date in spite of not having received a calendar from his grocer.

RARITY, rar-i-ty.—In stamps, one listing at $100 or more, catalog value, the price governing the classification more than the scarceness. Rarities are seldom found in the albums of "collectors" (which see), as the possession of one usually graduates the owner to the class of "philatelist" (which see). But the rarity, scarceness or total absence of stamps in a collector's album does not prove that a philatelist would ever desire them. A much mooted term and classification, as "rarities" have been advertised from $1 up. The rareness of some stamps is much overdone, in the minds of some collectors, who think the prices asked are even "raw."

WATER-MARK, wat-er-mark.—An apparent thinness in a form-of-design in the paper of the stamp, made for protection against counterfeiting government issues. It may become visible by holding the stamp against the light, saturating with benzine or carbonyl or by plain guess-work.

(NOTE: Beginners should not be come confused in this term, as it is not a mark caused by soaking off the stamp in water.)

A "water-mark detector" adds greatly to the intricacy of collecting, at an outlay of only a few cents, as the presence or absence of a water-mark may greatly change the value of a stamp.

STICKERS, stick-ers.—An adhesive hinge for mounting stamps in albums. There are two distinct varieties of "peelable" hinges, those that do and those that don't. Hinges are the cheapest things in the stamp business except a stamp-bug (which see).

Some issues of foreign stamps are called "stickers" from their practice of sticking in dealers' stocks. Many collectors get "stuck" on or with stamps without the use of stickers or O. G.

APPROVAL(S), ap-prov-al(s).—A means of selling or buying stamps with no money visible on the buyer's part and no peace-of-mind on the dealer's until the stamps have been returned accompanied by a P.O.M.O. for those retained.

Beginners should understand that the forwarding to them of approval books or sheets is not an approval of their business until returned as above.

A more modern term, "Proval-sheets" is coming into use, as their receipt "proves" the dealer's advertisement or credulity, and their return "proves" the buyer's honesty (or otherwise).

CENTER, cen-ter (CENTERED, center-ed).—Terms used in the stamp business (usually in conjunction with, "off-," "badly-," "well-," "poorly-," etc.) indicating the equality of distance all around the stamp from the design itself to the edge or perforation. Like "condition" (which see) it varies greatly or is affected by good imagination and poor eye-sight.

NOTE (by M. T. Dome, himself).—This series of valuable explanations has taken years of research, as can be seen, and while they might be issued later on in bound form, all readers of "Make-deal's Weekly" can now save them or not as they see fit. And I have been assured that the regular price of "Make-deals" will not be affected unless a large number of present subscribers quit on account of this dictionary in which case the S-W-J Co. can easily make good their losses from the subscription-list which they could easily raise, to bury the author.

BENZENE OR BENZINE.

By D. D. BEROLZHEIMER.

A recent note suggests the use of benzol (benzene) which is a coal-tar product, while benzine is a petroleum product.

I cannot too strongly urge against the use of this fluid. It is highly flammable; its vapor is poisonous; it has a disagreeable odor (similar to illuminating gas); is more difficult to obtain than benzene, and worst of all dissolves the coal-tar dye (so called "aniline dyes") used in many of the inks used for printing stamps.

For instance, benzol, and likewise carbon tetrachloride, dissolves one of the dyes used in the ink which were compounded during the war, and with which the U. S. "pink backs" were printed, also some of the dyes used on stamps of the British Colonies.

The philatelic fraternity may be interested to know that I am working with one of the large chemical manufacturers to make available in quantity, at low cost one of the chlorinated hydrocarbons which is non-flammable, non-poisonous and otherwise suitable, and which it will be possible to ship by mail.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—An Associated Press despatch from Berlin, Germany, is going the rounds of the metropolitan press and it has some little philatelic interest. It deals with the sale of the Ferrari collection at Paris, but states that the collection formerly belonged to Emperor William II. It also states that the former emperor had instituted the sale of the stamp collection in France before the war began and that the remainder of the collection was seized by the Entente powers.

—A. A. Kelson and others have shown us specimens of the new 3c Canada in carmine color.

—Edward E. Goodchild sends us a clipping from an Ottawa paper which announces that postage stamps and coins are to be exempted from the Canadian sales tax. This will be good news for philatelists, both in Canada and the United States.

—"Fascinating San Francisco" is the title of a very fine booklet just at hand with the compliments of J. A. Urquhart, manager of the Pacific Stamp Co., San Francisco, Cal.

—Recently we made the request upon our subscribers that they remember with a bit of philatelic cheer Ernest H. Buchan, who is at the Lakeville State Sanatorium, Middleboro, Mass. Mr. Buchan writes us expressing his thanks at the many tokens of kindness that have come to him from all points of the compass.

—The Union County Philatelic Society of New Jersey holds its meetings every Wednesday evening, at 206 Locust St., Roselle Park, N. J. Interested parties should address H. Rogosen, 110 Chestnut St., Roselle Park.

—Dr. F. F. Dodge sends us the particulars of Salisbury, N. C., precancels. A limited number of all values from 1c to $1 were printed up but they were not attached to window packages as was done in other post-offices. Dr. Dodge says that in connection with the limited number used probably less than fifty of any variety will be available for collectors.

—"A few weeks back I submitted to you Bavaria Nos. 352, 352 with surcharge. Today I have the pleasure to submit the additional copy, No. 353 also with inverted surcharge. These stamps are listed and priced by Yvert & Tellier in their 1924 catalog, but I doubt if they can be obtained at the figure which they quote, as stamps cost now already more than they ask, and no doubt these are in for a boost in price in the next edition of the cat."—ERWIN STRASSER.

—"For the information of your correspondent who wishes to know the date when business colleges first began to use postage stamps and revenue stamps of their own designs in connection with instruction in their institutions, will advise that I have a note made by student in class at Nelson's College, Cincinnati, Ohio, dated January 25, 1865, bearing college revenue stamp, black on rose.

PHILATELY.

Stamp collecting is a pleasure
That will stand the acid test;
Each new issue is a treasure,
Each old stamp a welcome guest.

'Tis a science, relaxation,
'Tis a sport and lasting charm;
Men of every race and station
May enjoy it without harm.

None too young and none too olden
But may profit by its zest;
It is silver, it is golden,
'Tis one long and cheerful quest.

Then begin at once collecting,
It will fill your heart and mind,
Still pursuing, still expecting,
Some choice rarity to find.

Fill your albums with your treasures,
Chat with others that collect;
You will find a thousand pleasures
That you little did expect.

Every boy should have a passion,
Every man should have one too;
Get the habit, get the fashion—
Stamps are just the thing for you!

OUR HONOR CLUB.

Herman E. Heller, Brooklyn, N. Y.
George B. Graham, Buffalo, N. Y.
Marshall Miller, Puyallup, Wash.
Rev. I. J. Bialdyga, Kingston, N. Y.

Our first applicant for membership in the Honor Club, this week, is Herman E. Heller, who remits $5 in payment for five years' subscription. We thank Mr.
Heller for his expression of confidence and welcome him to the Club.

In a very laconic manner George B.
Graham of Buffalo, N. Y., encloses with his wrapper a check for $5 and scribbled in pencil are the words:—"Nuff sed."
This certainly is not a very long communication but it expresses the appreciation in which Mr. Graham holds the WEEKLY. He is a long-time subscriber to our paper and it is very evident that he is making ample provision for the future with his five years' renewal.

We enter the name of Marshall M.
Miller, Puyallup, Wash., as one of the members of our Five Year Honor Club.
He writes us:—"Your paper coming every week seems like a dear friend to me. Although I am just a common scrub collector I take great pleasure in reading your paper." It is the mission of the WEEKLY to fill the need of both the beginner and the advanced collector.
It is rather a difficult task but the numerous words of commendation we receive convince us that we are succeeding fairly well. Thanks, Mr. Miller.

We acknowledge with pleasure the receipt of a check for $5 from Rev.
Ignatius J. Bialdyga of Kingston, N. Y., in connection with membership in our Honor Club. Our friend writes us:—"Nothing is more pleasing in life than to have our friends drop in on us once in a while, sometimes unexpectedly, sometimes on time. There are many who consider that they have such a friend in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS.
With my many duties I always have enjoyed your paper for many moments whenever it has dropped in on me. It's a healthy sign for any good man to have a hobby and stamp collecting has been not only a scientific study but a pleasant and valuable pastime for many people. With great pleasure do I join you for the future with a five-year renewal of subscription."

AUCTION DEPARTMENT

33 WEST 44TH STREET

NEW YORK, N. Y.

For MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

JAMAICAN PICTORIAL, 1 1/2d.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

Law No. 8 of 1916 (Post Office (War Tax) Law, 1916), assented to by H. E.
the Governor, Sir W. H. Manning, on 30th March, 1916, provided, inter alia, that

"3.—From and after the commencement of this Law (1st April, 1916), there shall be paid to the Postmaster for the use of the Government of this Island as a special war tax, the following amounts in addition to the amounts for the time being payable under any Law, Rule, Convention or Order.

(1)—On every letter and post card addressed to the United Kingdom or any of His Majesty's Colonies or Dominions, 1/2d."

As there was no 1 1/2d stamp in the then current series to care for the combined letter rate and war tax, a cable was sent to the Crown Agents requesting that a supply of this value be sent out at the earliest opportunity. These arrived on June 21st, and were issued July 13th, being printed in brown orange (the accepted color for this denomination in the Crown Agents' color scheme) in the King George (Nyasaland) type, from plate 1, in sheets of 240 stamps, four panes of 60. On Sept. 1, 1916, it was issued overprinted WAR STAMP, in 2 lines of small caps (6-point), and in the following March (1917) appeared with the overprint in larger caps (8-point).

Late in 1917, it was known that the authorities were considering replacing the 1 1/2d King George stamp with one of pictorial nature, showing the departure of the first Jamaican contingent for service overseas. This was evolved by the Postmaster for Jamaica (Mr. Ellis Wolfe), inspired, in all probability, by the 1 1/2d brown orange stamp issued in February, 1901, by New Zealand, to commemorate the sending of a local contin-gent to fight against the Boers in South Africa.

A photograph of the departure of the first Jamaican Contingent was sent to De La Rue & Co., Ltd., by whom considerable difficulty was experienced in adapting it to a stamp design. It was desired if possible that the stamp be in the conventional size, but this was not possible; neither could it be made to suit the receipt size (used for the Queen's Staircase stamps of Bahamas), and one still larger became necessary.

On July 24, 1918, it was officially advised by the Colonial Secretariat that "a new series of 1 1/2d war stamp is in contemplation." In October, one who saw the sketch sent out from London pronounced it as being "very ugly." Finally, when the design was approved, orange was found not to bring out the vignette details, and green was selected;
the stamp being in such large size it would not be confused with the 1/2d Arms type. The initial order was for three million stamps.

After the stamps had been in the island for several months, the stock of the 1 1/2d King George (Nyasaland type) stamp having sufficiently lowered, the Official Gazette of July 3, 1919, announced the new stamp for issue on July 4th,

but it was sold at Myers Wharf Post Office (Kingston) and several country offices on July 3rd.

"Stamp Office 27th June, 1919.

The following is a description of the one penny halfpenny adhesive stamp to be used for Postage and Revenue purposes, which will be put into circulation on the 4th day of July, 1919.

The design of the stamp is denoted by a representation of the Jamaica Contingent embarking; at the right corner is a profile of King George the Fifth surmounted by a crown, and underneath the profile are the figures 1 1/2d. At the left hand corner are printed the words
'Postage. Revenue,' while at the top of the stamp is inscribed the word 'Jamaica,' as also the words 'One Penny Half Penny.'

The stamp is printed on green paper.
(sic.)

Signed, GEO. S. THOMPSON, Deputy Stamp Commissioner."

In form the stamp is a transverse rectangle measuring 42x22mm, printed in green, from line engraved plates of 40 subjects, 5 horizontal by 8 vertical, on heavy white paper, watermarked multiple Crown and CA sideways to the left. The perforation (14) is by a machine perforating the bottom and sides of a horizontal row of stamps at one operation;
only the upper margin of the sheet is perforated through.

On a ribbon extending across the top of the design is "Jamaica," below which in a curved line, conforming to the vignette opening, is the value in words
"One Penny Half Penny." The head of King George in a crowned shield is at the right, over a smaller shield bearing the value, 1 1/2d. In the upper corner are laurel leaves, and at the left, reading upward, is "Postage. Revenue." At the bottom is the vignette lettering "Contingent embarking." All lettering is colorless with the exception of the value in numerals.

In the vignette is shown a portion of the troop crowded decks of the transport "Verdala," which conveyed to England the first contingents from British Honduras, Bahamas and Jamaica. On November 4th, the Verdala sailed from Belize, with the first British Honduras contingent on board, arriving at Kingston on November 8th. There the first Jamaican and Bahamas contingents embarked (the latter having come down from Nassau some weeks previously), and on Tuesday afternoon, Nov.
9, 1915, the transport left the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co.'s wharf, Kingston.
The crossing was accomplished in safety, and Portsmouth, England, was reached on November 25th. Three other contingents were sent by Jamaica, on Jan. 7th, Mar. 16th and Sept. 30, 1916, respectively—in all 12,000 men. These saw service in France, Belgium and Italy, and in Palestine, where they were brigaded with the New Zealanders under General Allenby.

Locally, the stamp was not received with favor, both the size and design coming in for much criticism. One thought it looked "something like the Culebra Cut, or an outdoor movie." A much better appearing stamp would have resulted had the "Verdala" been photographed out in stream instead of at the wharf, or a representation of the Contingent marching down King Street from Victoria Park, with the Public Buildings and palms in the background.

A proposal to appropriately overprint this stamp for sale on Peace Day (July 19, 1919), was looked upon with favor by the Government, but nothing came of it.

The first and second consignments sent out in 1919 were from a plate without number; that received in November, 1919, from plates 1, 2 and 3, and the unnumbered plate, while the March, 1920, receipt contained sheets from these four plates, and in addition plate 4.

GEORGE W. LINN CO., Columbus, Ohio

and lower margins over and under, respectively, the 3rd stamp, and in the side margins opposite the line of perforation between the 4th and 5th horizontal rows. On sheets from plates 1 to 3 inclusive the numeral is in the lower right corner, inside the marginal lines, while those from plate 4 have it outside the marginal lines in the left margin, opposite the first stamp of the 4th horizontal row.

Though issued in 1919, it forms one of the pictorial series of 1920-22, and on February 2, 1921, it appeared on paper watermarked multiple Crown and script CA sideways to the left, from these five plates.

Normally, the watermark is positioned sideways to the left, but it is known in various positions, on both the Roman and script CA watermarked papers.

In December, 1921, the Crown Agents advised that "The execution of the order for 1½d Postage and Revenue stamps has required the manufacture and use of the following additional plates; i.e., 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12." Sheets from plates 5 to 8 inclusive have the numeral in the lower margin under the 3rd stamp of the lower row, in line with the register marking, and on those from plates 9 to 12 inclusive, it is under the same stamp but varies from 3 to 4mm to the left of the register marking.

In June, 1922, a further printing of 1½d stamps was made from the 13 plates in hand, and two new ones, 13 and 14, and these were issued in October, 1922. On sheets from the new plates the numeral is still to the left of the register marking, under the 3rd stamp of the lower row, but moved up a little more into the angle of the cross.

Having examined a number of sheets of the 1½d stamp while in Kingston in September, 1922, the writer is of the opinion that plates 5 and upwards are numbered at the top as well as at the bottom, the numeral at the top being inverted with respect to the stamp subjects, and generally lost in trimming the sheets before dispatch to the Colony.

The stamp being so much larger in size than others of the pictorial series (except the 6d Port Royal, issued December 5, 1922), continuous complaints were made by the local folks compelled to make use of it daily. In October, 1922, one of the Gleaner's correspondents wrote:—

"If the Government intends keeping the present Contingent stamp in use very much longer, they ought to make some arrangements with the stationers to put larger envelopes on the market, and subsidise them for doing so. After writing

ARISTOCRATS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY

In the rush and noise of the 20th century printing presses, the call of 19th century stamps is sometimes ignored. Yet, as Mr. Charles J. Phillips says with the voice of authority—"These old classic issues are the ones that tell in a collection, and are the soundest in which to invest."

Below we are offering some fine items, and altho few of them deserve the title of superb, many of them are far above the average. If it seems that some are less desirable because of some mentioned defect, remember that we have tried to mention each and every little trifle that would detract from its value. We could fill the paper mentioning the exceptional colors, cancellations, and general appearance.

We are operating on the plan of quick sales and small profits, preferring that you shall profit by the investment, be satisfied, and come again. We ask cash in advance, or in case you are known to us, ON RECEIPT OF GOODS. To such buyers, and to no others, we offer a 10% discount on orders over $10. This discount does not apply to the Newfoundland stamps—we regret that these are net, but these are the only exceptions.

A * indicates unused stamps, all others used. Money back promptly if you return within five days of receipt—no questions or quibbling. On orders over $10 (excluding Newfoundland), 10% for cash. Cash customers get the preference. Better send your order today and get the best stamps. Send a list of "Second Choices", we may not have the stamp you want most. In any event, we'll do our best.

the name and address on the face of the envelope, there is little space left to affix this abominable stamp."

Due to the large size of the stamp, the line engraved plates bear only 40 subjects and the expense incident to the manufacture of plates, and printing the large quantities required of this denomination, is so great that in every year the estimate for stamp supplies is greatly exceeded. Consideration was being given to a stamp of smaller size, and in a different design, when on August 2, 1923, the inland letter rate, after much opposition from the Government members in the legislative Council, was reduced from 1½d to 1d, and in all probability, no change will now be effected.

In the Gazette of August 2, 1923, appeared the following order revising inland postage rates, which became effective "from the date of publication thereof."

"No. 472. 31st July, 1923.

The following order made by the Governor in Privy Council, is hereby published for general information.

By Command,
 H. BRYAN,
 Colonial Secretary.

Pursuant to the power conferred on me by the Post Office Amendment Law, 1910, I, the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Privy Council, do hereby order that the several rates of Inland Postage shall be those which are specified in Schedule "A" of the said Law, namely, as follows:—

Letters, for each ounce or fractional part thereof, One penny Post Cards, single, Half penny reply paid, One penny Newspapers, each, Half penny
 Prices current, each, Half penny Book packets, for each 2 oz. or fractional part thereof, Half penny Parcels, for each 2 oz. or fractional part thereof, One penny Registration fee, Two pence

This order shall be operative from the date of publication thereof.

L. PROBYN,
 Governor in Privy Council."

PAYABLE ON PRESENTATION.

Some of our newer advertisers have not yet learned that our bills whether for advertising or books, are payable on presentation. In the case of advertising we find little objection if payment be delayed for a few days but in no case can longer time be granted than the 15th of the month. In other words, if when we make up our advertising for the last issue in the month your previous month's bill has not been paid, you must not be surprised to find your advertisement missing. We are glad to extend advertisers all kinds of courtesies that it is possible for a newspaper to render, but we are insistent that bills shall be paid on presentation. If this rule cannot be complied with we cannot accept your advertising.

During the last several weeks I have purchased three very fine United States collections, including the Charles A. Schleicher collection, which was strong not only in the early classics, but contained such rarities as the 1869 15c and 24c inverts, the 1c, 2c and 4c Pan American inverts, the 24c air mail invert, all of the blue papers and other rarities such as are found in a collection of this size. A second collection was strong in late blocks in perfection mint condition, as well as fine singles, so that I again have in stock these most desirable 20th century items that are rapidly being absorbed and are beginning to become almost unobtainable.

A perfection mint horizontal pair of the Franklin D. Roosevelt is offered with A.P.S. certificate containing such guarantees as Luff, Klemann, Bartels, Poole, Stern, Klein and Leavy.

It is a pleasure to receive wants lists from those who appreciate really fine things in unusual condition. Let me know what you are looking for.

Also in the market to purchase at highest cash prices fine United States collections, duplicates or stock, or offer excellent exchange for those items that you desire to trade for something that can be used in your collection. Where really important properties are offered, will gladly furnish the best of banking, commercial and philatelic references.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—On Monday, December 31, 1923, the new 2c endwise coil, perforated 10 horizontally, unwatermarked, design of 1923, was placed on sale at the Philatelic Stamp Agency in Washington. The new rotary plates for this variety, consisting of one hundred and fifty subjects, were listed in a previous Chronicle. Plates for the 1c endwise coil have also been completed and this stamp may be expected in short order. Mr. C. J. West thoughtfully sends me a cover from Washington posted with the new 2c coil on the first day while Mr. H. W. Porter kindly favors with a mint strip. To date we have had the 1c, 2c and 4c sidewise and the 2c endwise coil from the new 1923-1923 dies. Plates for the new 3c sidewise have also been made but it is not expected that this variety will be issued at this time for the department has a fair stock of the old variety on hand.

In a recent Chronicle mention was made of the fact that three of the earlier plates of the Harding Memorial stamp, namely, 14876, 14895 and 14896, had evidently not gone to press for impressions from these flat plates had not as yet been seen although dozens of the higher numbers had been located. I have recently found panes from these three sheets packed in combination with 14909, a number which also has been missing for some time. Because of their appearance together I am lead to believe that these four plates were put aside at the Bureau temporarily for some reason and that they were not finished until a later date.

Mr. Charles E. Carman sends a clipping from the New York World, dated Juneau, Alaska, December 22nd, stating that prominent Alaskan residents have started a movement to ask Congress for a special issue of either a postage stamp or coin to commemorate the completion of the Government railroad. It is argued that inasmuch as Congress printed a Panama Canal stamp the big project in Alaska deserves some recognition. Why not reissue the 3c, 1869, or the 2c, 1901? These both show a subject which would be appropriate and would give us a re-issue, something we have not had for a long time.

Speaking of reissues, the flood came in 1875, when all previous emissions were reissued for sale at the Centennial Exhibition held in Philadelphia during 1876. Why not more reissues for the Sesqui-Centennial to be held in the same city in 1926? Someone should arrange to show Washington how they could make use of the old dies held in the vaults at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing.

The daily press under date of December 10th, carried notice of the fact that the Secretary of the Treasury, A. W. Mellon, had offered to James L. Wilmet, former Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, his old position from which he had been summarily discharged by Executive order in March, 1922. Investigation made since the dismissal of a score or more employees from the Bureau have shown that the charges given publicity at the time were without foundation. Mr. Wilmet declined reinstatement as head of the Bureau, expressed his gratification at the magnanimous action of the Secretary and states that the raw deal he and others received was not due to the Secretary, but to others.

In my notes of November 5th, mention was made of a number of changelings to be found in the case of the last two issues. Prof. James Lewis Howe, of the Department of Chemistry, of Washington and Lee University, now sends quite a few new changelings for my reference collection, the result of using hydrochloric acid in some cases and hydrogen sulfide in others. A 1c green has been changed into a beautiful light blue while the old 6c and 30c now take on the brown of the 4c. The new 10c changes to an olive brown while the 9c takes on a lake tinge that I have seen offered as a shade variety.

Prof. Howe touches another subject dear to the heart of the collector. How to distinguish watermarks? Personally I use carbona and have for some little time. I have never ruined a stamp but I was not sure that time might be an agent and that the carbona would get in its good work years after a stamp had been mounted. Prof. Howe writes, "I doubt if any of the colors used on U. S. stamps are soluble in carbona: some of the foreign, especially the anilin colors should be. In general I think benzene (C₆H₆, "coal-tar benzene," "benzol") as good and safer. I doubt if this will affect any stamps.

Many years ago I ruined quite a number of stamps by hinges which contained alkali; these included a set of Executives, and some Heligoland stamps. Happily most of the colors used on stamps are pretty fast to re-agents. No violets seem to stand light. I have tried in vain to make a changeling of our 2c stamp; it is a wonderfully fast cover."

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—President Masaryk again figures on a series of four values, but the portrait of the veteran statesman is a more up-to-date rendering than that on the 1920 series. The stamps show a hand-struck control on back—an interlaced C P S—probably "Posta Czecho-Slovakia."

50k green. 200k blue.
100k carmine. 300k brown.
—Philatelic Magazine.

DANTZIG.—There is another air post series from here, small oblong format, showing two planes in flight within a posthorn. Two of the series of four were surcharged to supply higher denominations prior to being issued for use. 250,000m red; 500,000m red; 2 Million on 100,000m red, and 5 Million on 50,000m red.

For the present there are to be no more soaring values here as the State has returned to more or less normal conditions and has adopted a new gold currency—the gulden being equal to about 10d. Messrs. Whitfield King send us specimens of the new provisionals based on this change, and which are on the small upright Arms type. They are: 5pf on 50m, 10pf on 50m, 20pf on 100m, 25pf on 50m, 30pf on 50m, 40pf on 100m, 50pf on 100m and 75pf on 100m.

Values of 1, 2, 3 and 5 gulden are to follow shortly.—Philatelic Magazine.

EGYPT.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts the 15m, blue King Huad type on chalky surfaced paper watermarked multiple Crescent and Star.

PORTUGAL.—The recently issued 40c dark blue of the current series will not be reprinted—only 50,000 were issued. Messrs. Whitfield King sends us a new value for the current series: 20c deep green.—Philatelic Magazine.

RUSSIA.—Our Russian correspondent, Mr. George White, tells us that the post-office is now being run on a gold currency basis, and new stamps have been issued.

1 kop. Zolotom (of gold), chrome yellow (Worker).
3 kop. Zolotom (of gold), light red (Soldier).
4 kop. Zolotom (of gold), rose (Worker).
6 kop. Zolotom (of gold), pale blue (Peasant).

10 kop. Zolotom (of gold), dp. blue (Soldier).

The stamps are issued imperforate, and are badly printed. The designs are similar to the rouble issue but bear the inscription below the design, "C.C.C.P." in place of "P.C.&C.P."—The Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. The old stamps are still current, and will continue so till the end of the year, when it is intended to replace the currency entirely by one on the gold basis of the Chervonetz. The Chervonetz equals 10 gold roubles and is at present the lowest denomination in the new currency, which maintains its favourable exchange over the £. At present the rate of exchange is 6,500 roubles to the Chervonetz, and less than 6,000 to the £.

The new postal rates are as follows:—Inland letters, 6 kop=today 39r.

Foreign letters, 20 kop=today 13or.

Foreign postcards, 12 kop=today 78r.

Thus the foreign letter rate is double the pre-war cost.

The Exhibition stamps were issued both perf. and imperf. and were on sale for only a few days, although the Agricultural Exhibition lasted over two months.—Philatelic Magazine.

PRECANCELS

"The most popular branch of United States Postage Stamp Collecting."

This is the analysis of the editor of one of America's philatelic journals. Precancels are postage stamps which are canceled prior to their use by printing or stamping the name of the city in which the stamp is to be used between lines or bars. The resulting cancellation is easily read and fits in well as an important major cancellation type. It is part of the new stamp, the precancel.

We will send you FREE, a Packet of 23 All Different Precancels, a series of explanatory articles about precancels and a sample copy of the Precancel Gazette, a monthly magazine devoted to precancels.

SOME "DON'T'S" FOR ADVERTISERS.

Don't build up the catalog value of a packet with such trash as punched Philippines stamps or Ecuador revenues. A satisfied customer is better than a single sale.

Don't advertise a stamp with fiscal cancellation and quote catalog price for a postally used copy. Let alone the moral aspect, from a business standpoint, honesty is the best policy.

Don't wait until Wednesday to mail ad copy. Have it in our office Wednesdays.

Don't advertise a stamp at the catalog quotation when the revised prices mark it down to a fraction of the original amount.

Don't offer any premiums for a certain number of "first" replies to your advertisements. There is an element of chance there that the postal authorities dislike. If the premium goes to every patron, "chance" disappears.

Don't reflect in any way upon the advertising of your competitor. Every tub should stand upon its own bottom, and your prices will speak for themselves. Buyers are cautious of dealers who seek to rise by riding rough shod over their neighbors.

These "don'ts" MUST be heeded.

THE MANAGING EDITOR

AUTOMATIC POSTAL FRANKING.

By ALBERT H. HARRIS.

A good deal of uncertainty appears to exist as to the position and functions of the Postage Meter Frank stamps, the use of which was sanctioned by the Postmaster-General in 1922 (vide P. M. 21/10/22, p. 535).

It should be understood that the machines are not supplied by the Post Office, but by one of three firms, the Postage Meters and Machines Co. (Pitney-Bowes), the Universal Postal Frankers Ltd., and the International, the two last being associated. All three firms have supplied the British and U. S. A. Postal Authorities with cancelling machines for the past twelve years, and although the franking system is an innovation in this versal Postal Franker was established at the Philatelic Magazine Stall during the International Stamp Exhibition in May, and here letters were posted which bore the frank-stamp No. 1, with date and LONDON, S. W. I. The number "1" indicated that this was the first machine registered for use in the London, S. W. I. district. Referring to this, the November Stamp Lover says: "Unfortunately, it appeared to be impossible to get both the postal franker impression and the special Exhibition postmark on one envelope, as the letters posted at the Stall had to be taken direct to the South western District Office, tied in bundles so as to comply with the regulations, and so did not pass through the Exhibition Post Office."

Now, this statement is inaccurate and far as the Universal machine is concerned. The whole is done in one operation, and the one meter is universal for all values. This, however, is not the case with Pitney-Bowes machine.

Quite a number of those interested in stamps have been rather scared by the Postal Franker idea, and a slogan, "Abolish Stamps and Save Labour by using a Postage Meter," has increased this fear. It must be remembered, however, that the machines will no more replace stamps than the petrol-driven vehicle has ousted horse-power. Large firms and mail-order businesses will adopt the machines in the same way that many firms have established the commercial motor in place of the horse-drawn means of transit. This phase in the use of frank-country it has been used for some time in New Zealand and the U. S. A.

The Pitney-Bowes machine has only one form of "indicia," or impression, and this has not varied since their first introduction, whereas the Postal Frankers are using several types, and the statements which have appeared in the philatelic press to the effect that the "indicia" have been changed are inaccurate.

One type of Postal Franker uses entirely red ink for the "indicia" and the postmark, another type prints the stamp in red and the postmark in black. The same applies to the system of dating. Roman numerals are not obligatory—only in some cases.

Regular readers will recall that a Uni-misleading. Correspondence passed through the machine needs no further cancellation of any kind. The frank and cancellation are combined. (This is one of the strong points in favour of the machine, as the letters go direct to the sorter and do not pass through the initial stage of the cancelling section of the Post Office.) Letters franked at our Stall did go through the Exhibition Post Office (the present writer handed in many of the bundles himself) but being cancelled at our Stall, of course no second cancellation was applied. Again there is no obligation to do up letters in bundles except when there are over twenty. Further, the statement that the machines impress the frank and the date in two operations is quite erroneous so ing machines brings us to an interesting point, and from the illustrations given here it will be seen that the Universal Postal Frankers intend to preserve the artistic value of their franks, while offering the saving of time and labour which must always appeal to large business concerns.

We are privileged to illustrate on this page for the first time some additions to the designs given in our issue above quoted. It must be understood that while these are contemplated designs they have not yet been adopted, and are therefore, for the present, in the category of "essays."

We hope to be able to impart some further interesting news on this subject in an early issue.—Philatelic Magazine.

PARAGUAY "PLANT" AT BUENOS AIRES.

Upon invitation by the Chief Post Office Inspector, Washington, the following letter (with exhibits) was forwarded by registered mail December 14, 1923: The Chief Post Office Inspector, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Sir:—

The American Stamp Dealers' Association, Inc., invites your serious attention to the accompanying report concerning the fraudulent operations of an individual (possibly more than one) who has been located in the Argentine Republic since (to our knowledge) 1915, and is at present at Buenos Aires.

As the fraudulent operations are being executed from a foreign country, the schemer (or schemers) depending solely upon the international mails for the success of their ulterior project, we ask that this report be officially brought to the attention of the Argentine Republic postal authorities thru the agency of your office.

Our report, so far as essential details are concerned, follows:

During the past three months hundreds of the stamp dealers of the world have received, Unsolicited, a consignment of alleged stamps of Paraguay, six values, these consignments being billed at from $18.00 to $250.00—according to the business status and prestige of the recipient.

These shipments of alleged postage stamps were sent by registered mail from Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic, by a so-called James Collins, who gave his address as Brandzen 318, Quilmes, Republica Argentina.

After intensive investigation by the undersigned, assisted by certain members of our organization, this Association makes the direct charge that the so-called James Collins is none other than an individual formerly known as P. V. Hiordan and C. P. Mego, and possibly known as Frank Warner, M. Rachitoff and Luis Gomez—all of Buenos Aires or adjacent localities.

This Association also makes the direct charge that the alleged postage stamps of Paraguay, shipped out by Collins, are fraudulent—being out-and-out fakes.

In connection with this report we submit the following exhibits:

(a) Registered package, as sent out by the so-called James Collins to one of the A. S. D. A. members. This exhibit includes a typed letter with rubber stamp signature; a bill for 50 sets of Paraguayan postage stamps, alleged 1923 issue, amount of bill being $90.00 net; a circular quoting prices on the fake Paraguayan issue, the 1921 Argentine Republic issue of four stamps, and the 1922 Uruguayan issue of three stamps; a circular soliciting stamp exchange relations; a circular soliciting approval selections of stamps; five (5) sets of the fake Paraguayan stamps, and the registered cover showing mailing date of September 21, 1923, at Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic.

(b) Marked copies of the A. S. D. A. Bulletin, Nos. 421, 423 and 425.

(c) Written signatures of P. V. Hiordan, C. P. Mego, and James Collins. Also a manuscript letter written by P. V. Hiordan.

(d) List of stamp dealers who have filed complaints in the past, alleging fraudulent operations by Hiordan, Mego, Warner, or Collins.

(e) Printed "Black List" issued in Europe, in 1921, containing names of Hiordan and Mego.

(f) Letter from foreign member of A. S. D. A., stating that the "Bolsa Filatelica," Corrientes 489, Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic, also is sending out, Unsolicited, on approval, these fake Paraguayan stamps.

(g) Printed sheet showing that one

Luis Gomez is proprietor of the "Bolsa Filatelica," at Buenos Aires.

(h) Bank letter quoting the exchange value of the Paraguayan peso at eight cents, U. S. A.

(i) Registered envelope sent out by C. P. Mego in 1920, with "P. V. H." (Jordan) seal on back.

(j) Envelope sent thru the mails, showing that P. V. Hiordan was operating at Puerto la Plata, Republica Argentina, in 1915.

This writer, having been associated with the American Stamp Dealers' Association for a number of years, has made a special study of the Hiordan-Mego-Warner-Rachitoff-Collins-Gomez case; special effort has been made to accumulate specimens of handwriting pertaining to these names, and as a result of this accumulation and consequent comparison the confidential reports printed in A. S. D. A. Bulletins Nos. 421, 423 and 425 were authorized and distributed to our members.

Summarizing this case, we learn that efforts have been made—and still are being made—to victimize stamp dealers in all parts of the world. We are getting reports from our most distant members, and from these reports we can estimate in a material way the real activities of this crook (or crooks), using Buenos Aires as a base of operations.

The question with us is, will they escape the legal penalty which surely awaits them if caught? Surely, the Paraguayan government (to whose representative we have submitted material evidence) will be interested in apprehending the offender; and, surely, the Argentine government (to whose representative we also sent material evidence) will endeavor to stop these fraudulent operations, effectively, when the matter has been investigated and found as charged.

This Association will continue its publicity of the matter for some time to Incl's—as stated.

Sample sets of these fake stamps will be sent to A. S. D. A. members on receipt of request, accompanied by addressed and stamped envelope.

In order to give this matter the greatest publicity, and to do all in our power to effectively check the fraudulent operations of philatelic crooks at Buenos Aires and vicinity, the matter contained in A. S. D. A. Bulletins Nos. 421, 423, 425 and 427 pertaining to P. V. Hiordan, C. P. Mego, Frank Warner, M. Rachitoff, Luis Gomez, "Bolsa Filatelica," and James Collins, as well as the charge that the 1923 Paraguayan postage stamps, six values, as sent out by Collins, et al., are fakes, such matter is hereby released for publicity purposes, effective December 20, 1923.

P. V. Hiordan was in evidence in Puerto la Plata, Argentina, Aug. 19, 1915.

He still was there in September, 1916. In January, 1917, some 30 complaints had been filed against Hiordan.

During March, 1917, still further complaints were listed against Hiordan.

In December, 1917, a philatelic paper at Buenos Aires reported that they had received some forty complaints against Hiordan.

In June, 1920, C. P. Mego was indexed as a fraud, and since that time we have received many miscellaneous complaints against Hiordan, Mego, Warner, Matincheff and Collins. It is clear that the names complained of should be indexed in the following order, viz.: Hiordan, Mego, Warner, Matincheff and Collins. Gomez advertised himself as the proprietor of the "Bolsa Filatelica," and we have evidence that the latter concern is sending out consignments of the fake stamps. This brings Gomez into the circle—and Gomez has been in Buenos Aires for many years. We need a specimen of Gomez's handwriting.

Somewhere in South America is a reputable stamp man by the name of Marcos Rachitoff, but the one we refer to was located at Florida, 377, Buenos Aires, Argentina, and that is the exact address given by Luis E. Gomez, and the Casa ("Bolsa") Filatelica, in November, 1920. The handwriting of this Matincheff, of Hiordan, of Mego, and of Collins are reported to be the same. We desire very much to see a specimen of the handwriting of Gomez.

We have seen Collins' letter written in French, accompanying the shipments of fake stamps sent to Belgium and France.

We have a complete set of inverts of the fake stamps; the catalog chroniclers seem to have missed all but one of these. Here is what Collins says about the inverts:

"I send more of the Paraguayan stamps which you ask for at 10% over face value, and trust that they will please; also the whole set inverted, of which only one sheet of each is known. It would be pretty hard to get these used, as the Government tried to call them in as soon as the errors were known to be in evidence."

Collins neglects no opportunity to stress the fact that these stamps have been listed by the standard catalogues of the world.

The A. S. D. A., has addressed letters to the following:

James Collins, Brandzen 318, Quilmes, Argentine Republic.
Mariana Norfolk, Calle Brown Num. 803, Quilmes, Argentine Republic.
Representative in Charge, Paraguayan

Chief P. O. Inspector, Washington, D. C.

Official in Charge, Paraguayan Legation, 36 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.
Manuel Hidalgo, Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic. (A. P. S. member).

As long as we are on this subject, members of the A. S. D. A., who have complaints against anyone in the Argentine Republic had best file their evidence with the A. S. D. A. secretary. It does not take much of this evidence to find out how much two and two amount to. —A. S. D. A. Bulletin.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.

The 4d and 5d Kangaroos.

By A. H. DAVIS.

CURRENCY.

Owing to their short lives, abruptly terminated by the appearance of King's Head stamps for both values in January and February, 1915, respectively, the 4d and 5d stamps are among the scarcest of the low value Kangaroos. The 5d first appeared in January, 1913, and the 4d in the following month.

As the precise dates of issue happen to be known of these two values, they may be of interest. The 5d was delivered to the Stamp Distributer on January 16, 1913, but that happening to be a Saturday they were not actually issued until January 18, 1913, in Victoria. They appeared during the same month in New South Wales. The 4d Kangaroo first saw the light of day—in a post-office—in the small island state of Tasmania on February 12, 1913. They were issued in Victoria on the 15th and in New South Wales on the 19th of the same month. Thus these two species of Kangaroo averaged barely two years, the brown Kangaroo living a little longer, but the orange one not quite so long.

PRINTING.

Both denominations were printed by the normal method for medium values of Australian Commonwealth stamps, by a vertically double plate, printing 240 designs at an impression. Both upper and lower halves of the full plate had coloured border lines around 120 stamps, divided by a vertical gutter with a double-line into two panes of sixty each; but, whereas the lower half of both had the Cooke monograms at foot under the border line, these are absent from the upper half sheet (commonly called "sheet").

There is a peculiarity about the monograms on these values—a peculiarity shared by the 2½d and 3d of the same series—in that Mr. Cooke's initials, "J B C," appear first under the third stamp from left and the AC monogram to the right, the reverse arrangement being normal in Kangaroo stamps.

PAPER, WATERMARK, AND PERFORATION. The 4d and 5d values are both usually found on the thinnish white wove usual for first wmk. Kangaroo, but both can be found on paper slightly thicker.

Both are known bearing only the first watermark; indeed, the date of their demise precludes there being any other. Both have been diligently looked for with inverted or sideways wmk.—in both cases without result, and, as the number extant of both is limited, it hardly seems likely such will ever be discovered now.

Neither have been seen with double or other freak perforations, though, of course, both are well known with the official punctures (perforated letters). And the 4d value is known with rough perforation, almost blind, in addition to the ordinary clean-cut one.

SHADES OF THE 4D.

Here we are up against a vexed question. Our experience is that the colour of the 4d Kangaroo varies from a rich red-orange by slight gradations to orange and yellow-orange, and finally to orange-yellow. But the English catalogues list a yellow stamp. Gibbons list two shades—orange and yellow. We had always taken the latter to signify the orange-yellow shade; indeed the price (5s mint, 2s used) seems to support this contention, for if there be a yellow variety extant it must be mighty scarce. But Messrs. Bright, in their new British Empire Catalogue, without pricing it mint, list "yellow" in addition to two others: orange and orange-yellow.

The only yellow copies of this stamp we have seen have been "fades." That, of course, is no proof that the genuine colour does not exist. and if any reader has in his possession an undoubted specimen of this stamp in a pure yellow colour, he would confer an obligation on the writer by submitting it to him for inspection. Mr. Alec Rosenblum does not mention such a stamp in his Handbook on Australian Commonwealth stamps, neither is it listed in Hagen's Australasian catalogue.

VARIETIES OF THE 4D.

The only flaws noticed by us have been thick lettering and an extra dab of colour beside the value circle. These, however, are more likely due to excess of ink than to any flaw in the plate.

SHADES OF THE 5D.

The English catalogues give this value in one colour only—chestnut—but Messrs. Fred. Hagen, in their Australasian catalogue, give two, viz., pale and deep chestnut, and we think they are justified. Indeed, there seems to us yet another shade, which we should describe as reddish-brown. This is evidently a late printing. One piece in our possession we find marked "March, 1915," the date of purchase at a post-office, this being when this value was nominally obsolete.

Indeed, there seem to have been two distinct printings of this stamp. In the first and better known (chestnut) the lines of shading are fine but shaky: in the latter printing, often on stouter paper, the lines of shading are coarse but firm. In fact, the design generally is more decided, as if in printing it had been subjected to greater pressure.

VARIETIES OF THE 5D.

Examples of the first printing are known with blurred impression. This varies considerably in degree. We have in front of us a block of four that must be unique in this respect and has been described as "printed from woodblock."

But Caxton himself would probably have been too ashamed to have owned it had it proceeded from his press. The words "Australia" and "Postage" stand out as white letters on a solid blotch of colour, and the long wash of the Australian seas is seen breaking all round on the coastline of the map, whilst the poor old Kangaroo has so much fur on him—only his eyes showing out whitely—that one might well believe he had prepared himself to set out on an expedition to the frozen South.

This bizarre example of the printer's art was probably more due to defective printing than to any flaw in the plate, and, though this may have become more or less worn, the fine lines of shading are as fine as ever. There seems to be no ground for supposing any Commonwealth stamps have ever been lithographed; if they were, this might have been a bad sample of printing from stone.

The only flaws noticed have been defects in the frame lines, and those small. One slight flaw observable on many of these stamps has Port Phillip Bay, underneath the Kangaroo's tail, in solid colour instead of outline, as if to stress the place on the map where the erstwhile Federal capital city of Melbourne lies.—Stamp Collecting.

THE KEMALIST ISSUES OF TURKEY.

By STANLEY PHILLIPS.

The stamps issued by authority of the Turkish National Assembly at Angora during the years when it ruled a large part of Turkey in Asia, but had not yet become the de facto Government of Turkey as a whole, are of great historical and philatelic interest. They are witnesses to the growth of the Nationalist movement, and their replacement by the new Star and Crescent type for the whole of Turkey is evidence of its success, so far as the promoters of the movement are concerned, whatever may be its results for Europe and the world at large.

That little has been written about these issues in the pages of Stanley Gibbons Monthly Circular does not imply that we have at any time been doubtful of their status, but detailed information has been hard to come by, while comparatively few of the stamps themselves have reached this country, where the majority of collectors do not realise how philatelically interesting they are, or how rare some of the varieties are likely to become. At the same time a word of warning is necessary, as there are a certain number of forgeries in existence, and the quantity is likely to increase with the growing popularity of the stamps. We have, therefore, contented ourselves with noting such information as came our way, realising that its publication piecemeal could only result in confusing the collector, and it is only recently, when we have been privileged to inspect the collections formed by several naval and military readers back from service in the Near East, that we have been enabled to compile anything like a complete list. This article is, therefore, a summary of information gathered by the kind help of Lieut.-Commander F. W. Glead, R. N., Major R. W. Brierley, and Lieut. D. M. J. Murray, all of whom have been generous in their assistance and in the loan of collections, and specimens for illustration. Even now, our list must be regarded as tentative only, and we shall welcome any further information our readers can give with a view to its improvement.

Those who are inclined to consider all the post-war issues of New Europe and the Near East as rubbish, will perhaps be tempted to include the stamps of the Kemalist regime under the same definition, but we say without hesitation that in this, as in many other instances, they will be making a serious mistake. The Angora Government, though it did not achieve immediate recognition, was the de facto government of all unoccupied Turkey in Asia, and no doubt had the support of many patriotic Turks in Europe. Ruling a large territory, it naturally had to make some effort to keep the postal services running, and when, cut off from Constantinople supplies, there came a shortage of the ordinary postage stamps of the Central Government, Angora had to supply the deficiency. Taking into account the shortage of material and lack of facilities for obtaining new stamps, the number of provisionals issued was not excessive, and their non-speculative character (with possible exceptions to be mentioned later) is proved by the fact that they are found regularly franking the ordinary correspondence of the country, while unlike issues which have "philatelic" interests behind them, the market has not been flooded with them, and even in Constantinople many of them have been hard to obtain.

At first, the stamps in use in the territory under Nationalist control were those of the Central Government which happened to be in stock at the various post-offices, and with dated postmarks showing use in this territory they form an interesting introduction to the Kemalist issues proper. These latter, however, were only supplementary to existing stocks, and the issues of both Governments may be found in concurrent use throughout the period under review. It is stated that the Kemalist stamps were more often used for internal correspondence, those of the older issues being employed for franking letters sent abroad.

The first need was for a stamp of 3

piastres, this being the current rate for internal correspondence, while there was no stamp of this denomination available. The 2, 4, and 6 paras of the 1913 pictorial issue of Turkey, and the 2 paras, violet (Turkish artillery), of the war period, were therefore surcharged with a faint Turkish inscription in twolines, reading "ANGORA 3 PIASTRES." There are two types of the first (right hand) Turkish character in "Piastres," in one of which the upper portion is disjointed, while in the other it is run on to the lower portion. All four values are known with surcharge inverted, the 6 paras being scarce. Lieut.-Commander Glead gives the numbers surcharged as:— 3 pi on 2 par. (1913), 135,000
3 pi on 4 par. " 14,000
3 pi on 6 par. " 2,600
3 pi on 2 par. (Artillery), 135,000
Stamps with missing or broken characters in the surcharge are also known.

Though, according to our information, the issue next to be described was not the next in chronological order, we deal with it here for convenience, as it is linked with that which we have just described. It consists in the application of a bolder Turkish surcharge in three lines, reading, "POST PIASTRES 3." Apparently the small surcharge previously applied was not sufficiently clear, in fact it is often invisible on the dark blue of the 6 paras stamp, so we find the stamps with the small surcharge resurcharged with the new type in black or red. On the 2 paras, Artillery, it is sideways, either to left or right. The black ink used for this surcharge is of the same character as that used for the "CILICIE" overprints on Turkish stamps and runs through to the back of the stamps. As a result of some stamps in the sheet lacking the second surcharge, pairs may be found of the 3 paras on 2 paras and 3 paras on 4 paras, 1913, in which one stamp has the first surcharge only, while the other has both surcharges.

Followed the new surcharge on the same stamps but without the previous surcharge. A Turkish dealer's list shows two types of the Turkish figure "3," one of which has the downstroke very short. This variety is found on all stamps in the two lowest horizontal rows of the sheet. L'Echangiste Universel mentions the 3 piastres on 6 paras with black overprint inverted.

Stocks of postage stamps being insufficient to meet requirements, the various Turkish Fiscal stamps on hand were collected and surcharged "OSMANLI POSTALARI 1336" (Turkish Post, 1920), and were thus made available for postage, the original face value remaining unchanged. This surcharge was hand-stamped in black, and two types are found. In the first the surcharge is 20mm. long, and the character resembling a circumflex accent is above the right-hand "3" of the date, while in the other it is nearly 23mm. long, and the character is above the left-hand "3." Lieut.-Commander Glead mentions a third type, length 23mm, but with the character placed as in the 20mm type. For details of the stamps overprinted, readers are referred to the check list. Of the 1 piastre, blue, Ministry of Justice, he states that only 200 were overprinted, and we do not remember seeing this stamp in other collections, which tends to confirm its rarity. The 2 piastres, Passport stamp, is also hard to get. The same informant states that there were only 199 of the latter, most of which were burnt by the Greeks after capturing Bozeyuk.

The following year, various Fiscal stamps received a machine-printed overprint, equivalent to "TURKISH POST 1337" (1921). We have seen collections in which six types of this overprint are distinguished. Our above-quoted informant distinguishes four, differing in the length and characters of the right-hand group (signifying "post"). The position of the three dots above this group also varies. A similar overprint was next applied to stamps hitherto used for collecting the Hejaz Railway tax. The original face value of these stamps was 1 piastre, but their value at the time of receiving the Kemalist overprint was indicated by a surcharge, varying for each value.

The definitive series, ordered in Italy so far back as 1920, did not arrive until 1922. The 1 piastre, blue, belongs to a set in the same type, the other values of which have not been issued, except with the Adana overprint. This pictorial series was succeeded, or supplemented, by another, consisting of six low values in a new type, showing (I believe) the National Assembly building at Angora.

By the treaty made with the Angora Government, the French handed back Adana (Cilicia) to the Turks, and this was made the occasion for what may be regarded as a not strictly necessary issue, certain postage and postage due stamps being overprinted "ADANA, DECEMBER 1st, 1921."

In the frankly unnecessary class stands a set of six values (the "Lighthouse," 10 paras, of Turkey, and the 20 paras, and 1, 2, 5, and 10 piastres of the Angora pictorials), overprinted in red to commemorate the Smyrna Economic Congress February 27, 1923. These may well be left alone.

An air-post rarity which is not often seen is the 5 piastres on 2 paras (Artillery), hand-stamped when on the envelope with the Turkish equivalent of "Adalia, Souvenir, Air Post, 1.5.39."

PERFECTION COPIES

of even the cheaper values of OLD UNITED STATES STAMPS are hard to get. Take any unpicked lot of 10,000 stamps—out of the 19,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, full, rich color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes or missing perforation, and lightly cancelled.

NATURALLY YOU CANNOT BUY stamps of this nature at bargain prices. But because of the prices which this kind of material always demands, the prices at which I sell are reasonable. Stamps in my stock that are a little off from what I have described are marked at correspondingly low prices. Therefore, whatever your own standards of collecting, providing you are not expecting to buy single stamps at the prices of quantity lots, you will find much to interest you in a selection from my stock, which is strongest in the three cent 1861, three cent 1869, one, two, three, four, five, six and ten cent, 1870 to 1888, inclusive. Send good reference, society reference preferred, and name the stamps you specialize in.

THE BALLOON POST OF 1870-71 FROM PARIS TO METZ.

By H. W. MOFFAT.

When a collector tells me that he has got a fine collection of 1870 Balloon Post specimens I listen respectfully. I used to say the same thing myself. I now realise that I had only collected a very few common genuine pieces together with a lot of dubious material and had actually, as a collector, only touched the veriest outside fringe of the 1870 Balloon Post.

In this article I shall attempt to give some details of the 1870 Balloon Post which may be unknown to the average Air Post collector, and before I go any further let me say that I am indebted to that great authority on the 1870 Balloon Post, Dr. Morel, for most of the matter concerning the Balloon Post from Metz.

Dr. Morel has written numerous articles on the Paris and Metz Balloon Posts and has been kind enough to give me salient particulars and also forwarded to me specimens—especially of the Metz Balloon Post—to enable me to give readers some idea of what the real rarities of the 1870 Balloon Post are.

PARIS BALLOON POST 1870.

Paris was invested on the 21st September, 1870, and by then the French Government had moved to Bordeaux. Naturally there immediately arose the problem of commercial and official communication with uninvaded France. Almost at once steps were taken to open up communication with the outside world. What one might call a semi-official venture in Air Postage was made on Sept. 23, 1870, when the balloon "Neptune" made the first ascent. It was followed on Sept. 25th by the "Ville de Florence," which carried two passengers and some 300 lbs. of postage matter. Both these balloons succeeded in getting beyond the enemy's lines.

Stimulated by these initial successes, an official balloon service was started by "decreet of 26th Sept., 1870." It was intended in the first instance to send up "Ballons Montés," i.e., balloons with a pilot, for conveyance of passengers, letters and newspapers, and "Ballons non Montés," i.e., without a pilot, to carry postcards, etc. Naturally, the "ballons non montés" stood a great risk of falling into enemy hands, as the balloon was at the mercy of any air current. Many of the early "ballon monté" flights can be identified by the special cachet on the back of the envelope giving the name of the balloon and, often as not, the name of the pilot. This practice does not appear to have lasted very long. Such envelopes, bearing the name of the balloon and name of pilot, are naturally more valuable than those without.

In connection with these named balloon flights, it is interesting to record that one "ballon monté," the "Ville d'Orléans," eventually landed in Norway after an adventurous flight of some 1,348 miles.

Other "ballon montés" had their tribulations. Some were secured by the Germans, and two, of which the "Richard Wallace" was one, fell into the sea. The mail was recovered.

All told, some 240 passengers were carried out of Paris by the "ballons montés," together with 20,000 lbs. of letters and official documents. Sixty-six "ballon monté" ascents accomplished this.

There was only one "ballon non monté" service, and that took place on Sept. 30, 1870. The little balloon fell in the German lines and only such correspondence as was perfectly harmless ever reached the addressees. No further attempt was made with "ballons non montés." On the other hand, correspondence written on "ballon non monté" cards still occasionally occurred, but it was invariably carried in a "ballon monté." Such pieces are very rare.

As regards the "ballon monté" official envelopes, the first was issued under the authority of the Minister of Finance.

It bears in the top centre the arms of the Republic. On the top left the words "Minister of Finance," on the top right "Par Balloon Monté." I believe I am correct in saying that no authentic "flown" copy of this envelope exists. The next issue was one bearing the Republican arms in the top centre. On the top left were the words "Par Balloon Monté" with, below them, "Décret du 26 Sept., 1870." On the top right were printed the postal rates.

The "ballon non monté" cards had the Republican arms in the top centre, "Par Balloon Non Monté" on the top left and a warning as to irregular correspondence on the top right. All round the card were sentences in French and German of the propaganda variety.

The official type of letter or card was not obligatory so long as the public conformed to the regulations as regards weight and size. The inscription "Par Balloon Monté" or "Par Balloon non Monté" could be in script or printed. The public never took kindly to the official letters or cards and their issue soon ceased. I have before me, as I write this, one of Dr. Morel's specimens of the "ballon non monté" cards which was carried by "ballon monté." This card is a plain unofficial white one with just the words "Par Balloon non Monté" printed in block letters at the top.

The third class of postage matter carried by "Ballon Monté" was newspapers.

Of the newspapers transmitted by "Ballon Monté," the best known is La Gazette des Absents. This amounted to a newspaper and a letter combined, as only half was printed on, the remainder being left blank for private correspondence. In Gt. Britain the name "Lettre Journal" has become distinctive to this particular news sheet, but it may come as a surprise to some to know that there were numerous other periodicals despatched by the "Ballon Monté." For example, the Petit Journal sent out 43 issues by balloon. Another journal (a siege one), the Ballon Poste, sent out 25 issues. The Dépêche Ballon sent out 28 issues. In all, some 22 different Paris papers were, at one time or another, sent by "ballon monté." The Gazette des Absents, the best known of the actual siege journals, had 43 issues but, of these, only the first 33 issues were sent out by means of "ballons montés."

THE BALLOON POST OF METZ, 1870 (Aug. 16-Oct. 28).

The collectors' chance of securing a duly authentic specimen of Metz Balloon Post is very remote unless he is prepared to make exhaustive enquiry into its history and has a purse lined with much gold, for Metz Balloon Post letters bear no stamps, no postage marks of Metz—in fact nothing to give you official proof of their being sent from Metz—beyond, if one can say so, negative evidence in the affirmative.

On the Balloon Post of Metz Dr. Morel writes to me as follows:—"The balloons of Metz were either of paper or silk and of very small dimensions. They were inflated by ordinary illuminating gas. To these small balloons a little package, containing the mails, was attached. Occasionally these balloons carried, in addition to the bag of correspondence, some homing pigeons, but so far as can be traced the balloons which carried them were all unlucky and either fell in German lines or were shot down by the Germans."

The following was the notice posted up in Metz, by Gen. Coffinières, the Governor, on the subject of the regulations for the Metz Balloon Post:—

"For those who want to take advantage of the Balloon Post letters must be written on tissue paper, the address on one side, and must not exceed 10 centimetres long by 5 centimetres broad. All those letters which do not fulfil these conditions, and also those containing news other than purely personal, will be suppressed. Those desirous of seeing the official specimen of the letter permitted can do so upon the post box at their municipal head office."

These diminutive and flimsy little carriers of good or ill news were aptly called the "Papillons de Metz." Trust the French to find the apt and descriptive title. These little "Papillons" were not franked nor did they carry the date of official departure from Metz. The filled bag of letters then had a label attached to it to the effect that the finder of the balloon, on delivering the bag to the nearest post office would be rewarded with 100 francs. Then the balloon was set free and the rest of the story depended on the air currents. If found and handed over to the French postal authorities the latter either forwarded the letters, as found, or else put them in a cover. In the latter case the post-office copied the address, adding "Dépêche Aérostatique" or "Poste Aérostatique." Sometimes they were stamped with the postmark of the office or the mark "PP" (post payé). Stamps were never affixed by the postal authorities. About half the letters sent from Metz reached their destination, the balloons having come to ground on unoccupied French Territory. A large number fell either in Switzerland, Germany, the Duchy of Luxembourg, or were shot down by the Germans.

These pieces are very rare, as by reason of their extreme fragility most of them have perished. Their value is about 600 to 800 francs. Their exact size is exactly 95mmx44mm. When you consider that it was of tissue paper you will appreciate that its existence was of short duration, and therefore the supply on the market is very limited and not always authentic at that.

The address was written on one side and the communication on the other.

For many of my facts—and especially as regards the Balloon Post of Metz—I am, as I said before, indebted to Dr. Morel. If I have used this learned gentleman's name freely it is because one can quote no better authority. —Philatelic Magazine.

WHAT'S THE USE?

What's the use trying to help the world by precept and example when it does not wish to be helped and refuses to heed your advice? You can lead a horse to water but you cannot make it drink. You can tell stamp collectors that certain stamps are trash, not worthy to be collected and, therefore, omitted from the catalogue, but that seems to make them the more eager to get the stuff. The task of the reformer is thankless and his way is hard.

Years ago the Society for the Suppression of Speculative Stamps was organized with the commendable idea of calling the attention of collectors and dealers to speculative and unnecessary stamps and advising that such issues should not be bought. The intention was admirable but it ended in direful failure. Collectors opposed the idea and rushed to buy the stamps. Those who did not buy then have since had to pay higher prices and blame the S. S. S. S. The intention of the Society was to save collectors from wasting their money on worthless things but it could not save them from themselves.

History repeats itself. In the past two or three years some of the leading dealers and makers of catalogues have tried to help collectors by refusing to list or to handle issues which were not needed in the postal service, were evidently made and marketed for the benefit of officials and favored speculators, and were intended solely to extract money from the gullible public. The dealers who took this position stood to lose money by refusing to handle trashy issues but they were willing to meet their losses for the good of Collectors and the purifying of the business. And what has been the result? Apparently it has made collectors more determined to have the very things they were advised to avoid. They said, in effect, who are you to dictate what we shall or shall not collect? We want all the new things that are issued. So long as stamps are issued by established governments and are available for postage that is enough for us. If you will not list them in your catalogue, we will buy one that does. We must admit that there is something in their argument. The stamps may not be needed for the postal service and it may be very clear that they are intended to make money for someone, but so long as they can and do pay postage, they are postage stamps and that is what people are collecting.

Germany—Now that you have started to collect the new issues of this country, why not at least gather a small representative collection of its early issues as well, including Alsace, North G. P. District and old German States? I can help you, as I have the cheap and high priced stamps.

We have about decided to throw up our hands, yield to the demands of the majority, and give place in our catalogue to all stamps that will pay postage, however unflattering may be our personal opinion of them. But, when we feel that it is necessary, we shall not hesitate to state that we regard them as worthless, unnecessary and to be avoided. Then, if collectors choose to buy the things, the fault will be their own. Possibly we may not recognize congress and exhibition overprints, control marks and things which do not alter the value or use of the stamps. And the fact that we list things in the catalogue does not imply that we will include them in our stock. There are many angles to this subject and we are not yet fully decided as to our course, but the one important question seems to be: Would the stamp pay postage in the country of its origin? If so, the logical conclusion is that it should have a place in a catalogue which assumes to be a guide to postal issues and not merely a list of what the publisher may have for sale.—Scott's Monthly Journal.

MARTAUCO Wholesale OFFERINGS

1c MARYLAND MATCH CO., WMKD.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

(Here is a most interesting story and the philatelist who omits reading it will make a sad mistake if he thinks it is merely a match article. It is more than that in the reminiscences that it contains from the pen of an old Boston philatelist, Edward S. Phelps. We consider this a distinct contribution to philatelic literature, and Messrs. West and Phelps have done a distinct service to philately in making this article possible.—W. O. W.)

TEITELBAUM & MACKLIN

(Southern Match Company)

This concern was originally composed of John J. Macklin and William Teitelbaum and operated a factory known as the Southern Match Company in Atlanta, Georgia, for about a year. They finally went out of business in December, 1883. Mr. Macklin had previously operated a match factory in Covington, Kentucky, for several years and about the time the Atlanta factory was in operation he was also interested in the Northwestern Match Company of Lyons, Iowa.

Further reference to the firm of Teitelbaum & Macklin will be found in the article on J. J. Macklin & Company.

In the addenda on page 356 of the Boston Book, under the heading "Maryland Match Company" is stated:

"The records of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing show that, between Sept. 5, 1882 and Feb. 12, 1883, there were issued to 'Teitelbaum & Macklin' 1,005,060 one cent stamps.

Further inquiry has elicited the fact that these stamps were from the plate of the Maryland Match Co., a fact which is surprising inasmuch as stamps from this plate are unknown on any but silk paper and that none are recorded as having been issued after August, 1874, until the date first above mentioned.

The balance of these stamps delivered to the Government at the expiration of his contract by Mr. Carpenter was 1,970,451. These were all on silk paper. Was it not for the fact that the Bureau issued, and consequently had records of, only those stamps which it had printed, we should be inclined to think that the 1,005,060 spoken of above were a part of the balance delivered by Mr. Carpenter.

As it is we are totally unable to explain this issue, or what became of the stamps. Certainly none are known on the watermarked paper which was the only paper used by the Bureau."

This statement is, to say the least, somewhat confusing. The first paragraph mentions the issue of stamps from the Bureau of Engraving & Printing to Teitelbaum & Macklin. The third paragraph must also refer to the Bureau of

EDWARD S. PHELPS.

Engraving & Printing because no other Government Bureau printed stamps. The present writer, however, finds no other indication in the Government archives or philatelic publications that would lead him to believe the Bureau of Engraving & Printing ever issued any stamps to Teitelbaum & Macklin, or any other proprietary firm. All the evidence we have indicates that the Bureau of Engraving & Printing produced stamps which were delivered to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Therefore it is true that the records of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing would refer only to stamps printed at that Bureau. If, however, the stamps were issued from the Bureau of Internal Revenue the records of the Bureau of Internal Revenue would include stamps made elsewhere as well as made exactly like the famous "Oriol" but without the fancy trimmings. This new album is canvas bound, has fifty leaves of the finest possible quadrille ruled paper and has the same peg attachment as the Oriol. When we say this book is just as fine an Album as anyone needs, we are going pretty strong but we mean it. Oriels may be imitated, which some people say is "the sincerest form of flattery."

IOLE DIONE, BELLEVUE, WASH.

3c 1861 COVERS

The 3c 1861 issue is undoubtedly the easiest variety to obtain on the original cover. It is quoted at ten cents in Scott's Specialized United States Catalogue. With the marked decrease in the number of "finds" of old covers, this stamp ought to be a good investment.

An interesting and inexpensive means of collecting this stamp on cover is by towns from which they were used. All real specialized collections of any one stamp contain page after page of covers used from different towns.

I have made up a number of lots of 3c 1861 covers each showing a different town postmark, either printed or written. All are nice covers—returnable if unsatisfactory. 15 all different towns for $1.00 postpaid.

those made by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing.

We know that this is so because although the Bureau of Engraving & Printing never printed any 50c, $1.00 or $5.00 black and green Proprietary stamps, yet all three denominations were issued continuously from the Bureau of Internal Revenue through every year from 1876 to 1883 and the total issue of those stamps during that period undoubtedly exceeded 40,000 copies.

The reader is also referred to page 100 of the Boston Book where in reference to the 10c green and black general issue proprietary stamp of the second series the statement is made:

"The balance of these stamps turned over by Mr. Carpenter to the Bureau of Internal Revenue was 336,083. Presumably they were all on green paper as the violet paper had been discontinued some months previously. This balance not being exhausted before the adoption of the new design in 1881, neither the Bank Note Co., nor the Bureau of Engraving & Printing ever printed any stamps from this plate. The result of this fact was that orders for these stamps received after August 31, 1875, were filled directly from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, * * *

The Boston Book was placed on sale by the New England Stamp Company about November 1, 1899, but the statement regarding the Maryland Match Company stamp was not noticed by the owner of the only known copy on watermarked paper until several months later. From the history of this unique specimen which follows later on, it is quite clear that the copy referred to was never issued to Teitelbaum & Macklin and did not leave the Bureau of Internal Revenue at Washington until many months after the match tax had been repealed.

To the present writer it seems more reasonable to believe that nearly all the stamps sent to the Southern Match Company at Atlanta were from the balance on silk paper turned over to the Government by Mr. Carpenter, than to believe that they were all from a new printing on watermarked paper by the Bureau. During the seven years subsequent to August, 1875, part of the large balance of stamps on silk paper might have become unfit for use and when that part of the supply remaining on hand in 1882 that was still fit for use had been exhausted, further orders from Teitelbaum & Macklin would have required a new printing by the Bureau.

Even if we make due allowance for the fact that there were few stamp collectors in the South at that period, and the Maryland Match Company stamp was in use in Atlanta less than a year, it is hardly creditable that not one of the million and over copies sent to Atlanta should have escaped destruction. If, however, most of these stamps were silk paper remainders which cannot be distinguished from the original issue used in Baltimore, it is much less difficult to understand why no other copies on watermarked paper, other than the Phelps copy, have ever been found. The Bureau printing may have comprised only a few thousand stamps and perhaps only a few of these, or perhaps none at all were ever sent to Atlanta. There is really no conclusive proof that any Maryland Match Company stamps on watermarked paper were ever issued. All we know is that if they were issued they went to Teitelbaum & Macklin at Atlanta, and that the only known copy did not leave the Bureau until long after the repeal of the match tax.

Fortunately, through the kindness of Mr. Edward S. Phelps of Dorchester, Massachusetts, we have a complete history of the only known copy from the time it left the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Washington. Mr. Phelps' statement, largely in his own words, follows: "About 1880 I became actively interested in collecting stamps in Worcester, then being about 12 years of age. My father had been a very active collector of American coins and my mother had collected books and almanacs and a few stamps, therefore it was natural for me to form the collecting habit. I received in my early days a considerable variety of stamps from various relatives among which was quite a collection containing a very good lot of revenues and match and medicine.

"One of my father's intimate friends in Worcester had a very large collection for that time of match, medicine, tobacco, beer and snuff stamps, therefore, having quite a nucleus of revenue stamps, through contact with this man I became interested and in time intimately acquainted with the revenue stamps. The different designs of the match and medicine stamps appealed to me. I had an older brother who was chief clerk in an old drug store in Worcester and to this day I can remember bringing home various kinds of medicine stamps that he would soak off from the bottles and packages that he found in the store.

J. C. MATTHEWS
P. O. Box 205, Olympia, Wash.

"In 1882 my father accepted a position with the Agricultural Department in Washington. My mother and myself remained in Worcester. My father carried his collecting interest to Washington with him, and there he not only collected coins but branched into old books, almanacs, fractional currency and also at my urgent request kept on the lookout for stamps. In following these activities he soon made a very large acquaintance with various people having kindred tastes to his own and sent me many stamps that he picked up among his acquaintances.

"Among the acquaintances my father made in Washington was Robert S.
Hatcher of Terre Haute, Indiana, who was probably about the best informed collector of match and medicine stamps in the country at that time and who was an ardent and persistent searcher for the various rarities in these lines. From my father he learned that I had a T.
Gorman & Bro. 1 cent black and wrote me about it, trying to obtain it either by purchase or exchange.

"Through his intercourse with Hatcher
my father became acquainted in a general way with the match and medicine rarities and with the prices Hatcher was willing to pay for them. It is my recollection that Hatcher got out a printed list of these stamps which included the prices he offered for them.

"Along about 1884 or 1885 in my father's peregrinations through the departments around Washington he became acquainted with the clerk in the Bureau of Internal Revenue who had charge of the stamp vaults and who also looked after the work of destroying the obsolete remainders, etc. This clerk told my father that before destroying the revenue stamps he had taken one stamp of each kind from all the sheets that were on hand in the vaults at that time and had put these stamps away in an envelope.

"Through knowledge obtained from this clerk my father learned that the Caterson, Brotz & Co., playing card stamp had been printed but no copies had ever been delivered to the firm. At the time when the revenue stamp remainders were destroyed there was a very large number of the Caterson, Brotz stamp on hand in the vault. My father immediately sensed the opportunity and as the clerk cared very little for the collection and had made no additions to the single copies he had taken from the sheets before they were destroyed he offered the collection to my father for $25. In addition he gave my father a written guarantee that the copy of the Caterson, Brotz stamp was the only specimen of this variety then in existence.

"My father communicated these facts to Mr. Hatcher and Hatcher offered him $50 for the Caterson, Brotz stamp. My father then bought the collection and sold the Caterson, Brotz stamp to Hatcher. I presume he also gave Hatcher the clerk's guarantee and this guarantee may possibly be in existence somewhere today.

"Later on my father obtained a J. W.
Scott revenue stamp album—1874 edition—and mounted most of the stamps in it, placing them in their allotted places as far as possible and the others on the many blank leaves. This album contained printed spaces for only about two-thirds of the present known varieties.

"My father made a fair collection of the document stamps and added them to the collection, together with a few tobacco stamps. In those days only two varieties of paper were generally collected—white and pink. My recollection is my father told me I could have this collection, but knowing that I probably had all the varieties in it he did not send it to me.

"Along about 1890 I had a very good collection of revenue stamps which included most of the commoner varieties and a few of the scarcer ones that were then known about. In 1891, I visited

Washington and my father told me to take the stamp collection home with me when I went back to Worcester if I wanted it. At that time I was beginning to be more critical about the condition of my stamps and whenever opportunity offered I exchanged those of mine which were torn or stained for better copies.

"The match and medicine stamps that came from the sheets which had been destroyed were all unused but only half of them had original gum. This shows that sheets of the later stamps issued were only gummed as ordered. Most of the stamps on silk and pink paper were gummed but many of those on watermarked paper were ungummed.

"Taking the collection home with me
I had an idea some of the copies in it might be finer than those in my own collection which was then mounted in a National album but there was nothing in the old Scott album I did not already have except varieties of paper and a fine specimen of the 8 cent Wm. Swaim uncut on watermarked. In the National album there were places for only two varieties of paper—white and pink—and not caring enough about the different varieties of white paper to take them out, except in the case of a few of the rarer varieties, I put the book away and gave it no further thought.

"In 1892 I came to Boston and soon joined the Boston Philatelic Society.
Later on during the discussion of the project of publishing a history of the U. S. revenue stamps I took an active interest. By that time I had amassed one of the finest and most complete collections of U. S. Revenues, Match and Medicine stamps in existence and being personally acquainted with all the members of the publication committee and especially friendly with George L. Top-pan, who was the chief editor of the work, my collection was frequently consulted and I had many conferences with Mr. Toppan in regard to the subject matter of the work.

"In 1899, the Historical Reference
List of U. S. Revenue Stamps—the so-called 'Boston Revenue Book'—was published and from time to time as I had opportunity I looked over the book. As I now remember it was about a year after the volume was published that one evening I happened to come across the page in the addenda where the issue of the Maryland Match Co. stamp on watermarked paper is mentioned. The thought immediately came to me that in the selection which had been made by the clerk of the revenue stamp vault in Washington, there probably was one of those Maryland stamps. I also recalled having seen in the old Scott album a

Want Lists. A Specialised Service

For years I have made a specialty of the execution of Want Lists. Few firms in this country have developed this side of the business to the same extent.

Owing to the great increase in my American business, I have now established a WANTS REGISTER on the basis of Scott's catalogue. Collectors may therefore send me their full want lists and be confident that they will not be side tracked and that they will receive constant attention. Selections will be sent on approval at regular intervals.

I sell stamps in Fine Condition only. My prices average half catalogue, and will bear comparison with any market in the world. I have, at the moment, nothing to offer in old U. S., but have an immense stock of British and French Colonials, Europeans, Asiatics, Africans and South Americans. I stock no common stamps and New European rubbish.

Approval selections of any country against references.

very fine specimen of the Maryland stamp which was slightly better than the copy in my National album.

"I lost no time in getting out the old collection which my father had made in Washington and there in the old Scott album true to life was the Maryland Match stamp on watermarked paper—the only copy which, so far as I know, has ever been found. The stamp was indeed a fine specimen. The centering was quite good and except for a slight discoloration on the back where the mucilage my father used in affixing the hinge to the stamp had left a stain the stamp was perfectly sound.

"My collection of U. S. Revenue stamps was sold at auction in New York City, in November, 1906, and the Match & Medicine were undoubtedly as fine a collection of these as had ever been sold. Many of the rarer stamps have not been offered at public sale since. Sixteen years after the sale took place I was informed by the dealer who disposed of my collection that in changing the stamps from my album to the auction sheets the watermarked Maryland Match stamp was quite badly torn by his assistant. The dealer told me of the great anxiety and trepidation he experienced lest he be called upon to make good for the damage done to this unique specimen.

"About 1904-06 a collector who may be called Mr. H., made various attempts to purchase many of my stamps including the watermarked Maryland Match, the J. C. Ayer & Co. 4c lilac and the horizontal pair of 70c Foreign Exchange imperforate. I turned down all his offers and do not now recall the exact amounts but through another source am informed that his offer for the Maryland Match was $60 or thereabouts.

"One evening a few days before my collection was sold I was in New York at the house of a very enthusiastic collector of U. S. Revenues and Match & Medicine with whom I had enjoyed an intimate acquaintance for many years. This gentleman, who I may call Mr. G., had amassed a very fine collection, not so complete perhaps as that of Mr. H., but considerably more extensive. I distinctly recollect Mr. G. had a very inferior specimen of the Fleming Bros. Liver Pills 1c black which is one of the very rarest of the medicine stamps in any condition. I had a very fine specimen of this rarity that I obtained from the Castle collection. I don't believe its peer existed.

"I told Mr. G. he ought to get my copy. Looking at his catalog of the sale he told me he was obliged to 'keep away' from that stamp. I then learned that by pre-arrangement many, if not all, of the rarer specimens in my collection which were to be sold had been divided, principally, as I recollect, between Mr. H. and himself. In talking with Mr. H. on the afternoon previous to the sale he told me with some gusto that I should have taken his offers for the stamps he had previously tried to buy as I would not realize as much at the sale as the prices he had offered for them. This statement confirmed in my mind what Mr. G. had told me the previous night. There was always considerable rivalry between Mr. G. and Mr. H. in their Match & Medicine collecting and they were too suspicious of each other to be very good friends.

"It seems that previous to the sale Mr. H. had made secret arrangements with certain other people to bid in for him some of the stamps he wanted that had been allotted to others in the 'gentlemen's agreement' and on the night of the sale his arrangements for a 'division of the spoils' were complete. The sale of the revenue section had progressed but little however when Mr. G. perceived he was meeting stiff competition from unexpected quarters for stamps that by the 'gentlemen's agreement' were allotted to him and his suspicion of Mr. H. convinced him he was being double crossed. He immediately decided to take a free hand in the game himself and being a man of considerable means he bid strongly on whatever stamps he wanted. The final result was that many stamps sold for prices that were high for that period."

The present writer might add that the black Fleming Brothers stamp which Mr. Phelps had previously recommended to him was purchased by Mr. G. for $76.00, a record price. Two stamps that Mr. H. specially wanted and had expected to obtain for about $100.00 cost him considerably over $500.00. The Maryland Match on watermarked paper did not go to Mr. H. at $60.00. The bidding for it did not even hesitate at that figure. The price mounted up and up and up and was still going strongly at $160.00. Not until $200.00 had been reached and passed did this unique rarity become the property of Mr. H.

The 1902 edition of the Scott Catalog quoted this stamp at $200.00, which price was maintained in 1903 and 1904. The editions for 1906 and 1907 reduced the price to $100.00. In view of the facts previously stated it is difficult to understand why this reduction was made. The present quotation of $225.00 was established in 1909.

Until another copy is found—if that most unlikely event ever happens—the Maryland Match stamp on watermarked paper will be as rare as any stamp in existence can be—not excepting a much less attractive adhesive listed in the Standard Catalog as British Guiana, No. 13.

THE BUFFALO COLLECTOR'S CLUB.

The Buffalo Collector's Club has affiliated with the American Philatelic Society. Within a comparatively brief space of time the club has become one of the live wire stamp organizations of the country and is looking forward to increased activities during 1924.

The following is the present membership roll: Dr. R. C. Fisher, L. H. Gardner, J. H. Bell, H. E. Klotzbach, M. B. Bennett, John Aldred (dealer), A. Creed, H. C. Flierl, G. B. Graham, T. J. Gundlach, F. L. Koepf, Warner Bates, A. Steeg, H. D. Davis and J. Lehman, all of Buffalo, and J. W. Schaefer, Hamburg, N. Y., F. P. James, Lancaster, M. W. Hoover, Lockport, H. K. Leaworthy, Dunkirk, F. J. Atwater, Lockport—20 in all.

Meetings are held on the first and third Fridays of each month. Matt Hoover has invited the club to meet at his palatial residence in Lockport during January and the invitation has been accepted. W. W. MacLaren of Cleveland has agreed to exhibit some of his wonderful covers, accompanied by a lecture on finding stamps at a future meeting of the club and arrangements are being made at this meeting.

Arrangements have been made for a joint exhibition by the Bison City Stamp Club and the Buffalo Collectors' Club to be shown in the windows of Otto Ulbrich & Company, one of the largest of the downtown stationery stores.

OUR TORONTO CLUB.

The first "annual" meeting of the four-month-old Toronto Stamp Collectors Club was held at the Empress Hotel, 337 Yonge Street, Toronto, with a gathering of 21, which was slightly below the average attendance.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Gordon H. Crouch; Vice-President, Milton Ritter; Secretary-Treasurer, F. R. Saunders, 116 Concord Avenue (re-elected); Executive Committee, B. A. Turner and William Butler. An Auctioneer, Exchange Superintendent, and a Publicity Manager will be selected at a later date, the appointees automatically becoming members of the Committee. Eight new members were admitted and a number of applications were received.

A summary of the first four months' work revealed the club to be in a very flourishing condition, numerically and otherwise, and it is expected that at the conclusion of the present season some 60 members will have been enrolled. Auctions, displays, and talks on stamps are given, and undoubtedly these are a vital factor in the success of the organization.

Lets begin at the end this year:

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO.,

EARLY LOW VALUES SPECIALIZED.

By WARNER BATES.
73 W. Eagle St., Buffalo, N. Y.

(This department deals only with U. S. issued before 1890 and mainly postal issues. The editor cannot give valuations on minor varieties, etc. Stamps sent for examination should be of interest because of oddity, scarcity, etc., or to clear up some debated question. Postage should be enclosed with registration fee when desired, also self-addressed envelope. —Ed.)

Due to the courtesy of Leon A. Thompson, 41 Granite Street, Cambridge, 39, Mass., the editor has had the privilege of examining a fine double print of the three cent 1879 issue. The overprinting of the normal stamp is somewhat light but nevertheless distinct and the two printings are about ½ millimeter out of line with each other vertically and nearly a full millimeter horizontally.

Perhaps the plainest showing of this important minor variety is at the top of the stamp where the entire top frame line of the overprinting shows outside the normal design together with a clear defining of the letters, "U. S. Postage" showing partly outside the design and partly against the shaded background and top label of the stamp. In some places in the white oval surrounding the vignette the shaded background of the vignette shows at the left and at the right, the heavy shading at the right side of the oval encroaching upon the white space surrounding the oval. Also, the lines along the right side of the design show clearly about one millimeter in on the design at the right in the upper portion of the stamp. At the left the left part of the design is shunted out into the white space of the margin. The figure and letters at the bottom are badly mixed up, double lines showing in most of them and also above them, as this is a fairly complete overprinting. There being so solid a design containing so many elements at the bottom the overprinting gives this portion of the stamp a somewhat mussy appearance. Washington's shoulder is clearly doubled upward and to the left and there are traces of the double printing on the lines of shading of his face and hair, although here the doubling is not so prominent as elsewhere.

The tails below the label THREE 3 CENTS at the bottom do not seem to be much affected. The ornaments above the "S" of "U. S." and above the "G"

of "POSTAGE" are clearly doubled against the background lines.

Although this double printing is apparently a trifle lighter at the bottom than at the top so that there are places on the stamp where it does not show as clearly as others, there nevertheless is enough of the doubling present to indicate that it is a double print and not a shifted transfer. Also, the appearance of the lines that are doubled is more like that of a second and lighter printing. Were this merely a fairly complete shifted transfer it would seem to the Editor that the doubled lines would be of about the same depth of color as the lines of the normal stamp, which is not the case with this stamp.

Who else has a copy of this double printing or of any other?

Mr. Thompson also encloses some cancellations on the three cent green of 1873 and '79. There are three with numerals approximately 10 or 11 millimeters high, "78", "79", and "80." The numerals of the first two are very thick and those of the last comparatively thin. There is also a magenta "N" within a circle on the three cent 1873 that the Editor believes was used in connection with some railroad cancellation. Also a "Paid 3" within a circle and an orange quartering in which the quarterings are outlined rather than solid.

Walter C. White, Jr., 223 Lowell Street, Reading, Mass., has submitted for inspection some three cent greens showing dots in various locations.

STRANGE

Estab. 1900 [28]
618 Onondaga SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Prior to 1894, no one dreamed that the 9 kr. Baden of 1851 existed in any color except green. Herr von Tuerckheim, a German resident of Guatemala electrified German and Continental dealers by producing two covers, both addressed by an uncle to his father, a high official in Karlsruhe and later Badenese Minister to Prussia. In addition von Tuerckheim had a single copy off cover.

The covers were first shown in Berlin. and the dealers quickly saw that the covers and singles were legitimate, as the balance of the correspondence proved. All the other covers of that issue were franked with the ordinary stamp, 6kr green. It was evident that the stamps had not been scrutinized, but merely bought and pasted on the letters by color. Even today the average business man or even stamp collector would not bother to look further than the color in addressing a letter.

One copy found its way into the Ferrary Sale finally, the single off cover found its way into the hands of M. Champion, and due to the astuteness of the well known Oberlandesgerichts-president, Dr. Carl Lindenberg, the other copy on cover was procured for the Berlin Museum. I had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Lindenberg this summer in Berlin, and he is not only important as a jurist, but also a charming and well informed man philatelically. In fact most of the glory of the Berlin Postal Museum's collection is due to Dr. Lindenberg, who is also Editor of Der Deutsche Philatelist.

SCIENCE AND POSTAGE STAMPS.

By WILLIAM BUTLER, Toronto, Can.

The recent discovery of Insulin, a cure for Diabetes, by the young Canadian Scientist and winner of the 1923 Nobel prize for Medicine, Captain Frederick G. Banting, M.D., D. Sc., LL.D., B. A., M. C., reminds us that there is more than a remote relation between science and the postage stamp; for while Dr. Banting's status as a British subject has prevented his portrait from appearing on the stamps of Canada, a different precedent has been the case in other countries.

In the new issues of the past few months we see reflected the achievements of Louis Pasteur, Nicolaus Kopernicus, and Prince Albert of Monaco, all scientists of repute, who, in their various ways, have done valuable work in the advancement of scientific knowledge. They have, at the same time, covered themselves with a renown which the postage stamp perpetuates, and makes known in the four corners of the earth. Then, again, this is a marked testimony to the efficacy of philately, the name by which the science of stamp collecting is known, as an educational factor, a point which savants of educational tendencies are slow to take cognizance.

The name of Pasteur is of an international significance, for France's famous chemist, born over one hundred years ago, and the discoverer of the process which bears his name, made more than one important discovery, and his research-work and personal life were such that Louis Pasteur well deserves the honor which his country has conferred upon him in creating a messenger which will carry his name and fame to every part of the civilized, and uncivilized world.

The Pasteur stamp is one of a series of three all of the same design, being surface printed on white wove paper and perforated 14x13½ at the French Government Printing Works at Paris. The set consists of three denominations as follows: 10 centimes, green; 30c, scarlet; 50c, blue; the central design of the stamp is an excellent likeness of the world famous scientist's strong, intelligent face.

A new stamp of the denomination of one thousand marks from Poland bears a portrait of Nicolaus Kopernicus, a noted Polish astronomer, who was born in 1473, exactly 450 years ago. Shortly before his death, in 1543, he published his experiments demonstrating that the sun is the centre of the planetary system, and that the earth and the planets revolve around it; and was, of course, laughed at for his trouble. Since, however, astronomers have confirmed the experiments, and 1923 marks the 450th anniversary of his birth.

Yet another great scientist is commemorated on the postage stamp, namely, Prince Albert I, of Monaco, who died recently. His likeness appeared on the regular issues of Monaco, a small principality situated between France and Italy, while on the 50 centimes denomination of the new issue appears the Oceanograph Museum; on the 60c value a view of Monaco from the Observatory is seen; and on the other values the Royal Palace is shown, and the likeness of Prince Louis, who succeeds.

Prince Albert was a man of culture, held many degrees, honorary and otherwise, and made extensive efforts to investigate the mysteries of the deep sea, upon which form of research he spent much money. The Oceanograph Museum stands as a monument to the memory of his zeal.

Thus the humble postage stamp "carries on," conveying messages of joy and sorrow, and also of commerce, to every corner of the world as it has done for over three-quarters of a century.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—One of our advertisers submits for our inspection an order for a packet of 3,000 varieties, "all stamps to be well centered and in fine condition." The dealer's comment is:—"This party does not want to be careless with his money."

—A meeting of the stamp collectors of Binghamton, N. Y., was held at the Y. M. C. A., Jan. 15. Collectors in this city and surrounding communities are invited to write A. H. Pike, 21 Moeller St., Binghamton, N. Y., for particulars of the new club.

—"I have pleasure in sending you my check for $90 for advertising. In doing so I am also pleased to state that the results have been very satisfactory and have placed me in contact with a number of new and important buyers. I shall prepare another advertisement as soon as I can get time."—CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

—F. F. Wills sends us an interesting cancellation now in use at St. John's, Newfoundland. It consists of a representation of a clock face in that it is numbered from 1 to 12, with a quartering of the hours. In the middle of the design are the words "Newfoundland Post Office, St. John's, East," with the date Dec. 22, 1923, and an arrowhead pointing to the numeral indicating the hour of mailing. It has a diameter of an inch and a half.

—Frank A. Goldsmith has shown us a new advertising cancellation from Sidney, Mont., reading as follows in four lines:—"U. S. Project Lower Yellowstone 60,000 Fertile Acres Irrigated."

—R. C. M. Hartmann informs us that the 3 brown, 5 green, 10 red and 20 blue of the rentmark type have appeared in Germany. They are sold upon the basis of both paper and gold. Will Mr. Hartmann accept the suggestion that items regarding new issues should be sent to Mr. Smith, who has charge of the new issues department?

—A subscriber, Frank C. Benham, has located a complete sheet of one hundred of the 1c blue imperforate, 1851 issue, Scott's No. 31. The sheet has original gum, marginal inscription, and is from plate 2. Our correspondent states that a block of twelve is supposed to be the largest in existence, and at an auction ten years ago it brought a hundred times catalog price. This sheet must be a rarity of great value.

—We have received from A. P. Myers of El Paso, Texas, an interesting letter dealing with the activities of the local stamp club. He informs us that the club meets the first and third Fridays of each month and interested parties should communicate with him. The interest in the club is well sustained.

—"The Jewish Branch of the Big Brother Movement in Toronto, Can., has organized a stamp club for some of their boys about 14 years of age, which comprises about 12 members and growing strong. I am surprised at the interest taken and the enthusiasm displayed. I make out a series of about ten to fifteen questions. These questions are multi-graphed and given to the boys every two weeks, with instructions to have them answered by the following week. The two boys having the most marks are given some suitable little philatelic prize. At the end of the year, about September, a prize will be given to the boy having the most marks. This prize will probably be a couple of good stamps and a Certificate presented by the Internacia Ligo, at the Broadview Boy's Fall Fair (Y. M. C. A.). I think it a good idea for collectors in other cities to organize such groups. It will do a lot of good to popularize Philately, and create new collectors."—J. ALBERT HUROWITZ.

—In the near future Buffalo collectors will be favored with a stamp exhibition in that city through the combined strength of the Collectors Club and the Bison City Stamp Club. Information may be obtained from Harry D. Davis, 481 Broadway, Buffalo, N. Y.

—We have received a wholesale price-list from O. J. Richardson, Pinellas Park, Florida. It prices lots per ten and will be furnished free of charge to any dealer wishing to procure a copy.

—K. N. W.—We answer your query in this manner for the public good. Mr. Ritchie never got any farther than the first pages on the great work on U. S. cancellations that was announced in the WEEKLY. His health broke down and he was compelled to abandon his ambitious plan. No one has come forward to carry on the work contemplated.

—William Butler, 137 Gillard Avenue, Toronto, Canada, has been appointed as one of the North American Secretaries for the Globus Correspondence and Exchange Club of Holland, and he will be glad to hear from interested parties. The club has a particularly strong new-European list.

—An error occurred in the ad of Herbert H. A. Fox on page 5 of our Jan. 7 issue. The cat. price was given as $10.00 instead of $1.00 and net price 55c, caused by poor marking of copy. The error was so absurd that we feel no one was misled.

—"For the information of the collectors of State Revenues I would like to herald a set of Cigarette and Cigar tax stamps for the State of Georgia. They will go in use on Jan. 1, 1924, and are described as follows by the Ga. tax dept.:—Seven denominations, 1/2c, 1c, 1 1/2c, 2c, 2 1/2c, 25c, 50c. All alike in design but vary in color and numerals with each denomination. These stamps will be affixed to cigarette and cigar containers same as the I. C. Stamps."—R. M. TRIBBLE.

NEW ORLEANS—PILOTTOWN, LA., HYDROPLANE MAIL SERVICE, APR. 9, 1923

By HARRY A. TRUBY.

Postmaster-General authorized the transportation of mail by Hydroplane from New Orleans to Pilottown, La., about eighty miles, and back, in close connection at Pilottown with outgoing Central American and Havana Cuba steamers; and at Pilottown or Quarantine, with the same incoming steamers daily except Sunday and Holidays.

On April 9th at 4.27 P. M., the service was inaugurated as directed under the supervision of Charles Janvier, Postmaster, who personally delivered the mail to Captain Merrill K. Riddick, Aviator, who piloted the Hydroplane "MABY" carrying four sacks of mail destined for Belize, British Honduras and Puerto Barrios, Guatemala. The flight was made in one hour and forty-five minutes under adverse atmospheric conditions which impeded the progress of the flight.

At Pilottown the mail was transferred to the S. S. Coppename "en route" for South America, expediting the mail from five to six days, indicating that the inauguration of this service by the Postmaster-General rendered invaluable service to Central American Countries in the transmission of mail by Hydroplane to and from steamers at Pilottown.

The service has been in operation since the initial flight without interruption or incident, a feat remarkable in itself and an honor to our Air Service and Postal Authorities. This again demonstrates the efficiency and practicability of the Aeroplane for the rapid transmission of mail when put to the actual test.

All mail matter transmitted by Hydroplane on the initial flight bore the regular electric machine cancellation. Letters and post cards, however, received a special oval cancellation with the following legend impressed in carmine ink:—"VIA HYDROPLANE MAIL" at the top "FIRST TRIP" occupying the centre and "NEW ORLEANS-PILOTTOWN, LA." at the bottom. This cancellation was not official but creates a souvenir of great historical value commemorative of the occasion.—Aero News Letter.

YONKERS EXCHANGE, Yonkers, N. Y.

CHINESE DOLLARS ARE NOT "2 FOR 1."

An old subscriber in Shanghai, China, comes along with a grievance against the customs obtaining in America of calculating exchange between America and China at the rate of two Chinese dollars for one American dollar, he says:—"It seems to be a rooted opinion with all stamp dealers' in America that their dollar will buy two Chinese ones and they always calculate on that basis when figuring out the bills for stuff sent to them from China. Where they got the idea I don't know unless it is because during the war when silver rose to record prices the Chinese dollar touched that mark and even better. But why do they remember that fact only and not the one that exchange on China varies according to the silver market because China has no gold standard. The fluctuations in exchange between two countries one with a silver standard and the other with a gold one are more mercurial than those between two countries each with a gold standard.

Dealers frequently mention in their letters to China that their supplier is charging an excessive percentage on, say, unused Commemoratives and then go on to show how they arrive at their figures by working on a basis of two for one.

At the moment of writing the American dollar in Shanghai exchanges for only $1.83 Mexican with expert predictions that silver will be still dearer. Although the Mexican dollar is still used to some considerable extent in Shanghai and some other parts of China it does not follow that it always exchanges here at the same rate as, for instance, between San Diego and Tiahuanca. At this time of the year millions of dollars go into the interior to pay for produce and there is a premium on them in addition to their silver value.

I have a wad of American greenbacks in my safe and I would treat myself to a vacation if I could get $2.00 Mexican for each of them. American stamp dealers should also remember that a stamp dealer who bills his stuff in American currency is taking a chance on the exchange and has to allow for this in his prices. It's different with a greenback on its way to Germany. In this case it generally gains a few billions of marks in value during its trip across the Atlantic.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF HAYTI.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Second 1898 Issue.

In May, 1898, before any of the 1c, 3c, 7c and 20c values of the last issue were required the full set of stamps ordered from the American Bank Note Company arrived in Hayti and were at once placed in circulation. The set consisted of twelve different values ranging from 1 centime to 1 gourde, and there were two designs.

The 1c, 2c, 3c, 5c, 7c, 20c, 50c and 1g
 stamps show a full face portrait of President Simon Sam who succeeded the notorious and bloodthirsty Hippolyte.
 The portrait shows the President in the "General's" uniform beloved of all Haytian notabilities. En passant, it may be noted that to obtain a generalship in Hayti it was not, and probably still is not, necessary to have been in the army at all. The honor is conferred for "eminent services to the State" and its bestowal at one time was a matter of such frequent occurrence that it used to be a standing joke that Hayti's army consisted of more generals than privates.

Above the portrait "REPUBLIQUE D' HAITI" is shown on a semicircular band, while underneath are the cannon, piles of cannon-balls, anchors, drum and other paraphernalia that constitute Hayti's coat -of-arms. In each corner are numerals of value and between those in the lower angles is a straight tablet inscribed
 "CENTIME", etc.

President Tiresias Augustin Simon
 Sam, to give him his full name, seems to have been a cut above the usual run of Haytian Presidents, and the following short pen-picture by Mr. Hesketh Pritchard gives an admirable description of his personal appearance and general character:—

"When I passed the white palace the President was sitting on the balcony playing draughts. He is a full-blooded negro, with heavy face and huge negro mouth, set between a grey beard and grey hair brushed up from his forehead.
 He must weigh close upon eighteen stone (252 lbs.). He is a superlative specimen of his race, and the black faction in Hayti have at least secured an admirably representative figurehead. To make this clear it must be explained that Hayti for the black, as differentiated from the mulatto or colored man, is the watchword of the great majority in the Republic. . . . There is in the constitution a law abolishing the penalty of death for political misdemeanors, but it was ignored by every President without exception who has held power in the island until General Sam, who is now at the head of the Government came into office. To his credit be it said that he usually sends his political enemies to prison instead of shooting them out of hand against the crumbling arsenal wall, after the immortal principles of his predecessors, Salomon and Hippolyte."

The centerpiece on the 4c, 8c, 10c and 15c stamps is a representation of the Arm of Hayti with the motto "L'UNION FAIT LA FORCE" (Union is Strength) underneath. At the top is curved "RE-PUBLIQUE D'HAITI," numerals of value are in all four corners, and between those in the lower angles "CENTIMES" is shown on an arched ornamental tablet.

The stamps were all printed in sheets of 100 arranged in ten rows of ten, and in the centre of each margin on all four sides of the sheets the imprint "American Bank Note Co., New York" is shown in white letters on a tablet of solid color.
 This imprint too, appears below the lower frame line of every one of the hundred stamps in each sheet with the difference that the letters "N. Y." are used to represent New York and that all the lettering is in minute capitals.

The paper is white wove and fairly thick, while the gum is decidedly brown and does not extend to the edges of the sheets. The stamps were perforated by single-line machines, the gauge being the usual 12, one always associates with the productions of this concern.

There are no imperforate or other errors and variation in shade are few and not very pronounced. Until the advent of this series 20 centimes represented the highest value, but 50 centimes and 1 gourde stamps now appear for the first time as well as several additional low denominations.

CHAPTER XV.

The 1899 Issue.

In 1899 the 1c, 2c and 5c stamps bearing President Sam's portrait were replaced by corresponding values in the "Arms" type, and at the same time the opportunity was taken of issuing these denominations in Postal Union colors.
 All three values were printed by the American Bank Note Company, and the size of the sheets, imprints, perforation, paper, etc., are exactly similar to those of the last issue. These three stamps were first mentioned in the Monthly Journal for August, 1899, so that they were probably issued some time in July of that year.

While in transit from the printers to Hayti some of the 5c denomination were stolen as shown by the following quotation from a letter published in the WEEKLY at the time:—

"On opening the five cases of stamps received from the American Bank Note Company it was discovered that one of the cases had been opened, the inner tin case cut open, and 287 sheets of 100 stamps each of the 5 centimes value had been extracted therefrom. Notice of this fact was sent to the American Bank Note Company. A few days before the issue was placed on sale at the Post Office the Director-General of Posts learned that some of these stamps had been offered and sold to a commercial house by a relative of a clerk employed in the Steamship Company's office and,

 on enquiry and search being made, some of these stamps were found in the possession of the party accused and were seized. In the meanwhile the steamer, having left here for other ports in the island, reached Jacmel; a letter was given to the Jacmel courier but, as the couriers are forbidden to deliver letters received outside office direct, he handed it over to the Director-General. This letter proved to be from the aforementioned clerk, and addressed to the purser of the steamer, informing him that the theft had been discovered, and advising him not to return here.

A preliminary hearing of the case took place before the examining judge (Juge d'Instruction), whose function corresponds in a measure with that of the grand jury in the United States; but it seems sufficient proof was wanting to have the parties implicated here held for trial. However, the clerk has been dismissed by the agent of the Steamship Company, and I am told the agents in New York have done the same for the purser."

ANOTHER SCARCE U.S. VARIETY

Back in 1917 the Bureau experimented with a multiple die wherein they were in hopes of transferring several stamps at once instead of one stamp at a time as has been the practice. In order to do this a special multiple die of ten subjects was made and from this die two plates bearing Nos. 10208 and 10209 were laid down. Stamps from these plates have been designated as Die II and are catalogued in a Specialized catalogue as No. 499. Die II, and lists at 60c per stamp or $2.50 a block. The variety is scarce, for only two plates were made and but few were saved. I offer fine copies in mint condition with full gum as follows:

UNITED STATES.—

Private Postal Cards for Transpolar Flight.

Under date of December 29, 1923, Paul Henderson, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, advised postmasters as follows:—"In accordance with arrangement made with the Norwegian postal administration private post cards, issued in commemoration of the proposed flight of Capt. Roald Amundsen's airplane over the North Pole, will be accepted in this service when postage paid 2 cents by a United States stamp affixed even though Norwegian postage stamps to pay the postage from Christiania to the United States by the North Pole route may, in some instances, also be affixed.

These private post cards bear on the front a printed address: 'The Transpolar Flight Expedition, Christiania, Norway,' and the upper right hand corner there is a space in which should be placed the United States 2 cent stamp. The reverse bears a space for the address of the person for whom the card is ultimately intended in the United States, and care must be taken in distributing the cards to see that they are dispatched to Norway, via New York, prior to the time when they may be received in this country over the North Pole route, probably through the post-office at Seattle.

No provision has been made for the registration of the private post cards as herein described."

The New York Times of January 16th carried an advertisement of the Aeronautical Digest, 1 Madison Square, New York, spread over two columns, five inches deep, headed "Send a Post Card Over the North Pole by Airplane." The advertisement explains that they have made arrangements with Capt. Amundsen to carry a limited number of lithographed post cards on his flight over the North Pole and that an opportunity is extended to the public to send a post card from any city in the country to your friend or yourself. The card will require a 2 cent stamp, which will carry it to Norway, and the special stamp on the card has been validated by the Norwegian Government, which will carry the card over the North Pole and to the party to whom addressed. The validating marks we are told will be surcharged by the Norwegian Government at the time of affixing the "North Pole Mail Cancellation."

The cost of the card obtainable from The Aeronautical Digest is $1 and the card when stamped may be deposited in any mail box. The proceeds will be used to help defray the expense of the expedition which will be strictly scientific and to solve the last great geographic problems by exploring the million square miles of unknown territory in the Arctic between the North Pole and Alaska.

The Secretary of the Navy has appointed Lieut. Ralph E. Davidson of the U. S. Navy to represent this country on the flight. Lieut. Davidson will have command of one of the three seaplanes to be used on this expedition.

Official Post Office Exhibit.

Mrs. H. C. Workman sends me a clipping from the Washington Star of January 2nd stating that on that day the Post Office Department placed on exhibition at Woodward & Lothrop, the largest department store in Washington, the frame of stamps that was awarded a medal at the International Philatelic Exhibition held in London last May. The frame had just been received from Baltimore where it had been on view for a number of days. If your city has not had the good fortune of seeing this frame have your postmaster write the Third Assistant Postmaster-General. It is not only a very attractive exhibit for the collector but in passing it around it will produce philatelic results among non-collectors.

A Stamp for the 1926 International Philatelic Exhibition.

Our editorials of recent date have made mention of the fact that we should have a special stamp, dedicated to the goddess of philately and issued during 1926, at the time of the contemplated international philatelic exhibition to be held in Philadelphia in 1926. The idea is excellent and with proper support from the philatelic public it is possible that such a variety will be issued. It must be remembered that in order to have such a special design, an Act of Congress is necessary and I am sure that if a proper bill was sponsored by the collectors and dealers generally that the Post Office Department would raise no objection. The recent A. P. S. Convention in Washington had they cared to make the effort could have possibly had the Department turn out a small sheet with special notations in the margin of some current variety, for the Department would have authority to do this providing the stamp was of the approved design, but the local members did not seem interested in the subject. Our readers may be assured that Philadelphia will not allow such an opportunity to pass and when the local committee has made final arrangements to carry on this project every effort will be made to have a special Act passed by Congress and if we fail in this we will see if the Department cannot be induced to issue something commemorative of the science of Philately.

BAHAMAS.—The current ½d, 4d and 5s are expected shortly on Script paper. —Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 50c, Nyasaland type, in blue and lilac on blue, script watermarked paper, has been placed on sale. Also the 1c black on white, script watermarked, postage due stamp.

COLOMBIA.—The 20 centavos grey semi-official aerial adhesive (chronicled in Stamp Collecting for August 4th last) has been surcharged "30" in red, over the numerals in both lower corners. Mr. Denton Hepworth shows us a used copy, obliterated with concentric circles in red. Provisional Air Mail Stamp ("Servicio de Transportes Aereos en Colombia—S. C. A. D. T. DANZIG.—A new type of Postage Due has appeared, having the Arms of the Free City, with the usual Lion supporters, over a transverse oval frame containing numerals of denomination. The inscription, reading "VOM EMPFANGER EINZUZIEHEN," is in two lines at foot. Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. send us the following values, uniform in design and colour (blue), with numerals in black; they are in the new pfennig currency (1pf=1/10d, as in Germany), though this is not expressed on the stamps. Honeycomb. Perf. 14:—5, 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60 and 100 (pfennig), blue.—Stamp Collecting.

GERMANY.—Mr. Erwin Strasser has shown us the following current issues with the surcharge "Dienstmarke" in black: 2,000,000,000m, 5,000,000,000m and 10,000,000,000m. Also the following Official stamps overprinted "5 Tausend" on 5mk; "20 Tausend" on 30pf; "75 Tausend" on 50mk; "100 Tausend" on 15pf; "250 Tausend" on 10pf; "400 Tausend" on 15pf; "800 Tausend" on 10pf, orange; "1 Million" on 75pf; "2 Million" on 10pf, carmine rose; "5 Millionen" on 100mk, rose red.

Mr. R. Roberts sends for Chronicle these four values of stamps based on the Renten mark; 3pf brown, 5pf green, 10pf red, 20pf blue.

HONG KONG.—Latest official advice point to the early issue of the 50c on Script paper.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

MESOPOTAMIA.—Iraq. Instead of coming, as formerly, by Baghdad-Cairo Air Mail, most letters received from Iraq are now endorsed "Overland Mail, Baghdad-Haifa," the service, we understand, being carried on by motor transport.

A reader writes that the 1½a pictorial is practically exhausted, and he understands that no more will be printed. The 2r, ordinary and Service is also understood to be going obsolete as soon as present stocks are exhausted. Our correspondent suggests the numbers printed of the latter as 100,000 ordinary, and 40,000 Service.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

NETHERLANDS.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the 7½c carmine in the new Jubilee series.

NIUE.—We have received the following from Messrs. Bright & Son:—"We have found the following very prominent varieties in the stamp of Niue overprinted on New Zealand issue of 1917, with the word NIUE only. In the 5th or have you a friend who is employed in a similar position?

Shipping clerks very often have great numbers of packages come to them which are franked with precanceled stamps. We are constantly in the market for these precancels, and will either pay cash or give good exchange in U. S. and foreign postage stamps for precanceled lots.

We have in mind one collector of foreign postage stamps who is employed as a shipping clerk in New York City. He obtains quite a large assortment of precancels and makes regular sendings to us every two weeks. For the past eighteen months he has been receiving a net purchase credit which has averaged $25.00 per month. He used this net purchase credit in selecting postage stamps which his collection lacks from our approvals, which are mounted by countries. During these eighteen months he has selected $461.45 net from our approvals and filled in hundreds of empty spaces in his album. He has, therefore, increased without any cost to himself the catalog value of his collection over $1000.

Perhaps you are in a position where you can take advantage of your position, as our friend the New York shipping clerk does. If so, we will be glad to receive a trial lot from you for our exchange offer, or if you wish further information we are at your service. [24]

row the 3rd stamp has a much thicker N, or probably an inverted Z for N. The 9th stamp in the same row has the whole word 'Niue' in thicker type and is quite noticeable from the fact that the letters being in thicker type make the spaces between the letters less than in the normal type. We have found these varieties on the 2½d, 3d, 6d and 1sh values."

NORWAY.—Mr. A. N. Jorstad states that 10 öre and 25 öre stamps of the new Lion type, have been printed in green and carmine respectively, and will probably be issued shortly. A 20 öre, violet Postage Due, in the current type, is also expected.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

CURRENT PHILATELIC RESEARCH.

Modena.—An investigation on the two plates of the stamps of the first issue of Modena by Dr. Floyd certainly deserves much fuller consideration than he was able to give it in a "five-minute" paper read before the Royal Philatelic Society on the 31st May last, which is printed in the September number of the London Philatelist. As is generally known, two plates, each containing four panes of 60 stamps, were used for printing the stamps, and it has been generally supposed that these two plates were used for the stamps (a) with stop after value and (b) without stop respectively, but Dr. Floyd finds this was not the case. Instead of this, one plate was used for:—

- 5c All five printings.
- 10c Second printing "no stop."
- 10c Third printing "with stop."
- 15c First printing.
- 40c Third printing.
- 1 lira.
- 9c Small B.G. } Newspaper.
- 9c Without B.G. }
- and the other for:—
- 10c First printing, "no stop."
- 15c Second, third, and fourth printings.
- 25c All five printings.
- 40c First printing, pale blue (sky blue).
- 40c Second printing, deep blue, "no stop."
- 10c Newspaper.

The 9c large B. G. seems to have been printed from an entirely different plate, or possibly a different single pane. Dr. Floyd has established the very remarkable fact that by the help of distinctive flaws, which are sometimes very numerous, one can recognize each individual cliché and trace its use for the different values and its varying position in the plate from time to time. It can be readily understood that a flaw in the body of the cliché is not affected by the insertion of the value, which was in loose type, held in place by a short piece of rule at its base, so that the same cliché can be recognized whatever the value may be.

The two plates were kept separate all the time they were in use and no cliché used in one plate was ever transferred to the other, though, in a few instances, damaged clichés were replaced from a reserve store. Dr. Floyd ingeniously shows that the distribution of the plates among the different values, as given in the list above, is accounted for by the way in which the different coloured papers were delivered, and the whole research brings out many points of interest with regard to these stamps which have never yet been realized. Some of these are mentioned in the paper to which we refer our readers for the details.

St. Helena.—In the same number of the London Philatelist Mr. Bacon gives some particulars respecting the very interesting stamp No. 18h in the Catalogue, which should read "6d" instead of 4d rose-carmine. It is a specimen which has missed the usual black surcharge of "FOUR PENCE" and a black bar, and is in all probability a variety of the 4d with "short, thick bar" issued about 1865. This stamp is also known with double surcharge and both varieties can be readily accounted for on the supposition that the printer missed a row of stamps in applying the surcharge. The uncharged stamp happens to be easily identifiable as No. 1 of the 11th row of the sheet as it shows the marked re-entry found on this stamp and one at least of the copies known with double surcharge has been identified as No. 11 in the 16th row. It is known that the setting for the surcharge for this issue was arranged in five horizontal rows of twelve stamps each, so that four impressions of this setting covered the sheet of two hundred and forty stamps. If the printer happened to miss row 11 it is readily seen that the next impression would carry him to row 16. As there were only four rows below this the next impression would cause this row to be doubly surcharged. It is remarkable that fortuitous circumstances have so happily combined to enable us to establish with practical certainty how the two errors arose.

Those to whom the romance of stamp collecting appeals and who like to hear of lucky finds, will be interested to learn that this stamp was found in an old Oppen's Album belonging to a lady living in the country. The collection contained no other stamps of any value except a triangular Cape. The lady knew nothing of its rarity or how she obtained it. The specimen was offered for sale in Messrs. Puttick and Simpson's Auction of October 12, 1921, and was purchased for the King.

Victoria.—Mr. P. T. Berry, in a letter to the Editor of the Victorian Philatelic Record of August last, announces the discovery of a hitherto unchronicled retouch on a 3d of Ham's second printing of the "Half-length." The variety was submitted to Mr. Pack who confirms it as an altogether new retouch in addition to those already listed. His description is as follows: At right of crown there is a circular defective area about 1½mm across, which has been retouched by five or six long and short slightly oblique strokes of colour. The right end of the base of the crown has been strengthened by a new nearly horizontal line of colour.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

EUGENE SCHLEGEL,

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB.

Arthur W. Reum, Guadalupe, Calif.
C. W. McAllister, Chillicothe, Mo.
W. R. Parker, Stockton, Calif.
Beverly S. King, New York City.
Chas. F. Schell, Braintree, Mass.

Arthur W. Reum writes us as follows:—"I enjoyed a recent article by Bill Bloss that I am making sure not to miss any copies of your publication for the next five years. Herewith you will find my check for $5 for the renewal of my subscription. You have my best wishes for the coming year." The "best wishes" of Mr. Reum take a very tangible form and we appreciate the same. He is the senior partner of the Guadalupe Drug Co., and an old friend of our publication.

"I have been a subscriber for the past ten years and find your paper interesting and almost indispensable." These are the words of an old-time friend of the WEEKLY, C. W. McAllister, of Chillicothe, Mo. Mr. McAllister is cashier of the Farmers & Merchants Bank, in that city, and now becomes a full-fledged member of the Five-Year Club.

W. R. Parker in making his remittance in connection with membership in the Five-Year Honor Club writes a most interesting letter. It is not intended for publication but we take the liberty of reproducing a portion of it:—"I am getting together every town express handstamp used in California and as many as I can from Oregon, Washington, Nevada, etc., and when these covers are somewhere near complete I shall exhibit the same in the California State Library at Sacramento. Requests have been made by high school and other students for information as to stage and express companies, their routes, dates, etc., and very little or no information could be given by our state and city libraries. A great many express companies operated in California alone, and the romance of Jackass Hill, Poker Flat, Rattlesnake Gulch, Port Wine, City of Six, Yankee Jims, Orleans Bar and many others long since vanished with the exit of the express companies would have a most interesting story. I hope those who are interested in compiling data on western franks will get their material in shape to print and have copies furnished the state libraries, particularly of California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Arizona. Philately would receive no end of advertising and it would prove one of the biggest boosts philately could have. It would be constructive and historical, but furnish just the opportunity to play up our hobby." Mr. Parker is a member of the A. P. S., No. 6795, and we thank him for his acceptance of membership in our Honor Club.

We are indebted to Beverly S. King, a New York architect with offices at 18 E. 41st Street, for membership in the Honor Club with a five-year renewal of subscription.

Chas. F. Schell in his application for membership writes us a real chatty letter from which we can make a good quotation. Let us make the Honor Club a forum for the giving of personal experiences. If you are on the roster and write this office just sign up "member of the Honor Club." Writes Mr. Schell:—

"I have been collecting stamps for about thirteen years. I have a general collection of about 11,000 varieties, and for myself I can't see anything but a general collection. I also gather U. S. precancels on the side. I have been subscribing to MEKEEL'S for about eight or ten years, and wouldn't want to be without it. Last June I received the degree of Bachelor of Science from M. I. T., and in spite of the demands of my work there for a time, I always kept my collection active. Now I am engaged in the practice of chemical engineering, and I find even more time for the greatest of Hobbies.

I was rather interested to read in the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, that Dr. William Francis Hillebrand, probably the greatest analytical chemist in America was for many years deeply interested in philately. The article conveyed the impression that the interest was in the past. Perhaps the writer was wrong; deep interest in philately is rarely a thing that passes."

AIR MAIL NOTBS AND NEWS.

(From Aero News Letter.)

China—The two air-mail routes which were operating since last Summer have again been withdrawn. No more air stamps are being supplied at the Post Offices, and those to be used next Summer on the Pekin—Pei-taiho line will be in altered colours.—Philatelic Magazine.

Russia—Far Eastern Republic—This little known State, in an endeavour to keep up with the philatelic times, has overprinted certain of its stamps with the device of an aeroplane and surcharge approximately as under:

BYAAHBOCTOH

1923

It appears that these are not air mail stamps, for so far there is no aerial post in the territory of the Far Eastern Republic, and the avowed object of the authorities in issuing these provisionals is to collect funds through their aid for the foundation of an air fleet!

Brazil—A committee of the Brazilian Senate has reported favorably, according to the United States Naval Attaché in Rio Janeiro, upon a bill proposing the establishment of two aviation lines for mail, express and passenger service, between Rio de Janeiro and Porto Alegre, which are to be started before June of 1924. One of the routes will be laid out along the coast, carried by hydroplanes and maintained and directed by the Ministry of Marine; the other will traverse the interior of the country to the West of the coast range of mountains, and will be carried out by airplanes under the direction of the Ministry of War. The routes will pass through the most important political, industrial and commercial centers wherever possible. A series of special air mail stamps will be prepared.

Syria—Mr. Francis J. Field sent me for inspection a new semi-official 1 piastre air mail stamp, of oblong shape, with an outline map of the Lebanon and the crude representation of an aeroplane flying over an extremely crude sea towards the Syrian Coast. The inscriptions are as follows:—Syrian-Libau—Aviation Civile—Piastres Syrienne.

Canada—A clipping from the Montreal Weekly Star reads:—"Air mail service has been proposed for the Magdalen Islands and Prince Edward Island. Major Shearer, Officer Commanding the Royal Canadian Force at Halifax, N. S., has made the round trip between Halifax and the Magdalen Islands in his seaplane, and one hour and five minutes was consumed going and one hour fifteen minutes for the return trip, the distance being about ninety miles. Major Shearer interviewed many residents regarding a monthly aerial mail service during the Winter in connection with the daily service between Prince Edward Island and the mainland. They were enthusiastic regarding the feasibility of the project, but the Major could say nothing for publication until he had made his report to headquarters." It is not likely that special stamps would be issued should such a service be inaugurated, for the Department has already made known its opinion on this matter.—Stamp Collecting.

Army Airplanes to Visit Central American Countries—Shortly after the new year a flight of Army Airplanes will proceed from France Field, Panama Canal Zone, on a visit of courtesy to the various capital cities of Central America, with the object of interesting our southern neighbors in American aviation and giving added impetus to commercial aviation. An Air Mail route, for instance, connecting the countries of Central America with the U. S. Air Mail would be a tremendous step forward in the development of an international air mail system.—Air Service Newsletter.

THE RATES ON USED ENTIRES.

By A. H. PIKE.

Referring to page 673 of the WEEKLY (1923) on which you published a letter from Third Asst. Postmaster-General Glover, would say that this is a literal translation of the orders contained in the Postal Laws and Regulations. Still the section 398 was inserted with an entirely different interpretation than the view point maintained by collectors.

For the past fifteen years I have received and shipped many thousands of packages containing entire covers and 2x4 specimens of the upper right hand corner to include stamp and postmark. On many of these latter parts of the name and address would show. For years I paid postage due without protest covering the difference from third and fourth class rates to first class rates especially on packages that reached me in a damaged condition which allowed the postal clerks to examine the contents.

Quite a number of years ago I took this matter up direct with Postmasters and Supt. of Mails in many of the larger cities and explained the matter something along these lines. The law as intended was to eliminate from third and fourth class mail any and all communications of any nature. Collectors send entire covers for the stamps and postmarks. This material to any one outside of a stamp collector is nothing more than waste basket material. Stamps and postmarks are strictly printed matter and nothing else. We are not even dealing in the names to whom the envelopes were addressed or the names on the corner cards, as this information is of no use to us whatever.

We might send only the stamps and postmarks which would be strictly within the law, but our hobby demands that we obey the rules and we of necessity have to include more of the envelope. This fact in no way implies that we have any intent to defraud the government or to disobey the rules of the P. O. Dept. Stamp collectors as a class are better posted on the Rules and Regulations than any other class of individuals and for that reason there is less possibility of a stamp collector intentionally putting in any communication in these packages than any one else. I have requested postmasters and mail superintendents to bring this matter to the attention of their clerks. In every city so far that I have explained the situation they have discontinued charging letter rates on these shipments.

It always pays to make the acquaintance of your local postmaster and his assistants, curb your enthusiasm and your temper and secure their friendship by giving them some good reasons why they should respect the feelings of philatelists. The Stamp Agency at Washington and Ottawa, Canada, furnish fine examples of the government's recognition of philately and their willingness to cooperate as well as their understanding of our needs. When mailing packages containing entire covers show the clerk at the stamp window the contents. If he refuses to accept them at third or fourth class rates go direct to the postmaster or his assistant and reason it out with them and have it settled once and for all.

THE OVERTHROW OF AN EMPIRE.

By W. GARDNER.

In February, 1912, China became a Republic, and to celebrate this great change two sets of stamps, each of twelve denominations were issued nine months later.

The designs of both series are similar, but one set bears a portrait of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the organizer of the rebellion against the strong-willed and brutal Emperor. These stamps are inscribed "In commemoration of the Revolution." The framework is composed of ears of rice to show that Sun Yat Sen came from the South of China.

The other set bears a portrait of Yuan Shi Kai, China's first President. These stamps are inscribed "In commemoration of the Republic." The framework is composed of ripe ears of wheat, for Yuan Shi Kai came from the North of China.

Both portraits are within oval bands, inscribed in English and Chinese, "The Republic of China." The stamps are of large size and beautifully engraved. All the sheets bear the imprint, "Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing."

Yuan Shi Kai, China's first President, died on June 6, 1916. His life is one of the greatest romances the world has known. Born in 1859, the son of a provincial magistrate, he became in 1912 ruler over 450,000,000 people. As a youth, he failed to pass the examination which would have obtained for him recommendation for office, but, joining the army, he rose steadily and came to the notice of Li Hung Chang, who in 1882 sent him as President to Korea. He spent thirteen busy years there, after which the Chinese were driven out by the Japanese. The result of this was that Yuan spent two years in exile in Turkestan. He returned just before the Chinese Reformers were successful in obtaining a number of reforms from the young Emperor Kwang Hsu.

Yuan had contrived to reorganise the army on European lines, and soon had a fine body of disciplined troops under his orders. A plot was formed, and the Emperor was made prisoner in his own palace. Yuan was made Governor of Shantung. After the death of the Emperor, Yuan was dismissed on account of disloyalty to the new Emperor. In 1911 the Republican Rebellion broke out, and he was recalled. Yuan was made Prime Minister, and, the Republicans becoming stronger, he went over to them.

In February, 1912, the child Emperor Hsuen Lung was forced to abdicate, and a Republic came into being with Yuan Shi Kai as President.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who had collected the funds by which a revolution was made possible, had been set up as President at Nanking, but retired in order to unite the country under Yuan. Sun Yat Sen, distrusting Yuan, however, raised a second rebellion, which was easily crushed, and Dr. Sun Yat Sen had to flee.

Towards the end of 1915, Yuan proclaimed himself Emperor, but it was not until February 25, 1916, that an official decree definitely postponed the enthronement of Yuan owing to rebellious actions of the south and west provinces.

These stamps were valid until July 31, 1913, when the remainders were burnt. There is a curious story about this burning, and the following cutting, taken from the China Times of June 14, 1914, will perhaps shed a little light on this strange "destruction."

SHANGHAI, June 13th.

A remarkable story was related yesterday in the Mixed Court, when a shopkeeper was charged with unlawfully possessing stamps. It appears, from the evidence, that last March the authorities decided to destroy a large number of the Yuan Shi Kai and Sun Yat Sen commemorative stamps, which were accordingly burnt in a furnace, the Postal Commissioner superintending the work. The furnace was of an automatic type, the fuel being carried forward on rollers. Apparently the stamps were thrown at the back of the furnace, the rollers, on being put into motion, precipitating the stamps into an ash bin. It is believed that tens of thousands of dollars' worth thus escaped destruction.—Postage Stamp.

132 NASSAU ST. ROOMS 608-609 NEW YORK CITY

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW.

Edited by FRED'K W. ALLEN,
312 Walnut St., Minneapolis, Minn.

New Issue Notes—The latest of the new stamps to appear precancelled is the eight cent. New York takes the palm away from Chicago this time. I have neglected to mention the 3 cent Lincoln. Chicago has been out of this for over six weeks with normal, inverted, and double normal varieties. San Francisco, Boston Type X (nor. and inv.), Caldwell, N. J., Seguin, Texas, were also early users of this denomination. The circulation should, very shortly, become quite general. The handsome twenty cent has sprung into usage with a bound. A list of cities would be too lengthy to incorporate in this column. The cancellations as a general rule read up and down, although I notice horizontal overprints from Tulsa, Okla., and Flint, Mich. Bureau printed precancels have been issued for Omaha, Sioux City, and quite a few others which have not been mentioned before. City type precancellations are on the one cent also appearing in profusion. Woodsboro, Md., Corning, N. Y., South Weymouth, Mass., Fargo, N. D., Corning, N. Y., Clay Center, Nebr., and Gerrard, Kansas, are a few of these I have run across. The Hardings seem to be very popular and many are building a small collection of these precancels exclusively. The demand is brisk, so they fetch good prices. Although an immense quantity were printed, it is likely that the precancelled ones will be scarce. The Philatelic Gossip announces a special album for them which is to be issued in several months. Leon, Kansas, Clay Center, Nebr., Davenport, Iowa, Lock Haven, Pa., Rockford, Mich., East Alton, Ill., Provo, Utah, Warren, R. I., Zarephath, N. J., Geneva, N. Y., Santa Monica, Calif., Los Gatos, Calif., Orange, Texas, Waco, Texas, and Leesburg, Fla., are some new Harding precancels.

Albuquerque, N. Mex.—The name is difficult to spell ("N'est pas?") so one wonders little that the party who made the handstamp slipped up on several of the subjects. "Alburquerque" and "Aburquerque" are two errors in spelling seldom seen but nevertheless existing.

Blunt, S. D.—Handstamped letters of medium size and fancy font between bars describes the precancels for this small town. An 8 cent Perf. 11 is the sole variety to chronicle.

Brookings, S. D.—This city precancelled Christmas, 1923, for the first time in its history. The impression was type set, being very striking. The six cent is the single item which came into my possession and it is prized highly.

Charles City, Iowa—Two types are currently employed. The handstamped precancels are scarcer than the printed varieties. Watch for them.

Clay Center, Nebr.—The U-3 electroplate still monopolizes the overprinting for this office. Throughout the year the one cent is carried in precancelled condition but the other values are found only time, all of which will be good property: 1917 issue, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, 20, 50, 1.00 Special Delivery—all normal and 2, 6, 10, 13, 10 cent Special—inverted; 1923 issue 2 cent nor. and inv., 2 cent Harding nor. and inv., 20 and 25 cent up. Some items which have just come to light that were used over a year ago are: 3 cent Victory normal, inverted, up, and down, 16 cent and 24 cent Aeroplanes both reading horizontal. I am indebted to Mr. John L. Parker for this information.

Churubusco, Ind.—The 1 cent Perf. 11 and Perf. 10x10 is out from this third class office in type similar to U-18. The name is a bit odd which if nothing else, makes a precancel from here quite desirable.

Cincinnati, Ohio—A quantity of the 16 cent Aero were precancelled with the U-3 plate. All the copies seen have the impression reading down.

Grand Forks, N. Dak.—The post-office received just in time for the holiday season a new plate similar to those of Salisbury and Hickory, N. C. The overprint is clean cut and a great improvement over the former handstamped type. Of the old series the 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 15, 20 and perf. 10 Rotary have been precancelled. Also 2, 4, 5, 7, 10 new series They will be in use throughout the year.

Hudson Falls, N. Y.—A large block of the 3 cent surface overprinted with the U-16 handstamp brought me the first from this town.

Huntsville, Ala.—Hunt for them. They are very scarce. Mr. R. E. Sharp sends for inspection several values bearing the U-3 overprint, handstamped.

Kankakee, Ill.—Mr. S. Altman has found a Victory stamp with inverted cancellation from this city. As good as a five dollar bill, I should say, for it is possibly unique. No doubt the post-office precancelled a small quantity in the holiday season to get rid of them.

Middletown, N. Y.—A small number of these are now coming through. The latest I have seen are 10 cent up, 20 and 25 cent horizontal, 1923 series.

Moultrie, Ga.—A real southern flavor to this one. Handstamped in rather large letters between bars. The 5 and 10 cents new issue are the first to be noted. It may be well to mention Sumter, Ala., along with Moultrie as being a new addition. Sort of recall the history of the Revolutionary Days, don't they?

Odell, Ill.—Small thin caps reading diagonally up and down truly describes a couple of rare items in my collection, the 6 and 8 cent Perf. 11.

Parsons, Kans.—Still another addition to the offices possessing a U-18 plate. This will be Type II, as a handstamp similar to U-23 has been employed for several years.

Sabinal, Texas—The U-3 handstamp has just been received. I am able to chronicle the 6 and 8 old and 2, 4, 5, 10 new issue.

Sanford, Me.—The plate which has no counterpart to my knowledge has been recently used on the Perf. 11 issues. The precancels are attractive to behold and quite desirable.

Seneca, S. C.—Mr. Robert Tribble informs me that Seneca has precancelled the 2 cent to 10 cent values during the Christmas rush for the past three years. The 1 cent is precancelled the year around for the circular mail of business houses. A four at a time rubber stamp is used, a proof of which is enclosed in Mr. Tribble's communication. SENECA, S. C., appears in two lines without bars.

Xenia, Ohio—It may interest a few readers to know that this office is the only one beginning with the letter "X" which uses precancels. They are difficult to obtain.

Miscellaneous—A number of U. S. specialists have started small precancel collections for entertainment and relief. It is an admirable side line to choose if you seek relaxation. The educational features are not lacking nor the possibilities for investment. To all readers who are interested I shall be glad to forward sample copies of "The Precancel Gazette" and various information upon request.

There are a few I can't give that discount on, but look over your album and tell me the stamps you need, and such as I can furnish at 1/2 cat. will be glad to send on app. against customary ref.

PERFECTION COPIES

of even the cheaper values of OLD UNITED STATES STAMPS are hard to get. Take any unpicked lot of 10,000 stamps—out of the 10,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, full, rich color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes or missing perforation, and lightly canceled.

NATURALLY YOU CANNOT BUY stamps of this nature at bargain prices. But because of the prices which this kind of material always demands, the prices at which I sell are reasonable. Stamps in my stock that are a little off from what I have described are marked at correspondingly low prices. Therefore, whatever your own standards of collecting, providing you are not expecting to buy single stamps at the prices of quantity lots, you will find much to interest you in a selection from my stock, which is strongest in the three cent 1861, three cent 1869, one, two, three, four, five, six and ten cent, 1870 to 1888, inclusive. Send good reference, society reference preferred, and name the stamps you specialize in.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO JANUARY 1.

Notwithstanding the holiday season the returns for December are impressive. W. J. Zink with 47, the Fennell Stamp Co. with 40 and the Pike's Peak Co. with 37, show how closely contested is the race for first place. The work done by some other friends is well worth mentioning. The Kansas City Stamp Co. jumps from 6 to 26 and space will not permit the mention of numerous others whose co-operation is certainly appreciated. Those who have sent in more than ten during the month of December, are the following:—

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EASTER ISLAND.

By JOHN N. LUFF.

Some months ago Mr. G. P. Young, Dayton, Ohio, sent me a stamp which he said came from Easter Island and had been given him by Captain Bradley Jones, U. S. Army Air Service. Captain Jones had obtained the stamp in December, 1916, when he visited the island as a member of an expedition on the non-magnetic yacht "Carnegie." An interesting account of this voyage and of places visited, including Easter Island, was published in the National Geographic Magazine for December, 1922.

According to the encyclopedias, Easter Island is a small island (area about 45 square miles) situated in the South Pacific Ocean, 1,400 miles east of Pitcairn Island and 2,000 miles from the South American coast. It is celebrated for remarkable images and structures erected by a vanished race. On many of the bluffs are found immense platforms, built of large cut stones, laid without cement. These platforms are usually placed where the land slopes toward the sea, on which side they are sometimes 30 feet high. Some of them are 200 to 300 feet long and 30 feet wide. On these platforms formerly stood huge stone images, some of them nearly 40 feet high, but averaging about 15 feet. Most of these images are now overthrown. In another part of the island there are remains of houses built of large flat stones, the roofs being of overlapping stones, and the interiors painted with pictures of animals, etc. A very interesting description of these archaeological remains will be found in the National Geographic Magazine for December, 1921.

The stamp shown by Mr. Young was a Chilean stamp of the 1915-20 issue, the 1 centavo gray green, typographed. It was overprinted diagonally, in dull blue, "Rapa-Nui," reading downward, from upper left to lower right. Apparently the overprint was set up from rubber type, inked on an ink-pad, and then struck by hand on the stamp. The stamp was unused and with full gum. As I wished to know more about it, Mr. Young kindly supplied the address of Captain Bradley Jones, to whom I wrote as follows:

"I have received your address from Mr. G. P. Young of Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Young has been writing me about a stamp which he received from you and which you purchased at Easter Island in December, 1916.

"I find myself at a loss to understand how it can be used in Easter Island, or why it should have been overprinted with the native name 'Rapa-Nui.' I should greatly appreciate any information you can give me on the history of this stamp and the way it is used.

"My understanding is that this island has no regular connections with any part of the world, but is dependent upon passing ships to take letters, and in that case I would suppose that the postage on such letters would have to be paid in cash, so that the captain taking them could purchase stamps at the port where he proposed to mail them. In the next place, I cannot see what possible use they could have in this island for 1 centavo stamps, as letter postage would be 10 centavos and the rate for a postal card 2 centavos, or probably 4 centavos.

"If you can give me any information as to the postal service of Easter Island and the connections with the outside world, also why they have overprinted these stamps 'Rapa-Nui,' I shall greatly appreciate the assistance. It seems possible that the overprint is merely a form of cancellation."

To this letter I received the following interesting reply:

"I have just returned from a short trip and find your letter of the 9th awaiting me.

"Rapa-Nui belongs to Chile. The name of Easter Island (or its Dutch equivalent) was given by Roggewien, who first sighted it on Easter day, 1722. Cook, the English navigator, was the next visitor (in 1774) and he used the name Easter Island to describe it. The Spanish name of Isla de Basma is used by

Chile interchangeable with the native name of Rapa-Nui. The natives seem to use Rapa-Nui exclusively, but, of course, they have few occasions to mention the name, as, due to isolation, they are in a world by themselves. They probably came from the Marquesas—that is, their ancestors did—and it is reasonable to believe that some, at least, came from the island of Rapa; whence Rapa-Nui, meaning New Rapa.

"At my visit in December, 1916, there were roughly 250 inhabitants; all Kankanas except two, the Chilean Governor and a Portuguese. The Portuguese was sole survivor of a shipwreck some years before; he had gone native, and had no desire to leave, being quite comfortable. The Chilean was sent out by his government as representative. I believe he was supposed to make record of the weather, but, due to ships never calling, his meteorological observations were of little value.

"Chile leases the island 'en toto' to an English company for exploitation. This company has a herd of some 1,500 cattle, which roams over the island. The natives kill an animal whenever desired for food, the skin being preserved. Whenever the schooner comes over from Chile a general slaughter takes place, the natives gorging themselves with meat, and what they do not eat lies on the ground and rots. Only hides are taken away. The company had a representative, a Mr. Edmunds, formerly, but he had been gone eighteen months before I touched there. The schooner is supposed to come once a year for hides. Sometimes it is a year and a half or two years or more. When we arrived it had been eighteen months since the schooner's visit. The natives wanted matches and soap.

"The Chilean 'Governor' had a supply of 1 centavo stamps overprinted with 'Rapa-Nui.' As we were on a wooden sailing ship bound around the Horn, which is always risky, I purchased stamps and affixed them to several letters, advising relatives and friends in the United States and New Zealand of my safe arrival. My companions did likewise. The trading schooner (coming for hides) was then six months overdue, and the Governor promised that, as his successor was to come on the boat, he would personally carry them to Chile and see that they went North. It is my recollection that ten stamps were used, as they strung in a long row on the top of the long envelopes. None of my six letters ever reached their destination, and two of my shipmates whom I met a couple of years later reported that they had no better luck with theirs. I had four or five unused stamps, one of which I presented to Mr. Young.

"So far as I know, except for the trading schooner which is manned by a nondescript Chilean crew, the only visitors in recent years was an English expedition of Mr. Scoresby Routledge, an archæologist, who studied the stone images there in 1913-14, and the German cruiser 'Eitel Friedrich,' who stopped and 'lifted' cattle in 1914, on her way to the Falklands, where she took part in the battle there. My visit was on the survey yacht 'Carnegie.' There is a persistent rumor that the island sank in an earthquake a year ago, but I cannot get authentic information."

In answer to a request for permission to publish the information he had given me, Captain Jones wrote further:

"You are entirely welcome to use any part of my letter for your journal."

"Supplementing my previous letter, the post of representative of the Chilean government is somewhat unique. Sr. Solar called himself 'Gobernador' or governor, and in so far as he was politically the ruler of the island, he was quite right in so terming himself. Ordinarily there are no crimes to be judged or punished. It is a community; if there is no food everyone starves, if there is food everyone gets an equal share. The marriage ceremony, which civilization uses to force the male to provide for his offspring, is not so essential in a land where a child can stop at any hut and receive food and shelter. There is, however, a native priest, familiar with the rites of the Catholic Church. Where all males have practically the same possessions, robbery is rare, as are the problems incidental to the domestic triangle.

"So the 'Gobernador,' while having the power of judge, is rarely called upon to act as such. He would be in charge of the police or militia, if there were any, but there is not. He is Governor of the Port, only vessels never call. He has charge of customs, only the sole exports are the hides, on which any tariff is as agreed upon in the English concession, over which he has no jurisdiction. There is no immigration, but if there were, he would act as Commissioner of Immigration.

"In short, the 'Gobernador' is a Pooh-Bah, having many possible functions or jobs, only he scarcely is called upon to act. Perhaps I might express it better by simply repeating that he is the sole representative of the Chilean government on the island and must represent his country's various bureaus or departments when necessary. Thus he represents the Chilean postal department as well as the weather bureau. Since the natives do not write, he himself would be the only user of a mail service, except in the rare cases when vessels like that on which I served touch at the island.

"It is to be remembered that the supply boat, which visits the island more or less regularly every couple of years, only goes from Valparaiso to the island and return, and naturally its mariners would have no use for a post-office on the island. To my knowledge, the 'Mana,' belonging to Scoresby Routledge, and ourselves, were the only visitants within recent years.

"Senor Solar, as representative of the Chilean post-office, sold us the stamps and received our letters which we desired to mail. The actual mechanism of whether he cancelled the stamps before delivering the mail to the Chilean post-office at Valparaiso, I do not know. That is sort of an academic matter, it seems to me, as practically he never delivered the letters out of his possession, in my opinion (they never having arrived at their destination).

"It seems to me that the stamps must have been overprinted in Chile, as I do not recollect seeing any rubber stamp in the Governor's 'palace,' which was a wooden shack, with only the bare necessities of life."

To sum up: In 1916 there were Chilean stamps of 1 centavo on Easter Island. At some time these stamps had received the overprint "Rapa-Nui." They were sold with the understanding that they would pay the postage on letters. They were affixed to letters, which were delivered to the Post Master, who promised that they would be posted at a Chilean port. Had these letters been delivered to the Chilean postal officials, it is safe to assume that they would have been duly forwarded through the international mails and would have reached the persons to whom they were addressed.

But, even had the letters been duly transported and delivered, could the stamps be regarded as an issue of an independent postal administration? Is the overprint anything more than a control mark, indicating that the letter came from an outlying postal station? As the overprint had been applied to the stamps before they were sold, was it a form of per-cancellation?

If any of Mr. Jones' letters had reached their destination, we would, at least, know how the overprint was regarded by the Chilean post-office clerks. If they cancelled the stamps it would indicate that they regarded the overprint as a control mark. It could not be anything else, if the stamps were to be accepted as paying postage in a Chilean post-office. And, if they did not apply a Chilean cancellation, yet passed the letters along, then we could only conclude that they regarded the overprint as a postmark. However, the letters never came through. So we are back where we started and there I must leave you, for the present at least.—

LIBERIA.

By EARL D. EMERY.

Liberia, a country which is despised by so many collectors and dealers on account of its cancelled-to-order stamps, has always held an attraction for me. About eight months ago I started specializing on this country, collecting only mint and postally used copies.

Recently I secured a 24 cent green, No. 15, postally used with a blue Harper cancellation, in superb condition. Another interesting item is the 2 cent red and black, No. 116, with a German Steamship cancellation. A postally used triangular block of four, No. 127, looks very nice.

A few of the prizes I recently obtained are No. 178, two copies, one with an italic "2" in 1920, and the other with the "2" missing, both copies postally used. Another is the triangular Red Cross, No. 251, postally used. One dealer had the nerve to inform me that the Red Cross issues were positively never used for postage. A double surcharge on No. 421, one surcharge inverted, and a double on No. 438, are two more, the former postally used, the latter mint.

The two most recent additions I have are No. 459, hand-stamped and postally used, and No. 396 in an imperforate pair, postally used. This last is not in Scott's 1924, catalogue. A Chicago dealer said he would buy it for $20.00, but I refused to part with it.

Besides these few I have a great number of mint and postally used in singles, blocks, strips, and pairs, both old and recent issues. Also a number of genuine covers and envelopes. Mint and postally used copies are very hard to obtain, some of them coming at two and three times their catalogue value.

BATA.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

In the fifth of the Ferrary sales a lot comprising forty-five of the rare Bata overprints on Fernando Poo stamps fetched, along with some other comparatively unimportant items the sum of £92. Bata does not figure in the Gibbons Catalogue, nor in the latest Yvert & Tellier, nor is there any reference to it in Mr. Alexander Bunger's "Grosses Lexikon der Philatelie." There may be some references in the Spanish philatelic journals of the period, but the only Spanish record known to me is in Señor Galvez's new specialised catalogue of the stamps of Spain and Colonies (1923, pp. 298, 299), and while the stamps are listed fully there no explanation is offered concerning them.

Bata appears to be an island in the Gulf of Guinea, and here in 1901 the stamps of Fernando Poo were overprinted with a heavy Script hand-stamp "Bata," the whole set of fifteen of the 1901 issue. The overprint is in black or blue-black, Señor Narcisco Diez, Marine Officer and First Sub-Governor of the island, seems to have been responsible for their issue, and they are all obliterated by hand, the date and signature being applied by Señor Diez. It has been supposed that this manuscript cancellation indicated a fiscal use, and this may have misled some of the contemporary chroniclers as to their status. The overprint on the copies I have seen is diagonal reading downwards from the top left corner, and the date "26 Julio 1901" has been written diagonally upwards from the bottom left corner, crossing the "Bata" overprint. The initials N. D. appear below the date.

As Señor Galvez prices them unused as well as used, they no doubt exist without date and signature.

THEODORE CHAMPION
PARIS 18 rue Drouot 13 PARIS

In a letter from Señor Leopoldo Colombo of San Fernando to Señor Galvez which the latter has shown me, he forwarded some of these first Bata stamps "which being the first, and not having yet obtained postmarks, were used with date or signature, or both, by my colleague the Navy Officer, the late Don Narcezo Diez, first sub-governor of this colony, and in which place he died. These stamps I have purchased from his sister who lives here (San Fernando); they were amongst Don Diez's letters and papers that were sent here after his death." Señor Leopoldo Colombo is the brother of the second sub-governor of Bata who succeeded Don Diez.

The full list of the first issue is as follows:

- 1 centimo, black, surch. Bata.
- 2 centimos chestnut, surch. Bata.
- 3 centimos indigo-purple, surch. Bata.
- 4 centimos dull lilac, surch. Bata.
- 5 centimos vermilion, surch. Bata.
- 10 centimos brown, surch. Bata.
- 25 centimos blue, surch. Bata.
- 50 centimos claret, surch. Bata.
- 75 centimos sepia, surch. Bata.
- 1 peseta blue-green, surch. Bata.
- 2 pesetas red-brown, surch. Bata.
- 3 pesetas olive-green, surch. Bata.
- 4 pesetas red, surch. Bata.
- 5 pesetas myrtle-green, surch. Bata.
- 10 pesetas pale orange, surch. Bata.

In the course of a month or two traffic in the Post Office at Bata showed that many of these denominations were not needed or used by the public, but there was a comparatively extensive use for the denomination 10 centimos on postcards. The supply of the 10 centimos brown stamp had been rapidly exhausted, and on October 16, 1901, Señor D. E. Colombo, Sub-Governor of the Colony, sent the following notification to the Governor-General of Fernando Poo:

"Having exhausted the stamps of 10 centimos for correspondence, and these being indispensable, in particular for postcards, I agreed under the circumstances to make available for this denomination the following values:

1 ct.	2 cts.	3 cts.	4 cts.	5 cts.
45	45	40	50	115
25 cts.	50 cts.	75 cts.	1 pta.	2 pts.
130	135	50	60	25
3 pts.	4 pts.	5 pts.	10 pts.
25	25	25	25

The which I bring to the knowledge of Your Excellency for the purpose of adjusting the accounts.

The Sub Governor Colombo.
To the most Excellent
The Governor of Fernando Poo."

The stamps were made available for the use as 10 centimos stamps by means of a hand-stamp reading "Habilitado para 10 cents Bata" in a boxed rule with ornamental corners. This was applied to all the values, in red.

- 1 centimo black.
- 2 centimos chestnut.
- 3 centimos indigo-purple.
- 4 centimos dull lilac.
- 5 centimos vermilion.
- 25 centimos blue.
- 50 centimos claret.
- 75 centimos sepia.

NO. DAKOTA STAMP CLUB.

Quotation from a letter:—
"Several of the stamp collectors in the state are thinking of organizing a North Dakota Stamp Club and expect to call a meeting for that purpose some time this month. Perhaps there are others in the state who would be interested and would possibly be reached thru the columns of the WEEKLY. Would you care to help a good cause along and make a brief mention of this fact as a news item? We will appreciate it very much. Those interested to communicate with either Dr. Q. L. Stangbye, New England, North Dakota, or Dr. F. C. Stucke, Bismarck, North Dakota." We wish this project the very best of luck.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS.

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

DR. CHARLES H. STEINMETZ.

By JOSEPH V. K. WELLS.

It will be somewhat of a surprise to many collectors and admirers of the late Dr. Steinmetz to learn that he was interested in philately. It has been my privilege to stand by his side and see him mount many stamps which tho they might not be rare, still they seemed to mean much to him. I do not know how or when he started to collect but I suspect that he first collected stamps to have a common interest with the children of his adopted son.

Dr. Steinmetz bought few stamps directly from dealers in the United

Severely Stung

Looking through a collection a few days ago we saw a most beautiful Ten Cent 1847 black, unused and listing $100.00, that the owner bought as a rare bargain for $20.00.

Not only had the penmarks been removed by chemicals but a lovely glossy fake gum had been carefully put on the back.

Now

If that man had spent Two Dollars and fifty cents and bought a set of our books on all the issues of the U. S. and their varieties and what the fakers do he would have saved his money. We have a pamphlet to mail about this Library if you want it.

CARRIERS WANTED

I have a client who is interested in the semi-official carriers listed in Scott's catalogue between Nos. 1803 and 1877. Must be on the original cover and really fine.

Two other clients are demanding Confederate States in really fine condition and on original covers.

If you have an odd cover or two or a real collection, here is a chance to turn it into real cash over night. Send by registered mail with your lowest price on each item and you'll either have your money or your stamps back by the next mail after receipt. If you want exchange instead of cash, I will make an additional allowance of 20%. That beats auction—no commissions of 20% to pay—no uncertainty about price—and no waiting for a sale.

H. F. COLMAN

States. He preferred to buy indirectly thru the Hayden children. He told me once that he was afraid that the stamps would take up too much of his time, he seemed to fear that dealers would pester him with approvals. I think the only reason he consented to see me was the fact that I am a member of the same fraternity as he, Phi Gamma Delta.

His collection was about 10,000 varieties, and largely the War Issues and Old German States. The latter were his favorites. He cared not a bit for condition, so long as the stamp looked well. He did not care for rarities and he did not seem to care much for investment. I remember a superb Oldenburg on cover which I sold him, and the next time I saw the stamp, there was no cover in sight. He said with a bit of a smile—"It looks better that way!"

He had collected a few scattering, "pretty" sets of British Colonials, but he did not care for completeness. He collected what he wanted to and when he felt that he had time. I have known him to leave his laboratory to see some stamps, and I have gone to see him only to hear him greet me with the excuse that he was "busy."

I have never known a more likeable man. He was the "wizard" of electricity, a philosopher, and one of the leading mathematicians in the country, but he was also very human. I never shall forget some of the talks we had, and how charming he was. Naturally the photograph herewith reproduced is one of my most cherished possessions. He was one of the world's great men and one that the world could ill afford to lose.

GEO. H. WORTHINGTON DEAD.

(Press Clipping.)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 10.—George H. Worthington, 74 years old, well-known business man and sportsman, died suddenly in his rooms at a downtown hotel late yesterday. He was President of the Underwriters Land Company of Missouri and was formerly head of the American Chicle Company.

Mr. Worthington was born in Toronto, Canada, and began his business career there in a wholesale grocery. Later he became manager for his father as contractor for building the Southern Central Railroad (now part of the Lehigh Valley System). He was a director of many corporations and member of various clubs in Cleveland.

Mr. Worthington was the owner, until a few years ago, of one of the largest stamp collections in the world. It was a hobby to which he devoted much of his time during the greater part of his life.

"I believe it was his stamp collection more than any other thing that kept him up in recent years." Alvin Good, his secretary for twenty-two years, said last night. "Busy as he was with the enterprises in which he was interested, he always found time to correspond with collectors and dealers in stamps, and to pore over his own collection."

Mr. Worthington disposed of his stamps a few years ago to a New York collector. "Who's who in Philately" has the following to say about the collection: "The finest gen. coll. in America, including a marvellous specialised coll. of United States. The latter includes: Alexandria, the two types on cover, and only known specimen of 5c on bluish. Baltimore, 10c black on white, of which only two other copies are known to exist. Eight copies of the Baltimore envelope, a Brattleboro, a Millbury, a New Haven 5c red, and completed reconstructed plates of St. Louis. Premier gravures complete unused, 3c and 10c in blocks of four; 5c and 30c grided all over; 1869, 15c and 30c inverted centres. Only known copy of the United States City Despatch Post 2c on 3c green. Other notable sections of the collection are the Hawaiian Numerals; (only known 2c on entire); Confederate States (10c Beaumont on pink; 10c Greenville, the Emory, Grove Hill, Helena, Goliads, and others); Ceylon, complete unused. Capes (block of four woodblocks on cover, including the error 4d); Dominican Republic (early issues in reconstructed sheets). Coll. of U.

"BERNARD SHAW SPECIALS"

Another Fine Lot of "Pink Whiskers"

We feel we are very fortunate in being able to offer two more fine lots of the coveted 7c red stamps of the bank-note issues. All told less than 250 copies, but not a poor one in the lot, and most of them picked for centering and fancy cancellations. We have graded them carefully, but if any are not satisfactory, "the cash is ready" if you want it.

A—Very fine to superb, attractive as to centering and can- cellation, either National or Continental	$2.25
B—Fine to Very Fine, almost as pretty as Class A	1.75
C—Good to Fine, not a defective one nor a badly centered copy, way above average condition	1.10
D—Fine copies with red or blue cancellations	2.50
E—Fine copies with red and black cancellations	1.50
F—Fancy cancellations, various stars, rays, etc., ordinary copies at $1.50 each; fine copies	2.00

To give Western customers a fair chance we will not send approval selections of these stamps until cash orders are filled.

WE WANT TO BUY ACCUMULATIONS OF FINE SINGLE COPIES OF

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Mr. A. C. Stewart, president of the Toledo Stamp Company, Toledo, Ohio, accompanied by Mrs. Stewart, was in Chicago recently, where he called on old stamp friends.

—Mr. Allen Logan, of Kansas City, Mo., whose interesting collection of United States stamps was bought by Mr.
Eugene Klein some time ago, has been elected to the presidency of the Kansas City Board of Trade, a distinction that we think is worth crowing about. Mr.
Logan, it may be added, is collecting again and concentrating on early U. S.
With Mr. Logan at the head of the Board of Trade and Mr. Michaels boss of the bar association, the philatelists of Kansas City are in the saddle.

—The Zumstein & Co., Special Catalogue and Handbook of the Swiss Stamps that was reviewed in the issue of January 7th is offered by its publishers for fifteen Swiss francs, postage extra.

—It is with deep regret that we have heard of the death of Frank R. Demmerly of Indianapolis, Indiana, to whom we often had occasion to express thanks for news favors shown us. Mr. Allan
P. Vestal, Indianapolis, writes: "Mr.
Demmerly had only been interested in philately for five or six years but locally was reputed to be as well informed on United States issues as any man in this vicinity. He personally endeared himself to his many friends here and his death after such a short illness was a very great shock." From an obituary notice in the Indianapolis News, we learn that pneumonia was the cause of Mr.
Demmerly's death at the age of forty-
one. He was secretary of the State Life Insurance Company's medical department.

—From Mr. Olaf J. Olson of St. Paul, Minn., we have a clipping from the Christian Science Monitor that tells of the ingenuity of Captain Amundsen in financing his North Pole expedition by stamps.

—A recent departmental order informs postmasters that the "only kind of ink that it is permissible to use in the cancellation of mail matter is that furnished by the department." One kind of ink is recommended for rubber cancelling stamps and another for those made of steel.

—The Home of the Postage Stamp offered a set of nineteen varieties of German stamps at 75c when the price should have been 50c. A refund of 25c will be made to any purchaser of this set.

—"At a meeting of the St. Louis
Stamp Collector's Society, held on Jan.
8, the subject of speculative stamps such as have been lately issued by the European countries or about to be sold in this country was thoroughly discussed, and upon resolution unanimously adopted.
We recommend that the Scott Stamp and Coin Company ignore such stamps as are printed and sold for other than legiti-mate postal use and discourage to the best of their ability the collecting of such stamps."—HENRY LACKS, Sec.

—"I notice that a recent article mentions the Fordson Tractor as appearing on one of the late Russian issues. If this is Scott's type A-56, I would like to have the author of that article advise when Henry Ford started making this one. I have been connected with the Ford industry for about five years and have yet to see a Fordson that looks like this one. There are several other makes of tractors which this resembles more than the Fordson. The thought struck me at the time I noticed the tractor that it would have been a very good ad for Ford had the Fordson appeared thereon."—W. C. BLACK.

—W. F. Ferguson, 280 Fourth Ave., N. Y. City, would like the address of Stanley Rezabek, formerly of Chicago, Ill.

—Dr. Rawlings Nichol of Chatham, N.
J., sends us a comparative list of old and new U. S. catalog numbers (1923-1924). The numbers are printed in parallel columns and would prove handy in the re-arrangement of collections. We will publish the list if there are ten collectors who are willing to file a post card request with us.

—If any of our subscribers are so disposed they can send gladness to the heart of Herman Kupper, 135 Sampson St., Garfield, N. J., by making contributions of stamps to the address indicated.
There recently appeared in the Passaic Daily News a story of the manner in which Mr. Kupper was swindled out of

Recent Germans

High values to 50 billion marks. Evidently some of these, especially the rouletted varieties, are not so plentiful and prices in Germany are jumping fast. Based on cost to us, we offer most of those issued

Want Lists. A Specialised Service

For years I have made a specialty of the execution of Want Lists. Few firms in this country have developed this side of the business to the same extent.

Owing to the great increase in my American business, I have now established a WANTS REGISTER on the basis of Scott's catalogue. Collectors may therefore send me their full want lists and be confident that they will not be side tracked and that they will receive constant attention. Selections will be sent on approval at regular intervals.

I sell stamps in Fine Condition only. My prices average half catalogue, and will bear comparison with any market in the world. I have, at the moment, nothing to offer in old U. S., but have an immense stock of British and French Colonials, Europeans, Asiatics, Africans and South Americans. I stock no common stamps and New European rubbish.

Approval selections of any country against references.

LONDON, W. C 2

a large lot of stamps through his helplessness. We have looked into the case of Mr. Kupper, who is an invalid, to such an extent as to warrant asking the co-operation of our readers.

—Our European correspondent, Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, has returned from abroad for a well-earned rest. He crossed on the Leviathan and having been delayed in the harbor missed a little party that had been arranged for him by old friends in Philadelphia. Mr. Ragatz will be at home at 126 North Butler Street, Madison, Wis., for a short time before leaving for Los Angeles.

—Mr. E. A. Wilson, formerly of Chicago, but now of Miami, Florida sends the following advertisement that appeared recently in the Metropolis:

FOR SALE—1 stamp collection, the best in United States, consisting of over 2,200 stamps of almost all nations, including 1 stamp of 1 billion German marks; 1 of 2 billion, 1 of 5 billion, 1 of 10 billion and 1 of 20 billion German marks, as well as over 200 very old stamps of different nations in existence and not, as well as several of new nations.

—The following paragraph from the Kansas Notes in the Kansas City Star has been relayed to us by Mr. Wilson D. Wood, Up, guards, and at the pill who asperses our fair hobby!

"WHAT KEPT MR. MORGAN DOWN.
Show us a man who saves rare coins and foreign stamps and boasts of his collection of the same and we will show you a man who is not only a failure in life, but also a man who is a chronic bore to his friends.—Erie Record.

"Our recollection is that the late J. P. Morgan had one of the finest collections of foreign stamps in the United States. He could hardly be classed as a failure in life, and if a bore, he generally secured entrance to the White House when he desired it.—Beloit Gazette."

—Mr. Henry W. Wolseley of Chicago, has departed for the south and will make his headquarters in Florida during the winter.

—That good old collector, Mr. Robert C. Munroe, of Springfield, Mass., secretary of the G. & C. Merriam Company, publishers of Webster's Dictionaries, called on us in Chicago to convey the

R. Foster, Sales Manager. All collectors of our vicinity are cordially invited to greetings of the famous Springfield bunch. We should like a special rate on a dictionary.

—A despatch from Munich, Germany, states that the postal authorities have ordered the stamp clerks to cancel stamps lightly in order that they may not be rendered useless to collectors by being heavily smudged with ink.

—I am preparing a new check list of meters as well as all first class mail permits which will be ready very soon. As soon as this is completed will then commence checking up Advertising (slogan) cancellations which have been in use since the 1922 check list was published. All new issues since that time will be published in booklet form as an addenda to the original check list. Those wishing copies of either of these booklets, please advise me at once as the editions will be limited.—A. H. PIKE, 21 Moeller St., Binghamton, N. Y.

—I wish to thank all editors, publishers and collectors who have in the past few months responded to the notice to the effect that I am building up a public philatelic library and can use current and out-of-date stamp papers. Duplicates can be used to advantage in exchange or as gifts to deserving beginners, or sold to complete files of literature collectors. All moneys received from sales go into the library fund which enables us to purchase material which we are unable to obtain otherwise.—A. H. PIKE, 21 Moeller St., Binghamton, N. Y.

—The United Stamp Societies is an organization of local stamp clubs, banded together for mutual benefits of various kinds, including the circulation of Sales Books. A recruiting committee has just been appointed with Tom V. Binmore, 457 Fifth Ave., Astoria, N. Y., as chairman.

—"I take great pleasure in my stamp collecting. I began almost 60 years ago, coming west something over 50 years ago. Since I had little time or money to keep it up I gave my collection away.

—The annual meeting and election of the Bridgeport Philatelic Club occurred December 20. The following officers were elected: William Rometsch, Pres.; R. S. Foster, Vice-Pres.; J. Shallenberger, Treas.; August Munch, Sec., and join the club which meets every first and third Thursday evening of the month at 311 Meigs Building, Bridgeport, Conn.—AUGUST MUNCH, Sec.

—"I have just returned from my annual vacation trip and had a very pleasant time for a week in Bermuda. You will be interested in knowing that in taking the trip to St. George's on Thursday the 3rd inst., I met Mr. Severn, who was spending a couple of weeks on the island. Unfortunately, we were not together for a very long chat, but it was nice to meet one so far away, especially anyone interested in the hobby."—L. A. DAVENPORT.

—The students of the Seabreeze-Daytona Beach High School, of Daytona Beach, Florida, have become so interested in stamp collecting that they have formed a stamp club, which is known as the Seabreeze Stamp Club. The purpose of this club is not only to help build up individual collections but to build up a collection, belonging to the club. This club was organized with ten members on Jan. 10, 1924, and officers elected as follows: Honorary President, F. A. Berger; President, Jess D. Mathas; Secretary, Jackson C. Ream, Daytona Beach, Florida.

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE "WEEKLY".

We have on hand a few bound volumes of the WEEKLY, and offer them for sale at very reasonable prices. The years in question are 1902, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909. The price of these books is $2 each and this price is extremely reasonable in view of the high cost of binding in these days. Just to show you what we can do in the way of a handsome, substantial sample volume of the WEEKLY we will send you the year 1907 for $1.50 plus the zone parcel post charges on three pounds. This offer is for immediate acceptance.

DELAWARE STAMP CLUB EXHIBITION.

Mr. Vincent Domanski, Jr., of Philadelphia exhibited his specialized collection of the stamps of Poland at the last meeting of the Delaware Stamp Club, Wilmington, Del., on January 9. This collection is practically complete, containing all stamps from the first issued in 1860 to the present date, including local stamps, revenues, Red Cross stamps, etc. Among these are many rarities, including some that had an issue of 80 stamps or less. Mr. Domanski gave an interesting talk on his stamps, combining history with philatelic fact. He possesses the original drawings of several of the stamps; having obtained them direct from the Polish artists. This collection fills several volumes and includes all the shade varieties, errors (there are many), freaks, blocks, covers, etc.

This is one of the many treats enjoyed by the members of the only stamp club in "The First City of the First State." The new club was organized in 1921, with only about six philatelists present and now the membership is over the 50 mark. New members are accepted at every meeting. Competitive stamp exhibits are held once in every six weeks. Each exhibit covers a given locality, decided by the Committee on Exhibitions. The member having the best exhibit is awarded a rare stamp.

An up-to-date Sales Department is conducted by a Sales Manager as a medium for the interchange of duplicate stamps. All sales are conducted on a cash basis. The Auction Sale, which is held at the end of every meeting, never fails in creating interest and amusement. Very good prices are realized thru these sales and often an exceptional bargain can be obtained.

The club meets regularly on the 2nd and 4th Wednesday in the month in the Y. M. C. A., 10th and Orange Sts. Out of town philatelists are cordially invited to attend any meeting. Any one interested in joining the club can communicate with the Secretary, N. S. Hufnell, 402 Geddes St., Wilmington, Del.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

George H. Worthington, Cleveland, Ohio, whose name for years has stood for philatelic achievement in a collecting sense, died suddenly in his quarters in a hotel in that city on January 9, 1924. While the news of his death comes as a shock to collectors generally, yet it was known by friends that in recent years Mr. Worthington's health had become impaired to a serious extent; withal, he reached the age of seventy-four years. Mr. Worthington enjoyed fame through his great stamp collection which he formed with characteristic energy in a comparatively short time, with the able assistance of Mr. Alvin Good, who was his philatelic mentor or aid. Of Mr. Worthington's affection for stamps there could be no doubt and in the hey-day of his business activities he found in philately a congenial foil to the grind of material affairs. He was always ready to identify himself publicly as a philatelist and he left no step unheeded for the promotion of collecting. He exhibited his great U. S. collection at the Chicago Art Institute, in 1911, paying all the insurance charges on it; and at the convention of the American Philatelic Society at Put-in-Bay, his co-operation made the entertainment of delegates particularly enjoyable. He was an enthusiastic yachtsman and his "Priscilla" was a beautiful craft. Some years ago business reverses made it advisable to dispose of the Worthington collection which in the public mind represented the maximum in philately as his collection was considered to be worth a million dollars. The sale became involved in entanglements to the extent that it is difficult to follow the ins and outs of the transaction. Readers of the WEEKLY are acquainted with some of the gems that were in the collection, as at different times they were pictured in our columns. Many biographies of Mr. Worthington have appeared in the philatelic and general press in years past and it suffices to say here that he was born in Canada and started in the wholesale grocery trade; and later became interested in railroad construction through his father who was a contractor for building a railroad in this country. Formerly, Mr. Worthington was president of the American Chic Company and at the time of his death was the head of the Underwriters' Land Company of Missouri. Among his club affiliations were the American Philatelic Society, No. 151, and the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland. The friends of this true collector will deplore his death and collectors who knew of him and his stamps only in print will hold Mr. Worthington in memory for a long time to come.

We are indebted to the newspapers in Chicago for a stamp story that concerns a bride imported from Vienna at a cost of one thousand dollars, who would not even kiss her husband. She is twenty-two and he fifty-nine years of age. The husband scorned told his story to the Chicago police and a judge is trying to give a decision warranted by the facts and the evidence. It seems that Richard Raikes Dodson, now a janitor in Beloit, Wisconsin, has seen better days, especially when he cut a swath at Monte Carlo while an inheritance of one hundred thousand dollars was melting away. While engaged in janitorial work in Beloit, "he found stamp collecting an interesting side-line until he began exchanging stamps with Prof. Ludwig Mahler, teacher of languages in Vienna." The kindly prof. digressed in one of his letters to say that he knew a beautiful girl who pined for one of those American husbands. That was Dodson's cue to buy a classy college-cut overcoat with fur collar, after sending a photograph of himself to the young lady, taken, incidentally, some time ago. He met his intended at New York and even though she shied when she beheld a much older edition of her wooer than the photograph showed, she married him rather than go back to Vienna. While she gave him her hand she withheld her kisses and hence, his tears. He says that she has made a mock of him and she says that she wants a divorce and a chance to go to work. If Dodson had stuck to his stamps and passed up the Shebas, think of the dollars and dolor that he would have saved. If he had contented himself with looking into the charming faces of faithful stamp friends, he would have spared himself loss of money and peace of mind. Collectors with foreign correspondents should watch their steps.

In the Associated Press correspondence from Munich, mention is made of an effective protest by stamp collectors of that place against disfiguring cancellations on stamps. The postal authorities have instructed the employees to exercise care in applying the cancelling ink, in order that specimens may not be rendered valueless to philatelists, who, naturally, dislike the badly-smudged stamps. In this country, in years gone by, requests similar to the foregoing have been regarded with some suspicion by the department, but today more consideration would be given to the complaint of the collector here, we have no doubt.

The editor has been away on a vacation trip and was in Bermuda for a week or so; and while he had a pleasant outing he is unable to report any Bermudian philatelic developments. The post-office at Hamilton is a busy place and newspaper complaint is made that one window for stamp selling does not accommodate the buyers black and white. The shop people are very agreeable and while none of them that was visited had stamps for sale, in a collecting sense, the offer was usually made to get some. At St. George's we had a pleasant surprise. At the hotel there we bumped into Mr. L. A. Davenport of the Marks Stamp Company, Toronto, Canada, who was taking a vacation. Mr. Davenport was at the Washington convention last August. Just before we got to St. George's, a letter was received from Mr. C. F. Adams, Chicago, who has been in St. George's a few weeks before. We shall refrain from saying that obvious thing about the dimensions of this sphere.

An interesting precancelled specimen is shown us by Mr. Charles Love, in the shape of a block of six stamps, composing a booklet pane of the three cent purple, engraved, with the Cushing, Okla., surcharge. Mr. Love wrote to the postmaster, at Cushing about the stamps and received the following answer: "On December 1st we precancelled all the three cent books that we had. C. S. Brigham, P. M., Cushing, Okla., December 20, 1923."

We read in a despatch to the Chicago Herald-Examiner that the philatelic societies in Canada are in favor of the restoration of the beaver as a design for Canadian postage stamps. It is urged that the national distinction conveyed by that animal appeals more to sentiment now than it did when the beaver stamps were issued in the past; and while there may be some reluctance to dispense with the royal portrait, yet there are precedents to justify the departure. It is represented that there are dissenters to the new revenue stamps of Canada for not having the effigy of the king; and inferentially, the philatelic societies, according to the despatch, point to the designs of the new revenue stamps as an argument to give a place of honor to the beaver. It is satisfactory to find that the question of stamp designs is given so much attention in the columns of one of the great newspapers. Proof is had that some editors think rightly that readers want to know about stamps; and they give readers what they want.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith)

I have acquired possibly the finest lot of the issue of 1847 that has ever been held by a dealer at one time. While many of the choice pieces have been placed, I still have a wonderful lot to offer and if you are interested in these two stamps in either singles, pairs or strips off or on cover, I would be glad to receive your inquiry.

Wonderful work is being done in the plating of this variety and this lot offers an unusual opportunity to one interested in getting together a sheet. It is doubtful if such a lot will ever be offered again, and as these stamps are the two most popular known to American collectors, the supply will not last long.

Remember that I not only can furnish stamps of this issue, but I solicit your want list in the case of the later stamps as well. If you desire to sell your holdings, I am in the market to pay top notch prices for all things. Also can use your scarce U. S. duplicates in exchange for other items that you might desire.

If you buy or sell United States stamps, don't forget WARD.

UNITED STATES.—Mention was made in this column a few weeks back as to the locating of a wonderful correspondence in Philadelphia running from 1848 to 1851. Since my last notes appeared I have not only been able to learn more details as to this find but have acquired the balance which no doubt contain the finest lot of the 1847 issue that has ever changed hands in one transaction.

It seems that back in August the collector, who is the lucky finder of this correspondence noted a loose cover with two wonderful copies of the 10c 1847 upon it. His search at that time revealed nothing more. His wife however, an enthusiastic collector with her woman's intuition, felt that there must be more and as a result of her careful work, the largest find of the 10c ever made resulted.

In my previous remarks I covered in detail the early portion which had been disposed of by the lucky finder and I will now endeavor to mention some of the more important pieces which he retained and which I have acquired.

The lot consisted of a strip of four, eight strips of three, twenty-six pairs and a number of singles of the 10c; two wonderful strips of four, eight pairs and a number of singles of the 5c. The strip of four of the 10c was in very fine condition with sheet margins on the right and boardwalk margins on the other three sides. There was an unusually fine horizontal strip of three of the 10c with margins on all sides which had escaped cancellation and which has a very strong stitch watermark. A magnificent pair on cover showed one of the stamps with the well known shift in Post Office and a further pair in just as fine a condition shows the shift in X on each copy, being the only two copies in the plate with this variety. Another piece of the first water was a perfection single copy on cover showing the Wilmington & Raleigh Railroad cancellation in blue. There were possibly fifteen to twenty copies in the singles, pairs and strips with short transfer. One cover had a steamboat postmark, there was a strip of three showing the double line at the bottom of the left stamp, and several single copies of the four shifts on the plate. Quite a number of the covers had the U. S. Express Mail Boston cancellation. Four covers showed a large blue "R" with manuscript number after each, proving conclusively that this indicated registration.

In the case of the 5c the outstanding piece was a perfection horizontal strip of four on cover with black Boston grid cancellation in addition to a red PAID which covered part stamp and part cover. This was mailed in Boston on June 18, and shows the red postmark of that day. There were two covers with Philadelphia Railroad cancellation and one strip of four with U. S. Express Mail postmark. The balance of the lot was in an unusually attractive condition, for the owner had retained the choice items.

It seems that this firm went out of business around 1851, for the correspondence stopped at that time and in the case of the latter issue only 10 copies of the 3c 1851, with none of the other values were found. There were some few covers without stamps, including those from St. Louis, which should have had the Postmaster's stamps upon them for they were used around that time. Practically the entire correspondence came from Boston, New York, Richmond and Charleston, and had the postmarks of those several cities.

While in Boston I not only had the pleasure of acquiring this lot, but attended the auction sale held by Mr. D. F. Kelleher, on Jan. 11th, at which time there were sold one of the choicest lots of early U. S., mostly singles, in mint condition, that have come upon the market for many days. There were several dealers from New York and Philadelphia as well as a strong representation from New England so that prices ruled firm. The New Haven second reprint signed sold at $21.00, while the sheet of Providence, which a few years back could be purchased around $60.00, changed hands at $106.00. A wonderful copy of the 10c St. Louis gray lilac cataloguing $200.00 found a new owner at $316.00, while a damaged copy cataloguing the same, brought only $27.50, helping to prove that it pays to be careful as to condition. A 10c '47 sold at $45.00 while a 24c of the next issue in beautiful condition without gum sold at $161.00. The reprints of the 1851 series all brought close to catalogue and in several cases more. The 24c August on cover came South at $131.00. This, however, was an exceptionally attractive piece with a wonderful

The 24c steel blue without gum sold at $90.00 while the 2c black Jackson with light print on the back and straight edge changed hands at $230.00. The reissues of 1861 all brought good prices, ranging from $8.35 for the 1c to $55.00 for the 90c. The '69 series of reprints went equally as well. The 15c with inverted center sold at $530.00, the 24c at $388.00, and the 30c went to a Boston dealer at $905.00. The latter stamp is possibly the bargain of the evening, but it seems that during the last couple years this variety has not been commanding the premium that it previously brought, for those coming up at public sale have been selling as low as $400.00 for a slightly damaged copy as good copies have seldom gone above $1,200.00.

The sale included a 6c National with a wonderful shift, a variety which I have never seen before, and this sold at $46.00. The special prints of the 1875 on the

of even the cheaper values of OLD UNITED STATES STAMPS are hard to get. Take any unpicked lot of 10,000 stamps—out of the 10,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, full, rich color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes or missing perforation, and lightly canceled.

NATURALLY YOU CANNOT BUY stamps of this nature at bargain prices. But because of the prices which this kind of material always demands, the prices at which I sell are reasonable. Stamps in my stock that are a little off from what I have described are marked at correspondingly low prices. Therefore, whatever your own standards of collecting, providing you are not expecting to buy single stamps at the prices of quantity lots, you will find much to interest you in a selection from my stock, which is strongest in the three cent 1861, three cent 1869, one, two, three, four, five, six and ten cent, 1870 to 1888, inclusive. Send good reference, society reference preferred, and name the stamps you specialize in.

hard paper brought close to catalogue or more in practically all cases. The soft papers which were a wonderfully fine lot brought almost equally as much.

The later issues brought good figures and I more especially note choice items: a vertical pair of the 6c 1894, part perf., at $38.00; a mint pair of the 8c 1895, with revenue watermark at $111.00; 1c 1901, invert $74.50; the 2c at $630.00 and the 24c aeroplane invert at $627.00. The 4 and 8c blue paper sold at $104.00 and $107.00 respectively, while the 5 and 13c brought $47.00 and $31.25. The outstanding piece of the Departments was a block of four of the $20.00 State which went at a most reasonable figure of $264.00. The purchaser, however, was prepared to go much higher than necessary.

The Specimen Departments reflected the new prices placed upon them in the catalogue, the Treasury set in wonderful condition sold at $55.50, the Post Office at $58.00 and the Interior at $61.00. The $2.00 State, of which twelve are known, brought $77.00 while the 30c Agriculture "Specimen," possibly unique, changed hands at $181.00. Newspaper varieties as usual approached catalogue in but very few cases.

BELGIUM.—Mr. Henry Hooreman has shown us the 20c brown in the new type.

CANADA.—Our valued Special Correspondent, Mr. William Butler, confirms the information recently published regarding the impending change of colour of the 3 cents stamp, and states that this denomination in red will be placed on sale on or about Tuesday, January 1st, when the brown stamp will be retired. Officials at Ottawa deny the rumor that an entirely new pictorial series is to be issued and say that this idea is a mere invention.—Stamp Collecting.

GERMANY.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us the new 100pf stamp in a purple color with the information that its face value is 100 new renton pfennig or 1 renton mark which is equivalent to 1 billion paper marks.

GOLD COAST.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us for chronicle the 1sh old watermark on emerald paper and the 2sh on new script watermark paper.

HOLLAND.—Examples of the two denominations of "Charity" (save the mark!) stamps, described in advance in our issue for December 8th, are to hand from Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. and L. M. Sharp.—Charity stamps, Perf. 11 1/2: 2ct. plus 5 cents, and 10ct. plus 5 cents.—Stamp Collecting.

HONG-KONG.—We understand the new "Postage Due" labels, summarized in Stamp Collecting for July 28th last, are now available, comprising the following values:—1 cent brown, 2 cents green, 4 cents red, 6 cents orange and 10 cents blue.—Stamp Collecting.

IRELAND.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 6d lilac, Sword of Light type, has been placed on sale.

ITALY.—For the first time for nearly forty-four years, this country has issued an ordinary postage stamp of the denomination of 2 lire. It is in the type of the current 1 and 5 lire (1901), having the value expressed in words as usual (in this case "DUE" in the lower right-hand corner). Mr. Denton Hepworth shows us a postally used copy. Wmk. Crown, Perf. 14: 2 lire blue and rose. It will be remembered that this new denomination formed one of the Corfu series of provisionals.—Stamp Collecting.

LATVIA.—Mr. Karl Koslowski advises us that a 1 lats, superseding Scott's No. 111, 50 rubles, size, shape, color, etc., as the No. 111 but perforated 11.

SWEDEN.—Mr. Fred A. Jekel calls our attention to the 30c blue, type of Scott's A20, which has been issued perf. 10 vertically.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts copies of 1d carmine and black, 2d violet and black and 6d grey and black of the postage due series. All are perforated 14 and no watermark. Mr. Roberts adds that they were printed and perforated locally.

The Entire Lot sent registered for $15.00.

Remember we can furnish thousands of fine stamps at low prices. We are reducing our stock, with the thought of leaving the city in the near future.

Dealers, as well as Collectors, have the chance of buying many desirable stamps, in large or small quantities, at very low prices.

In February we expect to hold a 2-day Auction sale of something like 1200 lots, both retail and wholesale.

DO YOU WANT A CAT.?

If so, send request.

Wholesale

Just remember! There are very few dealers who can supply the wholesale stuff we can. Not junk, but real good stamps at rock bottom prices.

Wholesale selections can be received on approval, by those sending a reasonable deposit or good reliable references.

I want to call Special Attention to the items that follow:—

Partly Filled Approval Books

Some years ago we secured some 5000 approval books, containing a great variety of stamps from various countries, very little New Europe, but many good, desirable, and so I would sell the lot, now about proval trade. The books I imported. However, I do very little retail approval business, and so I would sell the lot, not about 3000, at very reasonable prices. The books will average perhaps 100 or 150 stamps to a book. One dealer has already bought more than 200 of the books, while there are many who have bought smaller quantities. My net prices for the books would be from 50 cents each and up. I will gladly send selections of these books on approval to those who want to see what they are before buying. Each book will be priced at the net wholesale price. You may keep those wanted, and return the others.

This is a splendid way for small dealers, particularly, to get a variety of stamps at a small outlay. Of course, those we are not acquainted with must send good references or a deposit.

BUFFALO'S PHILATELIC LIFE.

(The following article appeared in the "Buffalo Express" of Sunday, January 13, and we consider it of sufficient interest to reprint in the WEEKLY. It appears in a department "Strolling on the Avenue", and we are indebted to Roscoe B. Martin for the article.—W. O. W.)

Have you any old love letters in your attic? If so, please produce them. We promise to take away only the envelope, leaving the tender contents with you. An advertisement running something to this effect has been appearing lately in various rural publications and causing no end of wonderment.

It all comes about because W. H. MacLaren, editor of the Cleveland Press, is a philatelic fan, or to be more readily understood, a stamp collector. Many of the wonderful examples of what the faddists call covers, or envelopes, bearing valuable stamp and cancellation, which Mr. MacLaren possesses and which he will exhibit in Buffalo next month, for the benefit of the local collectors, were first acquired in this way. Old trunks were opened and forgotten treasures in the form of yellowing packets of letters unearthed.

Allen F. Daggett, a Buffalo collector, advises all who contemplate a really worth while collection to take a motor trip through the byways of New England where every other farmhouse, he believes, contains its bit of gold for the philatelist. Mr. Daggett's own collection of three-cent '57's, was started by finding a handful of old correspondence with the prized specimens in excellent condition on the cover in a family garret in Holyoke. Mr. Daggett specializes in British colonies and in the interesting occupation issues, so called, of the war ridden countries of the old world, struck off after the Armistice. Many of these bear surcharges, another philatelic detail that greatly intrigues the knowing, and the genuineness of which often taxes their utmost cunning to detect. The victory issues show another phase of the great historic epoch, as indeed do most of the issues of all lands, stressing the great educational value of the stamp which is not the least of its recommendations.

Warner Bates, another collector of standing, and president of the Buffalo Collector's Club, No. 37, a branch of the American Philatelic society, says he believes that collecting, and particularly specialized collecting, is the ideal vent for scientific and esthetic inclinations, that it forms an avocation from the cares of business and professional life that is priceless for the hard pressed modern man of affairs. Every one is looking for an escape, for that matter, and stamps are the open sesame to the wonderland of history, legend, geography and the study of mankind.

The Buffalo Collectors organized this fall and elected, beside Mr. Bates, Laurence H. Gardner as vice-president, Harry C. Flierl as treasurer-secretary, and Fred L. Koepf as auctioneer. This last office suggests the bartering that forms a large part of stamp collecting, a good trade being considered altogether satisfying by most enthusiasts.

The collectors are planning among their winter activities a dinner on the 25th at the home of Matthew W. Hoover of Lockport, the lecture and exhibit by MacLaren in February, and a public showing of their stamps at Ulbrich's bookstore, also next month. Fortnightly meetings, always well attended at the clubrooms in West Eagle street, and a membership of 25, connote a growing concern. There is another stamp group in the city, too, the Bison City Club, of which Theodore Steeg is president, who represents the dilettante equally enthusiastic element, and founded by Harry Klotzbach a year or two ago.

Of the big local collectors whose stamps are nationally known, perhaps Laurence Gardner is the first to be mentioned. His stamps, which number about 40,000 and represent a good sized fortune, are contained in 45 big albums and locked in a special safe. Mr. Gardner is what is termed a general collector, aiming to make his collection cover something of all varieties, of which, by the way, there are 30,000; whereas, the specialists, like Mr. Bates, concentrate on the varieties of certain issues, or on the stamps of some particular period or country, some devoting their attention to only two or three special stamps, of which they aim to acquire as many specimens as possible. Mr. Bates' specialty is the three-cent green Franklin of '73. Others, like A. H. Pike, confine themselves to cancellations; and some will have nothing to do with anything but blocks of four uncanceled stamps, as the late Mrs. Halliday, who at one time had at her home in Delaware avenue what is known as the Worthington collection, one of the most highly valued in the country.

To return to Mr. Gardner's collection, which contains something of interest to every type of hobbyist, one of the rarest and most costly of his stamps is what is known as a 24-cent airplane invert, exhibiting one of the freaks of the impressing process. Perhaps Mr. Gardner's choicest stamp is his Brattleboro local. These locals, of postmasters' semi-official issues, represent the method by which mail was sent before the United States postal department decided in 1847 to issue a uniform, regular stamp; and are the most interesting of all types to the collector. Great Britain was the first, by the way, to issue a postage stamp, seven years before this.

Speaking of stamp values, it is interesting to note that the world's most noted collector is Arthur Hind of Utica, who has swapped with King George, and

OCEAN - TO - OCEAN COVERS

An Announcement of Unusual Importance.

The airplane four days (Aug. 21-24) transcontinental flights between New York and San Francisco marked a new era in the history of aviation and philately, for, in whizzing across the continent through 2680 miles of space between the Atlantic and Pacific in a little over 26 hours, a postage stamp has been shot from ocean to ocean at a speed beyond the dreams of a generation ago. Of these first day covers there are but comparatively few in existence, and naturally they will be much sought after and prized as time goes by.

At the moment have from one to several of each of the following (Scott 551-571), either from S. F. to N. Y. or N. Y. to S. F., at following prices:—

1 or 2 (both imperf. or perf. in blks.),

ADLETS.

Minimum two lines.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department, and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—30c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $12.50, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

water marks, for which there are special detectors and other characteristics, as well as tiny blemishes, all determine a stamp's value.

Among the local hobbyists who are affiliated and who show a like zeal for their collecting are Howard Kellogg, James Storer, Park Wright, W. Eugene Richmond, George C. Andrews, Anthony Schreiber and Matthew Bennett.

Stamps have always been a favorite pastime with boys and girls; and the great increase in interesting specimens since the war, which altered the map and consequently the postage of the world, has made collecting more fascinating than ever. Abroad, collecting is gaining in interest among all ages and classes and in the Eastern cities of the United States the same thing is happening. Bartlett Wright, or Bobby, as he is known to his staunch friends, is a veritable whiz of a collector, owning about 8,000 stamps of his own and having an accurate mental picture of each of his father's (Parke Wright's) 30,000 and more album entries.

Up in the garret of the old Richmond mansion in Batavia is still tucked away one of the earliest and most noted collections in this part of the country, begun by the late Dean Richmond, president of the New York Central and grandfather of Eugene Richmond, whose little daughter, Mary, is an avid gatherer of choice stamps. William Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Nichols, has a collection of 13,000 that commands adult respect. The children in the Langdon Albright, Charles W. Goodyear, Maxwell Wheeler, Parton Swift and Shirley Taylor families are all addicts of this amiable weakness.

LOGAN HEADS BOARD OF TRADE

Allen Logan, the well known philatelist, and also well known as a crop statistician, has been elected president of the Kansas City Board of Trade, defeating Oliver Denton by a vote of 109 to 68. The Kansas City Times of Jan. 9, published a picture of Mr. Logan with an extended account of his many activities. We quote from the Times as follows:—

The new president has established a wide reputation as a crop reporter and statistician. Requests for his crop data and other information have come from many industries in this country and from grain concerns in a large number of foreign countries. He also is well known as a stamp collector.

Mr. Logan was born in Stanford, Ky., January 27, 1871, and is the son of Dr. P. W. Logan, who was chief surgeon in the Union army during the Civil War. After graduating from Centre College, Danville, Ky., Mr. Logan came to Kansas City where he became associated with the Metropolitan National Bank and the National Bank of Commerce. He entered the grain business in 1897, starting as the junior member of the firm of Paxton & Logan. He later organized the Central Granaries Company and in 1903 established the Logan Bros. Grain Company, his present organization. He has been second and first vice-president and has served on the directorate.

Mr. Logan is a member of the University Club, Kansas City Club, Mission Hills Country Club, Kansas City Grain Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

"REGULAR SIGNATURE".

We have before us a piece of advertising copy at the bottom of which are the words "Regular signature." It was enclosed in a letter which was properly signed, but the copy in the business activities of the day became separated from the letter with the result that a nice piece of advertising copy is upon our desk awaiting an owner. This particular advertisement offers to purchase any number of $1 Mortgage Civil War Revenue, and this information will doubtless help in identifying the copy.

In the future please add name and address to every advertisement, taking pains to use ample space for the preparation of copy.

EARLY LOW VALUES SPECIALIZED.

By WARNER BATES. 73 W. Eagle St., Buffalo, N. Y.

(This department deals only with U. S. issued before 1890 and mainly postal issues. The editor cannot give valuations on minor varieties, etc. Stamps sent for examination should be of interest because of oddity, scarcity, etc., or to clear up some debated question. Postage should be enclosed with registration fee when desired, also self-addressed envelope. —Ed.)

A. B. Thacher, New York Telephone Co., 321 Montgomery Street, Syracuse, submits an interesting orange cancellation on the one cent blue, issue of 1879. The cancellation seems to be shaped like a football or watermelon, about one and one-quarter inches long by one inch high, and is composed of small dashes, with the date in the center.

The following quotations from a letter written by the Editor of this department to a correspondent who had favored him with specimens of some interest to the specialist may have in them something of interest and help to those who read this department:—

"The 'Paid 10' in blue on the 1873, three cent green is a dandy. I have it in black on two or three issues, but I could not tell without looking it up whether I have it in blue. I know I have some of the 'Paid's' in blue on various issues and I regard them as nice property.

The copy you submit which you term 'seeming to be printed on both sides' is a strong offset copy. I do not think it is an offset from a stamp showing a broken plate. The line you see which runs across Washington's forehead and upward towards the left of the reversed design, ends at the edge of the design and then picks up again where the design of the next stamp cuts in. If this were a broken plate a green line would show in the white space between the designs of the two stamps.

These stamps were printed by the recess process. That is, the lines were engraved downward into the plate, rather than raised, the ink was supplied to the plate and allowed to gather in the sunken lines and then the print was made from a plate in this condition. For this reason, when a plate became scratched or broken, ink would gather in the line made by the scratch or break and this would be printed on the stamp paper, usually showing just about as strong as the engraved lines of the stamp.

I am not exactly sure that I can always tell the difference between a scratch and a break, except that it is my opinion that a break or cracked plate is usually of some length whereas a scratch may be very short. At least I cannot imagine a crack or cleavage occurring for a distance of three or four millimeters and not going further. I think the plate would keep on cracking for a distance of from half an inch to two or three inches. Do I make my point clear? Also a scratch or damaged plate may show a line that is very thick, or thick in the middle and thin on the ends, or thick on one end and tapering to a fine line at the other end, depending on the uneven pressure brought to bear on the engraver's tool or edge of another plate or whatever it was that might have been dragged over the plate which becomes damaged.

Another difference, I believe, would sometimes be found in the direction taken by the line or mark in question. Generally speaking, it is my belief that scratches usually run quite straight, whereas, cracks or breaks in a plate often bend and twist in a freakish manner, depending upon the texture of the steel, flaws in the metal, etc. Of course, either a scratch or a crack may bend or twist, but there is a difference that can generally be detected by the eye, if you grasp my exact meaning.

Now, returning to the stamp showing strong offset, that you submit. After all this digression you would probably like to know what it is that caused this diagonal line to show right across the stamp design and extending up into the edge of the design of the next stamp that shows slightly. In my opinion, the stamp that made the offset was a copy creased or folded after printing. That the stamp was folded after printing is indicated by the fact that the part of the design showing above the fold is out of line with part showing below the fold. Were it a copy folded before printing, the two parts of the design would 'plumb up' until after the fold was ironed out, when they would become 'out of plumb' and there would be a wide white space of color through the design of the stamp.

I would advise you to soak this stamp in clean water for two or three hours. This will remove the gum. If the offset design vanishes, you can rest assured

Singles With Plate Numbers

The accumulation of various plate numbers in this way is an inexpensive side line that can be added to by purchases at your post-office. I have quite a stock of these that have been gathered in the past few years and a wide range of numbers is represented. I have made these up into packets, each of the face value of $1.00—all stamps mint and fine and each stamp in a packet having attached a different plate number.

Price $1.50 per Packet

Try a packet and, if you do not like it, return it and your dollar fifty and your postage will be promptly returned.

that the offset was made by a freshly gummed sheet being laid on another sheet of stamps, part of the design coming off with the gum. If the offset remains, it is a true offset, made by laying the back side of a sheet of stamps on the wet ink surface of a freshly printed sheet and these things are of collectible interest.

The other sample which I am returning, which you thought to be No. 207b, eight small holes in a circle, is unfortunately not that variety. The 'eight-small-holes-in-a-circle' stamp comes on double paper. The holes are punched through the upper layer of paper and not through the lower, so that when stamps are printed from this paper part of the printed design shows in eight places on the under half of the double paper. Have I made that clear? In other words, if you separate the double papers, one of them would show blank excepting that there would be eight small circles of design. This was a crazy device of some inventor to prevent cleaning off the cancellations, or something of that sort, but it failed to work in a practical manner and was discontinued so quickly that the stamps are quite rare. I have never seen it except in unused form and these may be essays, but even if they are they are very collectible for the specialist.

Now I hope I haven't taken away from you any of the pleasure of specialization by explaining away some of the rarity of the two copies mentioned. The real rarities in the three cent green and other stamps of the early issues of U. S. come so infrequently to the searcher that when one is found he is entitled to a real thrill. For example, one of the collectors here in Buffalo two or three weeks ago in going over an accumulation of several thousand two cent vermilion, 1875-79, found a real double print on the 1875 stamp. I have examined it for at least thirty minutes, such was the pleasure that it gave me to look at this stamp. But I know that the little cotiere of Buffalo collectors who are searching for such items on the one, two, three, five and six cent stamps of 1870 to 1881 inclusive, have gone over hundreds of thousands (yes, millions) of these stamps and to my knowledge no other one has ever turned up a double print on any value of any issue. An eastern collector recently sent me for inspection a real double print on the three cent green that he found in a lot he dug out of his attic—so there you are. It's the luck of the game. And part of the pleasure of the pastime is that one is likely to turn up something real at any time.

Last evening in going over 500 copies of the three cent 1869, I turned up a double grill, and the stamp was a fine looking copy. But that is the first time I have ever found the double grill on this stamp. Out of all the accumulations that I have gone over during the last few years I have found one double grill on the three cent 1861 and two on the three cent 1870-71. These, too, are rare birds. And then, when they happen to be split, as the one I found last night was, they are just a little bit rarer than the normal, I should say."

PRIVATE POST CARDS ISSUED IN COMMEMORATION OF AMUNDSEN'S TRANSPOLAR FLIGHT EXPEDITION IN 1924.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29, 1923.

In accordance with arrangement made with the Norwegian postal administration private post cards, issued in commemoration of the proposed flight of Capt. Roald Amundsen's airplane over the North Pole, will be accepted in this service when postage paid 2 cents by a United States stamp affixed even though Norwegian postage stamps to pay the postage from Christiania to the United States by the North Pole route may, in some instances, also be affixed.

These private post cards bear on the front a printed address: "The Trans-Polar Flight Expedition, Christiania, Norway," and in the upper right-hand corner there is a space in which should be placed the United States 2-cent stamp. The reverse bears a space for the address of the person for whom the card is ultimately intended in the United States, and care must be taken in distributing the cards to see that they are dispatched to Norway, via New York, prior to the time when they may be again received in this country over the North Pole route, probably through the post-office at Seattle.

No provision has been made for the registration of the private post cards as herein described.

PAUL HENDERSON.

Another Shipload of Recent Germans

Often the weeks go by and we see so few copies of the 3c 1851 we begin to regard it as rara avis, then some collector or accumulator "lets go" and we replenish stock. This month we added about a thousand fine copies, including many of the unusual things Dr. Carroll Chase is describing in the "American Philatelist". If you want any of the cracked plates, plate flaws, oddities of recutting such as the looped frame-line, "GENTS", "Line through 3 Cents", or other shifts, the varieties with extra and missing lines from Plate III, "5 recut lines", etc., let us know and we will try to supply you. How about an o. g. block of 9 from "last three lines"?

So many collectors are in the dark regarding the various printings; so few collectors or dealers know orange-brown or true claret, we repeat our recent offer of 8 characteristic shades from Orange Brown to Claret mean the appearance other than shape and design that it presents to the eye.

There are a number of terms used in describing a color. A hue is a color tint. A tint is a slight coloring distinct from the principal color. We speak of a color as having a brilliant hue, or a grayish tint.

The philatelist often refers to a shade of a definite color in a postage stamp
when the words tint or tone would better describe the color. A shade is simply a gradation of light. A tone is a definite shade of color rather than a slight gradation. To tone is to bring to the required shade of color; this is often accomplished by adding small amounts of white to the pigment or ink used in printing. A shade, on the other hand, may be due to the degree of impression on the paper in printing, or the nature of the paper itself.

To describe a color accurately, we must keep these synonyms in mind and apply them correctly. The word tone is broad in its sense, as it may include the undertone of another primary color, or it may also imply overtone. An ultramarine is a blue with a red undertone sufficiently strong to give it a name that is distinctive. Prussian blue has similarly a strong yellow undertone. An under-tone of color is always a subordinate tone to the principal color. Equivalent amounts of color produce secondary colors. Thus from the primary colors—blue, red and yellow—we get the secondary colors—violet, green and orange.
Any preponderance of a primary color in a secondary color gives the latter an undertone.

We can speak of blue violet, red violet, yellow green or blue green, red orange or yellow orange, etc. We can also speak of violet blue, violet red, greenish yellow, greenish blue, orange red, or orange yellow, etc. The prefix designates the undertone. Colors may also be more complex, consisting of all three primary colors. If all the primary colors are present in fairly large proportion we get the grays; and if in great intensity, the blacks. When there are two principal primary colors and a small amount of a third we get an odd color. Olive consists of yellow and blue with a tinge of red. Maroon consists of red and blue with a tinge of yellow. There are innumerable odd colors of which these two serve as illustrations.

The components of color can be measured in their intensity by a color comparator. In such an analysis the primary colors take their position in a permanent color scale, and may be registered for reproduction at any time. In other words, one can get a numerical expression of considerable value. One of the earliest comparators, and still a standard today, is "Lovibond's Tintometer." It has been in use for many years for the laboratory examination of the depth of color in liquids and solids where it is necessary to measure the depth of color in degrees. It has also been used by the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Its use in the analysis of color of postage stamps has, perhaps, not been fully appreciated.

Lovibond's Tintometer consists of a graded series of standards made of colored glasses numbered according to their depth of color, and an instrument for holding the glasses and the object to be measured. In the set which I have there are about 450 glasses, ranging from .01 to 20. The .01 glasses are almost colorless. To be exact, there are 155 glasses of each of the three primary colors.

To illustrate the numerical expression of color by the Lovibond Scale, we will take at random the postage stamps of the Jean Cabot issue of Newfoundland.
The colors are given in Scott's catalog, page 860, of the 1924 edition. We will secure numerical expressions, without any attempt to go into second-decimal places, so as to simplify our illustrations:
1-Cent Deep Green—5.0 Blue plus 5.0
Yellow: Equal parts of blue and yellow show that this is a "true" green, but not of great depth.

2-Cent Carmine Lake—15.0 Red plus
1.0 Blue: This is a red with a blue undertone characteristic of the coal-tar color used in printing this stamp.

3-Cent Ultramarine—5.0 Blue plus 0.5
Red: This is a blue with red under-tone, probably printed from an iridescent blue. It might be called ultramarine blue. Ultramarine shows a larger proportion of red, as in the 4-cent U. S.
Columbian issue.

4-Cent Olive Green—8.0 Blue plus 2.0
Yellow plus 0.3 Red: A tinge of red always produces a shade of olive when added to green.

5-Cent Violet—5.0 Blue plus 5.0 Red:
This is a true violet.

6-Cent Red Brown—10.4 Red plus 1.0
Yellow plus 0.5 Blue: A yellow orange tinged with blue produces brown. The color is really brown red. You will find this color rather close to the old 3-cent dull red of U. S. issues.

8-Cent Red Orange—6.0 Red plus 3.0
Yellow: This is a "true" red orange.

F. B. TURPIN, 161a Strand, London, W. C. 2
Member A.S.D.A.

Continuing on, we find similar expressions for the colors of the succeeding stamps of the issue. The 24-cent, described as a gray violet, we find to be very much more like a gray blue. The 30-cent, described as slate, is blue with yellow undertone. A color of this sort is produced from milori blue or some similar iron pigment, which class of colors always has a yellow undertone. It might be called a greenish blue. It certainly is not slate. Perhaps it might be called a slate blue.

If one were to group all the stamps listed in a catalogue together as red, rose, carmine, vermilion, orange, etc., one would find many discrepancies. However, this can all be readily straightened out by using a color comparator. The colors themselves are often defined from the pigment which produces them, e. g.: vermilion is mercuric sulfide, and its tone of color is quite characteristic. Chrome yellow, lemon yellow, prussian blue, ultramarine, lake red, Nile green, etc., are definite dry colors which, when mixed with varnish, give characteristic printing inks. Certain colors, like cerulean blue, are highly expensive and are not used extensively. Such colors are aniline colors and are superb in their undertones, e. g., some of the Bavarian issues. The same degree of beauty is not obtainable by simply mixing the primary colors, as the primary colors available are not sufficiently brilliant and cannot be intimately mixed.

Collectors would do well to select authentic type colors as a guide in judging colors of postage stamps and not place too much reliance on the present-day catalogue descriptions. They are often wrong. It is the purpose of this paper to encourage the study of color not only of postage stamps, but the objects that surround us. There are undoubtedly different viewpoints in attacking the same problem. The use of the Lovibond scale cannot help be of considerable service where one is available. Its drawbacks are the expense of the color glasses and a limit to the vividness of the colors in the glasses.

THE MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS.
By "PHILATELIA."

An American writer has recently been claiming pride of place, as the rarest stamp issued with the new Script watermark, for the 1sh Turks and Caicos old type. Presumably he excludes the very high values issued in small quantity only, because of the slight demand, for postal purposes at least. It now appears that of this Turks Is. stamp, less than 2,000 were issued in the Colony, but at least another thousand were sold by the Crown Agents in Europe, which would make the stamp about as scarce as the 1sh orange of Cayman Is. on Single CA paper, of which 3240 were printed and all except the "Specimen" stamps sold in the Colony. Readers of the Philatelic Magazine may remember that this stamp of 1921, with certain others of the set, was recommended as one with distinct possibilities, many months ago when obtainable at 1sh6d.

In Cayman Is., the 3d Georgian stamps in both types and on all three papers, are well worth acquiring on the basis of current catalogue prices. The last type on pale yellow old CA is distinctly scarce.

Reference was recently made to a stock of the 1912 issue being sold off. Prices are therefore at present very reasonable, and sets should be completed while they last. It was noteworthy that certain values were missing from these stocks, notably the 5sh. This seems likely to be a good stamp, and will certainly show a substantial rise in the next catalogue as already it is priced at 25sh in some dealers' lists. The present Georgian stamp of this popular Colony is, of course, the 10sh on surface-tinted paper, which had a still shorter life.

The War stamps have been on sale recently at very low prices at which one could not go far wrong, but the demand being small is chiefly responsible for this, the 1st local being the only variety not so much affected by this slump.

Another country of which the 1st local War stamps are worth picking up is Jamaica as they are obtainable cheaper

now than soon after they were issued in 1917. Of the 3d, there are 3 varieties of paper, the white-backed stamp being much the scarcest, as comparatively few were issued with this overprint. Like most Jamaican War stamps they are commoner used than unused. There are also some scarce errors and varieties which are seldom seen, although there have been more of the inverted surcharges about recently, so more may have been printed than was formerly thought. Inverted and constant varieties of surcharge are generally in demand, though the price varies considerably with the popularity of the country and the demand at the moment. Thus Irish inverteds have been fetching very high prices compared with some of these inverted War overprints of which no more exist.

Some big prices have been realized lately for Newfoundland Air Entires, but all these are really scarce items which the ordinary collector can seldom hope to acquire. It is noteworthy that in the $1 Alcock Air stamp the no stop variety is priced the same as the no comma variety but in reality it is many times scarcer only occurring once in each complete sheet, whereas the comma variety occurs a number of times.—Philatelic Magazine

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Mr. George H. Jaeger of Libau, Latvia, submits testimony to the effect that the Eleja provisionals do exist and are catalogued by Senf, Zumstein and Michel.

—Germany has given notice to our post-office department "that the authority temporarily granted in that country to indicate the prepayment of correspondence for foreign countries by means of the note 'Taxe percue' or 'Gebuehr Bezahlt' is no longer effective and therefore correspondence hereafter received from Germany should bear German postage stamps as formerly." The notice is dated January 19th, by Washington.

—A holiday card that was received from Mr. Douglas McCormick, Grand Rapids, Mich., showed two birds, holding a ribbon to which was attached five bells, the birds and bells having been neatly cut out of U. S. stamps of different colors. Mr. McCormick says that "the proprietors are French but whether collectors or not, I do not know."

—On January 14, 1924, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boker Sterling, Trenton, New Jersey, celebrated their fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. The State Gazette, of Trenton, shows a large picture of the Sterling family which is accompanied by a long article telling of the achievements of Mr. Sterling in the fields of philately and other sciences. Mr. Sterling's philatelic exploits have been such as to write his name indelibly in philatelic history and his catalogues of U. S., including revenues, were exhaustive compilations when collecting was comparatively uncharted. Hearty congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Sterling.

—The "Philatelics" of the Milwaukee Philatelic Society convened on January 15, 1924, after a lively two weeks of electioneering and elected new officers for the coming year. Dr. F. A. Kraft was continued in office as president of the society, and Messrs. William J. Uihlein and W. O. Staab as vice-presidents. Dr. S. G. Keller assumed the duties of secretary and treasurer, succeeding F. W. Noske, who has successfully promoted the society for many years, including Milwaukee's Convention Year. Dr. W. H. Linke will continue collecting auction catalogs and bargain lists as librarian of the Society. The report of the Secretary for 1923, showed a marked increase in members and redoubled activities in the way of payment of dues. Dr. Kraft addressed the members on "Philately and Publicity," clearly indicating that publicity has promoted an increasing interest in philately in the past few years. An exhibition of pre-cancels by Robert Bachmann followed the talk.

—"In your issue of Jan. 14, page 30, you published an article by H. W. Moffat headed 'The Balloon Post of 1870-71 from Paris to Metz.' This has been transcribed from the Philatelic Magazine and in setting it up you have made a very serious error by making the title read 'From Paris to Metz,' whereas, the original print read correctly 'from Paris and Metz.' This as you can easily see is very misleading, although the printed article itself somewhat corrects this idea."—GEO. W. ANGERS.

—In your issue of December 17, is an item relative to a party who had an envelope with 125 billion marks. He thinks he has topped the record. He is far from it. I have an envelope with 750 billion marks. The back is covered with stamps, and so is the front with the exception of a small space left for the address.—JOHN KAY.

—"You reported about five years ago that I had a copy of the 6c U. S. imperf., and that Mr. Ward subsequently declared that it was only a wide copy that had been clipped. Mr. Power had previously declared that it was O. K., and when the two experts disagreed, I tried to get the Washington authorities to investigate their records to ascertain whether or no that roll of 500 originally made for the Economist Co. had actually been destroyed. Finally I made a visit when in Washington, and saw Mr. Wilmarth at B. E. and P., the then 3rd Asst. P. M. Gen. and the man whose name I have forgotten, who I learned had been in charge of the matter, at the head of the Division of Stamps. They never reached the end of their investigations as they stated they could only give it attention when "More important matters were not pressing." However, I have always been convinced that this stamp is O. K., and the recent arrest of one of the employees of the Bureau, charged with having surrepti-

B. N. A. MY SPECIALTY

Owing to the unusual demands on my stock of late, am sold out of some issues of early Canada at present. Plenty of Newfoundland early issues are still available. New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island still almost complete, and some Nova Scotia. Send me your want lists, with particulars as to condition desired, and you will be surprised at the reasonable prices I ask. Reference, please, if unknown to me.

USED PAIRS

Collectors of used pairs might well look over my stock, as I may have something for them. No cancelled-to-order stuff, but all good Br. Colonial issues, many low values, of course, but some others, too.

UNUSED BLOCKS OF FOUR

Br. Cols. only, mostly late 19th and early 20th. Condition fine, and prices right.

All above prices are for CASH WITH ORDER. Satisfaction guaranteed.

tiously sold stamps they had been ordered destroyed, confirms my opinion that my stamps also got out in some similar matter. I intend to try the department again. Possibly the new administration, which seems to have a keener interest in things philatelic, will reopen the matter and press the investigation of the records still further."—G. E. RICHTER.

—The following are the new officers of the Washington, D. C., Society:—President, William A. Johnson; vice-presidents, James F. Duhamel and Gen. John L. Clem; secretary, A. E. Gorham; treasurer, H. B. Mason; sales manager, J. T. Clemens; auctioneer, J. D. K. Smoot; board of governors, W. N. Sahm, W. Hayden Collins and W. J. Wilson. It is now nearly thirty years since a club was started and the society has been so successful of late that it had to seek larger quarters for the accommodation of its members.

—We have received from P. J. Drossos a detailed list of the number of stamps issued of the many varieties of the Greek Revolutionary set of 1922. We hardly think it necessary to take the space needed to go into all the details. The smallest number issued of any one variety was 4,300 of the 10 lepta on Crete 1905 20 lepta, Yvert & Tellier No. 27. From that the number ranged as high as 636,000. Mr. Drossos states that the Yvert-Tellier catalog quotes the prices on these stamps altogether too low, but that the Zumstein catalog is a much better authority.

—Professor Masaryk, familiar to collectors from his portrait on the stamps of Czecho-Slovakia, exhibited his collection at the recent Philatelic Exhibition at Brunn.

—Just as we go to press, we receive a dissenting vote against the editorial suggestion that we petition the authorities to issue a special stamp in commemoration of philately in 1926, from Mr. Hubert Lyman Clark of Cambridge, Mass. Our worthy correspondent's words are entitled to consideration; and he says:

"I most devoutly hope and pray we shall not do anything of the kind. Personally, I shall do all in my power to prevent it. To me, it would cheapen the post-office department, the U. S. government and the whole body of American collectors. It would tend to put us on a par with Italy and some other countries which subordinate the postal service to money-making desire and prostitute their stamps. I am surprised and grieved that the WEEKLY, which has always held such high standards of philatelic conduct, should frankly advocate so unworthy a cause!" Mr. Clark has presented his views with a sincerity of feeling that leads us to review the motives that prompted us to make our suggestion. Frankly, the objection that he presents had not occurred to us and the thought was to regard a special stamp as an honorable tribute to philately much in the way that a medal is struck to commemorate an event. Have we in a moment of enthusiasm for an ideal means of bringing philately to the fore in an intimate way to the public lost sight of a sordid side to the proposal? Now is the time to discuss the propriety of the measure before definite plans are put in operation and we invite opinions from readers on the subject with leave to print their words.

—An advertiser who used "blox" in his announcement, received a card on which was written: "What do you mean by 'blox'?" There is no such word in the Dictionary. Don't be absurd," or words to that effect.

—The annual dinner of the Chicago Philatelic Society will be held at the Hotel Morrison on February 15, 1924. The meetings of the society have been very well attended for some time past and the fifty mark in attendance is sometimes reached.

—A correspondent in Mexico says that he expects that there will be a philatelic eruption before long and another reader in Sonora says that the only indication of rebellion is an irregularity of the mail service.

Excellent reproduction of this portrait in colors, an exquisite piece of work reproduced by permission of the New York Public Library.—LOUIS C. LEROY.

—One of our subscribers, A. Ledinski Belgrade, calls our attention to an error in the issue of the WEEKLY for Nov. 26. Reference was made to the structure of a building as being a cathedral, when the Parliament Building at Budapest is shown.

—A new pricelist has just been issued by Wm. M. Stadler, 437 Beach Ave., Bronx, N. Y. City. It is of more than ordinary interest and we recommend our readers to send for the same.

—At a meeting of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, Branch No. 30, A. P. S., held Friday, Jan. 18, resolutions were passed in connection with the death of George H. Worthington, which was noted last week's issue. The resolutions called attention to his interest in the stamp club, his standing as a foremost philatelist, his success in the business and social world, and recorded the love and esteem in which he was generally held.

—Our old friend Samuel C. Dawson of San Salvador sends us a specimen copy of the new 5c blue with picture of J. Simeon Canas as the chief feature. Mr. Dawson states that the stamp was issued to commemorate the centenary of the abolition of slavery in Central America. 150,000 were printed and the plates destroyed.

—A subscriber wants information concerning the wrapper illustrating postage stamps and used upon a confection known as "Marshmallow Bar." It has been noted in the WEEKLY previously. The cover in question shows some twenty-five stamps pictured in their original colors and enclosed with the candy is a package of foreign stamps. All in all it is a good publicity stunt. Br. Francis of St. Michael's College, Quebec, submits the outfit for our inspection.

—Frank R. Demmerly of Indianapolis died recently after a brief illness, with pneumonia. He had been secretary of the medical department of the State Life Insurance Co. for twenty years. He was a member of various fraternal organizations and we quote from Philip H. Ward, Jr., as to his interest in philately:—"I am enclosing herewith a little clipping from the Indianapolis paper regarding Mr. F. R. Demmerly's death, a well known stamp collector of that city. Mr. Demmerly was extremely active and was interested in the stamps of the United States. I had the pleasure of corresponding with him for upward of five or six years, and the Chronicle lost a friend in his death for he was enthusiastic in his work, and through his efforts many items of interest were brought to my attention."

AIR MAIL SERVICE BETWEEN BARRANQUILLA AND INTERIOR POINTS OF COLOMBIA, SOUTH AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27, 1923.

Owing to inquiries made as to how senders in the United States could avail themselves of the air mail service from Barranquilla to interior points of Colombia, it has been learned that air mail stamps for the service in question can be obtained from Gonzalo Mejia, 82 Broad Street, New York City. The article to which these stamps are attached must be inclosed under cover of another envelope addressed to the Oficina del Correo Aereo, Barranquilla (Colombia, S. A.), Apartado, 203, and such outside cover must bear United States postage sufficient in amount to pay for the transmission of such envelope with its inclosure from this country to Barranquilla, Colombia. Upon receipt at Barranquilla, the inclosure will be forwarded by first opportunity by air mail service from Barranquilla to the ultimate addressee, as indicated on the inside envelope.

It is understood that the air mail stamps to be attached to the interior en-

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE "WEEKLY".

We have on hand a few bound volumes of the WEEKLY, and offer them for sale at very reasonable prices. The years in question are 1902, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909. The price of these books is $2 each and this price is extremely reasonable in view of the high cost of binding in these days. Just to show you what we can do in the way of a handsome, substantial sample volume of the WEEKLY we will send you the year 1907 for $1.50 plus the zone parcel post charges on three pounds. This offer is for immediate acceptance.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

It is not surprising that in the chorus of approval of our suggestion that a special stamp be issued by the department in celebration of the international stamp exhibition at Philadelphia in 1926, there is no discordant note. During the past three weeks a number of readers have assured us that they pledge their services in behalf of the plan and that they are in readiness to bring to bear any influence that they may possess in furtherance of it. It seems that Philadelphia realizes just what steps are to be taken to accomplish the result desired and it is indicated that at the proper time a bill will be prepared, authorizing the post-office department to issue the stamp, for congressional action. The patronage by collectors of the stamp agency at Washington does not pass unnoticed at Washington and this support considered in its relation to the co-operation that philatelists are glad to give in a stamp or postal sense gives a foundation to our claim for recognition. The road to the consummation of our desire will not be the smoothest one that could be imagined but if we ride carefully, there is reason to believe that we shall not come a cropper.

We do not recall of any issue of postage stamps that may be said to truly commemorate philately. This circumstance is somewhat strange when the debt of gratitude to philatelists is openly avowed by some countries. The tribute that many countries pay to the collector of issuing unnecessary stamps for his collecting approval is a left-handed one and of dubious compliment, to say the least. The chance for the United States to bestow recognition on an unofficial adjunct of the post-office department as the philatelists may be called, is offered by the combination of logical circumstances of sesquicentennial at Philadelphia, in 1926, and an international philatelic exhibition there. While we are looking some distance ahead, the wisdom of taking time by the forelock must be admitted and those who will have the brunt of the work to bear at Philadelphia will find that time indeed is the essence of the contract.

A bit of statistical study has been done by Mr. Ted J. Tyrrell, who submits the following table of "values of used United States, by the 1923 Standard stamp catalogue." From the '40's into the '80's, there are 175 stamps at one dollar each or over. From the '40's to the '70's, there are 120 stamps at five dollars each or more; 103 stamps at ten dollars each or over; 85 stamps at $25 or more; 71 at $50 or higher; 60 at one hundred dollars or over and '40's to '60's, eighteen stamps at $1,000 each or better. In the '40's one 5c stamp lists used at $12,000.

From Mr. Clarence J. West, we have received the quarterly of the Maryland Academy of Sciences for January, 1924, and in this Bulletin we find a remarkable article, "Color Analysis of Postage Stamps by Lovibond Scale," with Albin H. Warth, as author. It may be said here that the Maryland Academy of Sciences shows an encouraging attitude and in nearly every number of the quarterly, there is a stamp article. Mr. Warth says that Lovibond's Tintometer makes it possible to determine accurately what color components enter into the unusual stamp colors and he submits examples of color analysis that are convincing. With the Tintometer which is a graded series of standards made of colored glasses that are numbered to correspond to their depth of color, together with a holder for the glasses, the collector could master the color problem. It is known, however, that the cataloguers will have to use the scale if they are to match the collectors in knowledge as catalogue descriptions often are wrong. Mr. Warth's article is a valuable one and we must reprint it. We forgot to say that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing has used the scale in question.

A copy of the Philadelphia Photographer of October, 1864, has been received from Mr. Benjamin Cadbury, Philadelphia, who writes, "In the past issues of the WEEKLY, I have seen references to the Philadelphia Sanitary Fair held back in the '60's. In going through some of my father's papers, the Philadelphia Photographer turned up showing a picture of the Sanitary Fair and a brief article about it." The frontispiece is a good reproduction of the Newell photograph showing an interior view of "Union Avenue" in the magnificent structure, Logan Square, in which the Great Central Sanitary Fair was held in August, 1864. A spirited description of this Fair accompanies the picture. Incidentally, an experience of Mr. Cadbury the other evening proves that the day of finds is still with us. In looking through a package of papers that apparently had not been opened for many years, Mr. Cadbury had a thrill in discovering a five cent New York cover, addressed to his grandfather. Certainly, there is a fine sentiment in a New York cover in excellent condition, that was once the property of one's grandfather.

Philately takes the stage again and in the Highwayman, Joseph Schildkraut, the leading man uses stamp collecting to loan point to a comparison. He has a tendresse for the ladies and when rallied on his penchant, he says that it is as easy to collect a flock of the fair as it is to collect postage stamps and not so expensive. Not so bad, Joe, but you must have United States in mind when you speak of the cost as one may obtain nowadays ten thousand varieties for a modest sum, if one takes to foreign stamps. Then, too, you must consider not only the original price but the upkeep as well. In a review of the Talking Parrot, the play that we have spoken of before, a New York paper says: "The husband, forgetting jealousy on hearing of a rare stamp in Newfoundland goes after it and drowns his sorrows in stamps. Meanwhile the artist and a novelist friend remain behind and get the wife to explain." We like the expression, drown his sorrow in stamps, and it must be allowed that stamps are better than the flowing bowl as a sorrow eradicator.

The January number of the Collectors Club Philatelist is an issue to conjure with and is a realization of the fondest hopes of those who have the publication in charge. The editor, H. L. Lindquist, still is at the helm and adds further laurels to his crown. The reading matter is purely philatelic and balanced to a nicety; and all in all, the number reflects philately at its acme in this country. The annual dinner was a memorable occasion and it was at the table that the Permanent Fund of the Collectors Club had its inception and such was the enthusiasm of those in attendance that ten thousand dollars in round numbers was subscribed for the purpose; and it is expected that by 1925, twenty-five thousand dollars will have been collected. The object to which every effort will be bent is a club-house for the Collectors Club so that it may be said truly that philately has a real home in this country. Subscriptions received thus far range from one thousand dollars down to ten; and there are many countries to hear from. A dream is about to become a reality, it is now safe to say.

THE PUZZLE CONTEST

By STEPHEN G. RICH.

The responses in the contest came from all over the country: one from Texas, one from California, one from Ontario, and so forth—even including one from the next county in this state. Some of the sets of answers were remarkably interesting—especially the three or four from the very careful ones who put in every possible alternative answer. I have enjoyed immensely going through the answers.

Mr. Frederic De Puy, of Boston, Mass., wins the first prize. He sent in 8 correct answers, and was the only contestant to give an entirely correct answer to question 9. Mr. Horace C. Adams, of Gelndora, California, wins second prize, with a set of 7 correct answers and one partly correct. Mr. W. L. Turnbull, of Dundas, Ont., and Mr. Richard H. Goeltz, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., turned in sets of answers of exactly equal merit, and next in merit to those of the prize winners. It would occupy space beyond what the Editor is likely to allow if I were to mention the other contributors. Therefore, let this be a general "Thank You" for their co-operation.

The following is a list of correct answers to the questions. The name of the contestant whose answer is quoted is given at the end of the answer in each case. It will be noticed that nobody answered question 10 correctly.

1. On all the stamps of what country are two fishes shown?

Ans. Stellaland. (De Puy.)

2. On what stamp is a train shown coming out of a tunnel?

Ans. Transvaal Type A17, No. 165, and Type A24, No. 245. Also a train is shown coming out of a tunnel on Russia, No. 338, Type C17, 1922 issue. (Adams.) (Transvaal, No. 165, alone, is sufficient for a correct answer.—Rich.)

3. What animals and birds are shown on the 2 1/2 Union of South Africa, Scott No. 1?

Ans. Lions, antelopes, elands, oxen, and an eagle are shown. (De Puy.) (Also a wild dog or fox.—Rich.)

4. On the Canada Map Stamp of 1898, Scott Nos. 82 and 83, what 3 parts of the world were not parts of the British Empire, although shown as such on that stamp?

Ans. Transvaal, Orange Free State, German S. W. Africa; or if different parts of world must be named: Transvaal, large part of Hejaz, lower part of Alaska in which Juneau and Sitka are situated. (Goeltz.) (Several contestants mention Tahiti, Siam, Indo-China—and one gives Hawaii! There are at least 9 "land-grabs" in this stamp, and I counted any three as correct.—Rich.)

5. What country issued two stamps with Queen Victoria's head on them, although it was not part of the British Empire at the time?

Ans. Transvaal. Nos. 138 and 139. (De Puy.)

6. What boat is shown on the stamps of the former German colonies?

Ans. The Ex-Kaiser's yacht, "Hohenzollern." (De Puy.)

7. What does the view on the 1d Cape of Good Hope, 1900, Scott No. 61, represent?

Ans. It is a view of Table Mountain, Cape Town, from the harbor. (Adams.)

8. What stamp of any country has had the longest period of use without change other than watermark, shade or perforation—that is, without change noticeable to the general public?

Ans. New South Wales, 5d, A11, 1854-1913. 59 years. I presume it was current until the Commonwealth set appeared. (De Puy.) Norway, Type Ay, I, and 10—3 ore orange, from 1877 to date. (Turnbull.) (Even if the N. S. W. was used up some ten years earlier, it had the longest use of any stamp by at least five years. No other stamp cited has over 44 years except the Norway 3 ore—to which philatelists might take exception, since there are shaded and unshaded posthorns, serif and block type variations within its 46 years.—Rich.)

9. What countries other than the United States have issued precancelled stamps?

Ans. Belgium, Canada, Luxemburg. (De Puy.)

10. What country has an issue of revenue stamps often found with postal cancellations, yet never used for postage?

Ans. (U. S. Tenth Issue, Documentary, 1917, Scott Nos. 4225 ff., used on parcel post up to the end of 1921. I know of no other case except some British colonials, which are doubtful.—Rich.)

held by Messrs. Harrison and Sons, Ltd., expired during the war, but was extended till the first of this year.

The new contractors are busy equipping their factory at Watford, and hope to start printing the stamps in January.

Postage, health, unemployment and entertainment tax stamps are included in the contract. Three hundred tons of the best rag paper are used in producing one year's supply.

"Our staff will be increased to deal with the work," said a member of the firm.

There is no immediate possibility of a change in the design of stamps, but a change in the watermark is under consideration.

ANOTHER SCARCE U. S. VARIETY

Back in 1917 the Bureau experimented with a multiple die wherein they were in hopes of transferring several stamps at once instead of one stamp at a time as has been the practice. In order to do this a special multiple die of ten subjects was made and from this die two plates bearing Nos. 10208 and 10209 were laid down. Stamps from these plates have been designated as Die II and are catalogued in a Specialized catalogue as No. 499, Die II, and lists at 60c per stamp or $2.50 a block. The variety is scarce, for only two plates were made and but few were saved. I offer fine copies in mint condition with full gum as follows:

U. S. No. 499, Die II, 2c 1917
Single Copy, Cat. 60c	.50
Mint Block, Cat. $2.50	2.00

If there are any other varieties of twentieth century U. S. that you desire in singles or blocks I would be pleased to receive your want list along with references if you are not already known to me.

GERMANY

The response to our ad in the Jan. 7th issue of MEKEEL'S has been so unexpectedly large that it convinced us that interest in the German provisionals and high values is much greater than we thought it was. It furthermore convinced us that the demand for these stamps being so great and the supply (especially of the postally used ones) being very limited, they are bound to become valuable and consequently, in addition to their uniqueness by reason of the unprecedented high denominations (as high as 50,000,000,000 Marks), they are also desirable as a good investment.

In view of the above, if you have failed to take advantage of our offer contained in our ad in the above mentioned issue of the WEEKLY, it will be to your interest to look up again our ad (Page 6) and to write us without delay for the stamps of Germany on approval—mint, postally used and blocks of four of both kinds. Our stock, of course, is more complete now and includes besides the 50 billion Mark stamps, several of the scarce billion provisionals and roulettes, as well as the new "gold" Pfennig stamps.

UNITED STATES. 10c 1923 Imperforate Horizontally.—Mr. Eugene Klein has located one of the most interesting varieties of late United States that has been found for some months, namely, the upper right pane from sheet 14816 of the 10c orange, portrait of Monroe, perforated 11 vertically and imperforate horizontally.

From an examination of the sheet I am under the impression that it occurred about in the following manner. After the sheet of four hundred stamps had been printed something happened to damage it at the right side, about at the arrow position, so that quite a portion of the sheet was torn. It was seen that the two right panes could be completed and made into a saleable stock so that this damaged portion was patched up with a dark kraft paper. The sheet was then perforated vertically and in this operation the sheet of four hundred stamps was cut into two panes of two hundred each. When the girl started to run the damaged pane through the perforating machine the other way, the paper adhering on the back caught and the horizontal perforations started in an upward diagonal course. These diagonal perforations only ran for a few inches when the sheet was removed and was heavily blue penciled across the lower right portion of the pane, which was a signal for the one counting the sheets to remove it and destroy it. Through error it was not noticed, and got into the regular stock.

Unfortunately, the greater portion of the sheet was either blue penciled or damaged and patched and as a result as far as I could count only twenty-three first class pairs are available.

Supplementary Mail.

Mr. B. K. Miller, who recently sailed for England, writes a very interesting letter aboard the Steamship "Cedric" of the White Star Line, regarding the supplementary mail: "When I got to the White Star Pier, No. 60, foot of 19th St., at 10 A. M.; the supplementary mail office was open. Double postage was charged. There were several cancelling stamps, perhaps five, in use, and all were No. 1. The man in charge told me that this number was always used for White Star Ships, No. 2, for Cunard Line and No. 3 for the French Line. This information is extremely interesting, in view of the fact that quite a little study has been given to the subject of supplementary mails here of late.

Mr. Miller mailed this communication to me aboard Steamship and prepaid the postage with a current 2c stamp, which is cancelled by means of a semi-circular mark reading "PAQUEBOT COBH" with the date "30 De 23" within the circle.

Ink for Cancellors.

Under date of January 10th, the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General calls to the attention of the Postmasters the fact that some of them are using ink in the cancellation of stamps that is unsuitable for the purpose. He instructs them to discontinue the practice and calls their attention to the fact that all mail matter must be cancelled by means of ink furnished by the Department. Two kinds being used, that for use in connection with cancelling stamps made of rubber and the other type for those made of steel.

Mr. H. A. Diamant sends for inspection a very curious cover that passed through the mails from New York where it was posted on December 11th and arrived in St. Louis on the 14th, and the communication was carried and delivered without postage stamps. These had clearly been overlooked for it was not an official cover.

Provisional Envelopes.

Mr. R. H. Mason has located an extremely interesting variety of the surcharged provisional envelope, namely, the 2c on 1c on 5c with Ithaca overprint. This is size 5, die H, Wmk. 19. Mr. Mason informs me that 12 in all were located. Similar varieties were originally found in San Antonio and later they cropped up in other cities in very small quantities.

This column loses one of its best friends in the recent death in Indianapolis of Mr. F. R. Demmerly. Mr. LeGrand Payne writes that Mr. Demmerly was one of their most active members and died with pneumonia in his fortieth year. We counted him one of our most valued correspondents for he watched the local Post Office carefully and through his efforts and many friends was often in a position to give us much information of interest. Our deepest sympathy is extended his wife and son.

Mr. R. Roberts sends us a copy of the $2 stamp from the re-engraved printing. He adds that "the main differences in a re-engraved stamp of this type being that the scroll underneath the Chinese characters is composed of a single line bisected with a dot in the centre and finished off with a ball at each end. The single bisected line above the word "republic" is finished with a ball at each end. The shading immediately in front of the steps is dark right across the design instead of light. I

even the cheaper values of
are hard to get. Take any unpicked lot of 1000 stamps—out of the 10,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, full, in color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes, missing perforation, and lightly cancelled.

NATURALLY YOU CANNOT BUY stamps of this nature at bargain prices, because of the prices which this kind of material always demands, the prices at which I sell are reasonable. Stamps in my collection are marked at correspondingly low prices. Therefore, whatever your own standards of collecting, providing you are expecting to buy single stamps at the prices of quantity lots, you will find much interest in a selection from my collection, which is the strongest in the three cent, three cent 1869, one, two, three, four, six and ten cent, 1870 to 1883, inclusive. I can give good reference, society reference, and name the stamps you specify in.

CHINESE TURKESTAN.—Mr. R. Roberts has called our attention to the recently issued Constitution Commemorative set that has just appeared with surcharges on the right and left sides, for use in this territory.

COCHIN.—Our Trivandrum correspondent, Mr. B. Venkachalam, reports the issue of a new value, 8 pies grey-black, in the type of the current series.—Stamp Collecting.

COLOMBIA.—A fortnight ago we chronicled a 30 on 20c grey (semi-official) air mail provisional. Mr. John Heywood, the well known Manchester dealer, shows us a copy, together with the 60 centavos orange (inscribed "SERVICIO POSTAL AEREO DE COLOMBIA: S. C. A. D. T. A.") overprinted PROVISIONAL diagonally upwards in blue and surcharged "30" over the numerals of original denomination in both lower corners.

The specimens shown are both used on piece with an ordinary 10c blue adhesive, the red postmark (obliterating both stamps) reading "SERVICIO POSTAL AEREO, SCADTA, BOGOTA," in concentric circles, around the date (22.x.1923 in these instances).—Stamp Collecting.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC.—We may expect a new series from here as soon as no further supplies of the current issue are to be printed. The reason for this appears to be that owing to the poor workmanship shown, this series has been easily and extensively forged.—Philatelic Magazine.

DANZIG.—Messrs. Whitfield King send us a set of new postage dues from here. Key-plate type with Arms above large oval, upon which the value appears in figures only and representative of the new currency: 5, 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60 and 100pf blue and black.—Philatelic Magazine.

NIGERIA.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the 3d on white script watermarked paper of a blue purple color. Mr. Roberts raises the question whether this is an error of shade or not.

PALESTINE.—The public are invited to submit photographs of local subjects to serve as designs for the proposed new issue, and the Postmaster-General emphasizes the point that general views are particularly required.—Philatelic Magazine.

POLAND.—Mr. G. S. Dills has shown us a cover mailed from Poland on Dec. 2nd last, with a strip of four 25m stamps of the 1921-23 issue each bearing the surcharge "10" in the centre and at the base "Tysiecy."

SOUTH WEST AFRICA.—Mr. R. Roberts has submitted for chronicle the 3d overprinted stamp of the Union of South Africa with the lines 14mm apart. Also the following values overprinted in like manner: 1d, 2d, 4d, 1sh, 1s3d, 2s6d, 5sh and 10sh. The 1/2d and 1d postage due have also appeared printed in sheets of 60 on local type, the 1/2d being perforated 14mm and the 1d rouletted.

Mr. Stanley G. Rich sends us the following information:
"You may be interested, for the Chronicle in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, to know of the new 6d postage due of the Union of South Africa. I received a block of four of these about ten days ago. They are perf. 14, unwatermarked, lithographed by the Government Printer, Pretoria. Border in gray, figures in black. Same type as all preceding dues of same country.

I have the new Southwest Africa surcharge upon Union of South Africa 6d, with a pair which shows both the English and the Dutch surcharge on stamps with plate-defect so that the surcharged stamp reads 'Union OR South Africa.'

I also have the 6d Union of South Africa with border doubled-printed, medalion regular. This variety is earlier than 1922."

SYRIA.—Further values in the provisional series for the Lebanon are to hand

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL!

"IT'S DIFFERENT"

Did you know that Fiume was a thriving town before the birth of Christ—an independent, powerful dukedom during the 9th century?

—Read about the past, present and future of Fiume, the significance of its postal issues—in the Bi-Monthly Journal for Feb.-March.

Have you ever wondered to yourself just why the stamp business, during its seventy years of existence, has never attained commercial recognition or dignity?

—Read the answer in an interesting article written by Mr. Harris personally—in the Bi-Monthly Journal for Feb.-March.

Another House of Harris triumph, "—representing monumental value which will shake the realms of stampdom from end to end!"

—Investigate this! Read the Feb.-March number of the Bi-Monthly Journal.

"Good, old British Colonies!"—"10,000 Varieties, $100.00"—"Bargains in Albums and Supplies"—Page after page of most tensely interesting articles and offerings.

Don't miss the February-March number, just off the press; 48 large pages, the most extraordinary issue of all!

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB.

A. M. Davis, Williamsport, Pa.
Don C. Minnick, Toledo, Ohio.
Geo. L. Gilmore, Lexington, Mass.
L. C. Duckworth, Worcester, Mass.
Samuel Newberry, Chicago, Ill.
F. A. Thornton, Grand Rapids, Mich.
Henry A. Kiehl, Hamilton, Canada.

Our first entry for membership in the Five-Year Honor Club this week is A. M. Davis of Williamsport, Pa. We are greatly obliged to Mr. Davis for the confidence that he has in connection with the WEEKLY making good during the next five years.

Upon the same day that Mr. Davis' application was received that of Don C. Minnick of Toledo, Ohio, also came to hand with check for $5. Mr. Minnick is A. P. S. 6133 and expresses his great satisfaction in the regular perusal of the WEEKLY. He writes that it always contains some "good dope" about stamps.

In sending us his renewal for five years George L. Gilmore of Lexington, Mass., writes us that he has a complete file of the WEEKLY from No. 1. He feels that he has got the "habit" to that extent that the best thing for him to do is enclose a check for the next five years and have no more worry. One can get an idea of Mr. Gilmore's interest in philately from the fact that he is Charter Member No. 1 of the Boston Philatelic Society and Charter Member No. 42 of the American Philatelic Society. We recall how in company with Fred. J. Melville some years ago we paid a visit to the Gilmore homestead in Lexington and were entertained in royal philatelic manner.

Leslie C. Duckworth of Worcester, Mass., takes his place as a member of our Honor Club by renewing for five years. Mr. Duckworth is desirous that we shall interview the Portland postmaster and have him put the Worcester papers into the letter pouch. This is asking considerable, and we commend the enthusiasm of our subscriber in securing the early receipt of the WEEKLY. As the WEEKLY is now mailed our subscribers all receive the paper at approximately the same time. The western papers are mailed first and the New England papers are the last to go into the mail. The new plan is equitable and we hope will be acceptable.

Not content with merely contributing to the columns of the WEEKLY from both the literary and advertising standpoints Charles J. Phillips is helping to promote the prosperity of our Honor Club. Through him we receive the five-year subscription of Samuel Newberry, of the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, Ill. We thank both Mr. Phillips and Mr. Newberry for their part in increasing the strength of the Honor Club.

Frank A. Thornton sends in his application for membership in our Honor Club with the terse comment, "We want all the honor we can get." This is absolutely true but not everyone is willing to pay for it as is Mr. Thornton. Thanks, Mr. Thornton, for this evidence of your interest in the WEEKLY.

We feel in duty bound to add the name of Henry A. Kiehl of Hamilton, Canada, to the membership list of our Club. True, he remits only for a four-year renewal, but the amount of his remittance is necessarily $6, which should be considered an ample entrance fee to our Honor Club. We therefore place Mr. Kiehl's name in our list of "immortals." Total, seven for this week.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

A TURPIN PURCHASE.

Mr. F. B. Turpin has just purchased a very fine collection at approximately $18,000.00 and a series of advertisements beginning with this issue will give evidence of the merit of the purchase. Mr. Turpin writes:—"As my advertisements in your paper have been so successful I have decided to give you as a trial some larger and more important announcements. The enclosed advertisement will be followed by others and I hope that your readers will appreciate the very fine stamps that I shall offer." We congratulate Mr. Turpin upon his purchase.

Are You One of the 5000?

It is estimated that there are over 5000 readers of this publication who are not members of the AMERICAN PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Are You One of Them? Why Not Join?

The American Philatelic Society is 38 years old. It is no experiment but evidence of the co-operation of philatelists since 1886. It has survived all these years because it has been a benefit and help to our hobby. The advantages of co-operation in everything is necessary to its success. Your membership is needed to help your hobby.

There Are Many Benefits of Membership

Free to all members is the monthly publication of the Society, the "American Philatelist," the leader among all philatelic publications in the country. Expert advice by experts on your stamps. Annual conventions of collectors held every year.

The Sales Department, thru which you may sell or buy stamps for cash. This mighty facility made it possible for members to buy over $39,000 in stamps from other members the last fiscal year. For all collectors there are attractive books. Build your collection the satisfactory way.

Lend your support to organized philately. Ask for application blank today. Dues are very moderate. Investigate.

By W. C. SMITH.

My large collection of Soviet Russian stamps on cover, none of which were canceled to order, show that the stamps were issued for postal purposes and not merely to adorn the albums of philatelists. Is this the case with the 69 varieties issued in the past three years by Liberia, ranging from one cent to five dollars in franking value and ostensibly printed for the use of millions of natives who never saw a stamp in their lives and their few thousand rulers who may be called literate only by stretching the term? Or the 45 varieties of Nyassa, or the 26 stamps of Togo that run up to the value of five francs? If, as some express a wish, there should be a ban on the stamps of Soviet Russia, why collect French colonials, Portuguese colonials, Spanish colonials, or even many of the colonial and protectorate issues of staid old Britain? What standing should be given the stamps of Iraq, 24 in number, running from ½ anna to 10 rupees, when one knows that the country was made to order as a protection to British oil interests? "Obviously these stamps have not been used for postal purposes (and were never so intended)," to quote a portion of the letter of Mr. Konwiser to the

NOTES ON "G. R. I." OVERPRINTS.

By ROWLAND E. ROBERTS.

Since my collection of these elusive and interesting varieties of postage stamps is as yet in the elementary stages of its formation, I shall refrain from entering into a detailed account of the separate issues, leaving that to the hand-books dealing specifically with them, and to specialists better qualified to write upon them than I. If, however, this attempt serves to encourage any would-be devotees to this fascinating field, I shall feel well repaid for my efforts.

About a year ago I sacrificed my small general collection to a dealer, saving from it what few common specimens of "G. R. I.'s" I was fortunate enough to possess, invested in a Scott "Ne Plus Ultra" Style A Album, a few new "overprints," and went to it.

The surcharged ex-German Colonial stamps used during the British occupation of the Cameroons, New Britain, Samoa, and the combined British and French occupation of Togoland, during the late war—that's the extent of my endeavors. I am fully aware that I am moving in a more or less millionaire's field and that the chances for obtaining even a nearly complete collection are well nigh nil, but the mere hope of some day being a possible proud possessor of perhaps a Togo mark value is stimulating in itself. I admit I am stretching my imagination.

Scott's "Ne Plus Ultra" Album is, it seems to me, the most acceptable one for housing this sort of a collection. Because of its pleasing appearance, it is in every way worthy of containing rare stamps, while its size makes it readily adaptable to the specialist along such lines.

My album is arranged in conventional fashion with ink-ruled spaces for the adhesives, perforation, watermark and date of issue, etc., written in in each case. The page opposite is reserved for notes, clippings from hand-books, and the check-list from Scott, Field's War Stamp and other catalogues. The quotations make interesting comparisons. What minor varieties, pairs, blocks, I am fortunate enough to acquire are mounted on pages immediately following the issue of which they form a part.

To a true lover of stamps there is no reason that I can see why this branch of philately can not become extremely interesting. True, it is not the least expensive form of specialism, but I find that the thrill I feel from putting a small savings into purchasing even a single "overprint" far outweighs the former thrill received when a score or more expensive stamps were mounted in my old general collection. Besides this, the fact that they are not found on every blackberry bush keeps one's interest piqued in hunting around trying to locate them. I find that, as a whole, I spend less money on these stamps than I did formerly on my other collection since the opportunities for buying them are far less than for purchasing a general collection. For the man who only has an occasional leisure hour to devote to his hobby, collecting of this sort should prove thoroughly acceptable; while from the investment point of view—one which I personally dislike to see associated with any hobby—the owner of a good collection of these war stamps can look with pride upon a tidy little savings and one that is bound to increase.

Apart from philatelic reasons, these stamps are historically unique; while handling them can not fail to bring to their owner not only an appreciation of the stamps themselves, but an attitude of proper care and respect for fine things generally.

In closing, I take the liberty of quoting from Mr. Charles H. Greenwood's excellent hand book on "Togo—The stamp of the British and French Occupations" regarding the rare 3 and 5 mark value in the second setting of the overprint, of which only two of each exist, "When their great historic interest is coupled with their rarity, it will be seen that their philatelic importance can hardly be overestimated." This might almost be made to apply to all of the overprinted stamp I have in mind.

AUSTRALIANS IN THE TAPLING COLLECTION.

By DEREK INGRAM.

Of the enormous numbers of overseas visitors who have been "doing London" during recent months a great many hail from Australia and New Zealand, and it is safe to assert that a fair sprinkling of these are interested in postage stamps. Now these peripatetic philatelists are wise people. They not only "do" the stamp shops; they seek knowledge and inspiration for their hobby from contemplation of Britain's National Stamp Collection in the British Museum—the magnificent and vast bequest of the late Mr. Thomas Keay Tapling, M.P.

National collections are inevitably the standard for the private collector, even though imitation is impossible of achievement. It might, therefore, serve a more or less useful purpose if we briefly enumerate some of the principal Australasian items in the world-famed Tapling Collection.

Disregarding the well-known Hawaiians—for Oceania in its entirety is too wide a field for our present purpose—we find that twenty-nine of the 1,188 slide-out frames are devoted to the issues of New South Wales (plus one of envelopes, in which is a specimen of the Sydney letter-sheet issued for local postage in 1838), eleven are representatives of New Zealand, nineteen of Victoria, six of Western Australia, six of Queensland, thirteen of South Australia, nine of Tasmania, four of Fiji, one of Samoa, and one of Tonga.

The collection, as bequeathed, includes nothing issued since 1890, but it is encouraging to know that efforts are now being made to supplement it with examples of subsequent issues of various Colonies. Mr. Edward Denny Bacon, C.V.O., the Curator of the King's Stamp Collections and the painstaking arranger and annotator of the Tapling Collection, has already received many specimens of this nature, which he is mounting on loose sheets for public display when new frames are obtained.

Sad to relate, not a single Commonwealth stamp has yet been contributed to the Supplementary Collection, nor any examples of the Australian States or Pacific Islands subsequent to 1890, with the exception of a few Naurus and some odds and ends of war stamps. Imagine the disappointment of the youngster who eagerly scans the frames of New Zealand issues and finds that they are lacking in the beautiful pictorials which are his prime favorites! Imagine the same as regards the pictorials of Tasmania! And no Penny Universals!

It does not require the munificence of Mr. H. L. White to make up these—to the tyro—glaring deficiencies; the gaps could be speedily filled if only an official invitation were extended. Now that a Supplementary Collection has been inaugurated, the time is surely ripe for the inclusion of examples of all those attractive issues with which the youthful visitor has grown up. To this desirable end, an appeal from the Trustees would undoubtedly meet with an instant and generous response.

But it is a far cry from the sherry of post-1890 philately to the Hiedsieck of Sydney Views and other patrician gems. Mr. Tapling's enthusiasm for the latter is common history to philatelists. In his wonderful bequest are many reconstructed plates of the Views, which fill seven of the frames. There are in this wonderful collection five copies of the 1d red, Plate 1, on yellowish, and a block of four, unused, in addition to eight unused on bluish and a fine block of eight used, another of four, a strip of three and four pairs.

Plate II of the 1d red View is represented by eight unused on yellowish, a block of nine unused and five singles on bluish paper.

The 2d, Plate I, is illustrated by four unused copies in the early state of the plate and three showing wear, while there is a block of nine among the used examples of this. Of the retouch, two are unused and eighteen used, with used pairs showing retouch and original se tenant. Plate II has six unused and thirty-nine used specimens, Plate III five unused and twenty-one used, Plate IV twelve unused (including a block of four) and nine used, and Plate V, a strip of three and four singles unused and twenty-five used.

Of the 3d View there are nine unused and twenty-five used.

The Laureated New South Wales are also extremely fine. In this grand National Collection there are examples of the 1d, Plate 1, on laid paper, a reconstructed plate, nearly all unused, of the 3d on blue paper, the 6d "Walls" error, seven unused copies of the 8d, six unused of the 2d Stars in corners, and seven unused of the 6d Plate II. These and subsequent issues of the same Colony occupy seventeen frames, in addition to which two are set apart for the

J. E. GUEST, DALLAS, TEXAS.

Registered stamps, two for official adhesives, one for telegraph stamps and four for essays and proofs. The last have been supplemented by die proofs in black on white card of the De La Rue printings of the 1d, 2d, 3d, 5d, 8d, and 1sh of 1854-56 and similar proofs in colour (1d carmine-rose, 2d dark blue, 3d emerald green, 5d, deep lilac, 8d, reddish brown and 1sh deep rose).

Like the New South Wales, the Taping "plums" of New Zealand are warranted to gladden the heart of philatelic man. Where else, for instance, will you see a complete sheet (240) of the 2d vermilion, full face, retouched? Where else will you see such beautiful specimens of the early 1d and 2d on slightly blued paper? Of the first 1sh green there are two unused singles and an unused pair. There are four unused copies of the 1d red, Colonial print, no wmk., imperf., of 1855, a pair and three singles of the 2d blue and 1sh green, all unused, and unused copies of all values of the 1857-59 series on white paper, with many roulette and perforation varieties, chiefly used.

The Supplementary Collection includes die proofs in colour on white glazed card of the 1d orange, 2d pale blue, 3d mauve, 4d rose, 6d brown and 1sh green of 1874-92.

Victoria also has its Taping pearls, including three reconstructed sheets of the Campbell and Fergusson lithographs of the Queen on Throne, each sheet showing a different stage in the use of the plate. There is also a reconstructed sheet of fifty of the 2d reddish brown of December, 1852, a dozen copies of the 2d Half Length, fine background (1850)—including two unused—a block of four of the 2d coarse border, unused, and two unused 3d, perf. 12. Here, also, we have an exquisite strip of three mint 2sh imperf., six beaded oval, orange, unused, four unused 5sh blue on yellow, six unused "Registered," four unused "Too Late." Two frames are devoted to fiscal stamps used postally, two to official franks and one to reprints, while among the recent gifts are die proofs in colour on white card of the De La Rue printing of the 1d red-brown and 6d purple of 1856-58.

The first gem to meet the eye in the Taping Collection of Western Australia is, of course, the 4d inverted swan—an extremely rare bird. Unfortunately, it is a poor specimen. There are four mint copies of the 1d black of 1854, in different shades, and nine of the 2d black on red, in addition to four singles and a pair used and the variety printed on both sides, also used. Of the 4d 1854 there is an unused block of four, a pair and fourteen singles, also one used and eight varieties of lettering. Here, also, there are nine unused and three used 6d black-bronze (1855), eighteen unused 1sh, 1854, five used ditto, and superb examples of roulette varieties, seven unused 6d sage green, local print, 1860, four unused 1sh green rough perf. 14 to 16 1/2 (1861), and one unused and one used of the 1879 2d (1865 type) error in colour of the 6d mauve.

Awaiting display in due course are copies of the 1d lake, no wmk., imperf., 1864, the 1d, 2d, 6d and 1sh (shades) of 1865, wmk. Crown CC, imperf., and die proofs in black and in colour of the De La Rue printings of 1854-61.

In South Australia may be seen the rare 1sh mauve, the 4d blue without surcharge, and a fine lot of Departmentals.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

There are two unused pairs of the 1d and of the 2d London print, 1855-56, and four frames of the Colonial prints. The roulettes of 1859-68 are mostly unused, there being eight unused of the 1d yellow-green, seven of the 2d red, six of the 6d blue and five of the 1sh yellow. The varieties printed on both sides include a used copy of the 2d and an unused pair of the 1sh. There are some beautiful pairs and strips of later issues and a veritable object-lesson in perforation varieties.

Queensland is not particularly outstanding, but of Tasmania there are fully twenty of the first 1d unused, including a block of four, and two used copies of the 4d octagon on narrow ribbed paper, with a single specimen of the same denomination on vertical laid paper. There is also a reconstructed sheet of used copies of the first 1d blue, showing the 24 types, and reconstructed sheets of both plates of the 4d orange-red, with unused and used single copies also. The unwatermarked 1856-57 specimens include a strip of three unused 4d blue.

The "Fiji Times Express" and Samoa Express labels are all strongly represented in the Taping Collection, the former by singles and a vertical strip of four showing each value, 1d, 3d, 6d, and 1sh, se tenant. The "V.R." provisionals of 1874-75 for Fiji include numerous unused examples, a vertical pair of the 12c rose showing the fancy and Roman overprints se tenant being a conspicuous item. So far, no examples of Fiji or Samoa have been contributed to the Supplementary Collection.

A constant reminder of the permanence and prestige of philately; a continual source of inspiration and encouragement to savant and novice alike: these are the blessings which Mr. Taping bequeathed to stamp lovers when he left his marvellous collection to the nation. Let us prove that we hallow his memory and carry on the good work by the free bestowal of items which will serve to bring the vast array up-to-date and make its usefulness absolutely imperishable for all time.—Australian Stamp Journal.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We notice that Joe Swerling, the artist, blows the dust off an old one that originally appeared as a "he and she" joke. The fellow said that he was going to travel around the world and the beautiful maiden implored him to write to her often. "Then you do care for me a bit?" She answered: "I am collecting foreign stamps." Our artist in his "Gallagher and Shean" comic strip has Mr. Shean saying that Bilkins has "just sailed in a ship." Mr. Gallagher says that he knows it and that Bilkins has promised to write to him from every port. Mr. Shean asks if Mr. Gallagher is a relative of Bilkins. "No, a stamp collector, Mr. Shean."

—Here is a good word for stamps from a man who leaves no opportunity to pass to identify himself with philately. The clipping is taken from the Lyceum Magazine of some months ago: "We were browsing around in Marshall Field's the other day when we were surprised and delighted to run right into George C. Rheinfrank, long time a lyceum lecturer hailing out of the state of Iowa where he was a Methodist preacher, too. Mr. Rheinfrank is one of the Field floor superintendents in that men's store. He is living in Chicago, has been for several years, and he will tell you that he is doing something more interesting than haberdashery, along with this—he is a wholesale stamp collector, and at his home he has literally thousands of stamps, all nations, all issues, with some stamps that run into hundreds of dollars because of their rarity. Mr. Rheinfrank supplies many stamp dealers and has been at it for years."

—"Fanons" and "Caches" as surcharged on French India stamps certainly would have the non-collector at sea while the philatelist would know that they indicated monetary values.

—A letter comes in which the indignant writer hauls another collector over the coals for some alleged shortcoming, says that he "dares us to print his letter." He wins.

—Extract from a letter from an old dealer: "I believe that your vision is clear when you see that the only hope for a great increase in the number of collectors is through publicity. It has taken me years to get this conclusion and I admit that any 'natural increase' in the number of collectors will not make progress as fast as this hurrying age demands. The idea once held by a good many that it was undignified to 'boost' philately publicly is no longer tenable."

—Here comes Guest's Sales Department News with a picture of P. M. Wolsieffer, headed "Let's Draft 'P. M.'" We predict that Mr. Wolsieffer will crack under the demand that he stand for the presidency of the American Philatelic Society.

—We learn from Madrid Filatelico that the 75th anniversary of the postage stamp in Belgium will be celebrated by a philatelic international exhibition in Brussels, from the 24th of May to June 1, 1924, "under the high patronage of his Serene Majesty, the King." The jury will consist of eleven members, ten of whom have been appointed and the member representing the United States will be named soon.

—From Mr. Charles Love we have a clipping from a newspaper in which a correspondent solicits stamps from the generous public for use in saving the heathen in India. Mr. Love says that he wishes he was a little savage so that he might be saved by stamps. In the early '60's the stamp papers started to reprint clippings from the newspapers of the day telling of the purchase of babies with foreign stamps that otherwise would be thrown into the Ganges; and there were a dozen variations of the tale.

—At the annual meeting of the N. Y. Local of Weko, the following officers were elected. President, Jos. Gallant; Vice-President, H. A. Moye; Secretary, H. Deeken; Treasurer, A. R. Wyser; Trustees, John Schoenberger, G. Tochtermann, J. Wimpfheimer. That the N. Y. Local is a popular society is evidenced by not only the growth of the club during the past year, but the interest in stamp collection has reached the highest point among the members. Sales Manager of Weko for America, Mr. Gallant rendered a very interesting report. During the five months from August till January, 303 books at the net value of over $6,000.00 have been received, sales amounting to over $1,600.00 and still in circulation 164 books at the net value of $2,993.67. We have been able to secure larger and better situated meeting rooms.

Gibbons Stamp Circular

This snappy little publication is mailed free for nothing—not even postage—once a month unless the editor goes fishing or yachting. This season of the year therefore is a good time to write for a copy. This circular is not mailed to substitutes, send-em-back-unregistered fiends and such like. Postcards also go straight into the waste paper basket. Serious and interested collectors would do well to send for a copy and get on the list free before we close the offer with the ten thousandth name.

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

The next meeting, in February, will be held in our new meeting rooms at the N. Y. Philatelic Society, 20 E. 125th St., New York City. Meetings held fourth Tuesday in every month. Visitors always welcome.

I ran across this the other day in Anatole France's L'île des Pingouins, Book VII, Chapter 7,—(the Minister of Postes was very much distracted) "Son activité brûlante dévorait les dossiers; il changea en huit jours quatorze fois la couleur des timbre-poste." "It might be translated: 'His burning activity ate up the files; he changed the color of the postage stamps fourteen times in a week.' Stamps are certainly getting before the eye of the public."—JAS. LEWIS HOWE.

"I am trying to locate a cheap bound album for U. S. stamps such as the average schoolboy could afford and mostly fill. I have received a negative answer from a dozen or more firms.

About 20 years ago I had such an album that cost me 75c and the name of it, if I remember correctly, was the "Favorite." The other day down at our city museum, I saw an old collection of stamps in an old Mekeel album, about the same age. Since you were contemporaneous, I thought you might remember the "Favorite" and give me some information about it. If not, will you kindly try to locate it thru the columns of the paper?"—J. L. SLOANAKER, Spokane, Wn. Who will favor our subscriber?

—Carl Young's store in Philadelphia was closed four days the week of Jan. 20, on account of the death of his father, who passed away Wednesday evening, Jan. 23, while Mr. Young was attending a Wolsieffer sale.

—Hugh C. Argenbright is sending out an artistic folder printed in colors and advertising in an effective way the merits of his approval service.

—Will Earl D. Emery please send his address to this office? We are compelled to make this request as his address is desired by one of our readers, and our mailing list is not arranged alphabetically.

—Good credit is an asset, a tremendous power, a thing to be highly prized and worked for. Once won it must be zealously guarded. Each bill is a stepping stone, so pay it promptly and lay the foundation of your credit structure surely and securely.—Business, Jan., 1921.

—"Have you read Hugh Lofting's 'Doctor Dolittle's Post-Office?' If not, you will greatly enjoy his philatelic satires. At first I thought I would copy a few lines for you, but there is too much of it and it is too good to be taken from context. My little grandson from Birmingham has just been here on a visit and had the book with him. Perhaps like myself you will read the whole book thru, even if it is for children. For many years our professor of Physics always carried a copy of Alice in Wonderland with him on his travels!

—B. J. Bodnar calls our attention to the fact that in the December issue of the Success Magazine appeared a story in which there are several interesting and amusing references to certain stamps of Liberia.

—We acknowledge the receipt of an interesting book on the fascinations of San Francisco, with the compliments of the Pacific Stamp Company of that city.

—A letter has come from Mr. S. T. S. Doncyson who was secretary of the Chicago Philatelic Society and a specialist in the stamps of Chile years ago. He is now living in Montebello, California.

—Professor H. H. Schroeder of Normal, Illinois, has shown us the interesting "ball" varieties on the ninety-third stamp of the sheet of the type IV, offset 2c, plate numbers 10929 and 10931. There is a curl at the top of the "2" that suggests the secret mark of the 12c 1873.

—The Rotarian, Dec., 1923, contains an article by Harry Botsford, "Have a Hobby—Ride it Hard," in which he encourages business men to have an interest outside of their business. He mentions stamp collecting as having afforded business men a hobby for many years past.

—The following notice had been issued by the second assistant postmaster-general, under date of January 25, 1924: "The postal administration of Russia has advised this department that postage stamps and paper money intended for private individuals in Russia must be addressed to care of 'Philatelic Delegate of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, Tverskoi Boulevard 12, Moscow.' Articles bearing the inscription 'Postage Stamps' but not addressed to said delegate will be considered as improperly accepted for mailing, and will consequently be returned to origin."

—Our award of the gutta-percha per simmon (to become the property of the three-time winner) to the one accomplishing the best heart-throb during the week goes to B. F. Enlow of the Colonial Stamp Company, Chicago, who when asked how much he would pay for a few stamps told the seller that they

The above are low priced stamps, to be sure. But they are scarce and "hard to get." and just bear in mind that Square Deal Approval sheets and books, containing stamps priced at 1c, 2c, 3c each and 10c, net, are filled with just such fine,
"hard-to-get" items. Reference required.

Lots of nice odds and ends about our place for those who know what they are looking for. If you just want to "browse around", you can spend a week or two here to our mutual diversion.

WE WANT TO BUY ACCUMULATIONS OR FINE SINGLES OF U. S.
STAMPS 1870-1890. Particularly 4c Jacksons.

J. O. MOORE, Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y.
(Member American Stamp Dealers' Assn.)

might be worth three dollars to him. Compassionately, the chap told Mr. Enlow that if he thought $3 too much, $2 would do.

—Our wires got crossed when we said
two weeks ago that Mr. Henry W.
Wolsey, of Chicago, was leaving for Florida, for the winter, as the truth is that he will remain in Chicago for some time to come.

—A correspondence calls our attention to the number of varieties of Harding precancels emanating from Van Buren, Ark. Collectors of these stamps should realize that where a rubber stamp is used in precancelling, a single variety should be sufficient.

—On Jan. 14, Edgar W. Fielding, Wilmington, Del., advertising Harding stamps normal and inverted at 20c and 30c respectively, omitted the word "pre-cancel." As a result some collectors ordered the "invert" with the expectation of finding the head of Harding upside down. Mr. Fielding is making amends as rapidly as possible and regrets the error.

—The State Gazette of Trenton, N. J., on January 19, published a very fine story of the 50th anniversary celebration of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs.
Edward B. Sterling. A fine halftone of the family dinner party showed a group of fifteen persons. In the center were Mr. and Mrs. Sterling, who may well be congratulated upon their notable anniversary.

—"The current new 3c carmine Canada, has just been issued imperforate but is not on sale at the post-office.
Collectors and dealers desiring the same should address Postage Stamp Division, Ottawa, Can. The 1c and 2c are on sale
perf. 12 by imperforate, also the 1c, 2c and 3c perf. 8 by imperforate. The new 3c carmine will appear perforated 8 by imperforate."—Edw. E. GOODCHILD.

—Linn's Stamp News for January-February is a very interesting number.
It is filled with attractive offers and a copy can be had upon request by applying to the Geo. W. Linn Co., Columbus, Ohio.

—Volume I, Number 1, of the Saxon Stamp Courier. It is published by Barton D. Pattie, Waynesboro, Va., and the subscription price is 30c per year.
It is an excellent No. 1 publication. It has a very ambitious motto, "Most original stamp magazine published." This is a good motto to live up to, and a sample copy will show you how closely the publisher is living up to his motto.

—"Your number of Jan. 21 was the most interesting issue of any stamp paper and of all your own files that I've seen in years." Stick to it.—F. S. EATON.

A WORD OF PROTEST

By K. E. PARKER, Honor Club Member.

I rise to protest! For the past year or two there has been much violent denunciation of the multitudinous speculative issues thrust upon us poor collectors
by Lithuania, Straits Settlements, Italy, and other benighted countries. Such trash as the Malaya-Borneos, the Rusian "Exposition" issues, and the Italian "commemorative" overprints have been condemned again and again—and justly, too—in your columns. And now comes
Mr. Severn with a suggestion for a special stamp in 1926, to celebrate Philately. In what way would such a stamp be above the Italian stamps overprinted to commemorate the Ninth Italian Philatelic Congress? True, it would be a new stamp instead of a mere un-affecting overprint, but the purpose would be the same. If we are going to be at all consistent in this matter of unnecessary issues, we should drop the matter at once and preserve the good name of the United States Post Office before it has a chance to be influenced by any advertising propaganda.

Also, I think the same applies to Mr.
Philip H. Ward's suggestion of a reissue of old U. S. stamps. And in addition to the speculative taint which would surround such an action, there is the fact that a re-issue would merely give the specialists, who have acquired all the varieties known at present, another batch of trick marks to look for, while it would add another high-priced and unattainable group of stamps which the general collector could not hope to get (after they were obsolete, anyway).
Shakespeare and Hamlet were wrong;
they should have said, "Frailty, thy name is Philatelist!"

PHILATELIC CONGRESS OF GT. BRITAIN.

Provisional Program of the Eleventh Congress, 1924, to be held at Glasgow from June 3rd to 6th, 1924, under the Auspices of the Junior Philatelic Society of Scotland.

F. J. Melville, Bertram McGowan, and other well known Scottish Philatelists, have kindly promised to read papers at the Congress. There will be receptions, visits to places of interest, Philatelic propaganda, meetings of an original nature, the customary banquet, and several other attractions which are still in process of being arranged.

Delegates from overseas should apply early for hotel accommodation in order that their wishes may be met as far as possible. Further particulars from the Organizing Secretary, Mr. James R.
Donaldson, 186 St. Vincent Street, Glasgow.

Recent Germans

High values to 50 billion marks. Evidently some of these, especially the rouletted varieties, are not so plentiful and prices in Germany are jumping fast. Based on cost to us, we offer most of those issued below. You need some of these as evidence of the greatest currency inflation the World ever knew.

We can supply practically everything in recent Germans and Danzig and offer some below. Anything you want in these or other stamps you do not see offered, let us know and we'll send it if it's here. Our connections are of the best and prices reasonable. For offers in these and thousands of other first class stamps, get Phillips' Monthly Bulletin, 24 pages and free for the asking.

Now ready to be sent on approval—under our new system—in envelopes marked 1c, 2c, 3c, etc., used and mint, high value provisionals and earlier issues. This system which we recently inaugurated in connection with the stamps of Germany, proved so successful that we decided to extend the same service to other countries as well, the first of these being Danzig.

When applying, please indicate whether you are interested in mint or postally used stamps or both, also whether you collect blocks. All mint stamps can be furnished in blocks and we also have a few postally used blocks of four. If unknown to us, kindly give references.

A RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT.

Just a little more than two years ago a small group of men decided that the Collectors Club could and should be an important factor in International Philately. Without in any way duplicating the work of other organizations it was felt that a strong club located in New York City owed a duty to Philately to promote and encourage serious work in the hobby.

With broad vision for the future, these men have demonstrated the soundness of their views and by hard and consistent work and liberal donations of money they have in a comparatively short time brought the club to its present state of influence and have paved the way for still greater achievements.

Numerically the club has almost quadrupled and in its membership will be found a large percentage of the foremost collectors of the world; it has brought together the second largest philatelic library in existence and the work that is being done upon it will eventually make it one of the most important libraries available; it has founded and maintained this journal which has stimulated and presented much original matter and which, we believe, has proven an important factor in the development of the club; it has encouraged and liberally supported philatelic exhibitions, notable among which were those held in London and Vienna; it has published two monumental philatelic works—the first on "Mexico" by Dr. J. Brace Chitenden and the second on "Victoria" by Charles Lathrop Pack—and has committees actively at work on other handbooks that will be real additions to philatelic literature; it has at its meetings enabled the members to see some of the most important collections in existence; it has welcomed and entertained many important guests both from at home and abroad; it has obtained much desirable publicity in the daily press and it has created a feeling of stability in the hobby.

These achievements are not recited in a spirit of boastfulness but simply to point out the fact that much of the work that is being accomplished can only be carried on in a club with a more or less permanent headquarters and a closely united membership.

Only on such a foundation of accomplishment can the club continue to grow and prosper and the wonderful response at the Annual Dinner when $10,000 was quickly subscribed to create a permanent endowment speaks eloquently of the confidence and faith which has been inspired in the members who are in close touch with all that the club is doing.

During the coming years the club will not only continue the constructive work that has been outlined above but is planning to take up many other activities. Aside from the erection of a permanent home, the creation of expert committees and similar work, the club has just established a Reward of Merit for every outstanding achievement in philately. The Awards will be made at the discretion of the Board of Governors of the club and will carry with them handsome medals, to be known as the Collectors Club Medals, and Diplomas. Sculpturers are now at work on the designs for the medal and it is believed that the Award will create additional incentive to more creative work.

Although the actual medals and diplomas are still in process of preparation it has been thought fitting by the Board of Governors to announce that their first Award has been made to our own fellow member, Charles Lathrop Pack, for his wonderful work on the stamps of Victoria. Mr. Pack has long been recognized as the foremost philatelist in America and the club is indeed proud to have the honor and privilege of presenting him with its first Award and in this way express its appreciation for his "outstanding achievement."

The coming years loom big in possibilities for still greater accomplishment. Membership in the club will prove a mark of distinction. Philatelists everywhere are cordially invited to join with us and we hope that many more during the coming year will avail themselves of our invitation to become member. —Collectors Club Philatelist.

OUR FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB

Harry Gordon, Rutherford, N. J.
E. C. Augustin, Milwaukee, Wis.
Charles E. Carman, Acra, N. Y.
John S. Reynolds, York, Pa.

Our first applicant for membership in the Five-Year Honor Club this week comes from Harry Gordon, 55 Addison Av., Rutherford, N. J. Mr. Gordon thanks us for our renewal blank reminder and expresses it tangibly with a check for $5.

E. C. Augustin of Milwaukee has taken occasional space as an advertiser and appreciates the WEEKLY sufficiently to join our Five-Year Honor Club. Some of his advertising appears in this number and we feel like commending it to your consideration.

"I have been a subscriber to the WEEKLY for five years and it should prove of equal value to me during the next five years, for it is the best of earth. I enclose $5 for which admit me to the Five-Year Honor Club. Thus writes Charles E. Carman, Acra, N. Y., and we are very pleased to comply with his request. We invite him and other members of the Honor Club to use the mystic initials M. H. when writing this office, and we will recognize the honors attained.

Our fourth new member this week John S. Reynolds of York, Pa., who taking out his membership writes a strong word of endorsement and expresses his enjoyment of the week visits of our publication. We are glad of the privilege of also adding to his name the letters M. H. C., to which is now entitled.

THE PRECANCEL DEPARTMENT.

Edited by FRED K. W. ALLEN,
312 Walnut St., Minneapolis, Minn.

Interest in Harding precancelled stamps is so widespread that I am giving over this week's discussion entirely to them. If asked to name the most desirable one of these I should unhesitatingly reply that no collection of Hardings can be deemed worthy of especial mention unless it contains the Marion, O., precancelled in small letters known as the U-8 type and handstamped. This is being regularly used by the Studebaker Rubber Co. and other firms in Marion.

There are nearly four hundred varieties known to date. In all probability within the next six months, additions will bring the total up near the thousand mark. The field is not a narrow one by any means.

It may be well to mention that both the Gossip and the Precancel Gazette carry special listings, in each issue, of Harding precancels as well as much comment on them. This publication shall not attempt to list these stamps, but leaves that to our worthy contemporaries under the able editorship of A. V. Dworak and V. W. Rotnem.

Some of the Harding precancels which have been chronicled are package roller cancellations and not worthy of being collected. Explanation of these probably would not go amiss.

Many small town offices which are not furnished with standard plates or handstamps for precancelling resort to using anything handy. Sometimes the circular office oval is employed or perhaps a package roller of which there are two main types. The first of these that I shall mention is the box roller, which produces an impression showing the city and state names enclosed by a box-like frame. They are made by rolling a wheel-like device over the stamps. If one pictures a roller skate wheel with a number of subjects, as described above, joined together in a continuous chain making up the circumference, then the nature of this apparatus becomes obvious. The "double lined roller" is of the same general form but varies in design. Instead of a box-like frame to set off the words, we find double lines running around the roller, above and below the office name. Clark, S. D., Quinter, Kans., Buxton, N. D., Parkersburg, Iowa, and hundreds of other small post-offices own them.

It is not my purpose to make this a technical article, but some sort of explanation has been thought necessary.

The Hardings listed for Rifle, Colo., and Bisbee, Ariz., are of the roller type and shall not be catalogued. Any others which come to my attention will be noted as such. There are others listed that I suspect are of this type but I must examine copies before passing judgment on them. Mr. Edmunds of Beaverton, Mich., recently sent for inspection a Harding precancel from Inland, Mich. (As it was O. G. it was undoubtedly a precancel), which I had to declare of no value as it was a "box roller." You ask why not recognize these if they are precancelled.

There has been much argument for and against the recognition of this class of precancels. The strongest of the arguments appear to me to be against their inclusion in the Standard Precancel Catalog. They may be summed up as follows:

First. Precancels of this sort are not the result of regular plates or handstamps furnished by the Department for the specific purpose of precancelling.

Second. Off Cover it is impossible to distinguish them from cancellations applied to the stamps after being placed on packages.

Third. If unscrupulous, one may easily transfer a package cancelled stamp to a new cover and declare it to be precancelled, maintaining that the cancellation does not run onto the paper.

Fourth. The line must be drawn somewhere if precancelled stamps are to become standardized and gain the recognition they deserve.

So it has been decided by the cataloguers to include only stamps bearing the mark of having been cancelled by devices which are known to have been exclusively employed for precancelling. This includes the early bar varieties, certain rubber rollers, handstamps of different sizes and forms, office stamps (usually one line affairs) electrotype plates, and type settings.

To continue my remarks on the Hardings I might say that I consider the five leading specialists of this stamp to be: Messrs. Howard S. Wheeler of Rockland, Mass.; Adolph Gunesch of Chicago; A. F. Gamber of Fargo, N. Dak.; V. W. Rotnem of Cambridge, Mass., and Geo. W. Linn of Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Wheeler is known to the precancel fraternity as the possessor of the largest collection of Airplane, Victory and Pilgrim precancels extant. He is now after the black beauties, seeking a single, block of four, and a plate number of each known variety.

Mr. Gunesch recently joined the ranks of precancelists in his quest for the stamps under discussion. As Vice-President of the Weko, largest collectors club in the world, he is a prominent figure in philatelic activities. Mr. Gunesch desires the Harding in singles, pairs and blocks. His collection contains some very unusual items which I take time, at this opportunity, to describe.

Chief interest lies in a block of six from Easton, Pa. (U-1 electro). The three top cancellations are normal and the lower three inverted. Messrs. H. S. Wheeler and E. M. Gearhart have the only other known pieces showing this oddity of cancellation. Then there is a pair of Iliion, N. Y., showing two types of N. Y. The small "N. Y." occurs but four times to the sheet and consequently is good property when "se tenant" with the regular variety. Blocks of four from Louisville, Ky. (normal and inverted), East Grand Forks, Minn. (purple ink),

R. H. MOWER 12 Geary Street San Francisco, Calif.

Indiana, Pa. (double print); singles from Trinidad, Colo., Great Barrington, Mass., Little Silver, N. J., and Lynchburg, Va., are worthy of special mention.

Prof. Gamber is the possessor of three hundred varieties at this writing. Singles and blocks of four compose his field. Prof. Gamber ranks as a foremost expert on the surcharge envelope and postal card issues of 1920-21. He is the discoverer of the rare Daytona, Fla., provisionals. He may be congratulated on his foresight in taking up what is destined to be a very popular line.

Mr. V. W. Rotnem, president of the S. P. A., needs no introduction, for he more than any other man has been responsible for the rapid growth of this hobby. Mr. Rotnem is building a fine private collection of Harding precancels and, as he is in the thick of it as a dealer, he has an excellent opportunity to secure these stamps.

Many years ago Mr. Geo. W. Linn took an active interest in the precancel game. However, during the past ten years, he has done little with them. The Hardings have lured him back into the fold and he is now hot on the quest of them. His collection numbers well over two hundred varieties.

Fargo, N. Dak. (electro), Lisbon, N. Dak. (handstamped), Elkhart, Ind. normal and inverted (electro), Philadelphia, Pa. (handstamped), St. Paul, Minn. (handstamped), are hitherto unchronicled Hardings which have appeared just lately.

THE MONTH.

By JOHN N. LUFF.

(This article is taken from "Scott's Monthly Journal," published by the Scott Stamp & Coin Co., 33 W. 44 St., N. Y. City, at $1 per year. Mr. Luff is a regular contributor to the publication and we invite you to send 10c for a sample copy.—W. O. W.)

United States—We have recently received a copy of the Annual Report of the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1923. The deliveries of postage stamps to Postmasters are carefully set forth according to the issues from 1902 to 1922, and the denominations. Our readers may not care for the details but will probably be interested in the totals which are: Ordinary postage stamps (1c to $5), 15,478,006,095 stamps; Special Delivery, 62,370,100 stamps; Postage Due, 61,960,950 stamps. These quantities are for stamps, not their values.

Australian Commonwealth—Mr. C. A. Heath writes: "I have today received from my Australian correspondent a full sheet, 120 stamps, of the new 1/2d, printed in orange. I enclose a block of four with my compliments. My correspondent advises that this stamp is not on general sale and will not be until the old 1/2d green is all sold out. He says that, at present, the orange stamps are difficult to obtain and that, without doubt, I am one of the first in America to receive them. They are accepted for postage, as the cover containing my sheet was franked with them."

Brazil—We have not yet seen the new stamp of 200 reis, issued to commemorate the entry of the triumphal army into Bahia, July 2nd, 1823. Our contemporaries are unanimous in declaring the stamps badly designed and wretchedly printed. L'Echo de la Timbrologie says:

"This stamp, printed in rose, is lithographed in the most barbarous manner. Horses which caracole, plumes which wave, soldiers who present arms, an army which defiles—how can all that be contained in a lithograph five centimeters square? The excuse for commemoratives is beauty of impression; that is totally lacking in the poor label which Brazil has just issued."

China—Mr. Gordon Thompson has sent us two letters about the new commemorative issue which we chronicle in this number.

"Oct. 16, 1923.

I learn today that a new commemorative set of four values has appeared in Peking—in commemoration of the promulgation of the Constitution. They must have been lying in storage for a long time, since each new political leader or tuchun has been going to promulgate the constitution at once. But since the new president, Tsao Kun, has bought the Parliament anyway, in order to be elected president, I suppose he concluded he might just as well get some work out of them and so had them ratify the constitution at once. Mixing politics with stamps!"

"Oct. 25, 1923.

"It is interesting to speculate as to how long this issue has been ready; in my other letter I spoke of the long time the constitution has been 'a-promulgating'. The 4c value rather suggests that they were prepared at least a year ago, when the attempt was made to increase the rates, using 4c for the domestic letter rate; certainly the 4c value has little use now. The 1c is used for local letters, the 6c for foreign post cards, and the 10c for foreign letters. The heavy ugly columns are also very similar to those used in the stamps which Yuan Shi Kai had ready to issue when he should be crowned emperor, and which never got issued. It is very probable that the same artist designed these stamps. Certainly it is not the work of the one who drew the air-mail stamps."

Cost Rica—We have seen imperforate blocks of all values of the Jimenez centenary issue of 1923, both the stamps for ordinary postage and those with the official overprint. We have also seen the large blue and black "coffee" stamp of 1921 in an imperforate block. It does not seem probable that these numerous varieties are accidental.

Cyrenaica and Tripolitania—Two more names that are new to the stamp catalogues. Apparently the Italian colony of Libya is to disappear as a stamp issuing entity and be replaced by the names of the two districts that compose it. We think the following extracts from The Statesman's Year Book may interest our readers:

"Tripoli fell under Turkish domination in the sixteenth century and though, in 1714, the Arab population secured some measure of independence, the country was in 1835 proclaimed a Turkish vilayet. In September, 1911, a quarrel broke out between Turkey and Italy, and the latter invaded Tripoli and established an army there. On November 5, 1911, a decree was issued annexing Tripoli, and on February 23, 1912, the Italian Chamber passed the bill which ratified the decree of annexation. The war, nevertheless, continued until October 18, 1912, when the Treaty of Ouchy was signed, by which the sovereignty of Italy in Tripoli was established. This has been recognized by the Great Powers.

For administrative and military purposes the country is divided (decree of May 17, 1919) into two independent districts, Tripolitania and Cyrenaica, with their respective capitals at Tripoli and Benghazi, both under the jurisdiction of the Italian Minister of Colonies. Both provinces natives have equal rights with Italians, and in each there is a small local parliament elected by citizens."

From 1901 to 1911 the Italian stamps used in Tripoli are regarded and listed as issues for Italian offices abroad. After the country passed definitely under Italian control it became the colony of Libya (Libia Italiana) and stamps for use there were overprinted "Libia" had that word incorporated in the designs. We have not learned why the postal administration of the colony has now been divided.

In the October number of the Journal we chronicled (on the authority of Sammler Woche) the Italian "Propaganda of the Faith" issue with the overprints "Libia" and "Somalia." In the light of this month's Chronicle for these colonies, we feel very doubtful of the existence of the stamps attributed to them in October.

Czechoslovakia—When sending us new commemorative stamps, our correspondent, Mr. George Hora, writes about the name of his country: "You should write this long word as or without the hyphen between 'Czech' and 'Slovakia.'" He continues:

"Allow me to inform you that Czechoslovakia issued on October 28th, 1918, a special set of Commemorative and Charity stamps, in memory of the fifty anniversary of the recreation of the State. There are four stamps in the set, the design portraying President Masaryk. I enclose a sample set with my compliments. I regret to say that these stamps, which are available for both domestic and foreign postage, are sold with a surtax of 100 per cent, in favor of the Red Cross and other social institutions and, what is worse, there is no surcharge on the stamps indicating this surtax. The 'Union of Czechoslovak Philatelic Associations' has protested against this issue—it would be more correct to say against the late surtax—but its warning voice has not been heeded by the Postal Authorities. All the Czechoslovak philatelists regret that the anniversary was misused in this way. These stamps cease to be valid on December 31st, 1923. The number issued is not known to me."

Good, Old British Colonies!

In Demand Everywhere—All The Time

Excellent variety—fast selling stamps. Every collection is "Quality-Built" both in name and character: the FINEST that money can buy. No duplicates, no minor varieties, no damaged.

The following UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS speak for themselves:

The collection of 4,000 British Colonies, recently purchased, is selling fine! I buy from many dealers, in scores of countries, but no one has ever given me the values I have received from you." C. S. Ernest, 616 Pine St., Seattle, Wash.

4,000 British Colonies Mounted

Reduced to $535.00!

The finest example of painstaking workmanship to be found anywhere! Assembled up to a standard and not down to a price, this collection represents an undertaking of considerable size and difficulty but one of which we can truthfully say, "Well done!" In assembling of this size does not seem so unusual when one remembers the thousands of watermarks, color, perforation varieties, etc., etc. But that's where the extraordinary part is so apparent: Our collection contains absolute straight, major varieties only! No watermark or perforation distinctions, no paper or color differences—just clean, good stamps, all in the nicest condition, from the oldest to the newest issues, neatly mounted by countries in several blank albums. Hundreds of mint stamps from almost every colony, past and present, many fine sets, including a number of the high values, and scarce, hard-to-get items. Naturally, we have only one collection in stock. Offered as usual, on a "return-if-not-well-pleased" basis, and highly recommended as a sterling investment.

NEATLY MOUNTED IN TWO BOOKS.

NEW PRICE—$63.50

This collection maintains in every respect the high standard of quality so apparent in all "Harrisco" offerings. To anyone who can afford a purchase of this size, we would recommend it in preference to a smaller collection, because of the many higher valued stamps which it contains. Reduced from $67.50 to only Net $63.50.

"On October 28, 1923, a regular air line was inaugurated in Czechoslovakia, from Prague to Bratislava (the Slovakian capital), and it is projected to L'zhovor (capital of Carpathian Russia), every day a trip in both directions, for carrying the mails and passengers. The length of the first part of the line Prague-Bratislava) is nearly 400 kilometres. The undertaking is by a state society, the 'Czechoslovak State Air line.' This is the fourth air line going through or from Prague. The other three being Prague-Paris, Prague-Vienna, Prague-Vienna-Budapest - Bucharest-Constantinople."

Danzig—It is a relief to know that this country has adopted a new currency and that we are to be spared further reporting of stamps with denominations running into hundreds of millions. The new currency is on a gold basis and is expressed in pfennigs and gulden, one hundred of the former to one of the latter. The gulden is worth about 20 cents in money of the United States. One of the latest things to reach us before the new currency was put into use was a small circular with the postage paid by two stamps of 30,000,000 marks each.

Denmark—Le Timbre Poste announces that Mr. John Spohr has found in a mixed lot of stamps a copy of the 3sk ray and lilac, of 1870-71, (No. 17), with the centre inverted. This is the only known copy of this error.

Germany—This country continues to turn out stamps of astounding denominations, as will be seen by our chronicle. Mr. T. E. Steinway has shown us two envelopes which had enclosed letters of ordinary size and weight. One was marked by four stamps of ten billion marks and the other by two stamps of twenty billions. A stamp of fifty billions is the highest denomination that has reached us at the time this is written. At any moment it may be made to appear insignificant by the appearance of stamps of much greater ostensible value. The long rows of ciphers take up so much room that we have tried to devise some abbreviations for use in our Chronicle and catalogue.

Italy—A large amount of space in our current chronicle of new issues is occupied by Italy and her colonies. If many of these new things had not been issued we would have felt no regret. One of our French contemporaries says: "Italy exaggerates. She overwhelms us with issues that are unnecessary and of gigantic sizes." Italian art in past centuries was of unsurpassed beauty and excellence, but it is not perpetuated in her stamp issues of this and recent years. The stamps of the new Fascisti issue lack beauty of design, the sizes are inharmonious, and the execution of some of them is very inferior. The "black shirt" labels are too large for stamps and too small to be used as post-cards. The effort to suggest an antique medal does not result happily. As will be seen by the inscriptions, these stamps have double values, one for postage and one for the provident fund of the black shirts, who are, by the way, the Italian national militia. We doubt that the distribution to each of the Italian colonies of a few thousand sets of each of the new issues will be materially helpful to postal affairs, though it may yield a small increase in revenue.

Japan—From a letter of Messrs. Yuasa & Co. we obtain the following information about the details of the design of the new stamps. The chrysanthemum is, of course, the imperial crest.

At each side are cherry trees in full flower. The mountain is Fuji-yama. The dragonflies in the upper corners are symbols much used in Japan. The four characters above the chrysanthemum mean "Japanese Post," those below it indicate the value of the stamp. The stamps are printed by the offset process. It is stated that the series will consist of the denominations 1/2, 1 1/2, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 10, and 20 sen. We are surprised that a stamp of 1 sen is not included. Elsewhere we find it stated that the new stamps are made by the Seihan Instasa Co., a prominent printing establishment in Osaka. A large number of the best workmen from the former government printing bureau have been employed by the Seihan Instasa Co. to assist in producing the new stamps.

It is announced that the wedding of the Prince Regent will be commemorated by an issue of four stamps, 1 1/2, and 3 sen for domestic letters, and 8 and 20 sen for foreign postage.

Liberia—We have seen a set of eight large and ugly labels, purporting to be a new issue of stamps for Liberia, and displaying portraits, animals, buildings, etc. They are printed by lithography, each in two colors, on paper watermarked Crosses and Circles, like some other "made in Germany" issues. The same designs are printed in other colors and overprinted "O.S." All copies seen by us were cancelled but retained their full gum. Pending further information, we do not chronicle these stamps.

Mexico—Mr. F. Roterberg has shown us a horizontal pair of the 5c ultramarine of 1916-17, (No. 612) rouletted all around but imperforate vertically between.

$32.50 - 1,500 BRITISH COLONIES - $32.50
NEATLY MOUNTED IN THREE BOOKS.

Reduced from $37.50

This collection is of such exceptional value that it ought to interest any progressive dealer, collector or exchanger, and our low quotations can be doubly appreciated when we mention that the same collection was offered less than six months ago at $42.50! Contains stamps from the colonies only, each one distinctly different, watermark and perforation varieties entirely excluded. With the thousands of changed watermarks and colors now appearing, this point alone adds many dollars to the value of the collection. A goodly percentage of the stamps are unused, mint, and small, out-of-the-way countries such as Turks Islands, Virgin Islands, Antigua, Zanzibar, Maldives, Kenya, Dominica, Lagos, Montserrat, Sarawak, Togo, Papua, etc., are extraordinarily well represented.

The collection is neatly hinged, alphabetically, in three large books, and presents a most attractive appearance.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

The notice of the death of George H. Worthington, Cleveland, in our issue of two weeks ago has brought us responses from several collectors, who give different sidelights on his collecting career. A point that might be spoken of at some length is that the fame of Mr. Worthington as a collector had penetrated to all quarters of the world through the volume of newspaper publicity that he received as the possessor of a collection of almost fabulous value, in the eyes of the layman. To some extent, he was the stamp Midas of his day, in public print, and he was a fascinating figure, in consequence. He did not avoid this white light of publicity as he took pride in being a philatelist and if the world could be told of stamps through him, so much the better for all concerned. Too, it is emphasized that his interest in his collection was deep and that it was a working one and not an affectation in any sense of the word.

A new revenue stamp is to be added to the list of Future Delivery stamps in the shape of the twenty dollar stamp, which a correspondent says that he has seen. Further, a twenty dollar and a two hundred dollar, Stock Transfer, is provided for on the latest blank received by the internal revenue offices.

Recently, we received a note from London, to the effect that a copy of the first edition of Sever and Francis' Catalogue of Postage Stamps, 1863, Cambridge (Mass.), was included in a lot of reference books that had been delivered to our informant for use in his work on a governmental committee. He was impressed by the coincidence that accidentally a stamp publication of this kind should reach him who, for many years, has been a philatelist. As we were familiar with the work, having examined it through the kindness of a reader a number of years ago, we did not ask the London correspondent to describe it in detail. Now, through the agency of Mr. A. A. Leve, we acquire a copy of this interesting first edition which is a little volume of 78 pages from the press of Welch, Bigelow & Co., Cambridge. There are no illustrations in the book but the explanations are a feature and have an instructive value that even now would be appreciated. In the Addenda, it is learned that the United States has prepared a two cent stamp for local letters, with "stamped envelopes of the same kind" having the head of Jackson for the design. "They will be ready in early July." The word perforated is not used in the book, "dentated" taking its place. Sever and Francis were prominent publishers at the time.

Here is the first reaction reported to the line defacement of foreign stamps in the standard catalogue. Mr. A. Hippen says that a boy who was sent by his father for a catalogue brought it back the next day, saying that he wanted it exchanged for one in which the stamp cuts were not "spoiled." The dealer explained why the pictures were treated as they were and sent the boy back with the book. The father then made his appearance and it was hard work convincing him that all the catalogues were the same and that he was not the victim of a desire on the part of the dealer to work off a defective copy of the book.

* * *

Good old Briggs, the artist whose pictures ooze with heart interest, as his many pictorial triumphs testify, gives stamp collecting a bit of a boost in one of his latest sketches. He shows the boys at home on a dark dreary day, engaged in whiling away the hours in characteristic manner; and one of the little chaps who is looking at a stamp album congratulates its owner in having some of those dandy Honduras stamps.

Some time ago, Mr. L. R. Raikes (as we decipher the signature) wrote to say that he wished very much to obtain the decision in the case of the United States that was instituted against the Walter Scott Stamp Company, in New York, based on the seizure by the government of the U. S. periodical stamps from the company in question and which was the basis for the sale later of the set of periodical stamps by the government at five dollars to collectors and others. We are indebted to Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz for the extract from the "Digest of Decisions of the United States and Other Courts Affecting the Post Office Department and Postal Service," Washington, which follows: "U. S. Courts Other than Supreme Courts. The exchange by the government of newspapers and periodical stamps with members of the so-called 'Postal Union' whereby over 700 complete sets of such stamps were issued, was without any reservation and did not render unlawful the sale or gift of such stamps to private dealers or collectors. U. S. vs. Walter Scott Stamp Company, 87 F. (c. c.), 721 (U. S., 1898)." This was one of the celebrated cases involving stamps and the stamp dealers who collected funds for the proper legal representation of their side locked horns with the authorities to their advantage, so far as the decision of the court related.

The growth of our five-year subscription club has been noticed by some of our readers who find in its progress a theme for moralizing. The idea of this club, conceived and launched by our managing editor, will be attributed to the business acumen of the originator in wanting to bulwark the subscription list. If you place the most material reason for the existence of this honor roll at our door, the fact remains that there are other aspects to the club that have a deeper significance than any catch-penny proposition on our part. Today, the five-year club has a numerical strength that is such as to refute the claim that is often made that stamp collecting is a "transient fancy" or a "passing craze." With some show of truth the critics of our pursuit have alleged that the followers of philately are not permanent in their affections or that the complexion of stamp collectors is an ever changing one. We knew that the allegation was not without force as a talking point but it was emphasized unfairly by those who seemed to have some strange antipathy for stamp collectors. Owing to a lack of definite figures on which to base a contradiction, the statement was assailed only in a general way. When the life memberships in the American Philatelic Society began to multiply, it was shown that many collectors regarded stamps as something for life-long association. Then came our five-year honor roll which has now a length that proves the hundreds of our readers are glad to adventure with a five dollar bill for a five year trip, thereby confirming their faith in philately and establishing its permanency. In no mean way these readers prove that philately will endure.

Words of approval come for the proposal to invite a special stamp for philately in connection with the international philatelic exhibition at Philadelphia, 1926. It is natural that those who favor the suggestion are the ones to write while the dissenters feeling that they cannot agree, say nothing at this early day. Further argument is withheld pending the digestion of Mr. Huber Lyman Clark's protest. We have a feeling that there will be no lack of discussion on the subject and our serenity in the belief that there would be no opposition to the special stamp may be in for a series of jolts. There are two sides to every question, it seems, although we thought that there was only one to this. The necessity of knowing what we want if we want anything, before asking for it, is evident.

THE NEW BRITISH CONTRACT.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

With the turn of the year the manufacture of the British postage stamps will pass from the present contractors, Messrs. Harrison and Sons Limited, to Messrs. Waterlow and Sons, Limited.
It is just twelve years since the present printers started work on the postage stamps at their great factory at Hayes (Middlesex), which was acquired specially for this contract. Now the new contractors are busily equipping their factory at Watford, and should be ready to start printing on January 1st next.

Messrs. Waterlow and Sons are famous for their beautiful recess-plate printing and for photogravure, but philatelists have not hitherto associated this firm particularly with the production of typographical postage stamps. Nevertheless, the new contractors have been engaged in the production, by surface-printing, of the large output of National Health and Unemployment Insurance stamps since their introduction in 1912. These are printed in the same way as our postage
stamps.

There have been notable developments in stamp printing, both at home and abroad, since the last change of contract in 1911, and the new contractors will be required to adapt some of the new processes. While stamps have been printed in the reel for some years on the Continent and in America, they have hitherto only been printed (other than experimentally) in the sheet from flat plates in England. This has been the case even with the stamps now is-shades of colour, are almost unavoidable. From the commencement of printing at Watford there will be new controls (the letter and date in the bottom sheet margin) which will distinguish sheets of the new from those of the old contractors' work.

To start with, the new printers will use the same plates, which are constructed and supplied by the Operative

Department of the Royal Mint, as

there will not be any immediate change of design; new designs may, however, follow at no very distant date. A change in the watermark is more likely, the present chain watermark of script ciphers not being entirely satisfactory. There may be a change to a more distinctive Roman-letter watermark, in which case it will not be a chain, but an "all-over" (or, as philatelists term it, "multiple") watermark.

As an interesting measure of economy there may be a re-arrangement of the present sheet-form of 240 stamps per sheets as issued to the post-offices.

This will involve dispensing with the pillared margin between the two panes (or half-sheets) of 120 stamps. By closing up the two panes there will be a substantial saving on the year's consumption of the special watermarked paper used for stamps.

Our output of stamps for the coming year should be about 7,500,000,000, the great majority of these being of the 1/2d and 1 1/2d denominations, but in the event of the hoped-for reversion to penny postage, the 1d stamp would again recover its pride of place as the most largely-circulated of our postage stamps.—Daily Telegraph.

FRANCE MAY ABOLISH STAMPS.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Dismaying postage

stamp collectors, the French department of posts and telegraphs is seriously considering the abolition of stamps and the substitution of machines which will af-franchise letters and packages by sealing them with a distinctive initial.

Machines will be in all post-offices and small ones will be sold to individual users.

They will work on the lines of slot machines and will be located at all

2c Surface Print, Imperf., Type IV.

Some months back, about ten sheets of the imperf. 2c surface prints, Scott's type IV, but really the first type of the surface printed stamps, were found in the Chicago Post Office. This is a variety of Scott's 526 and lists in their Specialized catalogue on page 78 at 75c per stamp, or $3.00 a block of four. The variety formerly listed $1.00 a block because of the small number at first found, later, a larger quantity came to light in Pittsburgh and the price fell. I can furnish magnificent mint copies of this variety at 40c for single stamps, 80c a pair or $1.50 a block. I do not recall ever seeing the variety offered at a more interesting figure.

Should you desire the plate number, arrow or center line blocks, prices will be equally reasonable.

UNITED STATES.—Pane of 1851, 1c Blue.—One of our Philadelphia collectors recently acquired one of the most interesting items in the way of early U. S. that it has been my pleasure to inspect for some time, namely, a complete pane of one hundred of the 1c blue, issue of 1851. This was the right pane from the second plate and was found in an old law book where it had been folded and put away many years before. It seems that it was purchased in Boston by an attorney at the time of issue and he folded it in half and then folded it twice again and put it in this book where it remained for some years. Unfortunately, the creases are heavy and a portion of the upper part of the pane is badly damaged, but very luckily the ninety-ninth stamp which is the well known type III is in wonderful condition. The sheet has since been acquired by a dealer and it is to be hoped that it will pass intact into one of our larger collections. A block of about eighty of the same stamp was in the Worthington collection but unfortunately the rare ninety-ninth stamp in this case was damaged.

Early Railway Mail Service.—The Corn Exchange, a monthly publication of the Corn Exchange National Bank of Philadelphia, for December contains an interesting story entitled "U. S. Postal Service as an Economic Factor." This article tells us about the reduction of the Postal rates during the administration of President Polk, stating that on July 1, 1847, the new rates of 5c for letters that were to be sent a distance of under 300 miles, and 10c for over three hundred miles went into effect. From 1789 to 1847 it cost from 8 to 25c to send a letter from one point to another in the United States.

The article further tells us that the first railway to transport the United States mail was the South Carolina, Canal & Railroad Co., the present line of the Southern Railway System extending from Charleston, S. C., to Hamburg, S. C., opposite Augusta, Ga. This was in 1832 when the Government contracted with the railroad to transport the mail between Charleston and Woodstock, fifteen miles, in lieu of the stage coach.

In a report to the Board of Directors of this Road, dated May 4, 1832, the genesis of the present vast system of the Transportation of mail by railways is told in the following language:

"Our Road is the first in America on which the mail was transported, it is now three months since the mails for Augusta, Camden, and Columbia with the passengers in the mail stages have been conveyed along the twelve miles nearest the city (Charleston). At present they are taken up and set down at Woodstock, fifteen miles from town. We shall in about ten days extend this conveyance to Somerville, and expect to derive not a little profit from the connection of these two lines of communication with the interior."

It is rather an interesting coincident that during this same year, 1832, was also the year that Matthias W. Baldwin made his first locomotive. Have you ever stopped to think what a debt of gratitude we all owe to our modern locomotive for carrying the mail? After all "Uncle Sam" does a great deal for two cents, and our Postal Administration is a powerful agency for the advancement of our National Prosperity.

Chemical Changelings.—In our issue of April 22, 1922, Dr. Stephen C. Rich wrote a very interesting article dealing with the chemical changelings brought about, subjecting our current postage stamps to different chemicals. Mr. Rich has added considerable to the collection as a result of further experiments, and has kindly presented this to me for my reference work. It is especially appropriate at the present time for I do not recall when so many changelings have been submitted before as supposedly errors of color. The 10c current stamp seems to be the subject of quite a good deal of correspondence, for this may be readily changed to the brown of the 4c. The nearest approach that we have ever had to the famous 5c error was about a year back when the Department condemned a quantity of the 11c stamps claiming that they too nearly approached the color of the 1c to be advisable to distribute them generally. A number, however, were distributed, and this stamp is an excellent shade variety but to the philatelist is not as near in color to the 1c as it would possibly be to the mail clerk handling thousands of letters and packages.

Georgia State Revenues.—Mr. Frank L. Applegate kindly sends for inspection a copy of the new 2c stamp issued by the State of Georgia, for the collection of a tax on cigars and cigarettes. The variety is lithographed, measures 36mm x 21mm and is rouletted 6½. In the center of the stamp is a seal of the State of Georgia surrounded by concentric circles within which we find "Cigar and Cigarette Tax." On either side is a tobacco plant. Horizontally across the top of the stamp "State of Georgia" with figures 2 in white within ovals in the lower corners, with "Cents" between. Mr. Applegate informs us that the issue consists of ½ cent chocolate, 1c carmine, 1½c blue, 2c green, 12½c olive, 25c orange and 50c violet. It seems that the tax is collected in a somewhat different manner than in Iowa, South Dakota, South Carolina and Utah where the tax is one mill on each cigarette. In Georgia the tax on both cigars and cigarettes is 10% of the selling price. The law went into effect on January 1st last, and John M. Vandirer was appointed Commissioner of Revenue, being responsible for the design adopted and sale and distribution of stamps. It is hoped that within the next couple years a half million dollars may be collected and this will be used toward building and equipping a State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, at Alto, and the balance will go toward paying pensions to Confederate Veterans. We wish to thank Mr. Edwin C. Bailey, A. C. Holly and L. G. Barrett for notes of interest.

NORTH BORNEO.—Our Sandakan correspondent, Mr. Yat Fong, informs us that there is a shortage of 3c stamps, now so much used on local correspondence, and that a quantity of the current 4c have been surcharged to meet the deficiency. This is the fourth of the 1909 series to be surcharged, the previous provisionals having appeared in 1916 when the 3c, 6c and 12c values were surcharged 2c, 4c and 10c respectively to supply the required denominations, a supply of which had been lost at sea in the S. S. Persia. Surcharged THREE CENTS in block capitals, with original value deleted by bars.—Philatelic Magazine.

NORWAY.—A letter is just to hand from Mr. Rolf L. Berentzen, Secretary of the Christiania Philatelists' Club, under cover of a 10 öre green and 25 öre carmine in the Lion type. They are perforated and are postmarked Christiania, 22.12.23. We are informed that they were issued on that day but not actually sold over the post-office counters until January 1st.—Stamp Collecting.

PALESTINE.—Our Cairo correspondent, Mr. Charles Julien Hunt, informs us that the 1m and 8m Postage Dues have both appeared imperf. One sheet of 100 of each value was printed thus, fifty of each being issued and the rest destroyed. The 13m is also to be found imperf. between.—Stamp Collecting.

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—A recent decree authorizes the issue of stamps of the denominations of 20, 24 and 25 centavos and 5, 10 and 20 escudos, for the colonies of Angola, Cape Verde, Guinea, Mozambique and St. Thomé. At the same time notice is given of the impending appearance of the 60c in red and the 1 escudo in dark blue.

The 1½, 2½, 4½, 7 and 7½c values are no longer to be printed.

A series of nine Postage Due labels, ranging from ½c to 50c is to be used in Nyassa.—Stamp Collecting.

SOUTH WEST AFRICA.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us a pair of 6d stamps with Zuidwest in one word.

Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle the 1 pound stamp of the Union of South Africa with the overprint "Zuidwest" in one word. Also the 6d postage due stamp, 1st type, wide overprint with hyphen between Zuid and West surcharged on 6d grey, Union of South Africa, local print.

TONGA.—News of an unexpected provisional is imparted by Mr. G. Rhodes, who informs us that the 5d "old type" (i.e., King George II of Tonga) has been surcharged "Two Pence."—Stamp Collecting.

NANKING LOCAL POST.

(Prof. James Lewis Howe sends us the following article which appeared in a Nanking, China, publication: We consider the article of sufficient interest to our readers to reprint the same.—W. O. W.)

Among the early problems in Nanking was getting letters and parcels from Shanghai. This was before the Chinese Postal Service was established, before Nanking was made an open port, and we were dependent upon the courtesy and kindness of the officers of the river steamers who, without any charge to us, brought our mail and parcels and left them with the Chinese hulk master at Hsia Kwan. Mexican dollars were shipped in strong boxes from Shanghai and our supplies came by parcel ticket on the steamers, with no customs to pass. It was rare that anything was lost and we were greatly indebted to the steamer companies. When we were passengers the amount of freight they allowed us to bring with us was never questioned.

But the Chinese hulk master felt that a gratuity was due him for every single letter or parcel that passed through his hands and the sum of fifty cash came to be the established fee for this service.

As our numbers grew and mail increased it got to be a rather heavy tax and a council to devise ways and means was called which resulted in one of the missionaries taking charge of our mail service who made an arrangement with the Presbyterian Press in Shanghai to assemble all mail and parcels for Nanking, enclose them in a mail bag, entrust it to the steamer and it was landed at Nanking for fifty cash. Our mail was sent to Shanghai in this bag and a coolie was hired to go to Hsia Kwan every day to get incoming mail and to deliver it. But soon anxious suspicions began to arise in our missionary postmaster's mind that the hulk master might discover our plan and make us trouble. So after some consideration he decided to make a personal and friendly visit to Hsia Kwan and forestall difficulties by some strategic and politic measure. In those days we went to Hsia Kwan by taking a sampan at Han Si Men and a trip consumed a good part of the day. That afternoon the postmaster returned with a smile on his face and with hope in his eye and told me he had fixed the hulk master so we would have no trouble. "What did you do to him?" I inquired. "Well I make him a present of a bottle of essence of lemon that pleased him very much and I am sure we will have no trouble about our mail." The result proved the efficacy of his strategy and our mail service went on smoothly thereafter. The Chinese horizon has extended since then and I am inclined to think it would take a larger cumshaw than a bottle of essence of lemon to smooth an affair at Hsia Kwan today.

A few years went by and after the Chinese-Japanese war our viceroy, Chang Chi Tung, secured from Germany a number of officers to give his soldiers instruction in modern military tactics and thirty German officers were added to our community who made use of our mail service. Several other foreigners, mostly in government employ, became residents and our postal arrangement served all alike. The expense of this service was met by an assessment of the missions in Nanking and as the work grew it was necessary to increase our facilities, and it was necessary for a missionary to have charge of the service giving it oversight and direction, which was done voluntarily for the community. But it was evident that some plan must be devised so that the revenue could be increased and the expense of the service be more equitably distributed. An arrangement was in operation whereby the Shanghai Local Post and our local service exchanged mail bags and received and distributed mail as a reciprocal service. The arrangement for our mail formed a smoothly working and efficient system that had been in operation for several years, meeting an urgent need in a legitimate way. About this time several so-called local post-offices had been started by individuals in other ports for

No matter what stamp you need in 20th Colonials, I can supply it—of course some of the stamps here named will be used on "wants" before this list reaches you, but send me your list and I will try and get them. Every stamp in this collection is priced net. Just what I ask for it—the fact that it is on a "want list" does not increase its price—one net figure to all!

FRANK POLLARD BROWN

the purpose of issuing stamps for sale to stamp collectors and it was rumored in Nanking that the German officers in connection with an individual in Shanghai were going to inaugurate a similar enterprise in our city. It was then decided to issue stamps ourselves and require all mail going from our office to use our postage stamps, do away with the mission assessments and depend upon the sale of stamps to meet the expenses of the system. Some very attractive stamps with Nanking views were secured from Japan and our service continued to be conducted on this plan until the Chinese government established its present postal service and opened an office in Nanking.

The issuing of postage stamps was never undertaken in a speculative spirit but only with a desire to equitably distribute the expense of the service. Indeed it was thought by some that the missions would still have to contribute to meet the expenses of the system. However when our service ceased to operate it was found that there had been a profit of a few hundred dollars and this was devoted to the adornment and upkeep of the foreign cemetery.

THE ZEST FOR PERFECTION.

Stamp collectors provide the Federal Government with its only real bonanza. Their purchases of uncanceled stamps are obviously a net gain to the Government, for stamps which fall into a collector's hands are not used for postage. The Post-office Department need render no service on account of them, and the money received from their sale can be diverted to any purpose that seems desirable and proper.

It is gratifying, therefore, to learn that the postal authorities are culling out perfect stamps which come from their presses in order to make sure that no hungry collector shall go away unsatisfied. If the connoisseurs refuse ordinary stamps with slight or imaginary blemishes, common sense demands the exercise of a little care in return for the cash which they so willingly and over.

A harsh and unscrupulous government would doubtless make sure that few perfect stamps are printed. It would then be able to sell them at monopoly prices. But the United States is rarely acting honestly. There must be no thought of cornering the market after the fashion of shrewd dealers in various commodities. Perhaps, after all, the collectors would not tolerate a hold-up. They might stop buying in order to teach the lesson that honesty is the best policy.

There is an engaging side to the success of the Government in selling perfect stamps to people who intend not to use them. Devotion to the ideal of perfection makes it possible, and such devotion is so rare as to deserve the highest admiration. It would be more useful if, for instance, it led collectors to buy the vessels of the Shipping Board as mementoes of what once was upheld as a perfect scheme of maritime expansion; but that is asking too much. Ships can be bought anywhere, but stamps must be bought from the Government.—Balto Sun.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS.

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

THE NEW YORK COLLECTORS CLUB.

The 1924 program of this club is very interesting as it shows an attempt to weld together in the bonds of Philately, the Philatelists of New York and the nearby cities and towns. From January to June this year a program has been arranged by which prominent collectors in Philadelphia, Springfield, McKeesport, Pa., Boston, Baltimore, Columbus, South Orange, and Plainfield, N. J., have promised to show portions of their collections at the Collectors Club.

On each of these occasions the Club is inviting other well known collectors from the exhibitor's city, to be the guests of the Club on the evening he shows. On Wednesday, January 23rd, this plan was inaugurated with very great success.

Major T. Charlton Henry came up from Philadelphia and gave a display and a wonderfully interesting talk on the stamps of the British West Indies. On this occasion, in addition to the guest of the evening the Club was happy to have as visitors from Philadelphia, Admiral Fred. Harris, Mr. F. K. Wainwright and Mr. E. Klein, who met a large number of the local collectors.

In the course of his remarks, Major Henry stated that many years ago he set out to specialize in the stamps of the West Indies printed by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., and only of recent years has he added the B. W. Indies of other printers.

This collection is certainly the finest and largest collection of the Perkins, Bacon & Co.'s printings of the British West Indies in the United States and is remarkable for two things. First, the perfect condition of all the stamps and secondly, the marvellous blocks of unused stamps of the early issues.

In his remarks Major Henry drew attention to various little matters that require correction in the catalogues.

Antigua—He does not think that the 1d and 6d wmk. small star, were issued as imperf. sheets. The 1d is known in the Tapling collections, part perf. and probably the imperf. have come from trimmed varieties with unusual margins.

Bahamas—The great feature here were the fine large blocks of no wmk. stamps unused and in mint condition.

Barbados—Major Henry believes that the imperf. 4d red on white paper is not of the issue of 1856, but is a variety of the rough perf. stamps of 1861. He drew attention to the difference in papers and impression of many early issues of which he showed large blocks, and explained to which issues such stamps really belonged.

St. Lucia—Included grand blocks of the first issues and some blocks of the Crown and CC, both perf. 12½ and perf. 14.

St. Vincent—A superb lot throughout. In addition to blocks of many of the early issues, the provisionals of which was especially strong in desirable issues of the past ten years, Europeans, Colonials, etc.

RACINE, WIS.

1880-1881 were very fine and included the 4d on 1sh on cover from the Seybold collections.

St. Christopher—Major Henry drew attention to the method of printing the provisionals of 1885-88, and showed that the large surcharge ONE-PENNY in two lines on 2½d could be plated as every one of the twenty settings in the sheets differed and this is very useful in testing the genuine character of the rare inverted surcharge.

Tobago—Attention was drawn to the two printings of the 6d orange first issue. The first was in thin letters and in a pale orange color, the second in thick letters of a dark shade. This is important as the rare MSS. provisional 1d on half 6d is only genuine on the first printing, and scores of forgeries are offered on the second printing.

Trinidad—A really wonderful lot of the early issues. It was pointed out that a large number of bogus cancellations are being offered on the "remainder" issues of 1851-57.

This show of the rare lithographed stamps of 1852-56 was specially fine and included a number of fine strips.

These gatherings are most instructive and valuable and the Collectors Club will be glad to have Philatelists from other cities come to the meetings whenever they are in New York.

THE MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS.

By "PHILATELIA."

The Kuwait provisionals have started to come on the market, a second printing having been made, which is not quite so restricted as the first, but used copies, as is to be expected, are very scarce. The Service stamps also are scarce and still hard to obtain.

The reduction of the ordinary postage rate of Malta to this country, from 2d to 1½d, has necessitated a new denomination. This will doubtless become the common value instead of the 2d. Fortunately the provisional forecasted did not materialise. It is curious that the 4d yellow, that much abused stamp, is still running despite the outcry against its sickly shade. After using 4½d and 5d stamps for so many years, these values have now been dispensed with, probably owing to changes in postal rates, as latterly the numbers used had been small. Two stamps of this popular Colony are worth watching as substantial rises are likely very shortly. These are the 2sh 6d on Multiple paper and the 2sh on Script watermarked paper. Both had very short lives, and no dealers appear to have any considerable stocks of them. The Self-Government issues were more freely imported but here again demand continues brisk and prices are tending upwards of almost all varieties. Quite a number of the "Penny" errors of the 1d on 2½d provisional have been on offer lately in various quarters, and at much lower

WHEREIN I OFFERED U. S. OLD, SAYING I HAD MOST OF THEM AT 50% OFF CATALOG. I took it for granted that everyone knew that this did not include superb copies, or any with fancy cancellations. I made a number of new customers thru the ad, collectors who wanted fair, average copies, at ½ Scott's prices, but I did get several inquiries that amused me, which read in substance, "Please send me perfectly centred, superb copies of old U. S. at ½ cat, per your offer."

I did not answer those requests, for I would like to buy such copies at ½ Scott, so we were both working the same side of the street; but any reasonable collector who wants average copies, I have them, in nearly all U. S. cat. up to $25 ea. at half cat. Send want list and let me show you a selection.

are hard to get. Take any unpicked lot of 10,000 stamps—out of the 10,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, full, rich color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes or missing perforation, and lightly canceled.

Naturally you cannot buy stamps of this nature at bargain prices. But because of the prices which this kind of material always demands, the prices at which I sell are reasonable. Stamps in my stock that are a little off from what I have described are marked at correspondingly low prices. You will find much to interest you in a selection from my stock, which is strongest in the three cent 1861, three cent 1869, one, two, three, four, five, six and ten cent, 1870 to 1888, inclusive.

prices than are asked in the Colony itself. The broken letter varieties of the Self-Government issues are not in much demand, and collectors would be advised not to pay fancy prices for these or indeed any such minor or "inconstant" varieties, as they almost invariably do not prove to be a sound investment. Varieties that are much more likely to maintain or increase their value are such as re-entires, distinct errors or stop omissions that are constant throughout the printing or shed light on the history of its production.

Some of our Colonies are still labouring under customs duties on stamps imported that bear hardly on the small collector, and it is to be hoped that the efforts made for relief from a futile tax will be successful. If tariff walls are erected in this country against certain manufactured goods, postage stamps are not likely to be included in these, although some sort of protection against the flood of gum-paps, provisionals and speculative issues being dumped in this country from Europe and elsewhere. A good New Year resolution will be to determine to collect imperially in future, and interest oneself more and more in the issues of the great Dominions, the Colonies and Protectorates. Not only will the financial return be improved, but one will have a sound investment.—Philatelic Magazine.

THE MONTH.

Nicaragua—When sending us the new 1 centavo "R. de C." stamp (see Chronicle) Mr. E. W. Fuss writes: "My correspondent gives this reason for the issue of this stamp. Copies of the stamp of blue design with 'R. de C.' surcharge in red, which differed from the regular government issue, were discovered in the mails. Inspection showed them to be counterfeit. He did not state if both stamp and surcharge were counterfeit. They were made in Nicaragua. All blue 'R. de C.' stamps in stock at the post-offices were destroyed and this new one put on sale in their place. There are no missing periods or other major varieties, and the whole sheet of one hundred stamps is surcharged at one impression."

The "blue stamp" is, doubtless, the one we chronicled in November, the geometrical design, type A35, printed in pale blue, with "R. de C." and value surcharged in red. We are not surprised to hear it has been counterfeited. A lithographed stamp, poorly executed, must always be a temptation to counterfeiters.

Washington, Ind., precanceled in neat type between bars on the 1 cent wrapper, Scott's No. 3039, is a most desirable item. These were used by a circus several years ago in mailing out advertising matter. I offer complete wrappers at 40c each as long as my small supply holds out. ROBERT M. Cash or fine trade; Foreign Precancels for your Harding Precancels, any number. Submit with price. Columbia or Moberly, Mo., Hardings, 50c; blox, $1.75. Glen Kiser, Novinger, Mo.

Mr. Fuss also sends us two varieties of the 2 centavos red and black of the centenary issue, surcharged "R. de C." and "uncentavo" (No. 449 in the Adenda to the catalogue). These varieties are, double surcharge in black, and double surcharge in red and black. In the latter variety the black surcharge is very carefully applied directly over the red, with the apparent intention to obliterate it.

Russia—Last month we listed five stamps of the new series with values in gold kopeks and bearing the Russian letters "C.C.C.P." which are equivalent to the English "S.S.S.R." Mr. Robin Lampson informs us that these letters are the initials of four Russian words meaning "Union (or Federation) of Socialist Soviet Republics," which includes seven soviet republics. Unfortunately, he does not give the names of these republics. Messrs. Y. Souren Co. tell us that "Union" is the exact translation of the Russian word, and that "Federation" is equally correct, but suggest the use of "United Socialist Soviet Republics," as that was the exact term accepted by the Soviet representative here a year ago, when the different S.F.S.R. (Socialist Federated Soviet Republics) united together.

Messrs. Y. Souren Co. show us an envelope, cancelled "Moscow, 8, 10, 23," and bearing, among other stamps, two which have been divided diagonally and also surcharged with new values. One is the half of the 5r light blue of 1923 (No. 240), surcharged "3r" in violet. The other is half of the 30r on 50k brown violet and green of 1922-23, imperforate (No. 226), surcharged "7r" in violet. Messrs. Souren have no information about this cover except that it came regularly through the international mail. We defer a formal chronicle until more can be learned about these provisional stamps.

Mr. J. Almar and Messrs. Y. Souren Co. have shown us several charity stamps, which are inscribed "All Russian Committee for Help of Invalids," the initials "R.S.F.S.R." and values. They do not, however, bear the word "Posta," which makes us think they may be charity stamps, which it is permitted to attach to letters but which have no postal franking value. We have seen small stamps of 1 and 2 rubles and large stamps of 1, 2, 3 and 5 rubles, all of different designs. Again we feel it advisable to defer a chronicle. We have shown a number of other things which we think should await further information before being described.

Sarawak—Mr. H. B. Newman has shown us a block of the 1923 provisional "ONE CENT" on 10c ultramarine (No. 77). The block has margins which place it as Nos. 53, 54, 59 and 60 in the sheet. No. 53 has the error "cnet." Examination shows that this error is fraudulent, the original letters "en" having been rubbed out and "ne" printed over them. Traces of the original letters are easily seen and the rubbing is quite evident. The letters "ne" are slightly above the line of the others, are in a more shiny ink, and the impression and color show plainly on the back of the stamp. Mr. Newman received this block from a leading European firm who import direct. It would be interesting to know if all the "cnet" errors are made in this way or if there are some that are really genuine.

Transcaucasian Federated Republics—Here is a new name for the catalogues. When sending us the stamps of this federation which we chronicle in this number, Messrs. Y. Souren Co. write: "We have read in a newspaper recently received from Erivan, Armenia, the decree by which Armenia, Georgia and Azerbaijan have united their postal and monetary systems and hereafter will use the same postage and money."

On the stamps we find depicted Mount Ararat, the oil wells of Baku, the fruits of Georgia, and the Soviet star, hammer and sickle. The stamps have at the top the Russian letters "C. S. F. S. R.", the initials of "Caucasian Socialist Federated Soviet Republics". They also bear the word "Postage", as it is written in the three countries, and the values in figures. There is no indication of the currency, which we understand is in rubles.

Turkey in Asia—We have recently seen various stamps of type A14 in the catalogue with surcharges in Turkish that are not included in our lists. Mr. Eugene Klein has kindly translated these surcharges for us. They read "10 paras" and "1 grush" (piastre). Although the stamps and the surcharges are quite genuine, we wish to point out that they are merely revenue stamps. None of them have the overprints "Osmanli Postolari 1336" or "1337," by which other revenue stamps were made available for postal use. It is, of course, possible that these unlisted stamps are allowed to do postal duty, though we doubt it. In that case, they would have to be used before they would be recognized by collectors as revenue stamps used postally, and they would then belong in a category much less interesting than regular postage stamps.—Scott's Monthly Journal.

INFORMATION SERVICE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

As a result of several months of investigation and study by experts of the Post Office Department, Postmaster-General New today issued the first definite, concise and complete program that has ever been put out by the Department for the mailing, transmission and delivery of newspapers.

This order is most important. It is far reaching. It gives the same expedition to newspapers as is accorded to first class mail.

The order is the result of painstaking effort on the part of the Post Office inspectors, under the direction of First Assistant Postmaster-General Bartlett. Carefully worded and minute instructions have been issued to all employees engaged in handling the mails, so that there will be no possibility of misunderstanding the importance of getting newspapers to the reader with a minimum of delay.

The essence of the order is that newspapers shall not be mixed with parcels post at any point in their dispatch from the publishers' offices until their delivery to the addressees. Papers shall be handled by themselves, and kept in constant transit, not being sent to railway terminals to be reworked. In other words, they are to be handled in the same manner as first class mail.

An important feature of the order is that no publication shall be given any less efficient or less expeditious treatment than at present. That means that publications other than newspapers will not suffer one iota from this progressive innovation, made by the Post Office Department.

Another striking feature of the order is the elimination of sacks of mail which are known to the business world as "mixed mail." Sacks of mixed mail sometimes contain letters, papers, and parcels post, and oftentimes the entire contents were treated as parcels post. This order will prevent a recurrence of that condition.

Another important feature of the order is that postmasters are required to notify publishers in each instance when they do not hit the dispatch which they advertise to hit; also to notify publishers when they are sending to wrong addresses and to the addressees of deceased persons. Publishers will also be notified when they are putting up their mail in an incorrect manner.

Under the new system, newspapers will be made up in separate sacks plainly labeled with the word "NEWSPAPERS." If there are only a few copies of newspapers at the point of dispatch, they will be placed in pouches with first class mail or in separate sacks, even though the sacks are only partially filled.

This order means much to the American public. It is one of the most important and far reaching steps in post-office history. It is for the benefit of those who desire to have their newspapers placed before them at as early a moment as possible. This should keep both the city and rural population in closer and quicker touch with their several fields of activities.

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE "WEEKLY".

We have on hand a few bound volumes of the WEEKLY, and offer them for sale at very reasonable prices. The years in question are 1902, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909. The price of these books is $2 each and this price is extremely reasonable in view of the high cost of binding in these days. Just to show you what we can do in the way of a handsome, substantial sample volume of the WEEKLY we will send you the year 1907 for $1.50 plus the zone parcel post charges on three pounds. This offer is for immediate acceptance.

A CATALOGUE CRITIQUE.

A Criticism of the List and Prices in the New Catalogue of the United States Postmasters' Issues and of the Confederate States Provisional Issues

By CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

As one who has largely benefited in the past thirty odd years by criticisms on my work, when I had sole charge of the listing and pricing of the Stanley Gibbons' catalogues, I am glad of the opportunity to say a few words on the excellent catalogue recently published by the Scott Stamp and Coin Co.

certain knowledge, takes the utmost pains in his important portion of this work, the pricing of scores of thousands of varieties.

As I have stated on many occasions, I am not in accord with the poor and very defective lists given in many sections of this catalogue, but I understand that such lists have been carefully considered and that in the opinion of those who guide the destiny of the publishers, such lists are considered sufficient for the class of trade to which the firm chiefly caters.

If John Luff was given a free hand to revise the lists of early issues in many countries, I do not know of any philatelist who could do the work in a better way than he could, as in the past thirty years he has collected, what is probably the best accumulations of reference material so essential to this class of work, that has ever been got together.

Since the catalogue was published, I have had the opportunity of meeting and consulting with a number of the largest collectors and best authorities on the stamps covered by the heading of this article, and the following remarks are put together from our collective knowledge of these most important and historical stamps.

Mr. Clark has based many of his prices on the amounts realised at the Ferrary sales and I cannot conceive a more erroneous method of arriving at the real value of early American stamps.

I should like to say at once that I do not wish any of my readers to think that I am aiming at any destructive policy or adverse criticism; on the contrary, I think that my friend Mr. John N. Luff ranks as the best and most accurate cataloguer that we have in our ranks, and Mr. Hugh M. Clark, to my

made exactly like the famous "Oriol" but without the fancy trimmings. This new album is canvas bound, has fifty leaves of the finest possible quadrille ruled paper and has the same peg attachment as the Oriol. When we say this book is just as fine an Album as anyone needs, we are going pretty strong but we mean it. Oriels may be imitated, which some people say is "the sincerest form of flattery."

This is a grand collection, containing the finest lot of blocks of four that I have ever had. There is a wonderful fine lot of blocks from 1857 to 1890, from which date they are complete, in many shades, with the single exception of the $5.00 1894 issue. Here is the chance of a lifetime to pick up something really fine in these classic items. I would like to hear from all parties interested in a collection of this magnitude.

H. F. COLMANSECOND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

As is well known, the chief American buyers arranged not to bid against one another and the result was that many great bargains were secured and the prices realised did not reflect market value in any degree.

Take our own auctions in New York. In the last year I have been a large buyer, through agents, at almost all of them and I have watched this market closely. Week by week I have found wonderful bargains. I will just mention a couple to make my point clear. A few months ago I bought a used fine copy of a classic rarity in early French stamps, for $78.00. The experts in England and France tell me only one other copy of this stamp is known and it would be cheap at ten times the price I paid.

Two weeks ago I bought a famous South Australian error in an early issue for about $120.00. Only five used copies of this stamp are known and Gibbons price it £250 ($1,125.00). Adopting the practise that Clark has adopted in the section under review these two great rarities would be priced at about one-tenth of their true value.

These remarks are made to lead up to a discussion of what is "true value" and how are we to arrive at it.

It seems to me that two factors are essential in forming any idea of "true value." The one is that we should know how many copies of each stamp exist at the present time. The other is the "saleability" of a stamp, if I may use such an uncouth word.

Now "saleability" is governed by several factors. First, if the stamp is an "adhesive" it certainly has a greater

UNITED STATES. POSTMASTERS' STAMPS.

All historical, rare, saleable, and as good an investment as any banker could wish and I therefore place them very high in my idea of values. Broadly, I should value these at the present day as follows:

One copy known, about	$12,500
Two copies known, about	10,000
Three or four known, about	7,500
Five or six known,	6,000
Seven to nine,	5,000

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

5c black on buff	Catalogue, Phillips
5c black on bluish	$ 7,000 $ 7,500
	10,000 12,500

Of the 5c on buff, four copies are known and price is about right. The 5c on bluish is only known in one copy and is at least as good as the Boscawen if not better, as its authenticity is better proved by the stamps of same type on buff paper.

I do not agree with the note in the catalogue. Two envelopes are known with the "5—PAID" which are certainly prepaid envelopes and accepted as such by our greatest collectors. Being envelopes I do not rate them so high as adhesives, but they are certainly worth far more than the price in the catalogue. Some of these envelopes with-

WE WANT TO BUY THE 4c AND 5c U. S. STAMPS
ISSUES BETWEEN 1880 AND 1890

J. O. MOORE, Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y.

(Member American Stamp Dealers' Assn.)

out the "5—PAID" were in the Ferrara sale. I consider these of much less value but they are of interest and worth having.

BALTIMORE, MD.

10c black on white 6,000 7,500
10c black on bluish 8,000 12,500
The 5c are priced about right but perhaps are rather dear at $800 each.

Of the 10c on white three copies are known and of the 10c on bluish only one perfect copy and one badly damaged one, so I consider this as rare as any of these Postmasters' stamps.

10c envelopes 1,000 5,000
These are exceeding rare, only two or three copies are known and although they are envelopes the price quoted in the catalogue is quite inadequate.

BOSCAWEN, N. H.

5c dull blue 12,000 12,500
Only one copy known and worth the full top price of these rare provisionals.

LOCKPORT, N. Y.

5c red and black on buff 8,500 12,500
Only one known and quite as rare as the Boscawen. I see no reason why it should be priced less in the catalogue.

NEW HAVEN, CT.

5c red on white, envelopes 3,500 6,000
5c blue on buff, envelopes 7,500 7,500

There are about four of these envelopes known entire, two of which are on bluish paper which should be catalogued and should be worth $6,000 each. There are perhaps half a dozen of these 5c known cut out from the envelopes; these, of course, are worth much less than the rare uncut envelopes.

TUSCUMBIA, ALA.

3c red on buff 1,500
Two or three of these envelopes were found in the famous Carroll Hoy correspondence of New Orleans, and although they have been looked upon as doubtful by some authorities I do not see how they can be anything but genuine prepaid envelope stamps and certainly of a considerable degree of rarity. The Tuscumbia cancellation is known on letters from early '40's up to about 1860, but the envelopes in question have the "3 PAID" in addition to the word Tuscumbia and this seems to make them a provisional local issue, although of a late date.

CONFEDERATE STATES.

Provisional Issues.

These stamps are not on quite such a high standard of value as the U. S. Postmaster stamps. The highest price I have had for a single copy is 600 pounds but that is some years ago. I think today $3,000 would be reckoned about top price for the best and most attractive of these stamps although I fully believe that in the near future the rarities will sell readily for $5,000 each and more, as I know no more interesting and historical stamps than these in the whole range of philately. Broadly speaking I value Confederate adhesives as follows.—

One copy known, about $3,000
Two copies known, about 2,500
Three or four known, about 2,000
Five or six known, about 1,500
Seven to ten, 1,000

ATHENS, GA.

5c dull purple
The tête-bêche pair is not catalogued. It is accepted by all collectors and is worth 350

EARLY BRITISH COLONIALS

I am dispersing two large collections, strong in the early types and all stamps in fine condition. Prices average MORE THAN HALF CATALOGUE.

Also in stock a choice lot of EDWARDIAN & GEORGIAN, both MINT and SUPERB USED. These are mostly priced at half catalogue.

Selections on approval.

5c black, envelopes, Type E1 25 15
5c black, envelopes, Type E2 25 100
Types E1 and E2 are priced the same, $25 each, but the latter, the small circle, is at least ten times as rare as the first. I would price E1 at $15.00 and E2 at $100.00. I know one collector who has over thirty copies of the first and has not been able to get more than two copies of the latter type.

BATON ROUGE, LA.

The catalogue says, "Several varieties of each." It has now been established that there are ten varieties in the setting.
2c green 500 1,000
This is a rare stamp and has sold at $750 to $900 on several occasions, $500 is much too low and I would like to buy at that price.
10c blue 1,000 2,500
The price of $1,000 is quite ridiculous, only two copies are known, the stamp has a fine appearance, is one of the greatest rarities and is well worth the figure I name. The variety McCormick is not known and should come out of the catalogue.

BEAUMONT, TEXAS.

10c black on yellow, Type A1 2,000
As far as I have been able to find out there are four copies of this rare stamp known and I value it as above. The 10c pink comes in two shades and papers, I would describe them as follows:—
10c black on pink on coarse porous sugar paper.
10c black on dull pink on thick smooth paper. About ten or twelve copies of this stamp are known and I think catalogue price about right.
10c black on yellow Type A2 5,000
A new discovery and so far unique and very valuable.

BRIDGEVILLE, ALA.

5c black and red 600 1,750
Only a pair of this stamp is known, used on a cover. The centre of the stamp is black and the frame lines are ruled in red ink. It ranks as a great rarity and catalogue price is quite incorrect.

EMORY, VA.

5c blue 500 1,500
Only about half a dozen or less copies are known and the catalogue price is much too low. The catalogue omits the 5c blue envelope which was in the Ferrary sale and should be included.

TWO KINDS OF NUISANCE!

JUST NOW WE HEAR A GOOD DEAL ABOUT THE "nuisance tax", meaning tax on telephone calls, telegrams, motion picture show tickets, etc., but how many dealers have been bothered with the Nuisance Collector all the time? I mean by this type the fellow who is so scared that he will pay 10c more to one dealer than he could buy the same stamp for from another, that writes to every dealer he can think of asking for same stamps from each and pitting one against the other to save a few cents at cost of time and postage to all the dealers concerned—save possibly one—where he may make a $2 to $4 remittance; because invariably these "shoppers" are all pickers. Now, if you belong to this class, please pass me up, but if you are a business man who wants to add some U. S. C. S. or B. N. A. stamps to your collection, and have from $10 to $1000 to invest in your hobby give me a chance. I can always show the goods in my lines, and I can always deal with straightforward business men, but the overgrown infants I leave to the other fellow.

UNITED STATES ENVELOPES

This list of Scott numbers follows exactly the new arrangement in the new U. S. Album (as adopted by us in 1913), abandoning the former grouping in accordance with papers instead of denominations or dies. All have large margins and prices will compare favorably with every competition. All are unused except those marked †. We have an almost complete stock of U. S. entire envelopes. We have many other rarer cut square envs. Not offered in this list. Let us know your wants.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—B. Rohde of Detroit, Mich., submits for our inspection a block of the Poland 1k green imperforate vertically.

—H. E. Harris & Co., 161 Massachusetts Av., Boston, Mass., has just issued No. 16 of their Bi-Monthly Journal. It is a pretentious magazine of 48 pages and a sample will be sent upon request. It will interest the advanced as well as the ordinary collector.

—The Safe-Cabinet Co. of Marietta, Ohio, has just issued a very handsome folder dealing with the protection of home valuables. The place of honor on the title page is an open safe in front of which is a stamp collection. The story of the Weber loss is also quoted.

—Henry B. Phillips of Berkeley, Cal., due to illness, is unable to give attention to correspondence until such time as the physician will allow him so to do.

—E. W. Determann, Vincennes, Ind., sends us a letter in which he charges Stanley Gibbons' Circular as being unfair in describing the German million and billion mark stamps as "trash." Mr. Determann feels that stamp collectors will get "a whole lot of pleasure" out of these stamps. They are cheap now and some of them may even be in great demand as the years go by. No collector likes to have his stamps called "trash."

—The New York Times gives some more stamp news and we say that if there is one sheet that deserves well of philatelists it is this great and good newspaper.

Four international postage stamp exhibitions in Europe have been announced for 1924. The first will be held in Brussels early in May under the patronage of King Albert of Belgium. A gold medal for one of the classes has been offered by the Collectors Club of this city, and its Secretary, Dr. J. Brace Chittenden, has been appointed American representative. It is understood that several American collectors are planning to accompany Dr. Chittenden to Brussels, taking some of their best stamps with them.

The second exhibition will be at The Hague in September. It will commemorate the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the leading philatelic society in Holland. In the same month, immediately following The Hague event, an exhibition will be opened in Christiania, Norway. Another is planned at the end of the year in Stockholm.

In addition to these, the eleventh philatelic congress of Great Britain will convene in Glasgow from June 3 to 6 under the auspices of the Junior Philatelic Society of Scotland. Among the speakers will be Fred J. Melville, one of the leading stamp experts in Europe.

The annual stamp contest between Baltimore City College and Baltimore Polytechnic Institute was held at Maryland Academy of Sciences, Jan. 19. The Baltimore City College won, 42-13. A silver loving cup was awarded to the City College for winning two years out of the three. Ten other prizes were awarded.—PAUL GAKENHEIMER.

—The "Weko" Local Club of Chicago held on Jan. 18, its general meeting. Officers were elected for the year as follows: Venti Molitor, President; Whitebough, Corresponding Sec'y; Chant Frantz, Financial Sec'y and Treasurer. Meetings are held on every second and fourth Thursday of each month in Hotel Morrison, Parlor "D."

—The date of the Chicago Philatelic Society dinner is February 21st.

—The Philatelic Clubs of Polytechnic Institute and City College, Baltimore, were scheduled to have a competitive exhibition of postage stamps a few weeks ago; and in the quarterly bulletin of the Maryland Academy of Sciences we find the friendly little sentence: "Our members and their friends should be present to encourage the boys and girls what they can do in arranging an exhibit."

resting biographical sketch of our philatelic friend, we find that his club affiliations are many and that his stamp connections are not omitted. We read: "He is one of the early members of the American Philatelic Society and served as the first president of the Kansas City Stamp Club, having been an active philatelist since his school days." The Cooperative Club is the liveliest classification club in Kansas City and if any prominent philatelic visitor should drop in on a meeting day, we think that President Wood would pave the way for him to give an address on philately.

—That George H. Worthington had many friends, we well knew and the number of letters that have been received in consequence of the notice of his death shows that he will remain in the memory of many collectors. We thank Mr. Good and others who have written us.

—A reader is informed that Mr. Arthur Find, Utica, N. Y., attended a meeting of the Collectors Club, New York, on October 24, 1923, and exhibited his collection of United States and Confederate stamps in three volumes.

—A note from Mr. L. P. Hatch, Cambridge, Mass., says that in the New Englander, New Haven, Conn., for July, 1848, there is an article of twelve pages, "Our Post Office," which is based on the report of the Postmaster-General of the United States for the year ending June 30, 1847. No doubt an examination of the article would be worth while and now we shall be on the watch for the old magazine in question.

—This week the award of the gilded coal scuttle goes to Dr. C. W. Hennen for the most outstanding act of benevolent assimilation. He bought a lot of Holland stamps from a man for $4.75 and when the seller could not make the change, the buyer said that the vendor could keep the five dollar bill.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS.

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

M. L. Tiffany, Bristol, Conn.
Wooster B. Curtiss, Schenectady, N. Y.
H. B. Hooper, Chattanooga, Tenn.
Hon. E. R. Ackerman, Washington, D. C.
Geo. T. Ettinger, Allentown, Pa.

Our first applicant for membership in the Honor Club this week is Morris L. Tiffany, cashier of the Bristol National Bank, Bristol, Conn. We thank Mr. Tiffany for his application and take pleasure in adding the title M. H. C. to his name.

Wooster B. Curtiss of Schenectady, N. Y., accompanies his remittance of $5 with well wishes. He considers it a duty and a pleasure "to train along with those who are boosting your excellent publication." It is indeed an excellent form of boosting.

We enter the name of Hugh B. Hooper of Chattanooga, Tenn., as a member of our Honor Club. Mr. Hooper is a member of the A. P. S., No. 7117.

One of the most familiar names in philatelic circles is that of Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman of Washington, who has held many political honors and now represents the Plainfield, N. J., district in Congress. Mr. Ackerman has travelled far and wide, even to the circling of the globe, and his philatelic holdings are numerous and valuable. It would take much space to note all the honors that he has attained along philatelic lines. We take great pleasure in adding Mr. Ackerman's name to our Honor Club.

The final subscription received as we go to press is that of Prof. Geo. T. Ettinger of Allentown, Pa. Our friend is

$1000 Catalog Value in Eighteen Months

A few weeks ago our advertisement told you of a Philatelist shipping clerk who has been saving all precancels from incoming mail which passes through his hands. He has been exchanging these items with us for net purchase credits which he uses in making selections, his choice, from our approval lots of United States and Foreign stamps.

We have received a considerable number of lots which have run fully as good, in both quantity and quality, as our friend the New York shipping clerk has been sending us. Within the coming year and a half many collectors will have duplicated his performance in adding $1000 catalog value to their collection with practically no cost to himself.

Our choicest lot, as far as variety goes, came from a traveling salesman who makes a monthly tour through quite a large western territory. He found that friendly cigars and occasional 25c pieces brought him very nice precancel lots from his business clients en route.

Perhaps you are in a similar position where you can exercise the ingenuity of our friend the traveling salesman. Try saving all precancels that come your way and give us an opportunity to make a bid for your lot. You may find it a very attractive way to build up your collection with little or no outlay of money. It is worth trying, isn't it?

SCARCE STAMPS - HIGH VALUES, ETC.

Here are THREE PAGES of offers. It will pay you to examine carefully. Even this amount of space only allows us to give you a general idea of what we have. Hundreds of the stamps offered here are below half catalog. Others that are not are still bargains just the same, being "hard-to-get" and stamps with a future. Below we offer you a miscellaneous line of scarcer stamps which we have in sufficient quantity to meet any reasonable demand. Note the large proportion of high values, etc., in the list. Needless to say, we can supply most of the commoner items from A to Z. To give you an idea how comprehensive our stock is, we have just finished making up a series of 20th issue, French Colonial approval books, putting in them stamps of which we had at least 10 copies in stock. The series ran to nearly 2000 varieties. The story from A to Z would be pretty much the same, and we are rapidly filling in the weak spots in our stock.

We want to impress upon you that we are carrying a stock of stamps that is not to be compared to that of the average dealer. It is, we believe, one of the finest stocks of medium priced stamps in the World and represents a large investment, an enormous amount of work and twenty-five years to accumulate. This stock, the knowledge acquired in getting it together, and our extensive connections all over the World, which have cost us a fortune to develop, all are at your service. In these days when so many dealers carry almost no stock at all, sell on commission, or handle the "easy to get big profit lines", this means a lot more than you think.

The stamp business is, and has been, our only business for some 25 years. We have accumulated this huge stock in the belief that collectors would appreciate a place where they could get a good portion of their wants supplied, and not have to hunt all over creation.

We believe you can count on the fingers of one hand the dealers of the World who are making a serious attempt to carry as complete a stock as possible of all issues. In every part of the World agents are getting together items we need for our stock. They come by every foreign mail, and our ability to market liberal quantities of desirable items gives us the preference. Many desirable stamps are here in quantity, the average dealer rarely has a single copy of. In buying this way we find how terribly hard it is to get many comparatively low priced stamps. Indeed, we can truly say there is many a rarity of the future among the 20th issues, listed today at a few dollars each or less. If you want to buy stamps to fill those gaps in your collection, without wasting time, energy, and the many disagreeable features connected with writing here, there and everywhere for space fillers, YOU NEED US. What we do not have here today may be here tomorrow. Some of the largest collectors in America have found us a friend in need in filling their spaces.

We fill thousands of want lists yearly, send out thousands of first class approval selections. If we can interest others, why not you? Why not let us have your want list? Prices as reasonable as any, and we can supply you with thousands of stamps you'll find it almost impossible to get elsewhere. You get the maximum protection, too, for we are careful of whom we buy, know the goods, guarantee everything sold absolutely. This is no small feature, for there are many fakes in the market, especially of 20th issues, that pass without question the average collector and dealer. We have seen many of them in a few weeks' time.

PHILLIPS' MONTHLY BULLETIN

Recent Germans

High values to 50 billion marks. Evi-dently some of these, especially the rouletted varieties, are not so plentiful and prices in Germany are jumping fast. Based on cost to us, we offer most of those issued below. You need some of these as evidence of the greatest currency inflation the World ever knew.

We can supply practically everything in recent Germans and Danzig and offer some below. Anything you want in these or other stamps you do not see offered, let us know and we'll send if it's here. Our con-nections are of the best and prices reason-able. For offers in these and thousands of other first class stamps, get Phillips' Month ly Bulletin, 24 pages and free for the asking.

Collections by Countries

Make a fine showing at the least outlay. All are good value and would cost you much more if bought from approvals, etc. Where you do not have many of a country this is the way to get a good start. Made up from our own stock and backed by our 25 years in business guarantee of "satisfaction or money back". Used and unused unless marked *, which are unused only. Figures given thus ($5.25) are catalog value of collection. Please remem-ber these collections are not lots of the cheapest stamps, but contain many items the ordinary dealer never has in stock.

APPROVALS - ENORMOUS VARIETY

Approval Department

Want Lists—The Best Way

When you can possibly get time to make out a want list, or list of stamps you need for your collection, and are ready to buy, it is far and away the best way to buy. Costs you no more, you get just what you need. Saves our sending you $50 worth of goods to make a $10 sale and tying up $40 worth to no advantage. If you are well filled up on certain countries, by all means send us a want list. Where only a few items are needed, it's a small chance you'll get them out of an approval lot. Tell us just what you want and save everyone bother.

Most collectors buy from approvals. Do you? A few have had unfortunate experiences with tricky and unreliable dealers and are therefore prejudiced against this way of buying, but it is easily the best way for a collector to fill spaces where his collection is not too well filled up. If you only lack a few stamps in a country, the only thing to do is to send a want list of the missing numbers.

We have made a specialty of approval trade for over 20 years and are regularly serving some customers who have been with us all that time. Testimonials by the hundreds from leading American collectors and foreign collectors all over the World show the satisfaction these books have given. Without any desire to boast, we really believe we send out the best line of books for the average collector, variety, price, quality, etc., considered, in America. Many countries are almost complete and we are sure we carry the largest variety of stamps in quantity of any stamp concern in the New World. If we could but make you realize one-half the labor and money it has taken to accumulate this stock, you would appreciate the service we are offering you. Even dealers coming to our office and seeing these books have expressed their admiration for the neatness of arrangement, variety and quality offered.

A FEW REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BUY FROM OUR APPROVALS

Enormous Variety—Over 40,000 Varieties

Neat, Non-Duplicating Arrangement of Books.

Thousands of "Hard" Stamps, Never Seen in Ordinary Books.

Reasonable Net Prices According to Cost of Goods.

LAST but NOT LEAST our liberal premium offer, which is described elsewhere and gives splendid extra value on all purchases of any amount.

Any collector who can satisfy us as to his or her reliability and is ready to spend at least a few dollars at a time, can have our books to select from. Minors must send parents' written consent. Returns within 10 days of receipt, unless otherwise agreed. Let's go. Avail yourself of a real stock of stamps that is kept fresh and up-to-date. Hap-hazard mixed lots will cost you just as much. Thousands have found our approval books a pleasure and a help in making their collections. Why not you?

Tell us what your pet countries are, if any, size of your collection and amount you are able to spend on each lot if you see what you want. If unknown to us, please give us some data to show you are a responsible party. You'll get a square deal at our hands with no more red tape than is absolutely necessary. Boys under age must furnish their parent's written consent.

1924 "Series A" Books

A fine lot of books for the average collector. About 200 stamps to the book, and about 100 books in the series. You can go right through the list and see an entirely new lot each time. About 20,000 varieties. Priced net, usually about half, but sometimes more and sometimes less, as cost makes necessary.

Please send second and third choice in books wanted when possible, to be used in case the ones wanted are all out on approval, as owing to the labor and time it takes to make up these books, we have only a limited number ready.

Special Approval Books

Our stock being arranged according to groups, all French Colonies together in alphabetical order, Portuguese and British Col. the same, all our approval books are made up along the same lines. You will, therefore, find such Colonies in the proper group and not in our general series of books.

BRITISH COLONIALS

20th only. Many books containing a nice line of those listing under $3.00 each.

BRITISH COLONIALS

20th only. King George issues. Some nice books of these. Un used, of course.

BRITISH COLONIALS

High priced. 19th only. Some 10 different books, containing stamps listing $5 or more each. Value $200.00 or more each book.

BRITISH COLONIALS

General—Books of Canada, Newfoundland, Barbados, Bermuda, Brit. Honduras, Ceylon, Hong Kong, India, Indian Protectorates, Indian Native States, Jamaica, Lagos, Mauritius, Natal, New South Wales, New Zealand, North Borneo, South Australia, Straits, Transvaal, Victoria and practically all other British Colonies.

GENERAL FOREIGN

Series of books containing higher priced stamps cat. $5.00 or more each stamp. A number of different books and good variety. Value from $150.00 to $1000.00 per book.

GENERAL FOREIGN

Each country or group in a book by itself. Most of these books contain stamps cat. under $5.00 each, but other books are ready which contain the higher priced items for those who wish them. This partial list will give you an idea of what we can send: Abyssinia, Albania, Argentine, Austria, Austrian Occupation issues, Armenia, Belgium, Bulgaria, Brazil, China, Colombian Rep., Colombian States, Costa Rica, Crete, Cuba, Curacao, Dominican Rep., Dutch Indies, Ecuador, Egypt, Epirus, Finland, Germany, German States, Great Britain, Greece, Hawaii, Hayti, Honduras, Hungary, Hungary Occupation issues (nearly complete), Iceland, Italian Colonies, Japan, Luxemburg, Mexico, Monaco, Montenegro, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Persia, Peru, Philippine Is., Porto Rico, Portugal, Russia, Roumania, Salvador, Serbia, Shanghai, Spain, Spanish Colonies, Thrace, Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela, etc. Some of these books contain an almost complete collection of the country others, for less advanced collectors, have less value and variety. Please do not ask for the highest priced books when you can only spend three or four dollars at a time.

PORTUGUESE COLONIALS

Special books of nearly every colony, containing a very fine line of these stamps. Angola, Azores, Cape Verde, L. Marques, Mozambique, Macau, St. Thomas and Prince Is., Timor. Selections of these for all grades of collectors. Also some books of those listing $5.00 or more each stamp value $200.00 and up.

FRENCH COLONIALS

Fine line. A group we have always considered one of the most desirable in the catalog. Hard to get and most of them fairly underpriced, especially the 19th issues. Splendid books of many colonies. Series of books 19th only running from A to T. Another of 20th only A to U. Also books of those cat. $5.00 each or more, value $150.00 to $1000.00 a book. Special books of French Offices in China $25.00 to $100.00 each.

NEW EUROPE BOOKS

Under this head all countries not in existence before the World War. A mighty interesting and popular group, and many of the stamps ridiculously underpriced. We can submit a splendid line including book of Armenia, Batum, Central Lithuania, Czecho-Slovakia, Fiume, Jugo Slavia, Latvia, Lithuania, Far East Republic, Poland, Siberia, Cilicie, Syria, Palestine, Helaz, Georgia, West Ukraine, etc. Books of the higher priced items, also. We have handled some of the greatest rarities in this group and usually have many unusual and scarce items on hand for those interested.

USED SERIES OF BOOKS

For those who collect used stamps only we have a good line of books grouped into sections such as French Colonies 19th and 20th, British Colonies 19th and 20th, Portuguese Colonies 19th and 20th, New Europe, etc.

UNITED STATES BOOKS

Various books containing a good line of these stamps, postage, departments, envelopes, revenues, etc. Special selections, collections mounted in albums, etc., can be submitted seriously collectors who are prepared to buy liberally.

HARTFORD, CONN.

THE CATALOGUE CRITIQUE.

Catalogue, Phillips

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

0c green 750 3,000

This is of the greatest rarity, only one copy is known which is in a famous New York collection. It is worth as much as any Confederate Stamp and the catalogue price is quite wrong.

LEXINGTON, MISS.

1c black on orange, envelope 100 250

Only about eight to ten copies are known and this is worth much more than the catalogue price.

LIVINGSTON, ALA.

1c blue 800 1,750

This is the most admired Confederate stamp and is easily worth double the catalogue price. About nine are known.

MACON, GA.

2c green on gray-green 1,000 2,000

Only three copies of this rarity are known and the catalogue price is much too low.

MARION, VA.

5c black 500 1,000

10c black 2,000

Six or seven 5c Marion are known, but only two or perhaps three of the 10c. Both stamps are rarities, especially the 10c.

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

5c envelopes 25 25

10c envelopes 25 100

The 5c and 10c envelopes are priced the same but the 10c is scarce and at least four times as rare as the 5c.

MT. LEBANON, (LOUISIANA)

5c brown 1,500 3,000

This is catalogued as Mt. Lebanon, Tenn.; it should be La. It is called 5c red, but the copy I have seen is in brown, of a very slight reddish tint. Only one copy is known, that from the Ferrary sale and it must be classed among the greatest rarities.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

5c red on white 1,200 3,000

5c red on blue 1,200 3,000

Two of each are known and these are among the greatest rarities.

NEW SMYRNA, FLA.

5c black 1,500 3,500

10c on 5c black 1,500 3,500

I cannot hear of a single copy of the 5c; if any collector has one I should be glad to hear of it. Of the 10c on 5c only one copy is known.

PITTSYLVANIA, C. H., VA.

This comes on two distinct papers and the color is hardly red, but red-brown. I should catalogue as follows:—

5c red-brown on wove paper 350 1,250

5c red-brown on vertically laid paper 2,000

This has always been a scarce stamp, nearly if not quite as rare as the Danville. I believe that only about eight copies are known with margins and a few clipped to shape of stamp. In Ferrary collection there were two with margins which were doubled and sold as forgeries and one genuine trimmed to shape. I can only hear of two copies on the laid paper and that must rank as a great rarity. The catalogue price of $350 for the common paper is far too low as for years copies have sold at not less than $1,000.

PLEASANT SHADE, VA.

5c blue, unused 175 300

5c blue, used 250 450

This is a fine and very saleable stamp, only about four or five used copies are known, and while there are more unused, it is a scarce stamp worth a good bit more than catalogued.

PORTLAVACA, TEXAS.

10c black on white wove 2,000

This stamp was in the collection of H. E. Deats and seems to be accepted by good authorities and I think it should go in the catalogue.

RHEATOWN, TENN.

5c red, used 300

This is priced $300 used but no postmarked copies are known and the used price can only stand for penmarked copies, which are occasionally found so used on covers.

RICHMOND, TEXAS.

In addition to the envelopes listed the following are known and should be included:—

5c red on white.

10c red on amber.

10c red on blue.

SALEM, VA.

5c black on vertically laid paper 500 2,000

Only two copies are known, one of which sold some time ago for $1,500. This should rank with the great rarities.

SPARTANBURG, S. C.

This should be catalogued differently, I have seen as follows:—

5c black on porous paper ruled with blue lines 350 350

5c black on thinner better paper, no ruled lines 600

Of the latter I have only seen two copies.

TELLICO PLAINS, TENN.

5c red 250 100

10c red 250 200

These come in strips of three stamps, two of which are 5c and one 10c, therefore the 10c is twice as rare as the 5c and should be priced accordingly. No used copies have been seen.

UNIONTOWN, ALA.

2c green on blue 1,750 2,500

One of the greatest rarities, only two copies being known.

10c red on blue 1,200 2,500

Just about as rare as the 2c. I know two copies and think a third one exists.

The catalogue has another 10c on white paper but I am unable to trace a copy.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The advertisement of A. Atlas Leve in our Jan. 28 issue contained an error in that five "Black Jacks" were offered in connection with the new specialized U. S. catalog at $2. The word "five" should have been "fine" referring to a single copy. It could hardly be expected that Mr. Leve could give five of these stamps for the price indicated.

—Some new Japanese stamps have just been issued and a letter from C. A. Yarrington, of Tokyo, is franked by some 2 sen brown, 3 sen carmine and 10 sen dark brown in a new design, the description of which we shall leave to our new issues editor. The stamps are issued imperforate and without gum, though they have been seen rouletted and also with a pin perforation.

—Walter J. Rozmin sends us the cartoon page of the Chicago Herald and Examiner of Jan. 30, 1924. It contains a Gallagher-Shean set of pictures in which stamp collecting gets a free advertisement.

—The Syracuse Stamp Club of Syracuse, N. Y., is holding this entire month (Feb'y) its annual stamp exhibition at the Carnegie Library. The exhibits change weekly. This year's exhibit winds up March 3rd with the Fifth Annual Banquet of this very lively and growing stamp club. A. A. Leve has the exhibit in charge.

EDITORIAL

Frederic J. Haskin, a Washington correspondent, whose ability as a special writer has made him a commanding figure in the field of journalism, has contributed a column article on stamps to the newspapers that avail themselves of his services. Mr. Haskin begins his remarks by saying that the zeal of American collectors has succeeded in acquiring in the auction marts of Europe the world's greatest stamp rarities; and in consequence, the United States has become "philatelically famous." It is refreshing to read the intelligent comment of Mr. Haskin and the fact that his observations are sympathetic to philately predisposes us in his favor. He tells that collecting makes a strong appeal to the individual or none at all; and he very opportunely quotes from Hergesheimer: "If it were not for collectors—if it weren't for men with money and time and discrimination, if special collections of special things weren't made—we'd never know about ourselves or what we were. It's history of the best kind." Mr. Haskin tells of the instruction and tradition of some of the different stamp designs and bears directly on their investment possibilities by saying that "rare stamps, like diamonds, are an excellent investment." He says that stamp knowledge is so limited that the possibility of entertaining angels unawares is not a remote one. The postmaster provisions in the possession of Mr. Arthur Hind of Utica are described and appraised and the famous British Guiana king-pin is the basis for a little story, on a background furnished by the Ferrary sales. The article is high-class but that factor does not monopolize our satisfaction; we rejoice that a writer possessing the acumen and news-sense of Mr. Haskin finds in philately a subject worthy of his best attention.

In an interview with Mr. Elliott Perry, we learn that he is in sight of the completion of his great task in plating the ten cent black of 1847, United States. For months Mr. Perry has been studying intensively the stamp in its plate relation and his work has been facilitated by the co-operation of dozens of collectors who have placed their specimens at his disposal; and naturally he is grateful for the aid. All of the stamps on the plate sheets of two hundred stamps are to be assigned to their places and it is superfluous to say that the finished study will be one of the most important contributions to the sum of philatelic research ever presented. A letter from an occasional correspondent strikes a minor chord in its closing sentence: "You have taken stamp collecting away from the boys." His verdict follows a list of reasons that supports the conclusion, he says; and we shall reduce his findings to a few words. He says that the "big" element is over-emphasized in stories of stamp men, collections, prices and other news and transactions. Everything is dishied up with a big ladle with the consequence that the collector who perforce must use a spoon feels that he is not participating to the full in collecting and that he is ignored in philatelic calculations. There is a foundation for the contention of our correspondent but fact does not justify the unqualified statement that he makes. Philately is progressing and growing in every way and the chronicles of the day reflect its present condition and the hopes of the future. All of the stories of big things are a true index to the doings of the philatelic day and we do know that huge sums of money are being spent for stamps and that high prices are paid for specimens and that some collections almost surpass description. It is inevitable that these circumstances be dwelt upon with satisfaction in a news sense and it is useless to try to retard a general movement. We do not believe that the boy thinks that he is overlooked in a collecting sense and we know that he is not. The fact that philately is getting away from its provincialism and to some extent overlooks the smaller details that once were enlarged upon certainly does not bother the boy of this day and the chances are that only the old "boy" who has roseate recollections of the earlier years would institute the comparison that has been noticed.

A friend at Washington has been kind enough to send the following information for the benefit of a reader who asked regarding mails for Labrador and who said that he could establish no postal connections there. "In reference to the enclosed letter I must admit that I have been too busy to attend to it for many weeks. Upon inquiry, I find that the second assistant postmaster-general issued, late in November, 1923, the following notice, which seems to cover postal developments in Labrador and which I have copied: 'This office is in receipt of information that all classes of mail for the southern part of Labrador, known as the Straits ports (Strait of Belle Isle), can be delivered up to the close of navigation, about the middle of December.' In some instances owing to weather conditions, the period of navigation extends later into the year, while in other instances it is suspended earlier. In either case, a parcel received too late to be delivered at destination is held in Newfoundland until the opening of navigation the following spring. The above modified the items 'Newfoundland' appearing on pages 152 and 210 of the annual Postal Guide for 1923, and the item 'Labrador' appearing on page 206 of the same Guide." We suggest that the inquirer consult the Postal Guide for further particulars.

From Mr. Fred R. Schmalzriedt, Detroit, we have heard of the death of Theodore P. Ladue, son of a former mayor of Detroit at Boynton, Florida, at the age of 63. Mr. Ladue passed away on January 30th, the result of an intestinal trouble. From Mr. Schmalzriedt's letter, we quote: "Mr. Ladue attended the meeting of the Detroit Philatelic Society meeting at Mr. Crossman's residence last Wednesday evening and was in my office on Thursday urging me to go down to Florida and spend some weeks with him, telling me I needed the rest. Mr. Ladue was a charter member of the D. P. S., and also a member of the Michigan Stamp Club. The body will arrive in Detroit in time for burial Monday afternoon; and D. P. S. members will act as pall-bearers, I am advised." In a newspaper notice, it was said that Mr. Ladue was a member of the Detroit Produce exchange and the Detroit Philatelic society. At the time of his death Mr. Ladue was proprietor of the firm of Theodore P. Ladue & Co., which he established in 1861. We deplore the death of this estimable philatelist whose loss will be felt by the members of that exceptional organization, the Detroit Philatelic Society, in particular. Mr. Ladue's chief philatelic characteristic was a quiet but absorbing interest in the issues of the United States and colonies and as well those of British North America.

The Chicago Daily News recently answered an inquiry as to the number of post-offices in the world as follows: "The post-office department says that there are 266,008 post-offices in the world and in all of these a letter will be given the same treatment; that is, according to the size of post-office, the letter will be delivered by a city or rural carrier, or held for call." We are surprised that the number of offices is not greater when it is realized that in this country alone there are almost one-quarter of that figure. Our guess would have been about a million, with the population of the world something around two billions.

THE TOKYO DISASTER

Cyrus A. Yarrington, Yusen Building, Tokyo, Japan, gives us a first hand view of the effects of the great earthquake in Japan. He writes as follows:—"My collection and my philatelic library were burned up on the first of September. My loss is about 5,000 yen, which was the inventory on which I was

THE NEW JAPAN.
"The first of the earthquake emergency stamps of Japan reached London early last month and were described in the Daily Telegraph of December 6th. Subsequent mails have brought the completion of the series and the news that these improvised stamps are in general use throughout the country. The stamps of the Mount Fuji type, which were issued in January, 1922, in three denominations only, will probably not be re-issued. The design was not popular, and after the first three values had been issued and met with adverse criticism, the preparation of the remaining values was abandoned. The 4 sen and 8 sen stamps in that type may prove to be comparatively scarce.
"For some months, at any rate, the earthquake emergency stamps will be in general use, and when the Government Works at Tokyo get into working order there will be an entirely new issue. The emergency values are ½ sen grey, 1½ sen blue, 2 sen marone, 3 sen carmine, 4 sen yellow-green, 5 sen violet, 8 sen vermilion, 10 sen red-brown, and 20 sen dark blue. Of these the values ½ to 8 sen are in one design showing Mount Fuji, in a frame of cherry trees in blossom, with the chrysanthemum crest, and in each of the upper spandrels, a dragon-fly. The other design is less complicated, with the sun in the centre, the chrysanthemum above, and the value in a tablet flanked by dragon-flies. A feature of the sun here is that, unlike the previous occurrences of this emblem on Japanese stamps, it is shaded horizontally instead of vertically, the heraldic "azure" (blue) instead of "gules" (red).

These stamps have been printed in sheets of 100 by the offset process at the works of the Nihon Seihan Co., Ltd., in Osaka. The paper is a thin granite (that is, with small fragments of unbleached fibre in it), produced at the Takasago Paper Mill belonging to the Japanese issues of the present period of reconstruction."—London Telegraph.

The following is translated from the Osaka Mainichi Shimbun of September 27, 1923:—"The Seihan Insatsu Company, of Osaka, has been ordered by the Finance Department to print postal and revenue stamps, postcards, money order forms and postal savings books, owing to the Government Printing Works having been burnt down immediately after the earthquake; there are only five machines left, which can be used with a little touching up. Entirely new postal and revenue stamps will be printed, and it is reported that the design will be more complicated; they will be single and double offset printing respectively and will be ungummed and imperforate. There will be about 3,000,000,000 stamps printed in all." We understand that the values issued are as follows:—½, 1, 1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 10 and 20 sen, some of which we have seen, but we have been unable to obtain supplies, our former agent having left Japan immediately after the earthquake, and we have as yet been unable to obtain another. The Japanese Post Office refuses absolutely to execute orders for stamps by post.—W. K. & Co.'s Bulletin.

RARE UNITED STATES REVENUES

A client has recently placed with me two very fine uncanceled blocks of four of the second issue 25c and 50c. blue and black, with sewing machine perforation. These were sold by the Nassau Stamp Company in 1915, at which time they wrote, "Each block is as rare as any other known single item in U. S. revenues. The only blocks known of the 25c and 50c blue and black with sewing machine perforations." I have since seen the 25c in a block, but even so, these items rank with the rarest and most desirable of our Civil War Revenues. Price to interested parties upon application. Nothing else to offer in rare revenues, but I always have on hand a wonderful lot including rarities of U. S. Postal Adhesives. Am in the market to buy at substantial prices anything fine in U. S., especially collections and accumulations.

UNITED STATES.—Wilson Memorial Stamp.—On Sunday, February 3rd, Woodrow Wilson, who no doubt will rank as one of our greatest Presidents passed to the Great Beyond. On the following morning, I wired the President of the United States, the Postmaster-General, and the Third Assistant Postmaster-General as follows:—

"A distinguished War President has given his life in the services of his country. Would not a Wilson Memorial Postage Stamp be a fitting tribute to his memory?"

On the following day I received the following communication from the White House:—

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4, 1924.

"My dear Mr. Ward:

The President directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your telegram of Feb. 4th, and to say that it is at once being brought to the attention of the Postmaster-General.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) C. B. SLEMP,
 Secretary to President."

I later confirmed my wire to Mr. W. Irving Glover, the Third Assistant Postmaster-General, and called his attention to the fact, that such an action on the part of this Administration would be a delicate compliment to the late President.

It is to be hoped that such a stamp will be issued, and I trust to be able to give further details in my Chronicle of next week.

Philatelic Stamp Agency.—I am informed by the Philatelic Agency that they have recently called upon the services of two additional clerks from the Washington Post Office, and as a result have been making considerable headway in filling the extraordinary large number of orders. On Monday, Feb. 4th, there were about five hundred orders behind but expected to have all completed by the end of the week. Their business during the last couple months have totalled in the neighborhood of $40,000.

1847, 10c Minor Varieties.—Two additional minor varieties of the 10c 1847, which we will now be looking for and which are of equal interest to the shifts is one wherein Washington seems to have a hair lip, caused by a gash, and a second variety where he seems to have a stick pin. In examining carefully a number of these stamps these varieties have been noted.

1867, 3c Grill, New Variety.—The Nassau Stamp Company informs me that they have located a copy of the 3c 1867, in a used condition, grided 15x18. Heretofore we have known of the specimen grided 18x15 of which possibly one or two copies are in existence, but this is the first copy that has been noted, wherein the fifteen dimension is horizontal instead of vertical. They do not inform me as to type of grill, but state that it differs from the grill of the 18x15 variety so it is of necessity from a different grill roll.

Soldier's Mail in France.—The information Service of the Post Office Department sent out a very odd story under date of Feb. 1st. It seems that a St. Louis dealer recently purchased from the Government a quantity of letter boxes that were used in France, for the purpose of posting letters from the soldiers, home. Odd to say, when these were removed from their posts and sold, they were not inspected, and as a result are hard to get. Take any unpicked 10,000 stamps—out of the 10,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, rich color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes or missing perforation, and lightly canceled.

Naturally you cannot buy stamps of nature at bargain prices. But because the prices which this kind of material ways demands, the prices at which I am reasonable. Stamps in my stock are a little off from what I have described as marked at correspondingly low prices. You will find much to interest you in the selection from my stock, which is strong in the three cent 1861, three cent 1869, two, three, four, five, six and ten cent, to 1888, inclusive.

this late day, five years after the war over, it has been found, that many of ese boxes contained soldiers' letters, at had never been delivered. This nk carelessness on the part of some-e has no doubt resulted in much dispointment on this side, when the lets did not arrive from the loved ones.
edless to say, the Department has im-diately forwarded to the party adressed, each piece of mail found and s enclosed it in a separate envelope ompanied by a letter from the Post-aster-General explaining the circumstances. Postmasters have been requested to use every possible effort to e that they are delivered. The Post ice circular states that "Perhaps some the writers of these letters are still ver there." Possibly many of the ad-essee have gone to their Long Home, t every effort will be made to see that ese missives mailed more than five ars ago shall at last reach their desti-

AUSTRALIA.—Mr. R. Roberts has submitted for chronicle the 6d value in a light brown shade. The watermark is narrow A.

BELGIUM.—The 20c Postage Due has been bisected diagonally and used to supply a deficiency of the 10c value at Liège.—Philatelic Magazine.

CEYLON.—Mr. R. Roberts has sent us for chronicle the 5R on bright emerald paper all through on old multiple CA watermark.

COSTA RICA.—The Economist Stamp
Co. submits three values of commemorative stamps printed by the American Bank Note Co. They are 10c brown, with a scene "En Commemoracion del
primer Congreso Postal Panamericano"; 12c rose red, with the likeness of Columbus and 20c blue picturing "Colon en Cariari."

DAHOMY.—There is to be a new series for this French territory, and the main design depicts an ostrich hunt on the banks of the Niger. The present series, excepting changes of colour, has been in use since 1913.—Philatelic Magazine.

FRANCE.—The series for the Olympic games are to be printed in two colours and there will be four values:—10c green and light green, 25c blue and red, 30c brick red and carmine, 50c blue and light blue. The artists responsible for the work are M.M. Becker and Daussy.
—Philatelic Magazine.

FRENCH GUINEA.—Two new high value provisionals are announced from here: 10fr on 1fr green on yellow and 20fr on 5fr violet on lilac.—Philatelic Magazine.

GERMANY.—The Economist Stamp Co.
have shown us the 4 millionen green, with the surcharge "5 Milliarden" in black. Also a 30 millionen violet and 50 millionen in blue.

Mr. J. L. Riedel calls our attention to a set of six stamps in gold currency that have recently been issued as follows: 3pf brown, 5pf green, 10pf carmine, 20pf blue, 50pf orange and 100pf violet. Mr. Riedel adds that they are all in the key plate type of the last high values but have blank space at the foot. They have also been issued with the diagonal surcharge "Dienstmarke" for official use.

JAMAICA.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the 5sh pictorial stamp on script watermarked paper. He also further advises that they are printed in small sheets of 30 (6x5).

MOROCCO AGENCIES.—The Economist
Stamp Co. report the 5d stamp of Great Britain with the surcharge "Morocco Agencies" in two lines at the top and
"50 Centimes" in two lines at the base.
all in black.

POLAND.—The Polish currency is rapidly falling, and the 25,000m provisional chronicled in our last number was apparently the advance notice of a long series to come on the lines of the Russo-German-Danzig game. Now we have the 50,000m on the 10m blue (Sower), overprint as on the 20m carmine.—Philatelic Magazine.

PORTUGAL.—Mr. R. Roberts informs us of the appearance of the following new values in the postage due series, all in the same shade of green: 8c, 16c, 32c, 40c, 48c, 80c.

TONGA.—We are informed by the Economist Stamp Co. that they have just received a set of Type A19, 5d, 7½d, 10d and 1sh values overprinted in blue at the top "Two Pence" and at the bottom "Peni-e-ua".

WURTEMBERG.—Mr. J. L. Riedel writes that a set of thirteen provisionals has been issued. Scott's No. 265 to
No. 276 being surcharged as follows:
1000m on 60pf olive green, 2000m on 1.25m emerald green, 5 Tausend on 10pf orange, 20 tausend on 40pf rose red, 50 Tausend on 15pf, deep violet, 75 Tau-send on 2m grey, 100 Tausend on 20pf deep green, 250 Tausend on 3m brown.
1 Million on 60pf olive green, 2 Million on 50pf red brown, 5 Million on 1.25m emerald green, 4 Milliarde on 50 pf red brown and 10 Milliarde on 3m brown.

Unsolicited Testimonials

"I consider the Portuguese Colonial collection of 1,500 varieties the best money-maker at $67.50 I have had in a long time, and will want another one—the fourth—in about ten days. The dealer who cannot make money with these collections must be lacking appreciative customers." D. M. Ward, 608 Buchanan St., Gary, Ind.

"My collection numbered 27,220 varieties at the time I ordered the 1,500 Portuguese Colonial collection from you at $67.50. I want to say that in all my dealings I have never made a purchase which was so thoroughly appreciated. The stamps were not only good in quality, but also in character, and I added to my large collection 695 stamps cataloguing $248.07, and have 805 varieties with which to make up exchange books. I am indeed pleased!" Senator F. A. Godcharles, Harrisburg, Pa.

This is the collection which has been praised far and wide, both by collectors and dealers, as the most remarkable offering made in years. Scores of pleased testimonials, similar to the above, are on file, most of them expressing not only the deepest satisfaction, but also wonderment as to "how we can do it."

The collection is mounted by countries in a blank book. Most of the stamps are unused, and every copy having been selected with care, the condition is practically perfect throughout. The beautiful Vasco da Gama issues rub elbows familiarly with scarce provisionals and other hard-to-get varieties, cataloguing up to several dollars each. Twentieth century issues are present in parade array, some of the smaller colonies being almost complete. One of the best features is the large number of sets, many of which are entirely complete. All in all, a most attractive assembling, and one of unusual value and merit.

ADLETS.

Minimum two lines.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department, and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—30c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $12.50, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

DEATH OF THEODORE LADUE.

Theodore P. Ladue, a prominent Detroit philatelist, and a son of John T. Ladue, a former Mayor of Detroit, died in Boynton, Florida, on Jan. 31, 1924, age 63 years.

Mr. Ladue had been a collector of postage stamps for over forty years. He became interested as a boy in a general collection which he maintained for many years. In later years he had given up general collecting and concentrated his attention on U. S. Adhesives and Entires, Canada and British North America and the Canal Zone. His collections of these three countries were among the leading specialists holdings in Detroit, and represent considerable value to his estate. It is not known what disposition will be made of his philatelic holdings.

Mr. Ladue had been in business in Detroit all his life. Originally he was associated with his father as a wholesale dealer in hides and wool. In 1890 he moved to the State of Washington, where he resided in Seattle, Tacoma and Bellingham, for five years. He then returned to Detroit and organized a wholesale produce commission firm which in late years has been known as Theodore P. Ladue & Co.

He was a member of the Produce Exchange, the American Philatelic Society, No. 1704, and a charter member of the Detroit Philatelic Society.

He was buried from his home on Feb. 3, 1924.

STAMPS AND MONEY FOR RUSSIA.

Postmaster Morgan invites attention to the following announcement by the Post Office Department: "The Postal administration of Russia has advised this department that postage stamps and paper money intended for private individuals in Russia must be addressed exclusively to care of 'Philatelic Delegate of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, Tverskoi Boulevard 12, Moscow.' Articles bearing the inscription 'Postage Stamps' but not addressed to said delegate will be considered as improperly accepted for mailing and will consequently be returned to origin."

A NOTABLE ANNIVERSARY.

We extend our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Sterling of Trenton, N. J., who on January 14 celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. There appeared in the Trenton Gazette a very fine article which we are taking the liberty to reproduce. It was accompanied by a large half-tone, showing a family group. Mr. Sterling is well known in philately, having been for years active in the American Philatelic Society of which he is one of the thirteen living charter members. We voice the sentiment of a great host of our readers in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Sterling many happy returns of the day.—W. O. W.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boker Sterling, of 941 Edgewood Avenue, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home on Monday evening. To mark the occasion they entertained at a family dinner party and covers were laid for sixteen, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. Sterling's children and grandchildren. The table was most attractive, yellow roses and candles being used. The centerpiece was an elaborate wedding cake, and the favors and other decorations were carried out in gold. The place cards bore the initials and dates of the bride and bridegroom and the name of each guest engraved in gold. The house was profusely decorated with yellow roses and daffodils.

Mr. Sterling was most pleasantly remembered by the clerks in the office of the Inheritance Tax department of the state house on Monday. Their gift was thirty gold pieces and was a great surprise to Mr. Sterling. Mr. and Mrs. Sterling received many gold remembrances from their children and from Mrs. Van Hart, also cards and telegrams from a host of friends.

Mr. Sterling is widely known through his scientific research work as a mushroom expert as well as his interest in stamp collections. His picture and an interesting sketch appears in this month's issue of the American Philatelist.

Mr. Sterling was born in the little brown house which still stands at Front

Gibbons Stamp Circular

This snappy little publication is mailed free for nothing—not even postage—once a month unless the editor goes fishing or yachting. This season of the year therefore is a good time to write for a copy. This circular is not mailed to substitutes, send-em-back-unregistered fiends and such like. Postcards also go straight into the waste paper basket. Serious and interested collectors would do well to send for a copy and get on the list free before we close the offer with the ten thousandth name.

THE COLLECTORS CLUB, NEW YORK (Special Report for the WEEKLY.)

One of the most successful meetings of the season was on the occasion of a Medal Competition held in the Club rooms on Wednesday evening, February 6th. The competition was limited to 50 pages of any collection and brought in some sixteen entries and the Judges (Messrs. A. F. Lichtenstein, John N. Luff and Charles J. Phillips) were not able to announce the awards until after 9.30 p. m. The results were as follows:

Silver Medal.—Mr. Joseph T. Lozier for United States (general issues).
Among these we noted 1847 5c orange, superb unused; 5c orange-brown, block of 4 unused; 5c red-brown, block of 6 unused; 10c vertical unused strip of four with top and left side margins, being Nos. 1, 11, 21, and 31 on the pane.
1857, 30c orange, block of 6 unused; 90c blue, block of 4 unused; 90c blue horizontal unused pair one stamp with four lines at bottom in place of three and considered one of the gems of the collection.

1869, 10c-15c Type I and 24c, all in unused blocks of 9; 90c block of 4 unused; 15c, 24c and 30c, all superb used; inverted.

1870, with grill, set complete unused, including that extreme rarity the 24c.

There were a large number of other blocks of great rarity and beauty and the matchless condition of the stamps was very noticeable.

Silver Medal.—Lawrence B. Mason; U. S. Locals.

A very fine and interesting collection nearly all on the original covers. Among them we noted:—Adams City Express Post, 2c black on buff

Barnard's Cariboo, COLLECT, green, used with two 12 1/2 Canada of 1857.

Barnard's Cariboo, Vermilion, PAID, large type, used on Wells Fargo's frank.

Barnard's Cariboo, COLLECT, green, small type, one of them being used with two 3d blue British Columbia and U. S. 1861 10c.

Bouton's Manhattan Express, red on buff with initials of Bouton and black PAID cane.

California Penny Postage frank in blue used with U. S. 1851 10c.

City Dispatch Post, 3c black on white used on original circular of the company 14 Feb., 1842.

City Dispatch Post, 2c black on white with initials C. C. added. The "C" on right is inverted, used on cover.

City Dispatch Post, 2c vermilion C. C. lower right hand corner of sheet.

Cummings, 2c green on cover with Cumming's handstamp on cover; another black on yellow, cane. "C" in black.

Dupuy and Schenck, black on pale rose on cover cancelled V in pencil.

Frazer & Co., 2c black on yellow.

Kidder City Express Post, black on blue-glazed, cancelled PAID in red on cover.

Overton & Co. Letter Express, black on greenish on cover.

Metropolitan P. O. Express, 2c red, die cut to shape of shield, cane. FREE in black and used with three copies of U. S. 1851 1c, Type IV.

Bouton, 2c black on white, with "Swarts" written over in MSS.

Swartz, black on bluish and blue on white, on cover.

Wells Fargo Pony Express, $2 red cancelled "Pony Express," used on U. S. envelope 1857 10c. $1 red, cancelled "Wells Fargo," used on U. S. envelope 1857 10c on white.

Alfred F. Lichtenstein, Cape of Good Hope, would have received a Silver Medal on points, but was noted "Not for competition," as he was one of the Judges.

This collection consisted of 50 pages of the Perkins, Bacon & Co.'s printings only and included superb blocks of all values, in unused and used. A specialty was made of the cancellations which had been carefully worked out and numerous examples were shown with the rare red and blue postmarks. One wonderful block was the 6d lilac 18 superb unused, and the same stamp also in block of 4 unused and 6 used were not so common.

Among the rarities in the bisections we noted on full covers:—1d red on blue used with half of 6d gray (4d rate) cancelled "Worcester, Dec. 12, 60"; 1d red on blue used with half of 6d lilac, cancelled Grahamstown, May 4, 1868.

On part cover there was a bisection we have never previously met with—Half of a 1sh yellow-green cancelled Grahamstown, Sept. 13, 186(or)3. An interesting item was a pair of 4d blue

Recent Germans

High values to 50 billion marks. Evidently some of these, especially the rouletted varieties, are not so plentiful and prices in Germany are jumping fast. Based on cost to us, we offer most of those issued below. You need some of these as evidence of the greatest currency inflation the World ever knew.

We can supply practically everything in recent Germans and Danzig and offer some below. Anything you want in these or other stamps you do not see offered, let us know and we'll send it if it's here. Our connections are of the best and prices reasonable. For offers in these and thousands of other first class stamps, get Phillips' Monthly Bulletin, 24 pages and free for the asking.

cut the wrong way, that is, two half stamps used as a 4d.

Bronze Medal.—W. H. White; U. S.
Revenues.

This was a superb exhibit and if rarity only had counted it certainly would have had the brightest award. It is specially strong in imperf., part perf. and perforated blocks in uncanceled stamps and in colored handstamp cancellations. The following are a few of the outstanding rarities:—

Second Issue, $25 blue and black in a block of four.

Third Issue, 15c inverted medallion,
finest known copy of this great rarity.

Pair of 50c Passage Ticket, Imperf.
Pair of $2 Probate of Will, Imperf.

and most of the standard rarities and high values in matchless condition.

Bronze Medal.—Admiral Fred. Harris;
Ceylon, pence issues, and Sicily.

A very fine collection noted for the beauty of the stamps and for scarce varieties of Ceylon early issues on the original covers. In the rare imperf there were examples of the 8d, 9d
(two), 1s9d (two) and 2sh. The Sicily stamps were also a nice little lot of fine copies but not at all strong in the re-touches.

Bronze Medal.—G. F. Gehrman; U. S.
general issues, 1847 to 1860.

A collection of choice copies and many interesting items, among which we noted:—

1847, 10c on cover with blue "10" cancellation; 10c with split "I" in OFFICE.

1851, 1c reconstructed block showing crack on 3 stamps; 3c pair on cover showing crack on one stamp.

1857, 1c perf., with crack on Type II.

Diploma.—C. M. Ams; Gambia.

A beautiful collection with a number of imperf. stamps of the No. wmk. and CC issues. The perforated Crown and CC were extensively shown in full sheets with the various printings and perforations well worked out, and varieties of double embossing were shown in several values.

Diploma.—A. H. Lamborn; Hungary
20th century.

A very complete collection with all the rarities and remarkable for the skilful manner in which it had been written up.
The stamps were all well selected and were in the most perfect condition.

Among the other exhibits were:—
Confederate States, C. F. Gehrman.
Early Australians, W. C. Kretz.
Latvia, J. J. Lockie.

A remarkably beautiful collection, noted for the study shown, the writing up and general arrangement.

Egypt, D. Pick.
U. S. proofs, A. H. Lamborn.

20th Century stamps, A. H. Lamborn.
Great Britain, D. Pick.

General collection, Mr. Schlesinger.

The attendance of members and their friends was very large and both rooms of the Club were uncomfortably crowded.

Evidently these competitions are very popular and it is hoped the governors will arrange another one before the close of the season.

LETTERS FOR SHANGHAI, CHINA

The Shanghai, China, postal commissioner reports that it is quite apparent from the large number of insufficiently prepaid letters arriving in Shanghai from the United States that the public in this country is not cognizant of the fact that the postage rate applicable to letters addressed for delivery at Shanghai is the same as that applicable to letters addressed for delivery at other places in China.

Postmasters will give as much publicity as possible, without expense to the department, to the circumstance that since the closing of the United States postal agency at Shanghai on December 31, 1922,

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited, as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Here is Mr. B. L. Sterner's idea: "The 'Add-a-pearl' plan has been adopted by me in collecting and when I cut a corner in my general expenses I use the money to buy a gem for my album. Maybe the high-priced jewellers do not like this (ha, ha), but my stamps are my string of pearls." Snappy stuff.

—The editor of the Gossip is a cautious chap. He says that he could not afford to take a trip to Bermuda; neither could we.

—Make way for Mr. Gilbert M. Burr, Meshoppen, Pa.: "I note in the WEEKLY of February 4th, your editorial on the proposed stamp to commemorate the coming international exhibition in Philadelphia in '26. I sincerely believe it will be a deplorable act if this is carried out, because how many collectors, like myself, gave up the collecting of foreign stamps when these countries began the issuing of a new stamp, or set of stamps, with almost every change of wind. The recently issued Harding Memorial, imperforate, has a strong inclination in that direction and do not let us follow it up with something worse. Confine commemorations of this kind to postmarks which will not cause criticism."

—Here is the winning entry in the contest for the celluloid toothpick for the most crying act of generosity perpetrated by a stamp dealer who, with characteristic modesty, wants his name writ in water: "A customer came in yesterday and said that I promised some years ago when he bought a five-cent 1847 from me for five bucks to give him as much if I ever wanted to sell it. The stamp was a fine one and I said that I would not give him five dollars, but seven dollars. Does it spoil the story when I say that I sold the stamp at once for twelve iron men?"

—A subscriber asks if he is not entitled to some kind of prize, as when he read a paper at the stamp club meeting the other night, one of the members went to sleep and announced that fact with a snore. We should like the words for a philatelic lullaby.

—"I saw Joseph Schildkraut in the 'Highwayman,' and as you said, he voiced the stamp sentiment that you described recently. When he uttered the words, I gave the young lady who was with me a dig in the ribs with my elbow in my glee, whereupon the atmosphere became colder, and it has been below zero ever since," writes a young man whose confession is respected.

—A writer in an esteemed contemporary begins his article: "Does something seem to be missing when you look at your stamp collection?" We have always advised that when a collector showed his stamps he should keep a strict watch on them.

—Here is a clever piece of suggestion, adopted by a collector who felt that another collector had owed him the money long enough. He sent a postage due stamp, on the back of which he indited the living words: "When this you see, remember me." The point is that he got the dollar that was owed him.

—We have recently organized a stamp club in Princeton (Ill.), which meets in our office every other Saturday. We have ten members and they are all live wires, too. At present we are having reports on different parts of "The Boy's Book of Stamp Collecting," by D. B. Armstrong. We also have a puzzle contest consisting of questions on Scott's, with the view of teaching the younger boys to study their stamps. We would be delighted to send copies of our questions to any other stamp club upon receipt of postage. Then, too, we have our auction sales where the boys (and others) donate duplicates, the money going into our treasury. The prices realized at these sales is astonishing. If there is any other way in which we can be of help to other stamp clubs, we will be only too glad to do so if they will address this office.—W. W. ANDERSON & Co., 324 Elm Pl., Princeton, Ill.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Brown and Miss Barbara Brown are sailing from New York next Tuesday (26th) on Steamer Megantic for 30-day trip to the West Indies. The itinerary includes Panama, Canal Zone, Venezuela, Trinidad, Martinique and other West Indies.

—One way to beat the high cost of collecting United States stamps is to collect other countries.

—Following are the new officers of the Allentown (Pa.) Philatelic Society: President, Wm. J. Schwarz; Vice Pres.,

EDITORIAL.

The letters that come on the subject of a special stamp for the International Philatelic Exhibition, Philadelphia, 1926, while almost without exception in favor of the proposal include several that speak in clarion tones against it. In fact, the dissenters seem to feel more strongly against the issue than the proponents of it do for it; and if a compromise is not effected it would be folly to pursue the subject to the length of attracting notice officially. While differences of opinion properly may be aired between ourselves, we must present a unified front to the outsider. The gist of the argument for the stamp, aside from any considerations of benefit from advertising for philately in an impressive way, is that no tradition would be shattered by a special stamp, and that furthermore,
 the tendency has been to accept issues of the kind as commemorative stamps. While it is a far cry perhaps from celebrating Fulton's "Rocket" by a stamp and Philadelphia's Exhibition in the same way, many philatelists think that their pursuit is worthy of this recognition. The question must be threshed out now and it is evident that the topic is one that is conductive to expression of opinion on both sides.

Just how the subject of the special stamp will be disposed of remains to be seen but regardless of any decision that may be arrived at, the discussion is worth while. Sentiment enters largely into the composition of the philatelist and we have no right to trample upon it. A conviction that it is demoralizing to ask for a stamp that would be alleged to be speculative is warrant enough for opposing it. If, on the contrary, such a stamp would be deemed a deserved tribute to philately with resulting great benefit to it in an advertising sense, partisans of the stamp may encourage the movement.
 Of course, we do not delude ourselves that even if it were the unanimous wish of collectors that a stamp be prayed for, it will be forthcoming. Then the fight will have just begun; and at best, it is debatable just what the decision of the department would be. If correspondents will continue to give their reasons for taking sides on the question, a new angle will be presented, perhaps that will smooth the way for action in unison;
 and at any rate, we may always fall back upon the idea of a special philatelic postmark. Springfield paved the way for the stamp postmark and set up a mark at which to shoot.

In refusing the request by a corporation for precancelled Harding stamps, the Chicago post-office explained that up to the present it had not precancelled any of these stamps and was averse to overprinting the memorial stamps. The Harding stamps are to serve a special purpose and the ordinary two cent stamps could well take the place of the mourning stamps, it was intimated.
 Further, it was said that the black stamp did not show up the printing as plainly as could be desired.

An inquiry signed by Professor Arnold J. Wilson, Chicago, asks for authoritative information on the subject on the first stamp dealer in America.
 He "wants to be sure of his ground" as he wishes to quote the date. We can only answer the question by quoting from J. W. Scott's American Journal of Philately, 1868, as follows: "It is now eight years since obliterated postage stamps first became an article of merchandise in the United States, and from the first introduction of this fascinating science to the present day, we have noticed a continued increase in the number and ability of its followers. We recollect seeing for the first time, in the fall of 1860, a poor man standing at the end of the City Hall Park with a hundred or so foreign stamps nailed (!) to a board for sale (how any philatelist would be horrified by the sight now).
 These were all sold at the uniform rate of five cents each, the proprietor not having the slightest idea of the comparative scarcity of the different varieties. The rapid sale of the specimens exposed to view soon induced other parties to engage in the same money-making business, till a reaction was thus brought about; this, however, was caused equally by the excitement attending the breaking out of the rebellion." Thus it will be seen that the commercial beginnings were somewhat vague and undefined and the dealer "exclusively in stamps" was a later development. It is safe to say that the first public vendor came into notice late in 1860 and from that time on, stamp dealers flourished, in their small way.
 The civil war put something of a crimp in the business as was natural, but the seeds were in fertile ground and soon shot forth. John Walter Scott as an individual did more to make stamp dealing a systematized and recognized business in this country in the early days than all of the other dealers combined, and as a dealer on a relatively large scale, he deserves the credit of being one of the first real dealers.

From Mr. Al Burns, Terre Haute, Indiana, we have heard of the death of Herman Kupper, A. P. S., No. 6435, 135
 Sampson Street, Garfield, N. J., about the first of February of this year. Mr.
 Burns writes: "He had been confined to his bed with rheumatism for the last seven years, unable to use any part of his body except his hands. He came to this country from Switzerland and about three years ago he began to develop a small business in stamps with the large collection he had accumulated in past years. His death was caused by a stroke of paralysis. He was interested principally in British, French colonials and precancelled." The case of Mr. Kupper was an unusual one and, sorely incapacitated as he was, he turned to his stamps as a means for support after he had derived so much satisfaction in collecting them. They proved to be a staff to him and in a sense he was sustained by them to the end.

Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack, Lakewood,
 New Jersey, whose great work, "Victoria: The Half Length Portraits and the Two Pence Queen Enthroned" made its appearance, with the imprimatur of the Collectors Club, New York, has just been elected an honorary member of the Sociedad Filatelica Argentina of Buenos Aires. Mr. Pack, too, was awarded the new medal of the Collectors Club; and these honors coming on top of the Lord Crawford medal make Mr. Pack feel very grateful.

Self-imposed tasks for the performance of which there is no immediate reward require no little determination to follow through but if the average philatelist will take it upon himself to "sell"
 at least one outsider the philatelic idea during the week, month or year, the advantageous results will be helpful to all of us. A suggestion has come from Clarence Goodings of New York, a boy scout, that each collector should resolve to get "at least one convert to stamp collecting" during the next twenty-four hours. Good boy, Clarence, and if your speed is somewhat swift, we shall try to act on your idea.

The post-office department wants publicity given to its warning that letter postage from the United States to Shanghai, China, is five cents for the first ounce and three cents for each additional ounce or the rates applying in the Postal Union. The abolition of the American office at Shanghai makes it mandatory that the usual rate to China be paid; and short paid letters pay double the deficiency in postal due.

EARLY LOW VALUES SPECIALIZED.
By WARNER BATES.
73 W. Eagle St., Buffalo, N. Y.
(This department deals only with U. S. issued before 1890 and mainly postal issues. The editor cannot give valuations on minor varieties, etc. Stamps sent for examination should be of interest because of oddity, scarcity, etc., or to clear up some debated question. Postage should be enclosed with registration fee when desired, also self-addressed envelope. —Ed.)

A correspondent asks: "What have we to regulate the price of a shifted transfer? Scott gives no value on them and I have seen none advertised." In this respect, the correspondent if taken literally, is mistaken. Scott does price some of the shifted transfers on early U. S. I believe that the correspondent in question has in mind the shifted transfers on the two cent red brown, 1882, inasmuch as the rest of his letter refers to this stamp.

It would be difficult for this department to set a valuation on any particular varieties of this kind, that being the function of the cataloguer. However, a few general remarks may not be amiss. There are shifted transfers and shifted transfers, especially on the issues of 1870-71, 1873, 1879, etc. Some are great and some are small. The editor has not his catalogue at hand at this writing, but if his memory serves him correctly Scott's valuation of a shifted transfer on the one cent 1873, is $4. There are quite a wide range of shifted transfers to be found on this stamp. In some the shift shows plainly as lines of color in white spaces of the design where no lines are supposed to be. For example, in some varieties the letters will be found partially doubled, extra lines showing in the white part of the letters. In others, lines of the design will be found partly doubled so that extra lines show in the white spaces, for example, of the ornaments at top or bottom, or at the sides. In one example the little trio of pearls at one side of the oval containing Franklin's portrait is so doubled that there seems to be an extra pearl at the top, showing against the lines of the background. These, in the opinion of the writer, are major shifts and are what the cataloguer means when he puts a list price of $4 on them.

However, as has been said there is quite a variety of these—at least 20-25 in this issue alone to the knowledge of the writer—and some are much scarcer than others. This being the case it would seem that the catalogue price would apply only to those varieties which are commonest and that the scarcer ones should bring a nice premium over catalogue price. For example, if a certain shift happened in one stamp out of 200 subjects on a certain plate that was only used for a few days or a few weeks copies of this shift would be rare compared with a shifted variety occurring on a plate in use a year or two.

But here again values are regulated by demand. Only the bred-in-the-bone specialist goes in for collecting more than one variety of a shifted transfer on a certain stamp. Therefore, the demand existing for the more rare shifts is weak. In other words, almost any good example of a shift on a particular stamp will do for the majority of specialists and having filled that space the collector is not seeking further copies. So, while the scarcer examples undoubtedly should bring a premium above catalogue, the increase would not be nearly in the same proportion as would be the increase on certain varieties of blue, green or red cancellations, for example.

Now there is another class of shifted transfers which must have consideration. These the writer classifies as minor shifts. These are cases where the lines of the background of the stamp are doubled or shifted in certain places. In the one cent blue, 1870-71, 1873 and 1879, these background shifts occur at various locations on the stamp but most frequently in the lower right hand corner. Another case of minor shift is where there is a doubling of the lines showing in some of the white parts of ornaments or letters but the doubling is so slight that it is scarcely perceptible. These the writer also classes as minor shifts. Chances are that the cataloguer does not mean these shifts when he fixes the price at $4 on the one cent, 1873, for example, for being so minor they naturally would escape the eye of anyone except an observing and thorough going specialist and it is necessary for one to have studied the subject for some time before he can recognize them at all. In other words the eye must have become so familiar with the entire design of the stamp that it instantly takes in any variation from the normal or most of these minor shifts would be passed up. Minor shifts happen to be much commoner than the full-fledged variety and for these two reasons, while they have a substantial philatelic value, would not command nearly as high a price as the pronounced ones. In the opinion of the writer a minor shift of this nature would be worth about one-fourth the price of a major shift.

C. C. Fisher, instructor in machine design at Cornell University, submits some examples of double perforations on the three-cent 1861, double perforations showing at both bottom and top. Double perforations, due to the carelessness of those who operated the perforating machines, are always interesting and have a legitimate place in the specialist's collection. They are not by any means common, either.

Precancelled Harding Memorial Stamps

SOMETHING ELSE INTERESTING
IN UNITED STATES ADHESIVES*2c Surface Print, Imperf., Type IV.

Some months back, about ten sheets of the imperf. 2c surface prints, Scott's type IV, but really the first type of the surface printed stamps, were found in the Chicago Post Office. This is a variety of Scott's 526 and lists in their specialized catalogue on page 78 at 75c per stamp, or $3.00 a block of four. The variety formerly listed $10.00 a block because of the small number at first found, later, a larger quantity came to light in Pittsburgh and the price fell. I can furnish magnificent mint copies of this variety at 40c for single stamps, 80c a pair or $1.50 a block. I do not recall ever seeing the variety offered at a more interesting figure.

Should you desire the plate number, arrow or center line blocks, prices will be equally reasonable.

What else do you need in blocks or singles of U. S. 20th Century varieties? A substantial stock on hand at the present time.

UNITED STATES.—1922-23, 2c Carmine, Imperforate Vertically.—Dr. Warren L. Babcock has shown me a further variety of the new 1922-23 series of unusual interest, namely, the 2c carmine, portrait of Washington, imperforated vertically and perforated 11 horizontally on the usual unwatermarked paper. The variety comes from a right pane of sheet 14689. I cannot say if it is the upper or lower pane, as the piece shown me consists of two horizontal rows of ten, forming a block of twenty with the plate number on the right margin. The block in question has been partially blue penciled, the method used by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing to indicate that the pane should be removed by the inspector and scrapped.

In submitting the block, Dr. Babcock writes:—"This is part of a sheet of which only fifty stamps were preserved. It was noticed to be defective by the Postmaster of an up-state Michigan town." It was to have been returned to Washington but was fortunately located before it left for the return trip.

1922-23, 2c carmine, Portrait of Washington
Imperforate vertically.

Collectors should watch their Post Offices carefully, for this is the second variety of this kind that has recently come to light in the way of part-perforated stamps, the 10c orange, portrait of Monroe, having been recently chronicled. It has been surprising that even more oddities do not escape the vigilant attention of the Bureau inspectors, who must go over millions of stamps monthly. They are certainly to be congratulated in allowing so few errors to get through.

Harding Memorial Stamp.—Mr. C. J. West has shown me a block of the 2c Harding Memorial stamp perforated 11, wherein one has a little dash in the upper part of the left figure "2". Mr. West states that he has examined a number of sheets from plate No. 14857 and finds this variety constant.

Mr. D. C. Sprague writes that he has found a pane of the 2c Harding, perforated 10, with double print. We have not seen this variety and therefore cannot definitely state as to whether it is a double print or an over-inked impression. We hope to have more details regarding the variety later.

Wilson Memorial Stamp.—In further reference to proposed Wilson Memorial stamp, I am in receipt of a communication from the Third Assistant Postmaster General under date of February 6th wherein he states that the Department thanks me for the suggestion and assures me that it will receive their careful consideration. As I have heard nothing further regarding the matter, I am under the impression that they will not act favorably upon the suggestion, and that we will not have such a variety to add to our collection.

State Revenues.—While we know very little regarding State Revenues, the following quotation from a letter received from Mr. H. R. Jensen may prove of interest:

"For the 'state revenue' collectors there seems to be one stamp, the New York State Stock Transfer, 4c first issue of 1905, which is evasive, to say the least. One explanation given me is from a dealer in Denver, as follows: 'I have been advised that the 4c first issue was the last to appear of the first series. Consequently with its appearance, the tax inspectors got hep to the fact that some brokers' clerks were using the stamps a second time after washing them or even not cancelling them. So the called the first issue off and came out with the second, which was the same except perf. and surcharged. Thus the very few 4 centers saved were mostly ur

For your information, I came into possession of a nice block of four of the new 5-cents cigarette tax stamp, first issue; you had mention of seeing these stamps, some months ago, but not the recent one. They have since reprinted the design of these stamps and I haven't seen the new 5c."

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC.—Mr. Emil J. Hall sends us the 15c rose, airplane stamp, that has recently been issued. In the center of the stamp is a view of the airplane flying over the native country and at the left are the words "Servicio de," at the top "Transportes Aereos," while at the right "En Colombia." The figures of value are in each lower corner with "Centavos" between and just above "S.C.A.D.T.A."

GILBERT AND ELLICE ISLANDS.—A new denomination, viz., 1½d red, will shortly be on issue here, a supply having already been despatched by the Crown Agents for the Colonies. Plate 11, Wmk. Script A, 1½d red.

The 10s green and red on emerald script CA, and £1 purple and black on red, old wmk., have also been despatched, both being from Plate 11.—Stamp Collecting.

HUNGARY.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 2kr green in the design of A13 with the surcharge "Porto 30 Korona". Also, the same stamp has been overprinted "1000" and "2000" with the same words as before mentioned. All the surcharges are in red.

ITALY.—The new provisional, 7½c on 5c, is intended for use on printed matter. We are to have another commemorative issue very soon, and this is to consist of six values (10, 15, 30, 50c, and 5l) printed in two colours and the subjects of the lower values are to be taken from "I Promessi Sposi," the novel which spread Manzoni's name over Europe. On the 1l value the birthplace of the writer will figure and his portrait will adorn the 5l denomination. Alessandro Manzoni was born in 1780 Milan, became a Senator of the kingdom of Italy in 1860, and died in 1873.

Only 50,000 sets are to be printed. 14,000 of which will be set aside for use in Italy's overseas dominions.

There is a new 2l value, blue and rose, in the old design.—Philatelic Magazine. We have been shown by Ugo Del Vivo the 85c chocolate with the surcharge "Cent. 7½" in black.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—Another belated War issue is announced from here, a 10p stamp overprinted "O.R.I.", having the value of 1di and sold at double face for the benefit of the war invalids. The design is after a well-known picture depicting the first Serbian hospital, and the overprint represents "Society of Wounded Invalids" (Ouprava Ratnih Invalida).—Philatelic Magazine.

KELANTAN.—We are indebted to Mr. R. Roberts for a copy of the $1 green and brown on script watermarked paper.

MONACO.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us a new set of two values. They are 10c green of the design of A9 and 40c yellow brown picturing the railway bridge at Monte Carlo and the Church of St. Devote beyond the arches.

PERSIA.—A new series of nineteen values, depicting rulers of Persia and Mosques, all in two colours with borders in gold, is now current.—Philatelic Magazine.

POLAND.—We have received the following information from Messrs. Bright & Son: "On looking through a parcel of about 600 used copies of the 10,000 on 25 mark Polish, we have discovered a copy with a very clear double overprint. These Polish Provisionals seem to be very carefully printed and this we should think is something in the nature of a rarity. It has evidently passed through the office with others and was not noticed."

SWEDEN.—Mr. R. Roberts has called to our attention the 30 ore blue, which has been issued imperforate x perf. 10.

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF.

Colombia.—A correspondent kindly sends us a cutting which states that, in view of the possible abuses arising from the employment of the often badly printed and otherwise defective "Provisional" stamps which have been in use of recent years, and the fact that offices are now once more supplied with stamps of English manufacture, all the "Provisional" stamps will be definitely withdrawn from circulation on January 1st, 1924. The dies from which the stamps have been produced are to be destroyed under direction of the Administrator of the National Lithographic Works, in the presence of two witnesses.

All post-offices are to be provided with suitable indelible ink for post-marking, in order to stop the practice of cleaning used stamps.

Germany.—In sending us the 20 milliards stamp in the definite type, Mr. R. Roberts states that it had a franking value of four times its face value, being sold to the public at 80 milliards. The new series listed this month, with values indicated in gold pfennig, will probably have the effect of stopping the rush of new issues from Germany, and we should soon be able to see which of the recent issues are going to be good. No doubt there will be a definite "gold pfennig" series in due course, as the present makeshift method of using one basic design and overprinting it with the required value is hardly likely to be continued.

Letland.—The "War Invalid" stamps issued on November 10th, were sold at a premium of 10s and will be current for one year (when, no doubt, they will be replaced by another Charity set). 200,000 sets were printed, and we hope that the collectors of real stamps will leave them for the charitably-minded Latvians to purchase. Mr. George Jaeger kindly gives us information about these stamps.

Are You Interested in Old U.S. Stamps?

So am I to the tune of about $25,000. I stayed off the foreign end of the game to give others a chance, but when it comes to good old U. S., just listen, I have a lot of them, rare cancellations, scarce pairs, strips, blocks, covers, well, figure it out for your self, what $25,000 worth looks like, and you have some idea what I hold in this line.

So if you wish to add a few nice things to your album, let me talk to you, or rather, tell me what you would like to purchase. Satisfy me your credit is first class and let me send something interesting for you to look over.

I have quite a few thousand invested in B. N. A., too, just good American stamps, that are as sound as bonds, unless I am badly fooled, and I ought to know something about stamps, having started my first collection in 1881. Write before you forget the address. It is—

are hard to get. Take any unpicked lot of 10,000 stamps—out of the 10,000, how many perfection copies would you find? By perfection, I mean a stamp well centered, full, rich color, no tears, thin spots, pin holes or missing perforation, and lightly canceled.

Naturally you cannot buy stamps of this nature at bargain prices. But because of the prices which this kind of material always demands, the prices at which I sell are reasonable. Stamps in my stock that are a little off from what I have described are marked at correspondingly low prices. You will find much to interest you in a selection from my stock, which is strongest in the three cent 1861, three cent 1869, one, two, three, four, five, six and ten cent, 1870 to 1888, inclusive.

OCEAN - TO - OCEAN COVERS

An Announcement of Unusual Importance.

The airplane four days (Aug. 21-24) transcontinental flights between New York and San Francisco marked a new era in the history of aviation and philately, for, in whizzing across the continent through 2680 miles of space between the Atlantic and Pacific in a little over 26 hours, a postage stamp has been shot from ocean to ocean at a speed beyond the dreams of a generation ago. Of these first day covers there are but comparatively few in existence, and naturally they will be much sought after and prized as time goes by.

At the moment have from one to several of each of the following (Scott 551-571), either from S. F. to N. Y. or N. Y. to S. F., at following prices:—

1 or 2 (both imperf. or perf. in blks.),
3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14, 15, 20, 25, 50 or 50c on cover, your choice,
each$7.50

One, two and five dollar on cover, each,
face plus$7.50

Complete set (23 covers) going one way, $160; both ways (46 covers)$300.00

AIRMAIL STAMP COVERS—N. Y. to
S. F. or S. F. to N. Y. 8c blks., 16c pairs, each $10. 24c, each $15. Three covers going one way, $30; both ways$55.00

All covers have both sending and receiving postmarks. The 24c has N. Y. Aug. 22, or S. F. Aug. 24. All others have sending postmarks of Aug. 21 for both N. Y. and S. F. Have also blocks and larger pieces of some of above denomination first day ocean-to-ocean covers. Serious correspondence invited. [17-21-25&c

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Some of our readers are so curious. Mr. L. M. Morse wants to know when stamp hinges were first used. It is hard to say, but among the old albums among our books, we find in the third edition of H. Stafford Smith's Permanent Album, published about 1875, the hinge remains of the stamps that were taken out. This, despite the fact that in the preface we read that "collectors are urged to gum only a portion of the stamps when fixing them in this album."

—From Mr. C. O. Selander, 837 Locust Street, Denver, Colorado, we have received the following letter and, in passing, we may say that Mr. Selander's case has been referred to us as one that has been authenticated: "Six years with tuberculosis spent chasing the cure. My best pastime and hobby is a small stamp collection which grows all too slowly. Stamp collecting is a wonderful sedative to a worried mind and I can pass a great deal of time entertaining myself with them, if only I have the stamps to work with. Would it be against your ethics to give me a few lines in your weekly telling of my disability and hobby, broadcasting the announcement that any duplicates collectors could send to me would be very, very welcome?"

—"I suppose that you are justified in saying that if U. S. are too high, collect foreign that may be had more reasonably, but, noticing that many of the big fellows stop at 1890, I began my U. S. collection with that issue. I want to say that I have been able to get almost all the issues from that date on in superb used condition, and it is some job to get them, I tell you. Soon, certain of these stamps will rank with the scarcities, judging from my experience." Sensible words, Mr. Morgan, as we are apt to ignore what seems to be close at hand.

—An error occurred in the advertisement of the Daoust Stamp Co. Feb. 4. The manager writes us that in pricing Canada Scott's No. 25 at 25c a mistake was made, the correct price being 75c, with ten copies at $6. We hope this correction will give the firm even more patronage than had it appeared correctly in the original advertisement.

—The latest house organ is the Hia-watha Philatelist, published by the Hia-watha Stamp Shop, Syracuse, N. Y. It is a neatly printed leaflet of eight pages and will be sent anyone upon request.

—The Brooklyn Stamp Club now meets at 123 Schermerhorn St. on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. The next meeting will be Feb. 27.

—J. C. B.—We do not have the name of Mr. Robbins on our mail list. This in reply to your post card communication to this office.

—Parties are inquiring concerning Heang & Chang of Penang, Straits Settlements. We can only say that there is no good word we can offer concerning the operations of this firm. Various collectors have been victimized and up to this time no redress has been possible.

—Word reaches us through P. M. Wolsieffer of the death of Herman Kupper, Garfield, N. J. It will be remembered that we recently solicited help for Mr. Kupper, who had been the victim of a robbery of his stamp treasures. His death was due to a stroke of paralysis.

—H. F. Colman has just issued a neatly printed price-list of U. S. and British Colonial stamps, also accessories. A copy will be sent on request. Address Second National Bank Bldg., Washington, D. C.

—Jos. Gallant, Hempstead, N. Y., has been appointed General Manager of the Weko for all countries except Europe. Mr. Gallant will be in charge of all Weko affairs and will appoint all state representatives and secretaries in the near future. There will be only two headquarters of Weko, Europe in Endorf, Upper Bavaria, and for all other countries in Hempstead, N. Y.

—Briggs, the artist, with the soul of a stamp collector, wonders what a special delivery stamp thinks of in his series of pictures the other day.

—We loaned a cover with a fifteen cent black Lincoln on it for exhibition purposes in a neighbor's store window on Lincoln's birthday, and many a passer-by stopped to look at the envelope in its frame and the card of explanation.

—"My, how long you let the nail grow on your index finger," said we to a caller, who replied, "Yes, I use the nail to turn over stamps when I want to see their backs."

—A counterfeit of the 90 cent, 1869, inverted center, was shown us recently, and we will say that at least the stamp was engraved. The forger aimed too high when he shot at a stamp that does not exist.

—"Stamps are not so bad," says a collector who put some money in them in the days of "easy come." A real estate man has just taken the collection as a cash payment on a piece of real estate.

—From Topeka, Kansas, a subscriber sends a clipping from the Capital, Senator Capper's newspaper:

"News that the United States, along with several other countries, has abandoned its post-office in Shanghai, China, didn't create much of a ripple in Topeka except in one small circle, and there it started things moving quickly.

For many years the United States and several foreign governments have maintained their own postal services in Shanghai because the Chinese system was inadequate and unreliable. The withdrawal of the foreign post-offices is tantamount to a declaration of faith in the Chinese Government and all it works. This was mildly interesting to most Topekans—vastly so to about 40 or 50 of them—philatelists.

The average reader of the news dismissed the closing of the Shanghai post-office without a second thought. But the stamp collectors leaped into action.

They commenced to order from the postal department at Washington, complete sets of the stamps that had been used and sold in the Shanghai office. A complete set of the stamps costs $2.86 and some of the collectors ordered as many as 10 sets. Rare stamps are queer things. As a rule it is their defects or their uselessness that makes them valuable. Hence the scramble for the Shanghai stamps which are now out of date.

Ernest A. Smith, one of Topeka's leading collectors, whose vocation is carrying mail in the postal service and whose avocation is picking up rare stamps, says the office in Washington thru which stamps are sold to the collectors, was swamped almost immediately with 2,200 orders for the Shanghai stamps and soon was two months behind in getting them out.

The Shanghai stamps are regulation United States stamps except that they are 'overprinted' with the word 'Shanghai' and their denominations are raised to double their value in the United States.

When the Harding memorial stamps were issued, according to Smith, the government didn't issue any 'imperforate' stamps—being stamps without the perforations between them that permit them to be easily torn apart. For some reason a collector thinks far more of an 'imperforate stamp' than of the common variety with the little perforations between them. The philatelists besieged the postal department with requests for the printing of an 'imperforate edition,' and the government yielded to their request.

There is an office of the department in Washington which does nothing but fill the orders of collectors thruout the

THE BUFFALO COLLECTORS CLUB.

The Buffalo Collectors Club was most delightfully entertained on the evening of January 25th, at the home of M. H. Hoover, No. 367 High St., Lockport, N. Y. Matt Hoover has been a stamp collector for thirty or thirty-five years and he has a collection that would make many an experienced collector of these days sit up and take notice. Incidentally, Mr. Hoover is a hospitable gentleman whose latch string is always on the outside for the benefit of fellow collectors.

A dozen or more members of the Buffalo Club made the trip to Lockport. As soon as they were seated in the trolley car, it being too cold a night to go by auto, the fun began and more than one sale was made on the way down to the mystification of other passengers who could not understand why men should be exchanging perfectly good dollar bills for colored bits of paper.

Arriving at Mr. Hoover's home the company was delightfully received by the host and his charming wife and daughter. Shortly the club members retired to Mr. Hoover's den and there in the midst of stamps, rare old books and mementos of hunting and fishing expeditions was spent one of those rare evenings that always live in memory.

Mr. Hoover's collection of covers housed in two enormous albums was a center of interest. When the Buffalo men began to happen onto pages of five and ten cent forty-sevens on cover, whole sections devoted to the three cent 51-57 and the like they expressed their appreciation with many an exclamation of delight. Such items as a beautiful "Paid" in red paint on the ten cent forty-seven, railroads on the three cent 51, blocks of four of some of the earlier issues, 24 cent, 1870-71, on cover and the like were well worth looking at. His covers include a profusion of Northern New York cancellations on the three cent 51 and other earlier issues, most of these coming from finds which he personally made in the Adirondacks and anyone knows how interesting such items are.

One of his cover collections consists solely of covers used before stamps and these are exceedingly interesting, including as they do a large number of railroads, steamboats and other valuable early cancellations.

Mr. Hoover has also a very fine collection of stamps off cover housed in two large U. S. albums and these contain many rare items, including several blocks, one of them a block of six of the 24-cent 1869. There are also a number of other albums housing specialized collections of U. S. stamps and it may be mentioned here that his collections of one, two and three cent, 1870 to 1882, inclusive, are very large and include a host of desirable items. For example, Mr. Hoover has a pair of three cent greens with the famous gin barrel cancellation in blue that would make many a collector envious. There is a delightful profusion of red and other colored cancellations.

There were many other nice things which Mr. Hoover showed to the Buffalo collectors. In fact, they were literally too numerous to summarize in such a brief item as this. Colonel Atwater of Lockport was also present and showed some of his interesting things.

Mr. Hoover insisted that the Buffalo Club hold its regular business session and auction, so these things were taken up in their regular order. The auction was brief but interesting, one of the nice things changing hands being a fine copy of the one cent 51, showing a minor plate variety and a fine New England town cancellation on the stamp and cover. The piece brought a price of $5. Several lots of the three cent 51-57 and 61 on cover were sold and the ruling prices were fair, although governed by average condition of the lots.

Later in the evening refreshments were served and at the dinner table the subject of finds came up. Many an interesting tale was told but Mr. Hoover capped the climax when he told the story of how he personally found the only Lockport provisional that exists, the one that Mr. Hinds of Utica now owns and which for years reposed in the Ferrary collection.

Plans have been made for a joint meeting of the Buffalo Collectors Club and the Bison City Stamp Club at the Buffalo Y. M. C. A., at which time Mr. MacLaren of Cleveland will exhibit his wonderful collection of covers and tell his experiences in making finds.

DOLLAR COVER BUNDLES

These bundles are assembled as orders are received and it is my endeavor to use my latest purchases as the basis of the assortment. I handle thousands of covers a year and I find customers who order bundles each time I advertise them. It is because I try to make them a little different each time.

This time I guarantee each bundle to contain 15 covers—all U. S. used in the periods of their issue and mostly prior to 1890—each bundle containing a 3c 1851, a 3c 1857 and a 3c 1860 and at least two colored cancellations.

Price $1.00 per Bundle

"Dollar Cover Bundles" are an advertising "lead" with me and I make them up to prove satisfactory. My definite guarantee is "your money back if unsatisfactory."

BRITISH AND FRENCH COLONIAL STAMPS

I am breaking up a 20th Century collection of British and French Colonial stamps, containing many fine things. I would like to receive want lists from people interested in these stamps. I always have on hand many fine foreign stamps, particularly those of the British Empire.

U. S. DIE PROOFS

Complete set of die proofs from 1847 to 1903 inclusive, consisting of 292 pieces beautifully mounted on counter sunk pages, interleaved with glazed tissue paper, handsomely bound in Morocco. This is one of the very limited editions of these books, issued by Mr. E. C. Madden, former Third Assistant Postmaster General. Price, $300.00.

Remember I Am Headquarters for U. S. and Its Colonies.

W. W. MACLAREN

(Mr. MacLaren is a devoted student of philately. He is an active member of the American Philatelic Society, of which he is one of the Vice Presidents. His attendance at the meeting in Buffalo demonstrates the measure of his enthusiasm. He has no hesitation in journeying to Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cincinnati, Akron, Sharon, Pa., as well as Buffalo, to help local clubs stimulate an interest in philately. We might add that Mr. MacLaren engages in this work without thought of remuneration. The past four years have been filled with activities in getting together his trophies, and he takes keen delight in showing them to appreciative audiences.—W. O. W.)

Here is an advertising story. But it is also a stamp story and a rip-roaring good one.

It was told to me by W. W. MacLaren, of Cleveland, of whom almost every collector has heard, while we sat at dinner in the Hotel Statler in Buffalo one night recently and later Mr. MacLaren gave the members of the Bison City Stamp Club and the Buffalo Collectors Club who gathered at the Y. M. C. A. to examine his excellent collection a résumé of the many things we discussed over the evening meal.

There were several of us who had the honor of discussing stamps with MacLaren at the Statler earlier in the evening, Doc Fisher, Harry Flierl, Harry Klotzbach, Adolph Steeg, George Graham and it is safe to say that we converted a couple of ordinary waiters and at least one head waiter to the gentle art of philately.

Naturally, everyone leaned on the words of MacLaren, the man who has proved that nice finds of good old stamps can still be made at original sources by any collector who has the ingenuity to devise a means of getting at them, and at an expense that is not too excessive, considering the results and the fun there is in it.

Mr. MacLaren is a busy business man. He is in charge of the credit department of the Cleveland Press and has 40 people under him, which accounts for the usual working hours six days a week. Outside of that he conducts his advertising, carries on his correspondence with hundreds of people who write in regarding old lots of stamps, sorts over the lots he buys and mounts them into his collections or arranges to dispose of them, enjoys two or three social evenings a week with his family and friends and Sundays as well, and when he hasn't anything else to do he probably sleeps a little. At any rate, after hearing the story, none of us could help admiring a man who is able to do so much in the usual 24 hours of the Gregorian calendar.

Mr. MacLaren began to collect stamps when he was seven years old. At that time he and a boy chum got together a few stamps and pasted them in a book. At the end of a year they had 150 stamps. Then they decided to split the partnership and one of the mothers suggested that they draw lots and then take alternate stamps for their own. Young MacLaren drew first pick and he took a red Austrian stamp as his first choice. His chum took a German. The red

Austrian is still on hand and occupies the premier place in MacLaren's collection of today.

The present MacLaren collection was started ten years ago. It originally was a general collection. Four years ago MacLaren, while on a fishing trip, got to thinking about his stamps and the demands the collection made upon his limited time. He had built up a large general collection and had reached a point where if he was to go further he would have to spend a lot of time and money without any hopes of ever forming anything like a complete or very satisfactory collection.

He had always liked U. S. stamps particularly well and especially U. S. on original covers but this was a field (the early issues, we are speaking of) which neither his time nor his funds permitted him entering to any great extent. To make original finds of old U. S. covers and keep making them usually requires that the collector has not only money but days and weeks at a time to spend browsing about the country. Finally MacLaren worked out his plan.

In the first place he decided to get rid of such parts of his collection as he no longer needed under his new plan, and collect U. S. covers to 1869, U. S. off cover to a later date and a few others. He decided to try to secure original finds by advertising in small town newspapers.

MacLaren's first advertising appropriation was $250 for one year's advertising. He secured an advertising agency to handle his copy and place the advertising and worked a long time over the copy to make sure that he had something which would bring results. Almost everyone has heard of MacLaren's famous advertisements about Grandfather's Old Love Letters—you keep the letters and send me the envelopes with the stamps on, or something of that sort. At any rate, his advertisements pulled from the beginning and, although at the present time he is using an entirely different form of advertisement, they are still pulling stronger than ever. The campaigns are planned from year to year and a specific section of the country, usually two or three states, is covered each year. Small town weeklies only are used and these advertisements run as "classified" and in several consecutive issues of each paper.

The first advertisements brought Mr. MacLaren a lead right in Cleveland. He followed this up at once and arrived at a humble home somewhere in that city

ATTRACTIVE APPROVALS

If you are a general collector, my approvals will appeal to you. Try them and save money. A reference will bring you a nice selection to look over these winter nights. Edgar W. Fielding, 126 W. 20th St., Wilmington, Del.

about supper time. "Come right in and you can look at the stamps while I get supper for my husband," the lady told him. He was ushered into the kitchen and she brought in a small nail keg and laid a fresh newspaper on the floor in front of him. "There are the stamps," she said, "you can dump them out and if you find anything you want, you give me whatever it is worth." Mr. MacLaren poured out the contents of the keg onto the newspaper. There was a pair of old shoes, some old clothing, a rusty horseshoe (which he took for a sign of good luck in his endeavor, and half a dozen dirty envelopes with soiled and damaged three cent greens on them. The keg had been in the woodshed and water from a leaky roof had drained on it so that any stamps there might have been would probably have been spoiled anyway.

It was disappointing, but MacLaren swallowed his chagrin, thanked the lady,

Why Not Try No. 210?

For those who do not know the fun and profit found in specializing some common stamp, we suggest a beginning with the somewhat neglected little 2c stamp of 1883, described as "red-brown". In color it ranges from light yellow brown to deep claret, with many beautiful intermediate shades; in variety of cancellation it probably is unequalled, including many of the designs found on the 3c '61's to the flag type of the 1890 series. We have made up a dozen or more books of these cancellations and want to send you some on approval.

told her he could use the few he had found and tendered her a dollar for them, just because she had been so kind and courteous to him. As he was about to go, she said, "Wait a moment, I have a few more upstairs and I will get them for you." She returned shortly with a small old-fashioned letter box, ushered him into the parlor, told him to look them over and if he found anything to take it. He opened the box and there was perhaps a hundred or a hundred and fifty of the finest old U. S. covers he had ever seen—all clean and bright as the day they were used. They consisted of one cent '51's, including strips and a triangular block, three cent '51's, '61's, etc., all on cover. It was a remarkable little find. Mac gave the lady all the cash he had in his pocket, at which she nearly fainted with pleasure, and took his find home.

That started things going. Since that he has made many remarkable finds, a larger number of ordinary finds and some that were not so good. For example, one early lead led to a find of thousands of fine old covers running back to the days before stamps were used and continuing to about 1869 in the Eastern part of New York State. He has made some nice finds in New England, in Pennsylvania, middle western and southern states. He has browsed about here and there through the magic medium of his newspaper advertising and has taken his stamps as he has found them with the result that he has built up a really remarkable collection of old covers and old stamps and has done it within his limited means.

The second year Mr. MacLaren appropriated $500 for advertising, the next year it ran well over $1,000 and last year he spent $200 a month for nine months. The present year's appropriation runs about the same. At the present time he is basing his expenditures on returns.

The advertising brings MacLaren an enormous lot of replies and his experience shows that he doesn't get stamps out of more than one in every ten who write in. Offers come to him of guns, old curios, old books, etc., and one old lady wrote him that she would sell an old paisley shawl. Some people write: "I have some old stamps of the 1902 issue. What will you give for them?" But he answers each and every letter carefully and courteously, whether he finds any stamps or not. It pays.

One old lady wrote in that she had no old stamps but she sent him three old newspapers. They were really old newspapers and MacLaren enjoyed looking at them and showing them to some of the newspaper men with whom he worked. Then he registered them back to the sender and wrote her an appreciative letter, "If you ever find any old stamps before 1870," he said, "send them to me. I will buy one or a thousand."

A few months later this old lady sent him a single three cent 1851 cover. It bore the very rare New York City 1853 date that was used for twelve days and then discontinued, no more being dated out of that post-office until 1855. This is one of the prize covers in his collection.

Many a time, by being nice to people who apparently show by their first letters that they have nothing, MacLaren makes finds in the end. Some of these turn into stamp hunters for him and go about among their friends looking for old stamps. In most of the cases where Mr. MacLaren has made finds and bought the stamps his first letter has not completed the deal. He usually has to conduct quite a correspondence with each person and use all the known arts of business letter writing in order to overcome the natural aversion of the average non-philatelic person to sending old covers away to a stranger.

When he makes a purchase in a certain locality, MacLaren uses the name of the seller as reference and this often helps him establish himself with other people in the vicinity. Some of the people he buys from can be induced to write to others nearby and help establish Mr. MacLaren's credit in distant points.

Remember, Mr. MacLaren started his present collection four years ago. Yet today it is one that would make many an advanced collector envious. He brought along to Buffalo a small book mounted out of his collection of single copies and a suitcase full of albums of his cover collection. There were several volumes of covers and it was a treat that the forty or fifty members of the two Buffalo clubs who gathered to hear and meet MacLaren enjoyed immensely.

One of the prize pieces of the collection was a fresh looking cover bearing two strips of three and a vertical pair of the three cent 1861, all very neatly arranged along the top and one side of the envelope, and each stamp neatly cancelled with a combination railroad and steamboat cancellation in blue—one of the most wonderful cancellation varieties anyone could wish to see.

There were hundreds of others worth describing but the space of this article does not permit further descriptions. In this case it seemed to me that MacLaren's methods of making old finds and his experiences were of sufficient interest in themselves to form the basis of a real advertising-stamp story and, as I mentioned in the beginning, that is what I have written.

Since MacLaren was in Buffalo on that memorable evening a week or so ago I have heard at least a dozen of the fellows speak appreciatively of the pleasure his visit gave them. It was great stuff and we all give the Cleveland stamp hunter a rising vote of thanks.

Weko Sales Department

The sales during the last 6 months are over $5000.00 and a large number of books were returned with checks for sales of 100%.
A letter recently received from a member, which has sent several books with stamps, will tell you more than I could say.

Surprised? No, I was almost dumb-founded to get your letter of the 8th of February with check and two of my Weko books, the latter having been given a "Terrible drubbing" by Wekomembers. You Certainly Have Some Department and I shall do all I possibly can to show my appreciation by getting you some new members—I'll boost all I can, etc.

This gentleman knows something about a sales department, as he is the sales manager of one of the largest stamp societies in the U. S. A.

In less than 10 days I have returned the two books with check for sales of 100%.

Another member writes: Well, my dear Mr. Gallant, you are the greatest sales manager, your results are more than wonders.

Why not try to get your share, too? Write for application blank and become a Wekomember.

M. & M. ADDENDA.

By CHRIS WEST.

P. T. Ives.

Mr. Franklin S. Smith, who has been interested in U. S. revenue stamps for half a century, has kindly called the writer's attention to two of the P. T. Ives overprints, of which mention has not been made elsewhere. These are the 1c and 5c Proprietary stamps of the first issue bearing printed cancellation in three lines similar to others noted. On the 1c stamp the overprint reads P. T. I.—Aug—1865 and on the 5c stamp the overprint reads P. T. I.—July—1866.

Charles S. Hale.

Most of the known copies of this stamp do not appear to have been used, but in the Castle collection there was a copy in the condition one would expect to find if used on a box of matches. This is the only cancelled copy the writer has seen. The printed cancellation or surcharge is in black type and reads as follows:—

G. & H.
Nov.
30th,
1877.

If the overprint is genuine and the date of first issue, viz., December, 1877, as given in the Boston Book, is correct the cancellation must have been predated. No information regarding what the initials of the overprint stand for is available. Perhaps they stand for Griggs & Hale, although there is no record of any such firm in the match business.

Akron Match Company.

The Deats collection contained a vertical pair of this stamp with printed cancellation reading downwards. On the upper stamp the "F" of "Feb." is nearly 3mm tall. On the lower stamp the letters of "FEB" are only 2mm tall. The figures "70" are also from different fonts of type. It would appear that the printing office in which this cancellation was set up did not have sufficient type of one font and therefore used type from two or more fonts in the "set up." The two different overprints noted therefore do not come from different printings, but are varieties of type used in the same printing.

Louisiana Match Manufacturing Company.

Lot No. 306, in the auction sale of Match and Medicine proofs, specimens and essays, catalogued by the J. W. Scott Co., which took place June 24-25, 1909, is described as follows:

"Louisiana Match Manufacturing Company. S. Frank, Agt., 1c black, die proof of frame. Unique and valuable."

From this description it appears that this die did not have the same lettering as on the well known Louisiana Match stamp which bears the name of L. Frank (Scott, No. 5183), "S. Frank, Agt." is quite evidently the Simon Frank, Agt. of the Louisiana Match Factory mentioned in the New Orleans Directory of 1876-77.

If the reader will turn to the article on the Louisiana Match stamp he will find quoted a note in Mr. Carpenter's engraving order book, which states "Frank's die was not approved by the Government during our contract. The frame work only was executed and was transferred by us to our successors, the National Bank Note Company."

The die proof sold as lot, No. 306 was evidently the frame engraved by the Carpenter firm and the description indicates that this die may not have been used at all. The die used for the stamps was engraved by the National Bank Note Company and was No. 4267 of their dies. The inscription on the accepted design reads LOUISIANA—MATCHES and the initial of the proprietor is "L." Unfortunately all this still leaves us in the dark regarding the connection between L. Frank and Simon Frank.

B. O. Bowers.

After the dissolution of the firm of Bowers & Dunham of Cheshire, Connecticut, Mr. Bowers removed some of the machinery from the Rag Hollow factory to Plainfield, New Jersey, and for a short time operated a match factory in the latter city. The Diamond Match Company endeavored to prevent the operation of this factory, claiming that their patents on match making machinery were being infringed. Mr. Bowers would not admit that he was infringing, but maintained that the patents had expired. The controversy was finally settled by the Diamond Match company purchasing the Plainfield factory—lock, stock and barrel—at a price quite satisfactory to Mr. Bowers. The Plainfield factory was probably in operation only a few months, during the latter part of 1881 or possibly in the early part of 1882.

There is no definite information regarding what stamps were used there. Mr. Bowers' best recollection is that he had a new stamp, bearing a rooster as the principal feature of the design, but no such stamp, nor record of such a stamp, can be traced. The only rooster stamps that had then been recently in use were the stamp of Charles Busch which were last issued January 20, 1881, and the stamp of J. W. Eisenhart which was last issued May 16, 1881. Possibly one of these dies was transferred to Mr. Bowers. The writer has a vague recollection of seeing a die, or plate proof bearing a rooster and similar in design to the Busch stamp but inscribed B. O. Bowers, but has been unable to find or trace any such proof and is inclined to believe his memory is at fault.

For further data regarding B. O. Bowers the reader is referred to the firm of Bowers & Dunham in the article on the Rag Hollow match stamps.

I have been asked to act as American agent to the Melville Fund, and I shall be happy to receive and forward any donation you may care to make.

It is proposed that the presentation shall take the form of an album with a suitable inscription and containing the names (no amounts) of subscribers to the Fund, accompanied by a Banker's Draft.

It is in this form the Committee thinks Fred. J. Melville will find the presentation most useful and we know he will much appreciate the album with as many subscribers' names as we can obtain; this particularly applies to his American admirers, from whom he has always received such hearty welcome.

It is probably known to all American philatelists that no man has ever done

THE MATTER OF COMMEMORATIVES.

By CHARLES F. SCHELL, M.H.C.

At present there seems to be among the members of the fraternity a feeling that commemorative issues are all speculative, unnecessary, and highly undesirable. Why has such a feeling come to exist? Our analysis of this situation must carry us to the root of all evil; the price. In my opinion most of the animosity toward commemoratives is due to the fact that the pocket-book nerve is severely irritated by some of them. Completeness is the desire of the large majority of collectors. Consequently the appearance of a new commemorative issue calls for the outlay of cash. But, as we fairly lump all commems. together in our condemnation, or are there some which may be classed as desirable while others deserve to be branded as villains and pickpockets?

Is the thing that we object to, commemorative stamps, or is it really so-called, commemoratives? What is the true purpose of a commemorative stamp? It is generally supposed to be for the purpose of calling attention to some important event in history, or to some fair or exposition. Is this accomplished by the issue of a limited number of stamps which are on sale at the back window of the second branch of the post-office annex in some fourth rate city for the space of two hours on one day? Is this kind of thing that has soured many collectors against all commemorative issues.

To me it is a pleasure to add to my collection a small set of attractive labels which can be bought at the time of issue for a reasonable percentage over face and I begrudge no government the eight or ten cents that they receive for the stamps, but when the issue is limited and the postmaster-general buys up the entire stock for the purpose of stinging stamp collectors, I buck, and refuse to be interested in the issue at all. To summarize, I see no reason for any objection to any issue of stamps which is placed on sale to the general public in quantity sufficient for all who want to obtain the stamps at their face value provided that the face value of the stamps is not excessive.

A LETTER FROM BERMUDA.
 By JAS. C. MILLS.

I am spending the winter at a quiet little harbor in Bermuda, between Hamilton and St. Georges, and Mr. Severn and Mr. Davenport, unknown to me, separately drove through. I regret very much not having had the chance to entertain them.

As a collector and trader in stamps for the past fifty-three years, I did not waste much time before starting for finds. To my surprise almost every family here has at sometime collected or gathered for dealers, and I have been able to purchase many good lots; but not No. 1a, 1865, imperforate one penny rose; that has been my special hunt. However, I uncovered a few of the scarce 1874 provisional surcharges and one of the three pence on one penny rose, the rarity.

Personally I have not been able to obtain much information at the Postmaster-General's office on the probable time of appearance of the higher values of Bermuda on the script paper; but in all probability some will be released soon. The 2½ penny apple green being in wrong color will be among the earliest changes.

I believe the reluctance to give out stamp information, is really only from wonder that an American tourist should wish to know their postal doings.

Hamilton is not at all equipped for the greatly increased postal business; but with the unfailing courtesy of the Bermudians, the attendants do everything they can to supply your wants.

At the little sub-station at Baileys Bay, the postmistress, herself a collector, is most wonderfully anxious to help you in every way.

Only two days' sail from New York to these enchanted islands. Here we have 'strong winds' and wet rains, but no snow and ice, and the sunshine is glorious.

THE PRECANCELL REVIEW.

Edited by FRED'K W. ALLEN,
 312 Walnut St., Minneapolis, Minn.

New Issue Notes.—The Christmas season produced a quantity of new varieties, most of which are from offices new to the precancel collector. The old issues from these places are bound to be good owing to their short life and the limited quantity precancelled. Take Lisbon, N. Dak., for instance. The government furnished the postmaster at this small town with a handstamp to precancel a stock of stamps for the purpose of affixing them to packages in the busy holiday rush. As the stamps were previously cancelled, that labor was done away with at a great saving of time and a greater efficiency was created by the elimination of this task. There were 1917 issue stamps of the 1, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 15 and 20 cent denominations on hand. Next Christmas when the handstamp will again be employed, these will have been replaced by the 1923 issue and it is readily seen that the 1917 stamps will be very scarce. This instance is representative of hundreds of others and the precancel collector who is wide awake in this transitional period is going to be well rewarded when the true scarcity of many of the present emissions is realized. The rush for Harding precancels should not obscure the judgment of the collector for many items of the 1912, 1914 and 1917 series are also very good from the investment standpoint.

The 8 cent Grant is attaining circulation. The past week (Jan. 21-28) has brought out Auburn and Brooklyn, N. Y., Mt. Morris, Ill., and Cape Girardeau, Mo., among others. The 6 cent Garfield has not yet appeared except in one lone instance. Nearly four months ago I ran across a copy bearing the New York staggered roller precancellation (Type IV). This roller is used by a large mail order house to precancel all stamps sent in remittances, so it is apparent that most anything can appear in and out of season. Sears-Roebuck in Chicago use a handstamp for the same purpose, as well as mail order houses in Seattle, Wash., Kansas City, Mo., St. Paul, Minn., and Portland, Ore. A bonafide cover belonging to a friend of mine has, together with 2 or 3 stamps of the 1917 series, a 30c Columbian issue. All were precancelled by the Sears-Roebuck handstamp.

To date no office has precancelled the 9, 12, 30, 50 values and upward of the 1923 series. I shall appreciate readers calling to my attention the first cities to use them. A list of the first cities to precancel each denomination should interest one. To the best of my knowledge the following table is accurate:

1c Franklin,	Chicago, Ill.
2c Washington,	Chicago, Ill.
3c Lincoln,	Chicago, Ill.
4c Martha Washington,	New York City
5c Roosevelt,	Brooklyn, N. Y.
6c Garfield,	New York City
7c McKinley,	Milwaukee, Wisc.
8c Grant,	New York City
9c Madison,
10c Monroe,	Chicago, Ill.
11c Hayes,	Torrington, Conn.
12c Cleveland,
14c Chief Hollowhorn Bear,	New Brunswick, Conn.
15c Statue of Liberty,	Kansas City, Mo.
20c Golden Gate,	Chicago, Ill.
25c Niagara Falls,	Niagara Falls, N. Y.
2c Harding,	Van Buren, Ark.
10c Special Delivery,	East Orange, N. J.

Outstanding in the news for this week is the fact that Chicago which has used the U-1 electro for over 25 years, has been furnished a new plate of a distinctly different type. The letters of "CHICAGO" are spaced quite far apart while those in "ILLINOIS" are close together. Serif capitals may fittingly describe their general appearance. It may happen that the old plate will be discarded and if so, the 1923 series in the U-1 type will be worth saving.

Birmingham, Ala., Warren, Pa., and Waterloo, Iowa, are the latest additions to the 1 cent Bureau printings.

Alabama.—Cullman, Huntsville, and Russellville are using handstamped types. Cullman has two handstamps; one with the name in capitals and the other in caps and lower case letters. Huntsville formerly precancelled with the box roller, but in December, 1923, was furnished with what we know as the U-3 handstamp. Russellville are hard to secure. I have only seen the 3, 4, 10 and 20 cent values.

Arkansas.—Conway is the latest. This came on the 1 cent, 1923, and had a handstamped overprint upside down, or inverted as we say. Batesville on the 10 cent and 20 cent is likewise a new town. The cancellation is handstamped in small letters. Helena has a plate of exactly the same style as its sister city in Montana. This is the U-1 electro, in precancel parlance. Some I have are 7, 8, 5, and 10, the latter two being the 1923 series.

Arizona.—When you find any from this state you can be sure of their desirability. Globe and Phoenix are the heaviest users but they are mighty hard to get. Tucson also issues a goodly number but as a rule they are so illegible that you can hardly tell when you get one.

California.—50 cent Gardena (U-7); 6, 8, 30 Glendale; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 of the 1923 series and Harding from Pasadena (handstamped in large letters); and 12 cent Yuma City are the newest to chronicle from the foremost state of the "Golden West."

Colorado.—Not much new except some more discoveries on the Pueblo multigraph precancels. They are a real study in themselves and worthy of attention by the precancel specialist. Delta

PHILLIPS' MONTHLY BULLETIN

24 or More Pages Each Issue---FREE

We make no misleading claims that this is a journal, magazine or paper. It is a house organ issued to sell our goods, but it will contain occasional articles on subjects vital to every collector, and every LIVE collector should have it. Each issue offers more first class stamps, etc., than any other house organ or paper that we have seen, and a host of American collectors welcome every issue and order from it.

This "BULLETIN" has been issued in various forms for over 15 years and is the oldest house organ in America, we believe. Though it costs us several thousand dollars a year to send it out, it is FREE and WILL BE FREE AS LONG AS WE ISSUE IT.

Contents of the February Number

New Issue Notes and Offers, Special Bargain Offers, French Colonial Pictorials, Collections by Countries, Packets, U. S. Offers, Desirable Items, Mexico, British Colonials, Approval Dept., Philatelic Supplies.

The March Issue will be the LARGEST NUMBER YET and contain some live, up-to-the-minute articles on subjects of vital importance such as a warning against fakes in 20th issues, 20th stamps as an investment, etc. Also a host of first-class stamp offers.

has precancelled the 1 and 2 cent dues with a neat type; Grand Junction has been furnished an electro type similar to U-6. Dr. Mitchell informs me that he has the 1, 3, 6, 8, 12, 15, 20, 30 of the 1917 series and 2, 4, 5, 7, 10, 20 up, 1923 series, bearing this new print.

Delaware.—Milford appears in the U-18 type, which is like that of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Ashley Le Duc submits a 1c 1923 with the following explanation: "Milford precancels only the 1 cent denomination for the Caulk Dental Co.'s use on monthly circulars. Your dentist friend can probably furnish you with one every month."

Mr. Le Duc also sends us news of Clayton, Delaware, issued as follows: "Yesterday (Jan. 10) I was in Clayton and visited the P. O. An obliging young lady showed me the stamps as they are kept ready for affixing to parcels. The various denominations all bore a red cancellation which produced a pretty effect. By some mixup in a recent order, the P. M. received 1 cent Pilgrim stamps instead of regular one centers and this was the only 1 cent variety on hand. As a rule the cancellations on the regular issues read up or down in about the same proportion, as no effort is made to print them all one way or the other. The handstamp precancels five at a time. I was unable to get figures on the amount of the issue but I understand they precancel odd lots as they need them. There is a school for colored children in Clayton which sends out a great number of circulars. These are franked with stamps that have been precancelled by a special plate furnished for that purpose. This is done right at the school, according to the postmaster. The young lady assistant seemed quite puzzled when I told her that a certain group of people had a penchant for collecting precancelled stamps. However, she was most courteous which, coupled with the fact that her good looks almost induced me to forget I was married, made the visit a pleasant one indeed."

Miscellaneous.—Mr. Nils Ericson accords me the privilege of viewing a true precancel rarity. This came to him from a firm in Connellsville, Pa., during the regular course of business. A quadruple strike is what makes it a singular item and moreover when two overprints are in red ink and two in black, one takes a second look. All the impressions are clearly outlined. It's a "Hummer", to say the least.

Some new Hardings that have appeared are Britt, Ia. (Type set), Connorsville, Ind., Forest City, Ia., Reno, Nev., Independence, Mo., Mexico, Mo., Lisbon, N. D., Dazey, N. D., Devils Lake, N. D., Pasadena, Calif., and Raymond, Wash.

New Albany, Ind., Ogdensburg, N. Y., Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and Marinette, Wisc., are now using U-18 on the 1917 and 1923 series.

Oklahoma City has been due for some time to appear with a new plate on account of the name being changed from plain "Oklahoma" to Oklahoma City. The new precancels are now out and an improvement over the previous ones.

I shall be glad to furnish sample copies of the Precancel Gazette, an attractively printed magazine devoted to this branch of the hobby, to any interested reader.

"The Prosser Find" Auction, March 22

Collectors and specialists who have purchased stamps from me at private sale, are aware that I handle nothing but the better class stamps prior to 1900. I am known as a buyer of fine United States, Confederates, British North America, imperforates and covers.

In this auction, to be held at the Collectors Club, I have adhered to my policy. There are items from the now famous Prosser Find offered for the first time. Other things in fine United States that will appeal to the connoisseur and the ultra-critical collector. There are also some very interesting Confederates.

The foreign section includes many No. 1's. For the specialist, some rare cancellations, shifts and re-entries. A catalogue may be had on request. Some of the items are:

1847—18 covers, including a superb orange 5c, and a 10c "Steamboat" 12 lots of singles, including fine pairs and cancellations.

1851—21 lots on covers, including the 1c and 3c. 41 lots of singles, including pairs, strips and recuts. Combination cover. 12c, 3c used with Great Britain 4d.

1857—18 lots on cover, including a recut bottom 10c green. 24c, 10c, 1c, used out of New Orleans in August, 1861. 50 lots, including a used block of four 12c on piece.

1861-69 Issues—Wonderful lot of covers and cancellations. 15c brown and blue, center inverted.

Bank Note Issues—Rare Centennial cancellations. 7c Continental on cover.

Foreign, On Cover—73 lots. Fine B. N. A., Great Britain, Norway and Germans.

Foreign—Splendid variety of hard to find stamps. Wonderful lot of No. 1's. Some rare Portuguese India, New Republic and Uruguay. Four or five scarce Argentine Inverts. XXth century. Many imperforate pairs, re-entries, etc., New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia "Shillings".

If you are a buyer of fine stamps, you will need this catalogue. Mailed free on request.

HOW TO TAKE PROPER CARE OF YOUR EYES.

By EDWARD S. KNAPP.

I noted in the November 26 issue of the WEEKLY an observation in the Editorial section by Mr. Charles J. Phillips, that one would benefit one's eyesight by the intensive study of stamps, rather than harm it, as many seem to believe, and I think a few words on the subject are not out of place.

I have a pair of eyes that would be termed by an oculist "normal," and this has to do with eyes that are normal, as I am citing my own experience.

A few years ago one October, I started to take a great interest in plating stamps and in the intensive study of their lines and general makeup, the study of which necessitates to the normal eye the use of a more or less powerful magnifying glass. I was studying the Confederate States lithographs, which are not as clearly defined as line engraved stamps and therefore presumably more of a strain on the eyes.

During that winter, and until late May of the next year I never left New York City, and every day I worked for at least three or four hours (frequently more) on this intensive study. It was "stamps," morning noon and often night. At first, I could work for long stretches at a time, but after a while I found that my eyes got "tired," after an hour or two, and around the first of May, I began to get headaches every time I worked more than an hour at a stretch. Anyone that has tried reconstruction and plating work knows how fascinating it is, so there is no use of asking me if I stopped when I found that my eyes were bothering me, I sure didn't—but, when I moved to the country on the first of June, my eyes hurt me and I had headaches pretty constantly.

A friend of mine is a well known oculist, and I saw him one day in the country, just after I had moved down, and told him I guessed he would have a new patient and what I had been doing. I have never had a headache since that day, from eye strain. I gave up stamps for a month entirely, on his advice, but now I can work on them longer than I ever did. The "cure" is a very simple one, and for anyone who has normal eyesight, I believe is "positive."

I will try to explain it as it was explained to me in a little story my friend told me. No technical terms, as I do not know them myself.

The lens of the eye may be likened to any other lens (an opera-glass, for instance).

To see a long distance this is elongated.

To see a short distance, this is contracted.

To see a midway distance, would be somewhere between the two states mentioned.

If a person works his eyes at one and only of these distances, they gradually become "set" for that distance. The same as a man who works in a gymnasium, on any one exercise, and only one, gets muscle bound.

If, however, you work them at all three distances, you work all of the muscles and you strengthen them at all distances.

My friend had spent two years on a ranch in the West. He said he was especially impressed with the truly remarkable eyesight of the cowboys who worked on the ranch and there was no better example of why their eyesight was so good.

When the cattle are in the open, it is often necessary to locate them from a long way off, long distance sight is necessary and is being used constantly.

At branding time, it is necessary to rope and throw the steers, which neces-states the accurate middle distance ght.

In the evening, when the day's work over, the cowboy mends his clothes, ews on buttons, reads old magazines, ys cards, etc., all of which require ear, close sightedness.

All these things have to be done in the general run of the cowboy profession, and the result is that the eyesight of these men is exceptional, at all distances. They have a perfect training for their eye muscles.

"Inside of a month your eyes will be as well as they ever were, if you'll do as I tell you" is what my friend said to me.

"Give up stamps for a complete month, don't look at even one, through a glass. Play a lot of golf,
here you have to judge the distance of the shots and get some of the shermen to take you out net fishing, here they have to locate the schools of sh at a distance. In a month your eyes will be absolutely well, to do all the close work you want with them.
Keep this in mind hereafter, and work em at long distances, whenever you can. Play billiards, in winter occasionally keep them in shape at moderate distances, and you will never have any more trouble with them."

Anyone who has normal eyes and will follow this idea, can work intensively on stamps and do his eyesight good. Try it.

BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS, 1923.
By HARRY E. HUBER.

After the combined King George and Arms Type stamps were received at Road Town, Tortola, in June, 1922, and a stock issued to the Post Office, the surplus lot was placed in the Treasury vaults for safekeeping. In December, 1922, the Post Office needing supplies of several values, the packages in the Treasury vault were opened, only to find that many sheets, especially of the higher values, were stuck together, and could not be separated. The 1s suffered more than the other values, and practically the whole reserve stock had to be destroyed. The few that were saved exhausted in May, 1923; in the process of separation, the surface of many of these stamps was "skinned." In the hands of the Crown Agents there was a small miscellaneous lot of stamps of this series, retained for sale to stamp dealers, and these stamps were sent out to Tortola pending dispatch of a further printing of the 2d, 2 1/2d, 1s and 5s.

In the first printing of stamps of this series, issued June 15, 1922, the 3d and 5s (on yellow), 1s (on green), and the 2s6d (on blue) alone were on paper watermarked multiple Crown and Roman CA. The 2s of Barbados' small Seal series on blue script paper was issued as far back as Nov. 14, 1921; yellow script was first used for the 5c. Federated Malay States, issued March 1, 1922, and the first British Colonial to be printed on green script was the 10s of St. Kitts-Nevis Tercentenary series, issued January 2, 1923, followed by the 4s of Dominica (double medallion series) on March 1, 1923.

Received at Tortola early in August, 1923, the stamps of the second printing were issued on September 1, at which time they were also released to English stamp dealers by the Crown Agents.
These were printed from the same key (numbered 1) and duty plates as before, but a marginal line had been added to the latter, so that the sheets of 120 (2 panes of 60) have a double instead of a single marginal line.

The 2d is in slate instead of gray of the first printing, and the 2 1/2d is changed from ultramarine to orange. St.
Kitts-Nevis, alone of the Presidencies forming the Federation, has not adopted orange for the 2 1/2d stamp, using brown instead. The 2 1/2d of the Federation series, printed in orange, was issued on Sept. 22, 1923 (at Montserrat); Dominica's 2 1/2d orange and black on March 1st, and the orange 2 1/2d of Antigua and Montserrat, on Sept. 27th and April 5th, respectively.

It had been expected that green script paper would be used for the second printing of the 1s, but as the quantity requisitioned was not large, some of the small remaining stock of the Roman CA green paper was used. The double marginal line alone distinguishes sheets of this second printing from the first.
The 5s was printed on yellow script paper.

No Leeward Islands stamps, script watermarked, have been requisitioned, or sold by the British Virgins, and the stock sent out some ten years ago is still large; their needs evidently were greatly overestimated.

Mr. R. Hargrove, sworn in as Commissioner of the Presidency, on Jan. 5, 1923, resigned in May on account of ill health, and returned to England in July.
Mr. F. C. Clarkson, Colonial Engineer of Dominica, again acted as Comissioner until Capt. O. L. Hancock arrived and took over the administration on Nov.
24, 1923.

DEATH OF W. F. COLMAN.

Through a clipping from a Washington tily we have received the news of the ath of W. F. Colman, a well known amp dealer and collector of the Capital
ity. Mr. Colman was found dead in s automobile at the corner of K and th Streets N. W. His machine struck car parked alongside the curb and a sserby observing the apparently life-ss body at the wheel called a policeman.
eath was no doubt due to heart failure.
e is survived by his widow and a ughter. Mr. Colman had been em-oyed for thirty-four years by Dulin Martin. He will be remembered by any of our readers as a longtime adrtiser in this paper.

EDITORIAL.

Soon there will be news from Washington that will cause collectors to prick up their ears. The terms and specifications will be found very interesting.

* * *

An old reader says that he has "the papers" to prove that stamp collecting was founded in 1859 and not in 1860, as he alleges that some one has said in the WEEKLY. He cannot get us to knock the chip off his shoulder.

* * *

From Philadelphia, a clipping comes with no clue to the sender, from what seems to be a high school paper, with the cast of a company giving an amateur play, "The High-Brows." One of the characters is "Looie Nutt," an "eccentric collector of stamps" and now we know why the sender wants to be nameless.

* * *

Mr. Charles J. Phillips, 151 Central Park West, New York, has been asked to act as American agent for the Melville fund which is to be used for a presentation to Mr. Fred J. Melville, in commemoration of his twenty-five years of faithful service to the cause of philately.
The cause is a worthy one and we have robbed the old sock of the few pennies remaining in it, in order to show that our intentions are good.

* * *

A good old boy says that he gave a stamp talk at a school and had an audience of six or seven; and as he wanted to make the occasion a happy one for the budding philatelists, he gave each one a few new issues with his compliments.
He was asked enthusiastically to fill a return date and this time his audience numbered four or five times as many as on the first afternoon but he distributed no gift stamps to drive his points home.
A third invitation has come and the secretary of the stamp club writes: "We like you for yourself but a few of the boys think that they could remember you better if you brought some stamps as you did at the first lecture." That is right; remember them with stamps. The point of the story is that we have to give him the stamps this time.

From an English stamp paper dated in 1869, we take the following answer to a correspondent: "Your provisions respecting your stamps enclosed for inspection, entertained from the disreputable character of the city, whence you procured them, are realized by the patent fact that they are all worthless impostures." From a careful reading of the sentence, we gather that something was the matter with the stamps, if we do not put the case too bluntly.

* * *

The "anti's" are coming out in force and are about on even terms with the supporters of the drive for a special stamp in behalf of the Philadelphia exhibition in 1926. Some of the objectors are too much for us as for instance, Mr. Vincent X. McCarthy, who writes: "Admitting that precedent has been smashed to smithereens and that they all are doing it, i. e., issuing stamps on this or that pretext, wouldn't you feel that it would cheapen the U. S., if it were to issue a 'tribute' stamp and follow the lead of some of the countries? Honest confession is good for the soul." If conventions have been broken so utterly and are never to be restored in full force again, why not get a share of the favors that will be passed around in years to come—if we can?
Of course, we all want to keep philately unsoiled and if we could feel that precedent would be violated by the acquiescence of the authorities to recognize our cause, we should realize that the less said about the question the better. As it is, let the merry war go on in order that we may see under which flag the majority of thinking philatelists enlist.

* * *

A poem has come from a young reader in Chicago that is based on a good idea and we shall content ourselves by referring the moral to readers. The verses are inspired by the troubles that are mentioned so prominently in the newspapers and it is shown that if oil does not still the troubled waters, it is well for all philatelists to embark on the good ship
"Sanctuary" (from which the poem gets its name) and sail over them and forget the distressful snarls that tangle up the affairs of life. The idea of a ship with a passenger-list composed only of philatelists is a clubby

one. Many collectors maintain that nothing compares with the stamp album as a means for getting away from the discomfitures of the day.

* * *

An inquiry from a correspondent who has taken us to task for boosting philately so persistently in the past asks in effect how we know that stamp collecting will be adopted by the masses if it is brought to their attention. We do not know that it will but it is certain that if all the people could be told about philately, a percentage of them would develop into collectors. Just what the proportion of converts would be is another story, but a short time would tell the tale for as Mr. Haskin, the Washington newspaper correspondent has said, you either take to stamps emphatically or not at all. We hope that philatelists will not abate a jot in their efforts to gain publicity for their pursuit; and as for the dwindleling band of reactionaries, they are hopelessly out of date in their indifference to present-day strivings.

* * *

One may rejoice to see a work such as Mr. Pack's elaborate Victorian studies which makes a noteworthy addition to the list of great books on philately. The splendid examples of the kind published during the recent years must mean that the students who appreciate these serious efforts are increasing in number. We are removing that strange psychology of indifference to philatelic masterpieces and it is hoped that the day is dawning when the meritorious book stamped with all the refinements of the publishing art is not fore-doomed to a financial failure. We shall never forget the remarks of J. W. Scott, when he was elected to the presidency of the American Philatelic Society at Alexandria Bay, New York, in 1917,
when he said that a certain high-class monthly of that day appealed "to probably twenty-five people in the United States." It is certain that Mr.
Scott did not err on the side of liberal statement, even though the war and other distractions were putting a crimp in philately as well as many other lines of endeavor at that time.

The idea operative in the Collectors Club of having a delegation of collectors from a neighboring city accompany the one who is asked to show his stamps at a meeting in New York seems to be meeting with success.
Mr. John W. Prevost of Springfield Mass., with his friends from his city was entertained on February 20th when he exhibited his French and French colonies. The Collectors Club is enlarging its sphere of usefulness when it accords hospitality to out-town members and others in this way and further, it is setting an example of intelligent co-operation that should prevail in philatelic circles as it no does in other professions. The feeling of friendliness that will follow this plan will prove to be an asset that will pay dividends in the future. The activities of the Collectors Club are being directed by men who have vision to use a somewhat hackneyed but expressive term.

TAMP MEDAL WON BY ADMIRAL
HARRIS.

Rear Admiral Frederic R. Harris won medal last week at the Collectors Club, 20 West Forty-ninth Street, for the excellence of his collection of postage stamps from Ceylon and the Two Sicilies.
Admiral Harris, who is recognized as one of the ablest engineers in the navy and was Chairman of the Emergency Fleet Corporation in 1917, has been an enthusiastic philatelist for several years.
He specializes on a few countries, and his collection of Ceylon contains some of the finest known copies of early issues from that island.

For the club medal competition, which was the first held in more than a year, early twenty members exhibited fifty pages of their best collections. President John N. Luff, Charles J. Phillips and Alfred I. Litchenstein, who acted as judges, found the exhibits of such high rank that it was decided to give silver medals instead of the customary bronze medals to the two best collections and these were awarded to Joseph C. Lozier for his United States stamps and Laurence B. Mason for his fine lot of early locals, including all of the rare varieties of Blood's penny post issues, practically all being on original envelopes.

Admiral Harris got a bronze medal and similar awards were made to Charles F. Gehrman for his United States and Confederate stamps and to William S. White for his United States revenues. Diplomas of merit were presented to A. H. Lamborn for his stamps from Hungary and Charles M. Ams for his Gambia stamps, many issues of which were shown in entire sheets. One of the best collections shown was Mr. Lich-enstein's volume of triangular Cape of Good Hopes, but as he acted as a judge
it was not in the competition.

A feature was the splendid condition of the stamps and the unusual number of large blocks of the rare issues. Among other exhibitors were D. Pick, W. C.
Kretz and Vahan Mozian.

A delegation of philatelists from Springfield, Mass., headed by John W.
Prevost, will be entertained by the directors of the club on Feb. 20, when Mr.
Prevost will show his large collection of French and French colonial stamps

THE MARK CLIMAX $1.02 102 VARS. ALL MINT

We have been astounded by the mail bags full of orders we have received on the announcement of former "M. C.'s". The popularity of our "M. C." packets has been taken more or less for granted. When the MARK CLIMAX was conceived of, we made plans to meet the first onrush of orders as experience with former packets dictated. Today we realize our error. Today we admit that we have learned our lesson. The READERS OF MEKEEL'S were waiting for a bargain and they KNEW when they read our ad last week there in THE MARK CLIMAX was their chance. Orders are pouring in on every mail, orders for THE MARK CLIMAX in singles and in BLOCKS. Every-body seems to want THE MARK CLIMAX.

HAVE YOU ORDERED THE MARK CLIMAX AT $1.02?

If you haven't done so, this is your LAST CHANCE! We cannot supply these wonderful packets many days more. More than 80 varieties out of the 102 German stamps included were issued between August 1 and December 1, 1923. The AIRMAILS of Germany are included practically complete. The following will give you an idea of the completeness of the issues of 1923: About 35 vars. "Tausend" provisionals—5000 to 2 Millions. Semi-definite type—5000 to 500 Million. Also 1 Mld. to 50 Mld., including most of the roulettes. Milliarden provisionals, officials 5000Mk and up, and the beautiful CASTLE and CATHEDRAL stamps. We defy competition and remind you of the need of a prompt order.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—In connection with the placing of the U. S. official collection upon exhibit in Kansas City, Mo., announcements were made in each class-room of every school calling attention to the privilege given the pupils.

—Emil Staehle of Saginaw, Mich., philatelist and Rotarian, gave recently a philatelic talk before the Saginaw Rotary Club. The local paper gave the address a good write-up and the occasion seems to have attracted considerable attention from the general public.

—A "Green Book" has just been issued by the Broadway Stamp Co. It has some 52 pages and a wide range of sets and single stamps are listed. It bears a green cover and offers "to save many a green-back to the collector." Apply to the firm, 115 Nassau St., N. Y. City.

—The postmaster at Poquonock, Conn., is using a magenta ink in connection with his canceller. Our correspondent writes:—"Here is one postmaster who has no black ink or is minus a postal guide."

—Los Angeles wants the A. P. S. convention in 1925. What is more, the city is going after it and nearly one thousand dollars was raised recently for the entertainment of the delegates.

—Riordan, who has been arrested in Buenos Ayres for forging postage stamps, enters as a defense that it is necessary to provide a supply to meet the large demands of collectors. In the Harrisburg, Pa., Patriot, G. M. Staplin combats this statement and shows that the true philatelist is such a student of his stamps that counterfeits are easily detected and that there is absolutely no market for forgeries.

—A correspondent signing himself "Russell" takes exceptions to the surcharging of Southwest Africa stamps in English and Dutch alternately. He thinks that the official who evolved the idea should be knighted by the British Colonial government. He also scoffs at the imperforate Hardings.

—J. E. Handshaw has an advertisement this week which should be of interest to every dealer. This special announcement will prove of unusual interest to all who desire to buy at wholesale. The young dealer will find many offerings that will lend variety to his stock.

—L. J. Seeley of the firm of J. O. Moore Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y., left

for Europe Friday, February 22, on a pleasure trip for a couple of months. Mr. Seeley writes:—"Of course I shall do some stamp hunting, else there would be no pleasure in the trip." Congratulations and good luck!

—A very handsome auction catalog is at hand from Gustave Gelli, of Brussels, Belgium. The sale will be held March 7 and 8 and a superb line of stamps is listed, including many rarities. A supplement accompanies the catalog and in it are six full page plates of illustrations of the rarities to be found in the sale.

—The following notice has been sent out by the post-office department:

"This department is in receipt of an announcement from the International Bureau at Berne, reading as follows:

"On this occasion the Polish office charges me with informing you that the increase in rates has resulted in a shortage of stamps for prepayment. It has, therefore, exceptionally authorized its post-offices to indicate the postage paid on foreign letters by the note 'Taxe percue—mk.' and it requests the offices of the Union to consider articles bearing that note as duly prepaid."

Articles received at delivering post-offices marked for the collection of postage by the New York or other exchange offices will be delivered after the affixing of postage-due stamps, as formerly. Articles from Poland, however, the envelopes or covers of which are without postage stamps, but marked 'Taxe percue,' indicating that postage has been prepaid in money, may be delivered without the collection of postage, pending the time when postage stamps will again be used in Poland.

PAUL HENDERSON,
Second Assistant Postmaster General."

—The Metropolitan Stamp Co., 7 W. 42nd St., N. Y. City, has published a handsome booklet of 44 pages listing a large line of stamp offerings. The collector is urged to add this booklet to his office supplies.

—"We beg to inform you that a second air mail service between Nong-Khay and Bangkok, via Roi Ed and Korat, has just been established. We beg to send you herewith for your inspection a specimen cover of the first-day flight which carries the date of 11-12-23. The aero cancellation shows an aeroplane in a circle and the town of Nong-Khay and date in native and English characters, the design being the same as the Bang-

THE MARQUIS SALE.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the opening announcement of what is destined to be a notable auction sale. We refer to the Marquis sale in which 4,200 lots are to be sold during the days from March 21 to April 5. It is rightly advertised as one of the most extensive auction sales that has ever taken place in the United States. The Marquis claim is evidently well sustained.

Rare United States Provisional Envelope

2c on 4c Type III, Scott's No. 2698b and No. 2698c

After the termination of the War, Congress again reduced the local postal rate from the prevailing 3c to the former 2c. This change found the Department with thousands of the 3c envelopes on hand and in order to use these they were overprinted at the larger post-offices by means of a die furnished by the department and used in the regular cancelling machines. Several types exist, they all being well illustrated in the current Scott catalogue.

Some of the 4c on both white and amber were overprinted in the South and received an overprint known as type IV wherein the vertical bars are close together. These are Scott's Nos. 2705-06 and catalogue 35c.

Later, a few of these were found with wide spaced surcharge Scott's No. 2698b and No. 2698c (See Addenda to Catalogue, page 1383) and these scarce varieties are listed at $5.00 each on both white and on amber. I offer while they last, either variety, entire, unused at $3.75 each or the two varieties at $7.50. If you desire, I will include the type IV varieties without extra charge or these two separately at 25c for the two.

UNITED STATES.—The Huguenot-Wallon Commemorative Series.—The National Huguenot-Wallon New Amsterdam Commission has prevailed upon Congress to issue a special fifty-cent coin in commemoration of the three hundredth anniversary of the settling in this country of the Wallons, and through their efforts the Postmaster-General has authorized special postage stamps to be issued in commemoration of the same event.

The "Wallons" is a name applied to the people who inhabit the French departments of Nord, Aisne, Ardenne and Callais and the Belgium Provinces of Hainaut, Namour, Liege, Brabant and Luxemburg. They claim to be the "Belgae" of Caesar. They differ from their French neighbors of the South, hence "Wallons" which means "strangers." In the early sixteen hundreds they came to Holland as exiles, and were therefore strangers or pilgrims in a double sense.

They were neighbors of the Pilgrims in Leyden and came over in the good ship "New Netherlands" along with one or two other ships, names unknown and landed in what is now the United States in 1624. Some of them settled in New Netherlands now New York, some went to Connecticut, some went to the Delaware River, and while a good portion were left at Manhattan Island, the majority were taken up the Hudson River and settled at Fort Orange, now Albany, N. Y. These pilgrims came from Holland, under charter granted the Dutch West India Company, and in all there were about thirty-two families and they possibly arrived in either May or June of 1624.

There was a further settlement in the South, somewhere in Georgia and this Colony was wiped out in its entirety by the Indians and by disease.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America are arranging to celebrate this three hundredth anniversary and they have set aside April 27, 1924, as a date when special services will be held in these churches throughout the country. Under date of December 5, 1922, President Harding accepted Honorary Chairmanship of this commission, and the King of Belgium, the President of France and the Queen of Netherlands similarly honored the commission.

The Department has decided to issue commemorative stamps and if the Commission furnishes the designs in ample time, it is hoped that the emissions will be ready to place on sale by the end of April, possibly April 28th, which is the Monday following the Sunday when the churches will formally celebrate the occasion. It is now thought that there will be two denominations, a 2c red and a 5c blue. It is expected that the 2c will depict a scene from the northern settlement, and the 5c a scene from the southern settlement. The Secretary of the Commission has promised to submit suitable suggestions at an early date, and the Department will no doubt act promptly.

Bureau of Engraving & Printing Changes.—Since our last Chronicle, Mr. L. A. Hill, former Director of Bureau of Engraving & Printing, has resigned, and Major W. W. Kirby has been appointed temporary Director. Major Kirby is from the Army and had charge of the lithographing of maps in France for the American Expeditionary Force. It is expected that he will make some radical changes in the Bureau resulting in the stamps and bank notes being produced by method of engraving which will defy counterfeiters who use the photographic methods of reproduction, and will further cut the Bureau's bills almost in half. Instead of the present building being overcrowded, it is expected that they will be able to do the same work in a much smaller amount of space and will be in a position to have excess room for the overflow from the Treasury Department.

I have been given a short résumé of what this new method is, but before giving our readers the details I have written for the testimony given by former Director Hill before a Committee of Congress, at which time he explained everything in detail. I understand that the appointment of Major Kirby is only temporary and that he has been borrowed from the Army to make certain required changes in the Bureau. It is to be hoped that Mr. Hill may again be re-appointed for I understand he has given excellent service and has put the Bureau on a business basis.

Harding Memorial Stamp.—All of the Harding Memorial stamps with the exception of about eighty or ninety thousand in imperforate condition have been distributed by the Bureau so that with the exception of those in the hands of the Post Offices throughout the country the official supply is exhausted. If this lot of imperforates is not taken by the Philatelic Stamp Agency they will be perforated and distributed in the usual way. As the demand upon the Agency however, has been great, there is little doubt but what these will be taken. I am informed that they have the same plate numbers as the imperforate stamp that have already been distributed by the same source. So far the Agency has had four hundred thousand of the imperforate stamps less eight sheets of four hundred each which were missing from the first lot, the Bureau having sent only four hundred ninety-two sheets in the first lot instead of five hundred sheets as ordered.

The Department recently sent to Marion, Ohio, ten sheets of these imperforate stamps so that to date one thousand and two sheets have left the Bureau.

Air Mail Service.—The $1,500,000 item from the Post Office Appropriation Schedule covering Mail Plane Service from New York to San Francisco has been eliminated. While this does not mean the abandonment of this important adjunct to the aviation development in the United States, nevertheless it does mean some delay in the establishment of this service. As a result of this action by Congress we will have no present use for the Air Mail series of postage stamps recently issued for the Coast to Coast service.

Rotary Print, 1923, 1c, Perf. 10.—note in the business mails coming from Los Angeles that they are using in that city the 1c rotary print design of 1923 perforated 10. Heretofore, all of these stamps with the exception of those distributed to the Philatelic Stamp Agency have been precancelled. The Los Angeles cover bears date of February 11th.

GUADELOUPE.—Mr. William M. (With apologies to Bill Bloss)

DEAR ED:

I was lookin' at MEKEEL's a few weak backs,—I mean weaks back,—and I read about that collector who didn't have any luck a-tall down in the moonshine country trying to find a "find", and says he's off that stuff. I say, don't lose hope, brother, these things come when you least expect 'em, just like your battery goes dead when you want to take a friend(?) home to get rid of him, and the last car has gone.

Let me tell you something happened to me. I've got a friend over in Cornwall sends me all the stamps he gets. He being one of these artists is non-philatelically inclined, if you get me, and all he wants for the stamps is some butterflies from this great Northwest. No, Lucinda, I don't mean flappers from Hennepin St. Mpls. I mean the real thing from the real Northwest, the place where they raise those apples you folks ought-to-but-don't-buy-by-the-box. Well, bugs being my middle name, that's easy for me, but I gotta get back to my story.

The other day I got a letter with K. G. in the corner, and I had to open it twice, being one of those doubled barrelled envelopes they use over there, and in it was another bunch of stamps. "Hohum," says I, "just another lot of misplaced Irish accents," my friend being in cahoots with somebody in Ireland. Well, I was goin' to shove 'em back into both the envelopes when I saw a blue corner stickin' out and it didn't have no perfs. either. "What's this?" says I. "Maybe it's that 2M blue, not ultramarine, Esthonia I've had on 40 want lists." And I pulls it out. Say, Ed, I nearly fainted. What do you suppose I had? In there amongst all them Tanganyika giraffes from Tanga (I wonder if that's where they make all the new dances), and some of the latest German atrocities, and a bunch of Irish from Bwala anha Cleeah (that's how they pronounce Dublin), was,—well, Ed, I hate to tell you. You might try to trade me out of it. Anyway, it was a Number One, and came from Norway at that. And it had a regular bullyvard most all the way around it and part of an Ice-Bergen cancellation, what the auctioneer fellers call a "Black Town," tho I don't see no reason for ballin' them out like that. It's a pippin all right and I've been lookin' for it longer than that 2M blue Esthonia, so I'm glad it wasn't that. But what gets me is, how it escaped philatelick eyes, if you get me, all these years. So keep on hopin', brother.

And now I gotta cut this and go hunt up some bugs for this artist. But tell me, Ed, how'm I gonna find a bug with a cat val of three fifty to send him? That's what I want to know.

E. J. NEWCOMER.

DEATH OF OSCAR STEIN.

The Midwest Stamp Co. sends us a clipping from a Kansas City Star announcing the death of Oscar F. Stein of that city. Mr. Stein was working on an electrical equipment when he was thrown against a pulley wheel, suffering severe fractures from which he died Feb. 14.

Mr. Stein was well and favorably known to the stamp collectors of Kansas City, through his interest in philately. He is survived by a wife and sister.

How Would You Like To Have $10,000 to $12,000

tied up in just one issue of U. S. stamps? and an issue of only two values at that? That is just the position I find myself in. I have about that sum invested in the good old 5c and 10c of 1847, and I am proud of it. What I am leading up to is this, if you have any exceptional items in this issue, I would be interested in them; if you desire to buy some of this issue, I will part with some of the varieties of which I have duplicates as to shades, cancellations, covers, pairs, etc.

If you need anything in old U. S., bear in mind I have one of finest lots in the country. First class reference necessary if you wish approval selections. I am taking no chances on these goods. Address as usual is a wonderful advertising medium. Its pull is simply surprising and it has put me in the embarrassing position of having more customers than I have stamps to sell at the present time. That, of course, is partly because I am not a dealer—simply a collector disposing of duplicates and stamps I no longer collect (my personal collection consists of one cent blues and two cent greens, 1870 to 1888 inclusive) and therefore my stock was not large enough to enable me to take care of all the requests for selections that I have received and what stock I had become so depleted through purchases that I have had to temporarily retire it.

Incidentally, not being a dealer and therefore having no facilities for caring for a large correspondence outside of my daily work, I have had to neglect considerable correspondence of late, including such requests for approval selections as I have been unable to fill. I hope this advertisement will prove a satisfactory explanation and apology to those collectors who so kindly wrote me for selections and whose requests I have been unable to comply with. I have not replied simply because I have been swamped with replies from my advertising, the correspondence connected with the "Early Low Values Specialized" Department and my regular business. I will keep such letters on file and, in the future, whenever I have selections called for, will send some along. I thank you,

THE PERSONNEL OF OUR FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB.

A STRIKING TRIBUTE TO THE STABILITY OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST PHILATELIC PUBLICATION.

Hon. Pres., CHARLES R. MORSE; Pres., DONALD A. COOK; Vice Pres., L. A. K. SOLOSTH; Sec., J. WM. CO.

Every once in a while some stamp paper is bold enough to claim the distinction of being the one and only great paper. We should not be over-modest in our own behalf, and to substantiate a self-evident truth in many quarters we list below no fewer than 166 subscribers who during the past six months have taken out five-year subscriptions to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. There has been no cheapening in price and no premiums of any kind have been offered, and withal messages of cheer and good-will have accompanied the remittances. What paper of any kind, published anywhere in the world, can claim any such record as this?

We have published names and addresses with the expectation that honorable dealers will observe the ethics of trade and refrain from sending out unsolicited approval selections. Price lists mailed will no doubt be read and published of stamp papers are invited to mail specimen copies. We greatly fear that in making up this list some names may have been omitted. Who will help us complete it? We urge you to add your name to this list and acquire the honor attached to membership in this unique club.

Charles L. Bart, Medina, Ohio.
 H. L. Stevens, Germantown, Pa.
 Charles M. Ams, N. Y. City, N. Y.
 Herbert E. Kendall, Nashua, N. H.
 Robt. H. Newell, Medina, N. Y.
 Wilson D. Wood, Kansas City, Mo.
 A. W. Wheaton, Jr., Newark, N. J.

We consider Charles L. Bart, a new subscriber from Medina, Ohio, as deserving of special mention in connection with membership in the Honor Club in view of the fact that his name is new to our subscription list. We acknowledge his remittance of $5 and enter his name as a member of the Honor Club.

It would be a very interesting thing for us to know how many of our subscribers have been taking the WEEKLY for a period of a quarter century or more. Every now and then a correspondent writes:—"I have been a subscriber to the WEEKLY for twenty-five years." In this class belongs H. L. Stevens, of Germantown, who in renewing for five years' writes that he cannot do without it. He first received the paper in January, 1896, and this is some record.

On Saturday, February 16, we received three applications from the following:—Charles M. Ams, N. Y. City, Herbert E. Kendall, and Robert H. Newell, and it stands as a record day. Mr. Ams is a well known specialist and his frequent advertisements in the WEEKLY along specialistic lines indicate the hold that our hobby has upon him. Mr. Kendall is secretary-treasurer of the Peoples Building and Loan Assn., of Nashua, N. H. He began collecting in 1880 and finds much pleasure in the contributions that are found in the WEEKLY. Mr. Newell, sending his application, uses one of our regular renewal slips.

Wilson D. Wood, vice-president of the Peoples Trust Co., Kansas City, Mo., sends his check for $5 for five years' renewal and writes as follows:—"Being a life member of the A. P. S. and believing the WEEKLY to be as permanent as the Society, I would be inclined to take out a life subscription if that were possible. If your paper continues to improve as rapidly as it has in the twenty years I have been reading it, the subscription price of $1 for the fifth year will be a real bargain." These are kind words and we know they are sincere.

We can truly say that we have a host of subscribers who give expression to the sentiment as expressed by A. W. Wheaton, Jr., of Newark, N. J.:—"I look forward to receiving your publication regularly every week." But not all are so situated or possibly favorably disposed towards taking a chance upon a five-year subscription to any newspaper. However, this is not the case with Mr. Wheaton, who sends his check for $5 covering a renewal for five years. Our friend is an important factor in the A. W. Wheaton Brass Works of the New Jersey City where he is located.

THE JOY IN COLLECTING.

By TOM HYATT.

Some time ago I had occasion to advertise for sale some stamps in the form of booklet leaves. Of the twenty-two replies which I received, only four were from men who did not have their own printed or engraved letterheads. One was an attorney; two were doctors; one an artist or decorator; one a sales agent; one a county clerk; one a hospital superintendent; one the vice-president of a newspaper; one a member of the New York Produce Exchange; one on the staff of an insurance company. The letters of all of the twenty-two indicated that the writers were men of intelligence; and the fact that they had money to spend on collecting stamps indicated that they were prosperous—at least, fairly so.

The point I wish to make is this, men who are collectors, whether it be of stamps or of etchings; books or porcelain; antique furniture or paintings, are men of affairs, to collect is a sign of intelligence. No man can be a successful collector unless he studies the things he collects. And to study requires the desire to do so, as well as the necessary mental equipment.

The rounder, the poolroom shark, the card expert, these never collect anything but debts, headaches and regrets. The wife of the collector seldom sits by a lonely fireside wondering if he will be in by two o'clock, if at all. The chances are that he is at the other side of the table with his collection and figuring if he can possibly afford the new variety that he wants.

True enough, he sometimes spends just a little more than he really ought to on his collection, but the rounder would be hunting his bootlegger to spend the same money.

It does not need any brains to be a scoffer; but the man who is collecting has not the time to scoff, he is getting pleasure and perhaps quite a little education from his hobby.

Your collector is no money grubber. He does not hoard. He uses his money.

He knows it as a medium of exchange, not as an idol. His spare money does double duty, he has the fun of buying and possessing things that give him pleasure and constant joy. And the chances are that his heirs will get all or nearly all of the money out of it that he put into his collection.

One of the joys of collecting is that no collection is ever complete. There is always something beyond, always hope of attaining the unattainable. If the number of stamps in the whole world were confined to one thousand and they could all be easily gotten by anybody, nobody would ever bother anything about them. Joy lies in the journey and not in the journey's end. The only drawback to heaven is that nothing lies beyond.

Your collector is never lonely. Each of the things he collects is a friend to which he can turn with affection and interest. He keeps young in spirit and out of mischief by keeping busy. Folly and disorder lie in wait for the idle mind. Collectors always have something to think about and to interest them.

If you are not a collector of something get a hobby. It means rest for tired nerves; relief from worrying thoughts; rest and change from business or professional problems. Collect anything collectable, but collect something, and find a new source of pleasure that does not pack a headache.

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE "WEEKLY".

We have on hand a few bound volumes of the WEEKLY, and offer them for sale at very reasonable prices. The years in question are 1902, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909. The price of these books is $2 each and this price is extremely reasonable in view of the high cost of binding in these days. Just to show you what we can do in the way of a handsome, substantial sample volume of the WEEKLY we will send you the year 1907 for $1.50 plus the zone parcel post charges on three pounds. This offer is for immediate acceptance.

INCIDENTS OF THE EARTHQUAKE.

Mr. J. M. de Mendonca, Jr., formerly of Yokohama and now at Kobe, is amongst our members in Japan who have happily escaped the awful fate which overtook so many in the earthquake, fire and typhoon of last September. We quote some portions of a long and interesting letter Mr. de Mendonca has written to the President, dated from Kobe, November 22, 1923:

I beg to inform you that, commencing from 25th Oct., the following new Japanese postage stamps were put on sale at the different post-offices throughout the Empire:—½ sen, grey; 1½ sen, blue; 2 sen dark brown; 3 sen, vermillion; 4 sen, green; 5 sen, violet; 8 sen, red; 10 sen, brown; 20 sen, dark blue.

I have been informed that owing to the Government Printing Office in Tokyo being destroyed by the great earthquake and fire of the 1st of September, these stamps were issued to replace those stamps that were destroyed by the disastrous earthquake and fire. The Postal Authorities, in order not to run short of stamps, decided to print the new stamps in Osaka, and in less than two months after the earthquake they were put on sale. As the machine for perforating the stamps and other accessories were destroyed as mentioned above, and as there are no such kind of machines in Osaka, these stamps had to be issued without perforations, and so every one of them are imperforated and no gum on the back. If you go to any Post Offices in Japan now you will find a pot of gum or paste on the counter for you to use for the new stamps. It is rather an inconvenient job. I do not know if these stamps are to be used permanently or provisionally. In case they are to be used permanently, I think the 4 sen, 8 sen and 20 sen stamps of the Mt. Fuji type issued on January, 1922, will become obsolete, and there is a chance that the 4 sen and 8 sen stamps will become rather rare.

I suppose you must have read in the newspapers about the great calamity in Japan. Well, I am one of the survivors, and take the liberty of relating the terrible ordeal I passed. I was working in the office and all of a sudden there was a tremendous shock that lasted over 6 minutes. The first thing I did was to get under a door and my quick action saved my life. A man next to me had his leg crushed by the falling of a brick chimney, and it took me half an hour to pull him off the debris, and fire started next door. I was nearly suffocated to death by the dense cloud of dust caused by the falling of the office building. When I got off from my sheltering place I noticed all the tall buildings were down and not a single house was left standing. I felt a bit uneasy, thinking of the fate of my family. Fire started in every direction, and I started to run home in the hope of finding my family. On the way home I saw many dead bodies lying here and there, and I could hear the groaning of those that were injured. Children started to cry over the dead bodies of their parents and it was altogether a pitiful sight. All the streets were blocked by the debris, and I had a lot of difficulty in reaching home, which is two miles from town.

When I came home I found my wife, my child (only 2½ months old), my mother, sister and three small brothers, all saved. They had also a very narrow escape and the chimney fell a few feet away from the place they were seeking shelter. The house was in a slanting position, and I went inside and the first thing I did was to get my stamp collection. As the fire was approaching towards the house I saved only my stamp collection and few other valuable belongings and went to a field close by, together with my family. I could not find my duplicates and I did not want to stay any longer inside the house as there were many strong shocks after the first big shock, and any moment the house might come down, and I did not want to lose my life on account of my duplicate stamps. I let them go, and I was contented with what I saved.

We stayed four days and nights in the field drinking only Horlick's malted milk which we saved. The water works pipes were broken and we had to drink dirty well water. All the houses destroyed, and we had to sleep on ground. Luckily it was not cold, on the third day after the earthquake were soaked wet by a heavy down of rain. We stayed till relief came from Kobe and other cities of Japan. I could not bear it any longer and decided to go to the seashore and find if there was any steamer that would take us aboard. Each one of us carried a bundle of clothing and proceeded towards the shore, and we were lucky to be picked up by a crew from the French steamer "André Lebon." Here we found ourselves comfortably quartered. I left Yokohama on the 12th September and arrived here on the 13th September. Many of my friends were killed and it is reported that 250,000 people perished in Yokohama and Tokio. It was something very frightful. Even now I am not feeling well and always nervous. A least shock effects me. You can imagine how scared I got. The ship moved right and left and up and down just like a merry-go-round. My sense of mind to go under the table saved my life. It is the best place I have been saved if there had been no fire. The fire was the cause of so many deaths, and there was a strong typhoon blowing at the time which helped the fire to spread all over the city in short time. Many persons who were pinned by falling timbers had no time to extricate themselves and were left in that condition and burnt to death. —Stamp Lover.

BRITISH PRINTING CONTRACT.

Clipping from the London "Times" of Dec. 10, sent in by Cecil F. Blogg.

The New Year will provide an event of considerable importance to philatelists and others interested in the production of our postage stamps. As briefly announced in The Times of October 8, the British stamp-printing contract will be taken over on January 1, 1924, by Messrs. Waterlow and Sons, Limited. This is the fourth change of printers since the adhesive postage stamp was first introduced into this country.

Eighty-four years ago, on December 3, 1839, the firm of Bacon & Petch (now Perkins, Bacon & Co.) quoted the Treasury for the printing of the first postage labels at the rate of 8d per thousand, exclusive of paper. It was intended that the stamps should be in readiness for public issue on January 10, 1840, the date on which Inland Penny Postage came into force, but the work could not be completed in the time, and the original penny postage label did not in fact make its debut until five months later. Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. continued to print the smaller denominations of British postage stamps down to the end of 1879, when the Government contract was transferred in its entirety to Messrs. Thomas De La Rue & Co., who since 1855 had been printing postage and revenue stamps of 2 1/2d and upwards by their typographic process at a cost much below that of the line-engraved method employed in the Perkins, Bacon ateliers. From 1880 to the end of 1910 all adhesive postage and revenue stamps of Great Britain were engraved and printed by De La Rue, but in the latter year the stamp-printing contract was secured, in part, by Messrs. Harrison & Sons, Limited, printers in ordinary to the King. Only surface printed duties from 1/2d to 1s were produced by this firm, excluding the 6d stamp, for which doubly fugitive ink is used throughout.

The printing of this value is carried out by the Stamping Department of the Board of Inland Revenue, at Somerset House, while the recess printed high values of the existing Georgian series have been produced, first by Messrs. Waterlow Brothers & Layton (1911-15); second, by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. (1915-18); and, lastly, by Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co. (1919). The work of all these printers presents characteristics that facilitate its recognition by philatelists. Many varieties of considerable philatelic interest were evolved, also, as a result of provisional printings made by Harrison & Sons from the old Edwardian De La Rue plates pending the advent of stamps of the present reign. The original Harrison contract, expiring at the end of 1920, was extended for a further period of three years in view of post-war conditions, but is finally terminated at the end of 1923.

FELIX COHEN

P. O. BOX 1823, ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT
Member of the A.P.S. since 1908.

The new printers of our national postage stamps, Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Limited, have been engaged in postage stamp production since about 1850, some of their earliest work being for the Government of British Guiana. Revers printing has always been a Waterlow speciality, and some of the most picturesque and finely engraved specimens known to collectors have emanated from their ateliers, notably those of the Belgian Congo, China, New Zealand (1898), North Borneo, Rhodesia, Nyassa, and a large number of South and Central American States.

When work is begun on the new British contract, surface printing will be the method employed, as heretofore, nor is any change of design contemplated. A new series of marginal control letters and numbers will come into force, however, and serve to distinguish the Waterlow printings, even in the unlikely event of their presenting no other differences to the philatelic eye. Some months must necessarily elapse before any of the stamps printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons are on sale at post-offices, and, in all probability, they will not find their way into circulation until May or June next.

The number of new postage stamps issued during 1923 will amount to rather less than half the output for the previous year, which was 2,304. Up to the end of November only 1,010 new varieties had been recorded, and the number foreshadowed for December is considerable. This welcome falling off has enabled philatelists to keep pace with new issues as they appeared, and to study each novelty more closely than was practicable when new stamps were being poured forth from the presses of the world in an apparently ceaseless stream. Except for Germany, whose stamps are still in the throes of transition, most important countries appear to have achieved something approaching finality in their post-war stamp issues. Nearly one-third of the stamps issued in 1923 have been of a special character, commemorative, charity, air post, etc. The collapse of the mark has also been responsible for inflating the number of provisional surcharges. Collectors may find solace in the knowledge that the annual output of new postage stamps has at last reverted to the pre-war average of 1,000 specimens.

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF.

Austria.—Dr. V. Weinert tells us that from October 1st all stamps then current have been withdrawn from use except the following:—100, 200, 300, 400, 500, 600kr, Wheat-ear type, 1,000 and 2,000kr, Woman's Head, and the new stamps issued in September.

Belgium.—The new 5fr is not to be reprinted, as its colour is often confused with that of other stamps, by artificial light. Mr. P. Massez is our informant.

China.—The official decree of the Directorate-General of Posts, dated Peking, 18th October, 1923, states that the new stamps to commemorate the promulgation of the Constitution of the Chinese Republic will be sold in sets of four values, by Second and Third Class Offices up to 31st March, 1924, and at Head and First Class Offices to 30th June, 1924, unless stocks are previously exhausted. After the latter date they will be unobtainable at any postal establishment, and under no circumstances will a fresh supply be printed. According to this decree the set is also in use overprinted for Chinese Turkestan, but we have not yet seen copies. A naive remark in the decree adds that "The Commemorative Stamps are good for franking purposes and may be obliterated at the time of purchase if desired."

Czecho-Slovakia.—Dr. Victor Weinert sends us some interesting details about the new Commemorative issue. The gum is quadrillé and the monogram, C.S.P., which appears on the back is, apparently, also done in the gumming and therefore disappears from used stamps. Two plates were used for each value, indicated by Plate Nos. I and II. The stamps were first officially on sale on October 27th, but stamp dealers in Prague already had them on the 20th. They will be on sale till December 31st and are available for both internal and external correspondence until that date. They are sold at double face value, and, postal rates being already very high, no large public use of them is expected. The numbers printed being 1,500,000 50h, 1,000,000 100h, 300,000 200h, and 200,000 300h, there does not seem to be any likelihood of a shortage of the lower values, though attempts to corner the two higher values are possible. So far, however, there has been no such attempt, and the stamps are such a drug in the market that postmen are given a certain quantity of them to try and sell on their rounds. The Charity funds which will benefit if the issue sells are the Red Cross, Child Welfare, and Postal Employés Charities.

The new issue is expected to be in the same design, but typographed instead of engraved.

In May, 1924, another Commemorative issue is expected, to commemorate the union of Czecho-Slovakia with the so-called "Carpatho-Russia," the north-eastern portion of the former Kingdom of Hungary. According to the Peace Treaty this country is independent, but it has been held by Czecho-Slovakia since May, 1919. The proposed designs for the series will include a view of Ungvar, the capital of the country, a portrait of Korjatovic, the leader of the Ruthenes, and a portrait of President Masaryk.

A daily-air-mail service was instituted on October 29th between Pressburg and Prague. The special fees are 30h for a letter, 20h for a postcard, and 10h for printed matter. Special stamps for these purposes are expected very shortly.

Finland.—Mr. G. A. Fereday tells us that it is announced that the 90p red and 1½m blue will make their appearance as soon as stocks of the surcharged stamps are exhausted. Our correspondent thinks, however, that the change in the colour of the 1½m is unlikely unless some alteration takes place in the present postal rates.

Holland.—Mr. P. O. Altorffer states that the numbers printed of the recent provisionals is as follows:—2/1c 80,600 sheets, 2½c 120,000 sheets, 10/3c 90,000 sheets, 10/5c 28,000 sheets, 10/12½c 17,470 sheets, 10/17½c 5,200 sheets, 10/22½c 5,200 sheets, all sheets being of 200 stamps each. With reference to our paragraph in the November M. J. the same reader states that the sheets of imperf. stamps were of 200 each and not of 100 as there stated.

Italy.—San Marino.—We are indebted to a reader for a copy of a decree which states that from the end of November the 1 lire "War Volunteers" stamp (listed this month but which we have never seen) and the Red Cross stamps of 1923, with the exception of the 50c, will cease to be available for postal use, and gives instructions for the destruction of the dies and plates used in the production of all values of the Red Cross series and of the Volunteer stamp.

Kingdom of Italy.—Mr. R. M. Aringer kindly sends us a cutting showing some of the types of a proposed new issue for this country, which, if properly produced, will be a distinct improvement upon the labels to which we have so long been accustomed. The designs shown include a portrait of the King of Italy, a female head crowned with a castle, and Romulus and Remus suckled by the wolf. These three designs are by M. Paschetto, and of those which we have not yet seen, four are by M. Parmeggiani, two by M. Marussig, one by M. Grassi, and one by M. Constantin, the series consisting of eleven designs in all.

Japan.—Our Eastern friends have our sincere admiration for the rapidity with which they are tackling the problems presented as a result of the appalling earthquake disaster. Already new provisional stamps have been produced and, though they are imperf., and the paper used obviously only a temporary stop-gap, the designs are as beautiful, and the technical skill shown is as great (in view of the difficulties), as we have always been accustomed to expect from Japan. So far only one stamp has reached England, in the design illustrated in this month's supplement, but another design is also to be used, showing the chrysanthemum at the blazing sun in the centre, and dragonflies at each side of the value label foot. This latter design is for the 1 sen, sepia, and 20 sen, deep blue, while our 3 sen design will also serve for grey, 1 sen, 5r blue, 2 sen, brown, 5 sen, green, 5 sen, violet, 8 sen, vermilion. They are printed by Nihon Seihan Insatsu Kabushiki Kaisha, Osaka, under Government supervision, on paper provided by the Mitsubishi Co. of Osaka.

Norway.—In a recent interview, the explorer Amundsen is quoted as saying that he hopes to defray part of the expense of his next trip by means of a special issue of Norwegian stamps. We hope Norway, hitherto a philatelically clean country, will allow him to do nothing of the kind. If the issue materialises, no doubt there will still be enough "mugs" to make it a financial success.

Portugal.—Mozambique Co.—New values may be expected shortly, consisting of 3, 4, 4½, 6, 7, 12, 60, and 80 and 2 escudos. Though they are pretty stamps, these Mozambiques serve legitimate postal purposes and we often see them on letters arriving in the ordinary course of business. Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

M. H. HOOVER AND HIS FIND.

How a Famous Local Was Discovered.

By WILLARD O. WYLIE.

We are very glad to present this week a picture of the collector who found the only Lockport, N. Y., local known to exist. We feel quite sure that a short article dealing with the philatelic possessions of Mr. Hoover will be of interest. He very courteously replied to our request for a photograph by sending one on and saying that he did not shrink from publicity providing it could be made of interest or service to the reading public.

In reference to the finding of the Lockport local he has little to say other than that it was found in a lot of old papers in an office where he had full permission to browse through the old correspondence and pay for what he got. The strange looking cover in question was found among a lot of covers used before stamps came into being, and included in the lot were 1851 and 1857. Mr. Hoover tossed the local aside at first as useless, but later included it in the few covers selected. When he got home he examined the local, it looked queer and it was a year or more before he sent it to a New York dealer for an offer. When his price was asked the response was, "Four sets of unused departments, Navy, Treasury, Justice and Agriculture." The sets came minus the Navy error but on calling attention to the omission the error was supplied.

The trade was probably the equivalent of about $100 cash in those days, and Mr. Hoover was pleased because the stamp had no official recognition and without that was worthless. It illustrates that the finder of unlisted rarities is more or less at the mercy of cataloguers.

Mr. Hoover is very much interested in the 3c green and has written an article which will appear in a future issue. It is entitled "A Comparative Study of the 3c Green" based on an examination of two separate unpicked finds rich in the older issues of the banknote companies. It required about six weeks steady work of twelve-hour days to select 8,000 copies from the 32,000 stamps and arrange and classify them into seven divisions and subdivisions and ascertain the comparative recurrence of the various varieties. Here is found a fairly comprehensive checkup on catalog prices and in which they do not suffer by comparison.

Mr. Hoover has a collection of foreign stamps in two volumes catalog value about $9,000 but he no longer takes much interest in it and the collection is regarded negligible so far as anything helpful to philately is concerned.

In U. S., however, he has some thirty volumes which are of extreme interest and his possessions have been greatly admired by those who have been privileged to view it. His ideas as to arrangement and treatment of the stamps of the U. S. are original and in the opinion of experts may be far from "ideal," but they suit Mr. Hoover.

For some years he has been writing editorial matter for the Hearst newspapers and a sympathetic and human interest in the stamps of our country has often been evident. In this he takes practical issue with his friend and superior Arthur Brisbane in regard to philately and philatelists. He regards every stamp as a friend and he loves the old friends

COVERS WANTED

I am very much in the market to buy old United States and Confederate States on original covers. The rarer covers and the scarcer cancellations, like railroad, steamship and other special mail cancellations, are especially desired, but I can always use the commoner covers used prior to 1880, provided the covers are neat and untorn, the stamps are in fine condition and the cancellations are neat.

Perhaps you have an accumulation of duplicates or a rare cover or two that are out of proportion with the rest of your collection. Many collectors find it advantageous to turn these in for exchange for stamps they need in their collections, thus getting advantage of my "20% over cash offer" where exchange is taken. Of course, I buy for cash. Correspondence is invited.

Lots sent by registered mail will be examined within a few hours after receipt. I make offers, but I prefer you to name your own prices.

Gibbons Stamp Circular

This snappy little publication is mailed free for nothing—not even postage—once a month unless the editor goes fishing or yachting. This season of the year therefore is a good time to write for a copy. This circular is not mailed to substitutes, send-em-back-unregistered fiends and such like. Postcards also go straight into the waste paper basket. Serious and interested collectors would do well to send for a copy and get on the list free before we close the offer with the ten thousandth name.

the best, especially the 3c greens. He marshals them in groups yet keeps the various groups in touch with one another as members of one great, grand family and only for convenience are then given separate quarters.

Mr. Hoover has just completed three months' steady work in arranging his U. S. stamps and the divisions range something as follows:—

I. Original Covers—6 volumes. 2 vols. Old U.S., 1845 to 69; 1 vol. 1870 to 1899; 1 vol. 20th century; 1 vol. Before Stamps; 1 vol. Franked Departments. Official, semi-official.

II. Part Covers—3 volumes.
III. Entire U. S. Envelopes, used and unused, in Bartels large album, about 3,000 copies.

IV. Regular Collections U. S. 5 vols. Old U. S., 1845 to 1882; 1883 to 1899; 20th Century; volume of Departments, Newspapers, Special Delivery, Dues and Revenues (the revenues should be in separate volume); and Envelopes cut-square.

These are specialized more or less, as to shades, minor varieties, blocks, strips, pairs, etc.; and also attractive samples of cancellations.

V. Cancellation Collections—10 volumes.

VI. Specialized Three Cent Green and One Cent Blue—5 volumes.

VII. Curiosity Shop—Volume containing things like unused Civil War Patriotic Envelopes, letter seals, samples of correspondence paper, express franks, Post-office Records, etc. (All previous to 1890.)

Mr. Hoover has not made much progress in the U. S. of the twentieth century, having confined himself to all of the major and many of the minor varieties but doing very little in collecting "arrow blocks" and the like. It pleases us to be able to present this brief sketch of one whose contribution to philately is of a no mean order.

C. P. S. BANQUET.

The annual banquet of the Chicago Philatelic Society held February 21, 1924, at the Hotel Morrison, Chicago, was attended by forty-nine persons, who finally left the scene of festivities with reluctance. The presence of a number of ladies added to the interest of the occasion and all went as merry as a wedding-bell. The attendance was a representative one and proved that the Chicago society has attained a position well worthy of its best traditions. Regrets were received from Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer of Philadelphia, who boasts of membership No. 1, Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack of Lakewood, N. J., H. H. Bandholtz, U. S. Army, Constantinople, Michigan, Mr. S. Valentine Saxby, Duluth, Minn., and a score of other prominent philatelists. The president of the society, C. E. Severn, acted as toastmaster and those called upon did their work creditably, indeed. Mr. B. D. Butler was the first speaker and he entertained the members with a clever presentation of his philatelic ideas and told of his general collection of nineteenth century, based on the catalogue, which lacks but a few hundred stamps to make it complete. Mr. A. W. Filstrup of Benton Harbor, Michigan, was followed with close attention and while he began as a general collector and still retains his old collection of about ten thousand varieties, he has excelled as a collector of early United States, of which he has a collection that ranks among the very best. Mr. Filstrup mentioned several of the stamps in which he is most interested and spoke of the ten cent of 1847, in particular. Mr. Sumner Gary told of pioneer investigations into the details of U. S. and referred to his discovery of the famous double print of the four cent of 1898-99. Mr. G. C. Rheinfrank made a hit with his spirited talk on the advantages to be derived from advertising philately and his humorous touches struck the bull's-eye. Mr. Rheinfrank showed his ability as an orator as befitted one who has appeared on the Lyceum and Chataqua circuits. Mr. W. A. Hitchcock told of his experiences with stamps in connection with reformatory work among boys, under the auspices of the Union League club; and Messrs. Zalud, Franzen, Adams and several others acquitted themselves to advantage. Mr. Fowler responded for the committee having in charge the management of the banquet and contrasted the old days with the present. Mr. Krause responded for Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. Lamprecht were present from Valparaiso, Indiana.

Mr. Julius Huber, one of the early presidents of the society, indulged in reminiscences of the time when his collection was called the best in Chicago; and he passed around menu cards of the banquet given by the Chicago Philatelic Society to the American Philatelic Society when it held its convention in Chicago, in 1887.

Mr. Max Golding was the valedictorian and in his inimitable manner, he kept the auditors in an uproar. His points usually made humorously, were delightful and he manifested a pride in stamp collecting that some of us would do well to copy. He told of how the scoffers at philately sometimes changed their tune when they saw the practical application of stamps. Mr. Golding made all the banqueters millionaires for the night as he distributed high denominations of mark bills with a lavish hand.

The president called attention to the changes that had been made in a year and spoke of the absence of E. C. Dodd, who died last year and that of Mr. H. N. Mudge, who scarcely felt able to attend because of the accident from which he finds recovery very slow. All in all, it was an evening very well spent and the occasion showed that the vitality of the society is high indeed.

CANCELLATIONS

After months of work we have at last completed a series of approval books covering all classes of cancellations on the stamps of the bank-note issues from 1871 to 1890. Many of these are at present quite inexpensive and fine attractive copies with cancellations of some interest may be had at from 5c to 25c each. Just ask for the particular stamp you want to work on, 1c blues, 2c brown or vermilion, 3c green, 2c red brown, 4c Jacksions, and see what this stock has to offer.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Recently, the post-office department issued the following notice:

"Postage Stamps and Paper Money in the Mail for Russia.—The postal administration of Russia has advised this department that postage stamps and paper money intended for private individuals in Russia must be addressed exclusively to care of 'Philatelic Delegate of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, Tverskoi Boulevard 12, Moscow.'"

Articles bearing the inscription 'Postage stamps' but not addressed to said delegate will be considered as improperly accepted for mailing, and will consequently be returned to origin.

PAUL HENDERSON,

Second Assistant Postmaster-General.

—To the correspondent who makes inquiry about L. Harald Kjellstedt of Scranton, Pa., we must say with regret that this brilliant man passed away over four years ago.

—Mr. R. E. Emmett is informed that a new edition of the invaluable compilation, "Who's Who in Philately," London, will be available in due time and that he will find notices of the appearance of the work when it comes.

—A subscriber wants to know if a Centennial postmark, Philadelphia, 1876, is valuable. An envelope showing the marking would be worth, say a dollar.

—Harry H. Bandholtz, who last November attained the highest rank (major general) that is to be had in our army in peace time, is now comfortably settled in the old home town of Constantine, Michigan; and we are looking forward to a chat with him when he happens to run down to Chicago.

—From Mr. B. B. Wells, now in Buenos Aires, Argentine, we have a letter in which he says that the stamp dealers in that city are somewhat advanced and seem to do a good business. Early issues of the South American countries have the edge and U. S. are almost a negligible quantity of the stocks.

—The magazine section of the Boston Sunday Herald, of Feb. 24, contained a full page philatelic cartoon by Haydon Jones. It pictures a library scene in which a boy of seventeen and an older boy of approximately seventy are engaged in poring over a stamp album, while all the necessary accessories are scattered about. It is printed in colors and all in all makes a very fine feature. A stamp story found in the magazine deals with the stamp collections of some of our most noted philatelists.

—"I wonder how many dealers consider a man a 'piker' who only spends two to four dollars at a time. Personally, I think a man has a right to shop for his stamps the same as any other article and if a dealer can't meet competition that is his business. I spend about $10 to $15 per month for stamps and pick up stuff from a large number of advertisers. Sometimes the things I send for only amount to a small sum; but every dealer to date has gladly sent the stamps with a very courteous letter of thanks. From what I can learn the bulk of orders received and on which our dealers depend for existence are well under $4.00. I don't think this man has a right to put in such a slurring 'ad.' It will lose him lots of business, I'll bet."

—F. W. GRAHAME.

—We are indebted to Geo. L. Dutton of Philadelphia, for a rather interesting souvenir. It is an entire postmarked Valley Forge, Feb. 22, 1924, and is stamped with 2c imperforate Harding.

—I. Sonnee calls our attention to the death of Edwin M. Frankel, of St. Paul, who died, Jan. 26, at Pokegama, Minn., where he had gone in an attempt to win back his health. Mr. Frankel was forty-four years old, a member of the Twin City Philatelic Society and a former secretary of the organization.

—There is a letter at this office under date of Jan. 26 for Earl D. Emery.

—P. M. Wolsieffer informs us of the death of Archie L. Crinns at Asheville, N. C. We regret that we can give none of the particulars concerning Mr. Crinns' philatelic activities. There are many who will associate collecting and dealing in stamps with his name.

—The latest "Starr" song is "When You Said Dixie Then You Spoke," with words and music by the well known pre-cancel fan Howard Starr Dickey. The price is 60c, but address the publisher at Newton, Kansas, with $1 and receive three different songs.

—Daniel Holzer, 55 John St., N. Y. City, will be glad to correspond with anyone desiring the services of a general insurance broker in connection with the insuring of stamp collections.

—I note that in the issue of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY for Jan. 21, 1924, on page 46, there is reprinted the article on Easter Island which appeared in a recent issue of Scott's Monthly Journal. The original and your copy both carry a mistaken translation of Rapa Nui, the native name of the island. "Nui" in the Polynesian languages, does not mean "new" as indicated in this article but means "big." The name, then, might be freely translated as "Great Rapa." Iki means little and some think "Hawaii" a contraction of "Hawa Iki" or "Little Java."—HAROLD S. PALMER.

and Girls' Competitive Postage Stamp Exhibition during the week of February 25 to March 1. Participation in this year's contest was limited to junior collectors of Dane County between the ages of seven and fourteen years. The rules of the competition were that each contestant could enter a single sheet of mounted stamps in any one or all of ten designated classes. These were judged by a committee of three adult philatelists appointed by the Museum, and a first, second and third prize awarded in each class. No collector was permitted to take more than three first prizes. In judging the exhibits, the character and value of the stamps and the neatness of their arrangement was considered. Awards will be announced later.

—Dr. C. W. Hennan of Chicago, did not attend the banquet of the C. P. S., on Feb. 21st, for sufficient reason; and neither did he send in his regrets. Dr. Hennan, who is secretary of the society, and known as a collector of and dealer in Holland and colonies, in particular, had the unusual experience of becoming "dead to the hours" at what is sometimes called the busiest corner in the world, i.e., State and Madison Streets, Chicago. He fainted there on the afternoon of February 21st, and when he recovered consciousness, he was in his office on 63rd street and the time was eleven o'clock at night. Kidney trouble was the cause of the turn in the tide of the doctor's affairs and he was ordered immediately to the Mayos at Rochester, Minnesota, for overhauling; and now the good doctor does not know whether he will be away for two weeks or two months from his office. We await word from him.

—The United Stamp Company of Chicago continues its excellent record in publishing the Marquette Sectional Album and there are now thirty or so parts available for collectors. We remember when the work was started with the U. S. instalments and the steady progress of the publishers to the goal of a complete album calls for approving notice.

—The prize of a wax ear of corn goes this week to a "scalper" for the acutest act of self-repression. At a stamp shop, he did not try to take advantage of the evident friendliness of a big buyer and enter into conversation with him, although it would have been easy to have done so; and neither did he leave first and wait outside in order to corral the spender.

SPRINGFIELD NIGHT AT THE COLLECTORS CLUB, NEW YORK.

Notes by CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

The Philatelists of New York and district were very happy to have a number of out of town visitors at the meeting of Wednesday, February 20th. Among these were Messrs. John W. Prevost, H. P. Atherton, E. P. Radford and G. W. Angers from Springfield, and Mr. Walker of the Pacific Philatelic Society.

The Governors of the Collectors Club entertained the visitors at dinner at the Harvard Club before the meeting which on this account started a little late which, it is hoped, will be obviated in future.

Mr. John V. Prevost was the star turn of the evening. He had brought with him four volumes of his large collection of French 19th century stamps and gave us one of the most interesting and historical talks that we have had for a long time. All this without notes, just in a free and entertaining style as he was turning over the pages of his album. Mr. Prevost has collected French stamps for some thirty years and has made a great study of the early cancellations. We jotted down a few of the many interesting facts he had to tell us, many of which we venture to think will be new to the readers of this paper.

Mr. Prevost said that no other country showed its history by means of its stamps as well as France did. The first stamps were the 20c, 40c and 1fc issued 1 January, 1849. The 10c was for what we call drop letters but often used in combination with the 1fc, to make the 1fc 30c rate to the United States. The 15c was used for Paris letters, and a used block of four was shown which is exceedingly rare as very few are known.

The stamps were ordered to be issued on 1 Jan. 1849, but a supply of the 20c were sent to Algiers and he showed a copy dated, 31 Dec., 1848, and said that two other copies were known, so French

PHILLIPS' MONTHLY BULLETIN

24 or More Pages Each Issue---FREE

We make no misleading claims that this is a journal, magazine or paper. It is a house organ issued to sell our goods, but it will contain occasional articles on subjects vital to every collector, and every LIVE collector should have it. Each issue offers more first class stamps, etc., than any other house organ or paper that we have seen, and a host of American collectors welcome every issue and order from it.

This "BULLETIN" has been issued in various forms for over 15 years and is the oldest house organ in America, we believe. Though it costs us several thousand dollars a year to send it out, it is FREE and WILL BE FREE AS LONG AS WE ISSUE IT.

Contents of the February Number

New Issue Notes and Offers, Special Bargain Offers, French Colonial Pictorials, Collections by Countries, Packets, U. S. Offers, Desirable Items, Mexico, British Colonials, Approval Dept., Philatelic Supplies.

The March Issue will be the LARGEST NUMBER YET and contain some live, up-to-the-minute articles on subjects of vital importance such as a warning against fakes in 20th issues, 20th stamps as an investment, etc. Also a host of first-class stamp offers.

stamps must have been issued in Alg before they were in France. The Government ordered a number of dies cancelling the stamps and these were consist of the well known large gr. These were not all ready on January 1 so for about two weeks orders were given to cancel the stamps by means pen and ink and this was to be done that the penstrokes went across stamp on to the cover. Town n were also used occasionally and in cases old obliterations dating from were put into use.

Mr. Prevost showed the circular 3 January, 1849, ordering the obliterations to be the regular grill of 30 diameter but soon after we find another grill 25 mm. diameter had come into use.

On 1 July, 1850, the rate for sub letters was raised to 25c, when the value stamp came into use. The cancellation used on this was the g then a star of dots with a small number and in Paris letters A to M used for the sub-offices, in place of number. In some cases these sub-offices had a sub-office under them, in case a numeral 1 or 2 was added to the letter or letters, thus a cancellation A.S.1 would indicate sub-office No. 1 sub-office station A.S. Our stamps show that after the fall of the first Republic Napoleon III was ambitious and established the Presidency and placed his own head on the stamps of 10c and 20c.

Mr. Prevost then showed a number of Railway Mail cancellations, pointing out that letters such as BELF P indicated use on mail trains Belville to Paris, these are usually found on intermediate values.

With the perforated stamps a system of cancellation was adopted consisting of a lozenge of dots and a number in the centre, and a little on a small number was adopted and these run from number 1 to over 3,700. Numbers over 4,012 were reserved for post-offices in Algiers.

From 1862 a system of Carrier cancellations was adopted. The letter carriers were allowed to pick up letters on their rounds and these had to be obliterated with the letters OR=Rural Origin. Colored cancellations are scarce on early country letters, as few of these local post-offices had colored inks, but in Paris blue and red inks were in many offices and these were occasionally used.

Mr. Prevost drew our attention to a large number of special cancellations, some of considerable rarity, such as:—
C E R—Expeditionary Corps, Rome.
C E R 2—Expeditionary Corps, Rome, and train.
P F—Paid to the Frontier.
During the war in the Crimea some 2 to 15 French Post Offices were opened here and these used the cancellation.
A O—Army of the Orient, followed by a letter from A to M to indicate at which special bureau the letter was posted.

Some high numbers were reserved for French offices in foreign countries. Thus 5,104 was Shanghai, 5,118 Yokohama.

In 1862 the Paris cancellation was changed and Nos. 1 to 39 were adopted, one number for each sub-office. The speaker pointed out that none of these were rare although it was difficult to complete full sets on all the values. After the campaign in Italy Napoleon thought he was entitled to the laurels of victory and so added a wreath on his brow on the stamps of 1863-1870.

A rare cancellation consists of the letters PSC in a lozenge of dots. This was used in the special bureau of the Emperor at the Palais St. Cloud. Some of the Railway cancellations used in 1862-1870 were such as BES. P.—Besancon to Paris, and P. LAR.—Paris La Rochelle.

In the 5½c stamp of 1869 the speaker drew attention to the obliteration PGO for Paris Gare Onest. There were six stations in Paris and each one was distinguished by a separate letter after the PG.

Mr. Prevost drew special attention to the very interesting Bordeaux issues made during the siege of Paris. These were produced in groups of 15 subjects repeated ten times to make up the sheets of 150 stamps. He also drew attention to the variety catalogued by Scott as No. 44B and priced used $1.50 against 15c for the No. 44. Mr. Prevost pointed out that No. 44B comes 11 times in each group of 15 stamps, and that No. 44 only comes four times.

Mr. Prevost showed one volume consisting of the very historical Balloon Letters, used to keep the inhabitants of Paris in touch with the rest of the world during the siege. The Investment of Paris lasted from the 18 September, 1870, to 28 January, 1871. The first balloon was sent off on September 23rd. The stamps used on these letters were the Siege stamps of 10c, 20c and 40c and the Laureated Heads of 10c, 20c, 40c and 80c.

The rate was 20c for 7½ grammes domestic, and 30c to Belgium, France, Switzerland, England, etc. Early in the siege a Journal of the news of Paris was prepared on very thin paper printed on pages 1 and 2 with the fly leaves 3 and 4 left blank for the sender to write his own news. About 19 different Journals were issued, some only put out one number and these are very rare.

These balloon mails had many curious experiences. One balloon landed in Norway and the navigator had to throw overboard a lot of the mail to save himself from sinking in the ocean. The mail was afterwards recovered, in part, and Mr. Prevost showed some of these without stamps which had been floated off.

Mr. Prevost then showed one of his 20 volumes of French cancellations, this consisting entirely of cancellations used on French Mail boats. There were about 100 different boats that carried mail in the Mediterranean service, the name of each of these appears on the cancellation, such as "Ganges," which is not a cancellation used on the river of that name in India. In this collection the Mail boat cancellations are all mounted alphabetically.

Mr. John N. Luff moved a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Prevost which was carried unanimously.

A DEALER EXPERIENCE.

(A boy collector in Canada recently sent J. L. Riedel of Nurnberg, Bavaria, a bank note to the value of 10,000 marks and with it an order for no fewer than nine items from one of his old advertisements. We print Mr. Riedel's comment upon the matter as he writes us.—W. O. W.)

The other day the postman brought me the enclosed order from a collector in Canada which is so funny that I think it will interest the readers of MEKEEL'S. The good fellow apparently has seen an advt. of mine published years ago and he now sends in his order with a 10,000M bill to pay for same. This at a moment when one American cent is worth 42 Billions Papermark!! But the story isn't finished yet. As you will see the envelope was franked with a Canadian 5 cent stamp, instead of 10 cents, so I had to pay a fine of 30 gold pfennigs or 300 billions. I wrote this gentle fellow that I have put the 10,000M on his credit, but before filling his order he would have to send me 29,999,990,000 mark to refund the postage due I had to pay and $10, which is the actual price of the sets ordered.

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE "WEEKLY".

We have on hand a few bound volumes of the WEEKLY, and offer them for sale at very reasonable prices. The years in question are 1902, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909. The price of these books is $2 each and this price is extremely reasonable in view of the high cost of binding in these days. Just to show you what we can do in the way of a handsome, substantial sample volume of the WEEKLY we will send you the year 1907 for $1.50 plus the zone parcel post charges on five pounds. This offer is for immediate acceptance.

EDITORIAL.

The post-office department has just celebrated a "better-mailing week" and postmasters and others have been asked to bring a list of postal suggestions to the attention of the public. In the recommendations, several are noticed that have a direct application to stamps, as for instance, one concerning the use of high denomination stamps, as follows: "Use a single postage stamp whenever possible to pay the postage on a letter or parcel. The use of two or more stamps when one higher denomination stamp would answer the same purpose makes more work for the postal service and increases the cost to the Government in connection with the manufacture of postage stamps." This is a reasonable suggestion and one that stamp collectors will view with approval.
During the war, Australia, for instance, almost made it mandatory that as few stamps as possible be used on mail, in the interest of economy, but it is fair for our government to ask that the advice it now gives be followed, on the score of the saving of time and money.

Recently, we interviewed Mr. Willis
H. Kerr, Librarian of the State Teachers' College of Emporia, Kansas, who gave that New Year's breakfast in Chicago to the librarians who were philatelists as well, during the convention of librarians held in Chicago. Mr.
Kerr said that the breakfast was attended by Mr. J. I. Wyer, director of the New York State Library, Mr. A. S.
Root, librarian of Oberlin College and others who acknowledged the gentle thrall of philately. Not alone does Mr.
Wyer collect but his wife and son do,
also; and the result is a philatelic happy family. Mr. Wyer has a good nineteenth century collection with not a few countries complete; and Mr. Root is a general collector. Mr. Kerr is an unselfish worker in the cause and he is putting in some telling strokes for
it. When the Forum Club at Emporia had its hobby night, Mr. Kerr told in his paper how he began to collect stamps as a boy and at least his story confirmed his own interest in stamps.
Mr. Kerr is untiring in prosecuting his missionary work among the librarians who as a class are particularly acceptable as philatelists and all credit should be given to him for wishing to share a good thing with his fellows. His ex-that we bestir ourselves in this way,

An anonymous reader in San Francisco sends the following news "copied from a California newspaper" that for fantastic statement stands in a class by itself and deserves to be embalmed in moonshine. It reads: "Collectors of the harmless postage stamp who delight to rummage through waste-paper baskets in search of prey are trying to dictate the choice of a presidential candidate and are out to defeat the chances of a prominent possibility because he spoke slightly of these supposedly gentle souls. Scratch a stamp collector and catch a Tartar. A writer claims that he has unearthed this strange conspiracy." This farrago of nonsense is so far-fetched that it cannot be admitted that it is not burlesque. Yet, that the human mind has odd slants is known and there is a suspicion that the creator of the paragraph takes himself seriously. It does not pay to try to be funny as the item was inspired by a jocose reference to H. L. Mencken's platform on which he was to be elected to the presidency, in which he said something about stamp issues when he was president. We bantered him and said that he could never be elected by the philatelic vote. Then one "all brains" editorial writer gravely announced, on the basis of our paragraph, that the stamp collectors were in the saddle; and this statement gave the cue to the balmy scrivener who wrote as aforesaid.

* * *

The importance of philatelic advertising in these mid-season days cannot be stressed too strongly; and it is probable that even the better advertisers do not give the subject the consideration that it deserves. A few observations will be made in the hope that they will lead advertisers to devote more attention to their announcements for which they pay the same price, be they good or bad. It is needless to say that all the advertisements in this number will not bring results to meet the expectations of the advertisers. If we could insure the success of every ad that we carried, soon we could not print a paper large enough to include all the announcements received from clamoring advertisers. It is not pleasant to have to pay for publicity that does not bring in a single reply and on the contrary, the successful ad does not cost more than the resultless one. It is well to advertise but better to advertise well.

We suppose that no one could say beforehand that an ad would pay, but it is certain that the advertiser who studies his ads will fare better than one who does not concentrate on them.
The best way in which to get advertising experience is by advertising but the idea is to shorten the barren, preliminary period of introduction as much as possible. A new advertiser who offers what has been presented many times before by the old advertisers cannot hope to attract much attention. If he would make his announcement noticeable, he will have to make his ad distinctive by reason of the class of goods that he offers, in connection with the prices or by the setting of it in words or otherwise.
To obtain the interest of the reader,
an ad must hold its own in the competition it enters into, in the association with the publicity of the other dealers;
and even then the probabilities are that some time will elapse before it becomes effective. Here, the element of persistence becomes a vital one; and the day is coming when the necessity for continuous advertising will be accepted as a matter of course. As it is, the path of the few times advertiser is becoming very rocky and he should look very carefully before he leaps. While the stamp business is still undeveloped, on the whole, it is not so easy as it once was to achieve a comfortable position in it, and the same conditions apply to philatelic advertising.

* * *

A reader sends a note of warning to the effect that the drinking water in his city is so strongly chlorinated in the determination to remove the fangs from the bacteria that when used for stamp immersion, it has given him several shades. We hope that our correspondent is an imaginative fellow and that his misgivings have no foundation in fact, although it is not to be said that the results he claims are impossible chemically.

In a letter from Mr. Theodore Siddall, Shanghai, China, he says that the local society is doing well; and we quote further: "I am still a cripple but with help to lead me into a rickshaw and pick me out of it, I have been to meetings of the society and have enjoyed them. If an empty shop could be found in town, I would start a stamp shop but I do not believe that there is a empty one in town. Chinese landlords and others, too, are getting as high as three hundred dollars key money, or premium for letting a tenant into place; still, there are lots of new place being built all the time. I never saw a for sale notice on a house or shop in the place. Come out here if you want to go into the real estate business." When the world boom for stamps comes, stamp dealing will take its place among the recognized businesses and the dealer will not have to explain to the puzzled listener that his means of livelihood is well within the border of reason. Hasten the day when one can say that one is a stamp dealer with an air of finality.

—An inquirer asks if anything has been done about organizing a philatelic literature society in this country, such as was discussed some years ago. During the war period, the subject was considered and the idea abandoned; and it has not been revived. At the time, a few of the leading literature collectors spoke in favor of the suggestion and it is possible that the need for a society of the kind will lead to action in time to come.

Rare United States Provisional Envelope

2c on 4c Type III, Scott's No. 2698b and No. 2698c

After the termination of the War, Congress again reduced the local postal rate from the prevailing 3c to the former 2c. This change found the Department with thousands of the 3c envelopes on hand and in order to use these they were overprinted at the larger post-offices by means of a die furnished by the department and used in the regular cancelling machines. Several types exist, they all being well illustrated in the current Scott catalogue.

Some of the 4c on both white and amber were overprinted in the South and received an overprint known as type IV wherein the vertical bars are close together. These are Scott's Nos. 2705-06 and catalogue 35c.

Later, a few of these were found with wide spaced surcharge Scott's No. 2698b and No. 2698c (See Addenda to Catalogue, page 1383) and these scarce varieties are listed at $5.00 each on both white and on amber. I offer while they last, either variety, entire, unused at $3.75 each or the two varieties at $7.50. If you desire, I will include the type IV varieties without extra charge or these two separately at 25c for the two.

UNITED STATES.—Wilson Memorial Stamp—The Postmaster General was almost swamped with letters from all over the country suggesting a Wilson Memorial Stamp as a fitting tribute to a great President but he has decided that the time is not opportune for such an emission. In the first place the Harding stamp has just been issued under similar circumstances and is still current in many of the post-offices. To issue another stamp at this time would detract from the Harding glory and then Mr. Wilson would not receive the honor to which he is entitled in copying something that had just been done. It would not be surprising, however, if a portrait of Wilson should appear on some stamp in the near future.

1923, 12c Part Perforated—Mr. B. K. Miller writes that a postal clerk in a branch Post Office in Milwaukee found a sheet of the current 12c imperforated horizontally. After holding these for several days for any collector who might be interested he sold them in the regular course of business. This means that the 10c, the 2c and now the 12c have recently come out of the Bureau in a part perforated condition and collectors should watch their post-offices carefully for such varieties. We should be glad to receive early information of any such varieties located.

Government Framed Exhibition—The framed exhibition of postage stamps which was awarded a special prize at the International Philatelic Exhibition held last year in London, has now started on its second trip around the country. It has been exhibited at several of the New Jersey post-offices, will pass to Louisville, Kansas City and then back to Washington after going to the Pacific Coast. It will reach Washington around July 1st and it is expected that its third trip will be through the Southern States. It is hoped that before the exhibition takes its permanent resting place in Washington that it will have been exhibited in every city of any size in the country.

Aquatone Method of Stamp Production—In my notes of last week, reference was made to a new method proposed for producing stamps and securities turned out by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing. I now have before me the testimony of Mr. L. A. Hill, former Director, before the subcommittee of House Committee on Appropriation. Mr. Hill testified that during the last twenty-three or twenty-four years there have been great developments in the art of photo-reproduction and that as a result counterfeits of American securities by this method are becoming more perfect from year to year. During this time only one or two hand engraved certificates have made their appearance, but because of the perfection being reached by the photo-reproduction method, good counterfeits of our notes are being circulated.

It seems that the Aquatone Corporation of New York are owners of a patent for a method of making photo-lithographic printing plates and it has been found by experiment at the Bureau that their method is more perfect than any that has ever come to the attention of the Bureau experts. It is an absolute reproduction of our steel plate engraving. The use of this patent has been offered the Department without charge and Mr. Hill exhibited to the subcommittee prints to show the possibilities to be derived from the use of this special method. He made up a dummy security representing a portrait, geometric lathe work and ornamental work in general. From this he made a plate in the usual way and then made a second plate by the Aquatone method. He called their attention to the fact that this reproduction is our present highly developed counterfeit. It is so good and so precise that it is a terrible menace to our securities. He then showed the subcommittee a counterfeit of the Aquatone print which was so perfect that anyone could detect it. In other words, they have the ability to truly reproduce plate printed securities, but the is an element of security in the Aquatone print that prevents its reproduction in a satisfactory manner. It seems that this method which does not require the wetting of the paper will save the Bureau just about 75% of its present cost. Mr. Hill proposes its adoption the Bureau stating that the process is absolute. It produces excellent results and it is a better security than the plate printing process now being used.

Further on in his testimony regarding appropriation for the coming year makes several statements of interest to the philatelist. On page 293 of the report he advises that, "Our work is done on wet paper—that is, the plate printing—and the wetting of the paper is the one serious obstacle we have in our process. The paper is drawn from the division of paper custody, after which it is wet, and it expands and shrinks. It is passed from the wetting division to the printing. The wetting division costs around $220,000 a year for employment, and is but one of the functions that would be eliminated."

This special method proposed is practically been developed within the last eighteen months. Mr. Hill's testimony further shows that the Post Office Department is paying the Bureau 8c per M. for flat work, 0.053 cents for rotary press work and 0.0605 cents for precancelled work. During the six months ending December 31, 1923, around six billion stamps were produced by the flat bed method, about three and one-half million cancelled.

IN LAST WEEK'S "MEKEEL'S"

I told those correspondents who have asked for selections and whose orders I have been unable to fill because my MEKEEL'S advertising pulled so strongly that it brought more customers than I had stamps for what the situation was. I hope that my apologies to those I have been unable to reply to have been accepted in good spirit. Some time in the future when I have more stamps to send out, I will reply to those who have not yet heard from me. I will repeat that I am not a dealer and therefore have not the time for so much correspondence as came to me because of the wonderful pulling power of MEKEEL'S.

Mr. Hill explains why more of the stamps for general use in the post-offices are not produced by the rotary press. He states that they curl up and this is because the stamps are wound on a spool after they leave the drying oven for drying the gumming. They are then unrolled from the spools, cut up in sheets of four hundred subjects and pressed in hydraulic press to flatten them. They are flat when they are sent out from the Bureau, but after lying on the post-office shelves for a while there is a tendency to resume the curl they had while in the spool. This he states they cannot top. It is interesting to learn that during the six months above specified, nearly three hundred thousand pounds of dex-trine was used for making the gum. This now costs 8.43 cents per pound against 7c per pound in 1923. The paper used in postage stamps has advanced from 6.37 to 7.97 cents per pound.

We wish to thank Messrs. LeRoy Thomson, Frank E. Robbins, C. W. Haynes, R. H. Mower and Dr. L. L. Myers for information of interest.

Shanghai—The Philatelic Stamp Agency discontinued the sale of the Shanghai stamps on December 1st as we had previously advised, although they continued to fill orders received before that date some weeks after. I learn that the supply of the $1 on 50c and the $2.00 on $1.00 was far less than the demand and that these denominations became exhausted some time before December 1st. As the records show that the issue was not large, these varieties should prove very good property.

AZORES.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal reports the appearance of a 50c orange yellow, Ceres type, perf. 12x11½.

BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin informs us that the 3d value inscribed "Postage and Revenue" and printed on yellow paper has had only a very short life, having been issued about May of last year. They are officially informed that the stock of this stamp was exhausted sometime before the blue stamps arrived in the Protectorate and the yellow paper variety is likely to be an elusive stamp.

GRENADA.—Stamp Collecting announces that new printings of the 1d brown and 1½d black postage due are on order and will soon be forwarded.

POLAND.—Mr. D. L. Hardy has shown us the 5mk brown with the surcharge "100,000" across the centre of the stamp and "M K" in the upper corners. The overprint is in black.—Stamp Collecting.

NETHERLANDS.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin reports that the Charity stamps issued December 15, 1923, were on sale only one month having been withdrawn Jan. 15th last and they are informed that the remainders will be destroyed.

POLAND.—We have received from Messrs. Bright & Son the following information:—

"We have today received from Poland 5 new denominations. These are all of the usual large Eagle type, except that a value tablet now runs right along the bottom of the stamp, and the centre bearing the Eagle has been raised closer to the top. The denominations are:

- 20,000 marks olive.
- 30,000 marks rose carmine.
- 50,000 marks yellow green.
- 100,000 marks orange brown.
- 200,000 marks turquoise blue.

Our correspondent informs us that the three lowest values have been issued too late, and are therefore not on general sale at the post-offices, i.e. to say that the postage rates have advanced so high that these stamps are of too low a denomination to be of any use or to have any demand.

In addition, there has been issued 30,000 and 100,000 marks Unpaid letter stamp in the large format. On the sheet of 20,000 olive in front of us, we find numbers 46, 77 and 100 on the sheet have an extra full stop after the 20,000, No. 83 in the sheet has an extra full stop just in front of the M of MK."

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—Stamps of a new design are being issued for Angola, Cape Verde, Portuguese Guinea, Mozambique and St. Thome and Principe, the denominations in each set consisting of the following:—¼, ½, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 15, 20, 24, 25, 30, 40, 50, 60, 80 centavos, 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 escudos.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

TURKEY.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal chronicles a set of eight values of a Peace Commemorative issue. They show a likeness of Kemal Pasha at the right with a view of Sakharia in the centre and left. The perforation is 12 and values and colors as follows: 1½pi for an investment, you go to your banker or to some reliable investment broker, and pick out these issues with great care. If I could only induce the investors in stamps to be as careful, I am sure they would turn to good old U. S. GERMANY ISSUES CHARITY STAMPS.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—Charity stamps are being issued by the ministry of post to help finance the feeding of the poor. These stamps will be sold at twice their value and will be issued in denominations of 5, 10, 20 and 50 gold pfennings. "Deutsche Nothilfe" (German relief) will be printed across the face of the stamps.

J. L. Riedel writes us as follows:—"The above notice in your issue for January is very interesting. It is the first time I heard of these stamps. Let me say at once that they have not and will not be issued. Germany has not issued any new stamps since December 1st (a record!) and very likely will not do so for awhile."

TORONTO CLUB TO HOLD DINNER.

On Thursday, March 20, 1924, at 7.30 P. M., the Toronto Stamp Collectors Club will hold its first annual dinner at the Hotel Elliot, Church and Shuter Streets, at which Postmaster W. E. Lemon, of Toronto, will be the guest of honor and the speaker of the evening. The Canadian Philatelic Society is co-operating.

On this auspicious occasion an "open door" policy will prevail, and an invitation is extended to collectors everywhere to be present. A limited number of tickets are available for non-members at a special rate of seventy-five cents. These can be obtained from the Secretary, Mr. F. R. Saunders, 116 Concord Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, or by telephoning Kenwood O992W. Come and bring a friend. It is the desire of the Executive that each and every member should be present.

This society, since its organization, less than six months ago, has progressed very rapidly and it is debatable if any club in a city of Toronto's size can boast a better record. To date it has over forty active members with a number of applications under consideration and an unlimited number of prospects. It is now apparent that the membership quota set for this season will be exceeded, for during this time there has been but one resignation. Auctions, Displays, and talks on stamps are given and undoubtedly these are a vital factor in the success of the organization.

It was recently decided to establish a Sales Department, and members are invited to submit selections for circulation among all members. The usual conditions prevail, and particularly so in regard to the quality of the stamps submitted; no "junk" will be tolerated. Fair prices will move your stamps. This department is under the efficient management of the Secretary-Treasurer, to whom all communications should be addressed.

At the last Executive meeting of the Club a number of appointments were made: Mr. I. C. Stickells assumed duties of Librarian, Mr. B. A. Turner the role of auctioneer, and by Mr. William Butler, the duties of Public Manager. A publicity fund to be used at the discretion of the latter officer was also established. It was with regret that the resignation of Mr. Gordon Crouch from the presidency was accepted, and as the constitution provided for such an emergency, Mr. I. C. Stickells was selected to fill this important position in succession to Mr. Crouch, who, fortunately, retains his membership in the club.

The Club will be pleased to receive price lists, specimen copies of philatelic journals and other stamp matter as well as to enter into correspondence with other societies for the exchange of ideas and suggestions, and to discuss "missionary" and publicity work, or any phase of our hobby. Address all communications to the Secretary, Mr. F. R. Saunders, 116 Concord Avenue, Toronto, Canada.

Local collectors are invited to affiliate and visitors will be welcome at all times. The Club has its headquarters at the Empress Hotel, 337 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ontario, where meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays each month at 8.15 P. M. Send in your application before you forget.

NEW CANAL ZONE STAMPS

Emil J. Rall submits the new Canal Zone stamp which has just appeared surcharged upon the new Panama. The other denominations of the Canal Zone set, 1, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 50c, have not yet been received at the Canal Zone post-offices, though they may be expected within the near future. The new issue of the Panama stamps is yet on sale at the Panama post-offices. The usual denominations of eleven varieties from 1/2c to 50c will be issued and the colors will be the same as of the preceding issue.

Reverse Auction Sale

About four years ago I decided to break up my general collection of nearly 45,000 varieties and started selling stamps largely as a pastime, with the desire to form pleasant acquaintances among collectors and save them some money on their stamp purchases. I believe I have succeeded in both desires.

Now, pressure of other matters is forcing me to devote less time to stamps and I wish to close out my stock embracing stamps up to $500 catalogue value, AT LESS THAN AUCTION PRICES. I have no U. S. except some cancellations on the 1, 2 and 3 cent stamps prior to 1890, and a few cut squares, all unused and very fine.

This Is An Opportunity To Buy Stamps Cheap

I have no printed lists, but if you are interested in buying for less than you thought possible and are not afraid to state definitely what you want, I will tell you what I can offer either in better grade of singles, the entire country as a lot, or all the stamps I have of such country, as a lot. To those known to me or giving Commercial References, I will submit on approval, with my lowest bid, which I believe will surprise you.

GOSSIP OF THE MONTH.

By CORNELIUS WRINKLE.

The Wonderful Year.—Here's to the year that's awa! So far as philately is concerned, it has been one of outstanding achievement and progress. It has consolidated the enlargement of the stamp-collecting world that developed out of the War, the Armistice, and the Conquest of the Air. The year has marked great strides in philatelic knowledge, all the greater in that they make clear how vast a field is yet untitled by the stampic student. The London Exhibition—wonderful as it was from the point of view of new research—made it abundantly plain that there are more things to learn of stamps than were dreamt of in the Philately of a decade ago. So far as the specialistic study of stamps is concerned, it would be a foolish prophet who attempted to set a limit to its possibilities.

In the Public Mind.—The year has marked a distinct advance in the public acceptance—not merely toleration—of Philately as something more than an epidemic of the collecting instinct. At a time when news of our pursuit was carried into every nook and corner of our land, and to many places overseas, the voice of the shallow innocents of Grub Street got no hearing; the newspaper press of today pays heed to the need for presenting technical subjects to its readers under informed and indeed expert guidance. In May the imagination of the public was first quickened by the stories of the famous rarities, but of those who came to see the famous scraps of paper, and marvel at them, not a few stayed to appreciate the charm and variety there is in the democracy of stamps.

The Stamp Birth-Rate in 1923.—The past year has been a remarkably prolific one in respect to the birth-rate of new stamps. The dying agonies of the paper mark in Germany generated a prolific litter of provisionals, more indeed in one year than the stable government of the Empire produced during its whole existence. Now that Germany has introduced the new mark, there will doubtless be an aftermath of stamps in the new currency to keep THE POSTAGE STAMP new issue chronicler busy. Collectors who see no further than their proboscides seem ever prone to suggest that Germany's exceptional output of new stamps is designed to extract easy money from collectors, but in reality the instability of her stamp issues is the natural reflection of the instability of the country, and especially of its currency.

The Panorama of the Nations.—In a broadly general way the stamp issues of the past twelve months have kept in close touch with national and international events. The Rhein-Ruhr, the Lithuanian coup in Memel, the Italian surprise at Corfu, the Fascisti movement, the Pasteur celebration, the Queen Wilhelmina's silver jubilee, the death of a great American President, the Lausanne Treaty, the unrest in China, the earthquake in Japan, the advance of Labour in world politics, the troubles in Greece—all have left their impress on the pages of our stamp albums, and have provided fresh examples of the way in which Philately "illuminates the development of nations and of art."

Coming Events for 1924.—Enough of the year that has gone. We look forward to a busy year in organized Philately in 1924. Among the big events will be the Belgian Exhibition (May 24th to June 1st), the Glasgow Congress (June 3rd to June 6th), the Dutch Exhibition (September 6th to September 17th), the Christiania Exhibition (September 19th to September 28th), and the proposed Stockholm Exhibition, the date of which has not yet been announced. By the way, the prospectus of the exhibition in Holland has been issued, and an English translation is being prepared. Our Editor, Mr. Fred J. Melville, has consented to be the official representative in Britain (Commissaire-Général, they call it) for this exhibition at The Hague, and will be pleased to assist intending exhibitors for either The Hague or the Christiania exhibitions with information and advice. Mr. A. de Worms is "Commissaire-Général" for the Brussels Exhibition.

The Good Work Goes On.—The influence of the Exhibition—the measure of its success in some respects is yet to be disclosed—will extend throughout the coming year and for a long time to come. It has quickened societies abroad to follow with a succession of international Philatelic Exhibitions. There are lively preparations now afoot for four such exhibitions on the Continent during 1924. France and the United States have shows in contemplation for following years, and the experience of London as the first great after-the-war exhibition will doubtless prove invaluable to all the organisers of these new enterprises, to which THE POSTAGE STAMP extends its heartiest and sincerest wishes for their triumphant fruition.

Our One New Stamp.—By comparison with Germany, Great Britain—in spite of the grouse and pessimists—appears to be going along pretty well; we only required one new stamp in the year, and that was a postage due. The British Empire, however, has contributed a substantial quota to the stamps of 1923 with a multitude of script watermarks, and interesting new issues from Ireland, Iraq, Newfoundland, South-West Africa, Kuwait, St. Kitts-Nevis, etc. New Zealand has pointed the way to the Mother Country and the other dominions back to Penny Postage. Malta has now her self-government, and Egypt is rejoicing in her independence, and presents on the stamps of 1923 a photographic likeness of her King.

ESTABLISHED SINCE 1903 IN LONDON. [2nd]

The Literary Year.—I have not compiled any statistics, but I hazard the opinion that the year has been the most prolific in the matter of new publications in connection with Philately. Nothing, to my mind, is a surer index to the progress and stability of a cult than the volume and quality of its literary output. The numerous books of the year have been fairly evenly divided between the provision for the information of the advanced, the medium and the new collector, so that at each stage in the Philatelist's Progress there has been felt the stimulus of the printed record and literary aspiration.

The Book for the Boys.—"The Boys' Own Guide to Stamp Collecting," with its attractive coloured cover and its breezy advice to the novice, found a ready sale during the weeks preceding Christmas. If you know a youngster embarking upon his first steps in Philately, you can, at the trifling cost of one shilling, put him on the right track by giving him a copy of this useful little book. It can be had from the Publishers, 26, Plumstead High Street, S.E. 18, from most booksellers and stamp dealers, and from any of Messrs. W. H. Smith and Sons' bookstalls.

Corfu.—Those Corfu stamps reminiscent of Signor Mussolini's rigorous attitude to Greece a few months ago, have never come our way, but I understand that eight values in the current Italian set (5, 10, 15, 20, 30, 50, 60c, and 1 lira) were overprinted CORFU for use during the short spell when this Ionian island was seized pending the settlement of the Græco-Italian crisis.—Postage Stamp.

CHARLES M. AMS, GAMBIA SPECIALIST.

By WILLARD O. WYLIE.

We are pleased to present this week the likeness of Charles M. Ams, specialist in the stamps of Gambia and a resident of New York City. He is what may be termed a "philatelic hermit" and although he has collected stamps since his boyhood it was only recently that he joined the Collectors Club of New York. During his stamp collecting days he has not come in contact with fellow collectors.

Mr. Ams was born in New York City, in 1867, and began collecting during his school days, pursuing the hobby with the zest and enthusiasm of which a school-boy is capable. When he entered business as is natural his collecting activities were suspended for several years. When, however, he resumed his interest he was qualified to enter the ranks of the more serious collectors, with the result that he accumulated an extensive collection of British Colonials, mostly mint specimens. This collection was sold at public auction to good advantage.

A few more years of activity then ensued, during which Mr. Ams realized that philately was too big a field from the international standpoint for an active business man, and he finally concluded to specialize in a little country to which he was always more or less devoted, namely, Gambia.

Mr. Ams now specializes in that country exclusively and his collection is as representative as any in America, containing full sheets of the 1874 Crown CC 4d brown and 6d blue, also a full sheet of the 1880 1sh green, besides blocks and almost innumerable specimens of the early issues all in superb condition. He has practically everything obtainable in this country and he is now concentrating on cancellations as evidenced by his recent advertisements in the WEEKLY. Some day when he has sufficient material available he proposes to write a monograph on this interesting little country, Gambia.

In a recent letter to us Mr. Ams says:—"I never miss an opportunity of spreading the gospel of philately and am glad to encourage boys and girls to take up stamp collecting whenever possible. I take this opportunity of commending your WEEKLY, which I consider the peer of all stamp papers and it is surprising how much can be said about a hobby fifty-two times a year. I was impelled to become a member of your Honor Club with a five years' renewal of subscription when I realized how much you give for so little money."

NEWS FROM THE SOUTHLAND.

By ARTHUR W. VAN PELT.

Away down here in Louisiana's southernmost city, so near the Gulf of Mexico that the salt breezes fan us the year round and oysters, shrimp and furs are our principal products, philately has a firm hold and its followers have turned up a few items so typical of the country as to, perhaps, prove interesting.

This is a country of waterways. Settled by the Acadians a hundred years or more ago (see Longfellow's "Evangeline"), railroads were slow in coming, highways still slower and the waterways, up to some twenty years ago were the highways and the by-ways of commerce and travel. The packet boat with its twin stacks, shallow draft, great carrying capacity and comfortable living quarters were used for all travel purposes as well as the carrying of mail. Letters were mailed on board the boat and apparently cancelled by the clerk or purser. An evidence of this is a two-cent brown red, of the issue of 1883, bearing the rubber stamp cancellation:—"Lafourche Packet Company LeBlanc, Master," and part of other words not legible.

I have not seen this cancellation reported before but learn that the Lafourche Packet Company was one of the big companies during the '80's and early '90's, operating on the Mississippi River and into the Bayou Lafourche probably as far South as Lockport. It operated the packets Assumption and Belle of the Coast, among others and among the masters were Aucoin, LeBlanc and Delahoussae. I should like to hear if cancellations from any of the above have been recorded.

The City of Houma is situated in Terrebonne Parish. Bayou Black runs westward from Houma toward Morgan City and the little village of Gibson stands on both banks of Bayou Black about twenty-two miles west of Houma. As a village it is not notable but it has a history. This village formerly bore the name of Tigerville, given it years ago by the fact that "tigers" or panthers were numerous there. Recently I came across a cover bearing a one-cent stamp of the vintage of 1857, type four, re-cut at top and bottom, addressed to a person at Tigerville, La. In those days Tigerville was a sea-port and a port of entry where great ships entered to load sugar, lumber, cotton and rice and cleared for the ports of the seven seas. Today the Old Spanish Trail Highway winds through the old village, following the banks of the beautiful old bayou, now a link of the famous Intra-Coastal Canal and modern progress intrudes upon the romance and the memories of a bygone day and new progress and new commerce calls to mind the scenes of long ago.

I recently came across a pair of the cent '51's showing a strong double transfer in the left upper rosette in the hand stamp and a trace of a line through the "Three" of Three Cents and showing the "gash on shoulder" in the stamps.

A cancellation that I have not listed nor reported is a beautiful "HUDSON" across the face of a blue one-cent '61. The cancellation in wide Gothic sans serif type, the letters being 4mm high. I am not familiar with the type and would like to know if it is Steamer or Rail cancellation. No other cancellation appears on the stamp.

It has only recently been reported that a double transfer exists in the Hudson issue. On looking over copies from

Your U. S. Want List

Even though you have tried one firm after another in the endeavor to fill with bright acceptable copies some of those vacant spaces do not give up. This firm has a stock of 19th century United States stamps that is just as carefully balanced as the inventory of a first-class grocery. If a grocer runs low on sugar he does not offer you coffee as a substitute but puts in a hurry call for an express shipment; if we run low on 5c '47s we get busy and buy more. We like to handle superb items, but, just as the grocer has several grades of coffee, so we recognize at least three standards of condition, good, fine, superb. We seldom have Reissues or great rarities, but can generally show the general collector or the specialist things he is glad to get. Anything on approval, of course, against satisfactory trade references.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—From the old-time philatelic publisher, Shirley E. Moisant of Kankakee, Illinois, we have received an invitation to attend the mid-year meeting of the Illinois Association of Insurance Agents, on March 7, 1924, in Chicago. Mr. Moisant is secretary of the association.

—From Mr. Karl Koslowski, Detroit, Michigan, we have received the following letter: "In the issue of February 25th, on page 115, Mr. C. C. Fisher reports a three cent of 1861, double perforation showing at top and bottom. I believe double perforations to have been a common occurrence as I have many a page in my album with doubly perforated stamps, top and bottom and also at both sides, three cent of 1857-60 as well as the three cent of 1861. When it comes to the double perforations on one side, the stamps with them are legion. I have even split pairs to obtain one copy showing four lines of perforations, either horizontally or vertically. Next."

—A copy of the two cent Harding, precancelled Chicago, is sent in by Mr. Gordon S. Dills, Garrett, Indiana, who writes: "This came in on some of the factory mail about two months ago, or perhaps, longer. I did not notice at the time on what firm's, as I supposed Chicago precancelled Hardings would be common." This information comes in the face of the statement of an editorial in the issue of February 25th, saying that the Chicago office refused a large corporation's request for precancelled Harding stamps.

—From Mr. A. H. Pike, the postmark student, we received a postal card with "leap year date," February 29, 1924, as a souvenir.

—An English advertiser offers "awkward to get" stamps, thereby refining the usual "hard to get" description.

—L. J. Granie sending us one of the new 2c Canal Zone stamps states that no more of the centenary issue are to be had, and a new issue for the Canal Zone will probably be out in April.

—H. F. Colman, the well-known Washington dealer, would like to have the name supplied upon an order which he has received from Ridgefield, Conn. Will the interested party please communicate with Mr. Colman?

—An interesting item is at hand through the kindness of A. H. Pike. It consists of a re-valued 2c Binghamton print post-card, bearing postmark of Feb. 29 and mailed from the small post-office known as Bible School Park, N. Y.

—T. Allen is advertising this week a discovery in 20th Century Rhodesia of more than ordinary interest. It consists of the one pound 1910, carmine and purple, printed in the color of the 10d stamp. Only one hundred are said to exist.

—H. H. Coburn of Indianapolis, Ind., favors this office with a cover upon which is a 2c Pilgrim bearing a very neat leapyear cancellation.

—LeRoy Thomson submits for our inspection a Harding 2c bi-sected diagonally and used as a 1c stamp. It bears the cancellation Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 17, 1924, and was used by the Daily Pantagraph of that city. We have no knowledge of the circumstances under which this provisional was issued. It is an interesting variety.

—R. R. Yates, of Joliet, Ill., refutes the statement contained in a recent WEEKLY that Chicago has not issued any precancelled Harding stamps by submitting for our inspection a pair which is tangible evidence of the incorrectness of our statement.

—As an example of guarded expression of opinion, the prize of a worsted pair of wristlets is awarded to the philatelic writer who says that "it is not easy to complete a general collection of stamps."

—A dealer writes: "When I started in business about 1900, one of my young customers told of an alleged marvelous collection that he expected to buy from a friend for a bargain price, when he got ready to sell. The other day, he was in again after a lapse of many years and said the same thing. What is it that springs eternal in the human breast? Some of those philatelic conversationalists are hopeful chaps."

—A question comes from Mr. Frank P. Spencer: "How are die proofs told from plate proofs?" Assuming that Mr. Spencer knows that a die proof is made from a single engraving on a block of steel and the plate proofs from a plate of say one hundred subjects, it is to be said that the die proof may be identified as a rule by the ample margins surrounding the impression, while the plate proofs have only the margins common to the usual sheet of stamps. The die proof is preferred to the plate proof for obvious reasons even though the same degree of care marked the printing of both examples.

—A subscriber suggests that all dealers make use of Scott's valuations in connection with the quoting of net prices. No doubt many of our readers do not possess a 1924 catalog, hence this reasonable suggestion.

—On Wednesday, Feb. 27, an official trial air-mail service between Santa Rosa and San Francisco, Cal., was successfully executed. We are indebted to Stanley Hosmer of Santa Rosa for a clipping giving the particulars of the trial and as well for a cover despatched by air-mail. The words "Air Mail Service" are rubber-stamped in the upper right-hand corner directly over the stamp. It makes an interesting cover.

—The following cancellation is appearing in the mails from various sources and we thank the subscribers who have favored us with specimens:—"Let's Go! Citizens Military Training Camp."

—P. J. Drossos informs us that Greece is about to issue two values of Lord Byron centenary stamps. The values will be 80 lepta for inland postage and 2 drachmas for foreign postage, and they will appear about April 19. They will be in use for about two months.

—Dealers are advised not to stock up too strongly on the British Colonial issues now being offered by British dealers at face value. The offer is an enticing one, but the stock may be dead stock for a number of years with the competition that must result from the purchase of these stamps. A limited quantity will be sufficient.

—Lot No. 743, Nova Scotia 1860-63, 8½c, No. 11, fine vertical pair on cover, Halifax to Holland via London, catalogues normally $5, was started by me in the room at $33, $1 over my next highest bid and I also had a mail bid of $51 from a Springfield man who had inspected the lot, but after spirited room competition it finally was sold to a N. Y. collector for $89 approximately 18 times catalogue.—M. OHLMAN.

CHINESE ART COLLECTOR AT 75.

Jew Gee, 75, faced Police Judge Hugh J. Crawford, charged with vagrancy.

The aged Chinaman had 25 pounds of newspapers, $175 worth of Chinese "checks," bits of broken colored glass, eight pairs of horn-rimmed nose glasses, some smoked glasses, a quantity of rusty nails and other nondescript and useless junk in his possession when arrested, according to Police Officers Seeger and Armstrong.

"What! You have arrested a collector of art?" asked Judge Crawford.

Silence from the officers.

"Why, many cultured persons collect old coins, butterflies, postage stamps, or

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB

C. O. Granstrand, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.
Frederic de Puy, Boston, Mass.
Dr. Rees Philpott, Delaware, Ohio.

Our first applicant for membership in the Honor Club this week is C. O. Granstrand of 428 Dunham Ave., Mt. Vernon, N. Y. We take pleasure in adding his name to our list.

Hansen & Taite of Delaware, Ohio, send in the application of Dr. Rees Philpott, of that city for membership in the Five-Year Honor Club. Mr. Taite makes the remittance is a member of the A. S. D. A. and also the A. P. S. and the S. P. A. He speaks in a eulogistic manner of Dr. Philpott's activities and affirms that the WEEKLY regarded very highly in his locality.

Frederic de Puy, sending in his application for membership in the Honor Club, writes us as follows:—"I cannot equal the record of some of your old subscribers, but I have been taking the WEEKLY over twenty years and have been collecting for about thirty-four, wish emphatically to endorse the remarks of Dr. Hubert Lyman Clark on others regarding the proposed special stamp for the Philadelphia Exhibition. The idea seems to me perfectly absurd. We might as well have special stamps for every gathering of every society or organization in the country." This certainly a very debatable question, but the WEEKLY is a forum in which such matters may be discussed.

THE MANAGING EDITOR

PHILLIPS' MONTHLY BULLETIN

24 or More Pages Each Issue---FREE

We make no misleading claims that this is a journal, magazine or paper. It is a house organ issued to sell our goods, but it will contain occasional articles on subjects vital to every collector, and every LIVE collector should have it. Each issue offers more first class stamps, etc., than any other house organ or paper that we have seen, and a host of American collectors welcome every issue and order from it.

This "BULLETIN" has been issued in various forms for over 15 years and is the oldest house organ in America, we believe. Though it costs us several thousand dollars a year to send it out, it is FREE and WILL BE FREE AS LONG AS WE ISSUE IT.

Contents of the February Number

New Issue Notes and Offers, Special Bargain Offers, French Colonial Pictorials, Collections by Countries, Packets, U. S. Offers, Desirable Items, Mexico, British Colonials, Approval Dept., Philatelic Supplies.

The March Issue will be the LARGEST NUMBER YET and contain some live, up-to-the-minute articles on subjects of vital importance such as a warning against fakes in 20th issues, 20th stamps as an investment, etc. Also a host of first-class stamp offers.

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO., 7 WEST 42 STREET, NEW YORK CITY

TWO THINGS I WISH TO SAY.

By A. N. CAUDELL.

(1.) A stamp for the coming exhibition has much to commend it and not very much to condemn it. The advertising of our hobby is sufficient to warrant our asking the issue and the loss to Philately of those who rebel so hard at such an issue as to stop collecting will not be severe I am sure. An issue of this nature is in no ways to be compared to the flood of issues of many European nations that did cause a serious lessening of the number of collectors of those stamps. Nor would it be comparable with the somewhat questionable issue of imperforate Harding stamps, that is, unless they issue the proposed exhibition stamp in all sorts of perforations, etc. Still I can see no especial objection to having both perforated and imperforate stamps of such low valued stamps, so long as they are real issues. This brings me to the second matter, which is:

(2.) Cluttering the regular catalogue up with rare errors of which but few collectors may hope to possess a copy, such as Scott's Nos. 319d, 324a; 522a, etc. The special catalogue is the place for such. The discovery of a block or so of the present 2c imperf. one way will add a subnumber to our catalogue, and few can get a copy. Errors have no real place in the general catalogue.

A SPECULATIVE CALCULATION.

By ALBERT W. DRAVES (a la Babson).

As umpire, referee and score-keeper for a weekly game being played at our house by three youthful stamp enthusiasts, I respectfully submit a statistical tabulation which may prove of as much interest and speculative calculation to your readers as it does to me. I have now reached the stage where I don't woolsock and issue opinions vide Scott,

Harold J. Fister, secretary of the Allentown Philatelic Society, sends us a subscription in behalf of the local Society for the Allentown Public Library. We trust other societies will do the same. Mr. Fister feels very keenly the lack of wisdom in attempting a 1926 commemorative stamp. He believes that such stamps cheapen the estimation in which philately should be held, thus detracting from the high ideals of true philately. This is a question upon which there is bound to be a marked division of sentiment.

You can perform a useful service to local philately by placing the WEEKLY in your public library for the coming year. Why not add to this list your town or city? The example you set may be followed by scores of others.

EDITORIAL.

Collectors know that one of the oldest abuses that they have had to contend against is the removal of stamps from mail in transit by a postal clerk, here and there. From time to time, nowadays, but not so frequently as in years past, a reader complains about the loss of stamps from his mail; and our custom has been to advise that the department at Washington be notified of the overt acts. That the third assistant postmaster-general has not remained passive in his treatment of cases that have been brought to his notice was apparent from his warning in an order dated June 7, 1923, that read as follows:—

"The department is advised that postage stamps have been removed from letters and other mail, domestic and foreign, apparently by postal employees interested in philatelic work, etc.

"Postage stamps are affixed to mail as evidence that the proper postage has been paid, and postal employees should be aware of the fact that when mail reaches its destination without evidence of prepayment of postage deficiency is collected from the addressee, thus in many cases leading to complaints against the Postal Service. In addition, the removing of postage stamps from mail constitutes a violation of the law embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations.

"Postal employees are therefore cautioned against removing postage stamps from any class of mail, whether domestic or foreign."

Under date of February 29, 1924, the Hon. W. Irving Glover says: "Complaints from the public regarding the removal of postage stamps from mail matter, particularly of foreign origin, while in the custody of the Postal Service, are increasing rather than decreas-ing and the department cannot satisfactorily explain this irregularity to complainants. Postmasters are therefore requested to take vigorous action in every possible way to prevent the removal of stamps from mail matter." It is irritating to find letters, foreign or domestic, denuded of certain stamps, when received by the collector. The fact that, as a rule, only desirable high values and novelties are taken aggra-vates the offense, which, in plain words, is theft. That the department is aware of the pernicious practice and alive to its seriousness is an indication that it will exert its influence to check the impositions. It is the duty of our readers to report any instances of loss immediately to the authorities in order that the trail to the culprit may be run down while warm. Here we take the following paragraph from Stamp Collecting as opportune: "A report made by a postmaster concerning a foreign stamp from which the stamp was missing concluded with the following words: 'The postman is not a philatelist, being honest and reliable.'"

Not a few collectors have interested themselves in getting a number of Feb.
 29th postmarks. Mr. George B. Gould, of Bangor, Maine, has a birthday on February 29th and he celebrates his natal day by receiving an assortment of February 29th postmarks from friends, every fourth year.

In that somewhat sober work, "Responsible Government in the Dominions," in three volumes, Oxford, 1912, by Keith, a reference is found to the famous "O'Connell stamp," on page 1187 of the third volume, as follows: "A minister of New Brunswick who placed his own head on a stamp issue was compelled to resign and the issue was recalled in 1861. (See Hannay's New Brunswick, Vol. II, p. 194.) This is, of course, a less solecism than placing a wrong effigy on coins for the ars cudenti has been since classical times, a sovereign right, while stamps have a humble origin." Though disguised as "O'Connell" our hero Connell is easily recognized in the foregoing observation and while it is pointed out that the solecism that he made was a minor one, Connell must have thought from the consequence of his act that he had done something to shock the world. Then the origin of stamps is not so excruciatingly humble;
 in fact, we have been known to boast of the circumstances of their origin. Now, see how tactfully a philatelic historian tells of the Connell episode: "Mr. Connell, the postmaster at this date, apparently thought that his portrait would be a satisfactory exchange for Queen Victoria's but the officials did not agree with him and Mr. Connell resigned. The stamp was never issued and the stock destroyed."

On the subject of the proposed Philadelphia stamp, Mr. P. W. Sayers writes: "I must take your side against my friend, Mr. McCarthy, who would have you think that it would cheapen the U. S. to have it issue a stamp in recognition of philately, whose followers constitute themselves an unofficial arm of the post-office department, unselfishly and enthusiastically. The fact is the present discussion merely shows the clash of the old and the new. Tradition is all right and may be respected but the collectors who know philately only as it is are puzzled that there could be any objection to a stamp tribute. Commemoratives have been issued and will continue to be and the question resolves itself into the simple one of whether we as well as other folks will ask for a seat at the table. If a vote were taken of all philatelists on the question, you would find that the opponents would come from the ranks of the older collectors, as a rule." Mr. Sayers must admit that the older collectors should have a voice in the discussion and we are not willing to say that all the collectors who are not in favor of the proposed drive are reactionary and living in the past.

 Some of the letters that we have received give that surmise its quietus.

* * *

That the old globe is whirling around on its axis is evident to us by the receipt of the following inquiry from Mr.
 H. O. Marlett, who is writing a philatelic story for the paper in his home town:
 "Is the Crawford collection still in existence or was it dismantled after the owner's death?" It seems but a short time ago since we got a cablegram from Mr. John Klemann from England, saying that he had bought on behalf of his firm, the Nassau Stamp Company, the collection of U. S. that had been made by Alexander Edward Lindsay, the earl of Crawford. Yet it was in November, 1915, that the collection was brought to this country to be divided among the customers of the buyer. The example of Mr. Marlett is one that calls for emulation and there is no doubt but that his article will be a readable one. He might say in his article that the stamps in the collection were the subject of a complete postal history, in which the evolution of the stamps was suggested from the artist's original drawings to the finished product; and that the descriptive lines were the work of the earl of Crawford, himself.

In the November issue of Beauty, a contribution, "Your Shoes and Your Character," by William Bishop, is noticed; and in the course of this article, the following paragraph is found: "The wisdom of the cobbler's reflective years is the beginning of a passion for the stories told by worn shoes. Let others collect porcelain and stamps and models of ships: none of those contains the fascination or the philosophy of the neglected province of old shoes." We cannot object to the company to which Mr. Bishop consigns stamps, even though it is decidedly mixed. The pursuit of porcelain is a royal one and as for ships' models, they seem to be on the wave of fashionable favor. A friend has just told us of the hobby of one of his acquaintances who collects wooden Indian cigar signs. This collector cannot pass Poor Lo on a pedestal without wanting to annex him and he has about one hundred cigar signs of the kind in a warehouse. He has a keen eye for condition and if the Indian has a truncated nose or a macer-ated ear, he will give only a low price for him; and it is interesting to hear that he believes that the cigar signs are a good speculation and that in the future they will be appreciated in an historical way. We wonder what he thinks when he gets an invitation to show his collection at a meeting of the Indian Sign Collectors Club.

TACOMA EXHIBIT.

(The Tacoma (Wash.) Philatelic Society had a notable exhibit at the local Public Library reference rooms early in March. Cecil F. Blogg, secretary, states that twenty-four frames of stamps were included in the exhibit, while four were placed in downtown store windows to advertise the main exhibit. Mr. Blogg sends us a clipping from the local "Daily Ledger," which is of sufficient interest for us to reprint. —W. O. W.)

Stamp collecting exercises a wide appeal and is said to be today by far the most widely spread hobby of any in the world. Collectors are to be found in every country. The Tacoma Philatelic Society hopes by means of the exhibit of stamps and of the literature pertaining to it to discover unknown collectors and to win converts to the ranks of the fascinating pursuit.

There are many philatelists in Tacoma now, old and young, advanced and beginners, and some of the most prominent will have choice collections and rare stamps on exhibit at the coming show.

Clyde Brill, Market street tire dealer, who is vice president of the society and widely known as an advanced collector, in addition to a very large general collection he has specialized on the two first stamps ever issued, the British Penny Black and Twopence Blue of 1840. He has about 1,500 of these rare stamps, all different, and is still far from possessing all varieties.

Cecil Blogg, secretary of the society, is an authority on stamps in general, but has specialized on two countries as widely apart as Siam and Haiti. Fred Mosher has confined his activities to modern British Colonial issues of which he has a very large and attractive collection.

Professor Johnson of the Edison school enjoys country-wide fame as an authority on pre-cancelled stamps of the United States; his collection of these number about 30,000 varieties and is the third largest of its kind in the United States. H. Sherwood Blackburn, with the Pioneer Printing Company, is another general collector.

R. H. Langdon, manager of the Tacoma office of R. G. Dunn & Co., has one of the finest collection of stamps and envelopes of the United States in the entire Northwest. Leroy Pratt, of Tacoma, has a magnificent collection and has particularly specialized on aerial postage stamps.

A. B. Nessonson, contracting freight agent for the Great Northern railroad, is an enthusiastic collector. Other well known collectors are Henry F. Parks, organist at the Blue Mouse Theater; Fred Butts, with the Gregory Furniture Company; Louis Johnson, of the Tacoma News Tribune; Benjamin J. Weeks, of Benjamin J. Weeks Co.; J. G. Hinds, chief engineer of the American Wood Pipe Company; William Oudeans, with the Packard Shoe Company.

August von Boecklin, president of the Washington Manufacturing Company, has a very fine collection and has specialized on the stamps of Liberia. J. G. Richards, export manager for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, is another stamp enthusiast, as is also Yositaro Ihno, cashier for the same company. Professor Hedley, occupying the chair of psychology at the College of Puget Sound, is a collector.

All over the world educators, medical men, lawyers and clergymen, furnish a very large percentage of stamp collectors, the hobby evidently appealing especially to the learned professions.

Leland Lund, of the Book Exchange, Pacific Avenue, is especially popular with the boy collectors, as he is not only a collector, but also a dealer, and Kenneth Taylor of Prospect Hill is another collector-dealer.

Edward Ceder is still another enthusiast, and the same is true of Mr. Stevenson, who even lectures on stamps before various juvenile organizations. Mrs. Appleby, wife of the Very Reverend Arch-Deacon Appleby, has a very large and fine collection, and Mrs. Arthur Sydow, wife of Rev. Sydow of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, is a collector.

Another Rare Error

United States 1922, 2c Imperf. Vertically, Scott's No. 552a

I am pleased to inform my clients that I have fortunately been able to purchase the block of twenty of the 2c 1922 series, imperforated vertically, that was recently found in a small Michigan Post Office and described in my Chronicle for February 25th. In addition to the above twenty, a block of thirty rests in a private collection. These are all that are known to exist. I have one pair and one block to offer and would be pleased to hear from parties interested.

A SCARCE COIL SHADE VARIETY

The 3c sidewise coil unwatermarked, Scott's No. 493, usually comes in a dull violet shade. I have recently found a coil in an almost bluish color different from any that I have had before. I offer these varieties at 25c a pair or 50c a strip of four. For line varieties add 25c more. These are die II and are nicely centered. I also hold a very fine stock of all other coil issues and would be pleased to receive inquiries. Am in the market to purchase pairs and strips of the 1908 10c coil.

UNITED STATES.—Huguenot-Walloon Commemorative Series.—In further reference to my remarks of March 3rd regarding special stamps to be issued in commemoration of the three hundredth anniversary of the settling in New Netherlands and elsewhere by the Walloons, I now have information that the Commission having in charge the arrangements for this celebration have furnished the Department several designs from which selections will be made for the new stamps. These include such views as the ship "New Netherland" which brought the early settlers to this country, "The Landing of the Walloons at Fort Orange," Albany, etc., and these sketches have been submitted to the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, and they have been asked to rush the stamps through to an early conclusion. It is hoped that they will be ready for issue during April and quite possibly on April 28th for the Dutch Churches of the country will have special services on the previous day. The stamps will be similar in size to our current series but will be like the higher denominations, that is, with the long dimension horizontal. They will be printed in sheets of four hundred and distributed through the Post Offices in panes of one hundred. It is expected to produce these by the flat bed presses, and they will be perforated 11. We are not likely to have the varieties in an imperforate condition.

Franking Privilege for Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.—Under date of February 28th the House of Representatives passed a Senate Bill, which Bill has since been signed by the President, granting to Edith Bolling Wilson, widow of the late President, the privilege of franking letters free of all charge.

Postage Stamp Plate Numbers.—Through the courtesy of the Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Major W. W. Kirby, we are in a position to bring our list of Plate numbers up to and including February 25, 1924.

From the list it will be seen that the Department has started again to make plates of four hundred subjects of the 2c denomination for use on the rotary press. I explained in an early Chronicle that the Department was precancelling the 1c stamps on the rotary press and that other denominations would follow as soon as the Department had made sufficient headway in supplying the 1c value to the sixty-five larger offices. The appearance of these 2c plates leads us to believe that this denomination will shortly appear perforated 10 for precancelling purposes. The Department no doubt will favor us as they have before and let us have a supply through the Philatelic Agency without the cancellation. I am not in a position as yet to advise when these stamps will be available to the collector.

It will also be noted that we have a pair of the new 5c coil plates, portrait of Roosevelt, in the above list, and this variety may also be expected at an early date. Plates for the 10c coil have not as yet appeared, but as this variety is a slow seller and there seems to be so few on hand, it is likely a month or so will pass before this denomination appears in coil form.

Philatelic Stamp Agency.—In sending out stamps from the Agency they are now using special invoice forms and back of these invoices is information of importance to all of those purchasing stamps direct from Washington. I am therefore quoting in full, from their remarks:

"The object of the Agency is primarily for the purpose of selling United States postage stamped paper to dealers and collectors. The Agency does not otherwise deal in stamps, and is no authority on philatelic values. Cancelled stamps are not purchased nor are exchanges made.

United States stamps are sold at face value and stamped envelopes at post value plus manufacturing value. Stock will not be sent on approval.

Remittances should be made by money order or bank draft payable to the Philatelic Agency, P. O. D. Personal checks can be accepted only when certified. If coin or currency is sent, the remittance should always be registered. The Agency will not be responsible for remittances of coin or currency sent by unregistered mail.

The remittance should include return postage and registry fee. Patrons of the Agency should not send a self-addressed envelope for the return of their purchase. Such envelopes are frequently found unsuited for the purpose.

Small balances due the purchaser will be returned in 1c and 2c postage stamps.

It is requested that patrons typewrite their orders on papers 8x10 1/2" in size if convenient. It will greatly facilitate the work of the Agency if orders are written in the following form:—

They then give us a form letter wherein the stamps wanted are enumerated, and the amount totalled and signed. If there are remarks or inquiries made, this should follow after the order. They further inform us that at times the orders which they receive are unusually heavy and that delays cannot be avoided. Patrons, however, may be assured of impartial treatment, as the orders are numbered on receipt and filled in their regular turn.

CEYLON.—Mr. R. Roberts informs us that he has received the 100r grey-black on white, script watermarked.

CHINA.—The air mail service has again been suspended. When it is resumed a new series of aerial adhesives will probably be issued, or possibly the existing series in new colours. Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., classify the previous groups, used, in three groups, viz., (1) July 1, 1921. "First Flight," Peking-Tsinan, withdrawn after one flight owing to military difficulties. Not more than 100 covers are known to have been carried by this flight. Stamps were cancelled by an oblong wood "chop" containing large Chinese characters only. (2) July, 1922. Peking-Pei-tai-Ho, withdrawn after one month's flight. Ordinary postmarks. (3) Two services, May, 1923 to October 31, 1923; ordinary postmarks.

As regards the Pao-tzu-ku bandit postage stamps, a correspondent informs Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal that these were issued by the American Relief Committee, organized to supply food, clothing, etc., to the persons captured from an express train in May, 1923, by the "Lincheng Bandits." The stamps were printed from woodblocks, prepared by native Chinese, and printed on native paper. The denominations are 5c on red and 10c on yellow, but the value 5c appears as 50c owing to a mistake of the native engraver. Two hundred copies of each were printed, which were distributed to the captives for the sending of messages from Pao-tzu-ku, the bandits camp, to Lincheng. Messrs. Gibbons remark that the issue of these stamps seems to have been a wholly unnecessary proceeding, but perhaps further information will reveal some reason for it.

Mr. Loo Ung brings to notice a special cancellation in a double oval, applied to stamps of the current issue, the Chinese characters of which he transcribes as "In commemoration of President Hsu Shih Chang."—Stamp Collecting.

EGYPT.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts the one pound stamp of the King Fuad type. The colors are purple and blue, with one pound sign in the left corner. Mr. Roberts adds that it seems to arouse some comment that the sign is not the pound one.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the 3c green on white, script watermarked paper.

FINLAND.—Our Special Correspondent, Mr. Sulo Kinnunen, sends us a new 75 penni stamp, in the current Lion type.—Stamp Collecting.

WHEN YOU'RE FISHING FOR MUSKIES

you don't want perch to bite, therefore you use a bait and hook sufficiently large to stop the small fry from taking hold.

What I want to explain is this, I deal in old U. S. and British North America stamps, mostly 19th Cent. of the rarer varieties. My net books of these issues run from $150 to $350, and some still higher, in value; it does not pay me to send out, and tie up these high value items for small sales, so the collector who cannot afford to spend at least $20 does not interest me, as sales under this sum mean very little profit, and I have the class of goods for those who can afford to invest from $20 to $100 at a time. Many of my customers take $100 or more from a single selection.

The conclusion is, I am angling for buyers with money to spare, and, believe me, I will do my best to please—send reference and state just what you need to fill in your collection and I'll surely try to do my part.

BOUND VOLUMES OF THE "WEEKLY".

We have on hand a few bound volumes of the WEEKLY, and offer them for sale at very reasonable prices. The years in question are 1902, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909. The price of these books is $2 each and this price is extremely reasonable in view of the high cost of binding in these days. Just to show you what we can do in the way of a handsome, substantial sample volume of the WEEKLY we will send you the year 1907 for $1.50 plus the zone parcel post charges on five pounds. This offer is for immediate acceptance.

Late GERMAN CHECK LIST

The March number of Linn's Stamp News contains a complete check list of all new German Stamps since the publication of Scott's Catalog. Our list is based on Scott's listing of these from month to month and all are listed with Scott's numbers and descriptions. Nearly every stamp is priced by us at our price so that you can readily fill up what you are short on. In addition we also list and price most of the German stamps of the past several years. Our pricing goes back as far as Scott number 82, pricing all varieties that we have in mint condition for single copies and block of four.

A Copy of this List Free on Request. Our Prices are as Low as others on all these Issues. We can usually fill 98% of orders received without making refund. When we offer it we have it in stock in quantity.

IF you have not yet started on the Modern Germans, do so now. Our offers of a few choice packets will fill your album cheaper than in any other way and the stamps are all beautiful, well printed and come nicely centered in most all cases. The packets offered below are big bargains for the money and contain German issues from as far back as 1906 and up to and including the late Hundreds of Millions of marks. The largest packet contains nearly everything in the very latest high values.

R. H. MOWER, 12 Geary Street, San Francisco, Calif.

HOBBY HAS MANY NOTABLE RIDERS.

The following article is taken from the New York Times of Feb. 10 and we deem it of sufficient interest to reprint in its entirety. Some of our readers will no doubt like to know more about the Reward of Merit medal awarded Mr. Pack by the Collectors Club, and J. Brace Chittenden, secretary of the Collectors Club, has written us the particulars:—

On September 27, 1923, at a regular meeting of the Board of Governors of the Collectors Club it was voted that they should, at their discretion, award a medal to be known as the Collectors Club Medal, and a diploma, for any outstanding achievement in philately. It was then decided that diploma and Medal No. 1, be awarded to Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack, for his work on the early issue of Victoria. Messrs. Lichtenstein and Lindquist were constituted a committee whose purpose it was to secure a new and beautiful medal and certificate.

It is the intention of the Board of Governors at this time to grant this medal at least once a year, although there is no obligation to do so assumed. As far as I know, this is the first action of this sort to be taken in America, although three such medals are granted in England, I believe, by the Royal Philatelic Society, based upon foundations for that purpose, and at least one in Germany. This action on our part is intended, as will appear, I trust, obvious to you, as an action tending to be helpful to philately generally, and I trust you will be able to comment upon it favorably in this light.

The cordial co-operation, evidenced in the columns of your journal, with the work we are trying to do, is very greatly appreciated, especially by yours truly. I am very glad that Mr. Phillips has agreed to keep you informed of our activities.

Charles Lathrop Pack, who has long been an authority on the planting and preserving of trees, has been honored by the Collectors Club with the first Reward of Merit medal offered in America for research in philately, or stamp collecting.

Most men are content with one hobby. Mr. Pack has two, forestry and postage stamps. While he has not spent so much money in gathering stamps as Arthur Hind of Utica, he is one of the few men in the country who have made a critical study of the postage stamp, its history, its paper and watermarks, the methods of engraving and printing it, and the reasons for those peculiar variations and errors that are so puzzling to collectors and, when discovered, command so high a price. In this respect Mr. Pack ranks with John N. Luff of this city, President of the Collectors Club and author of an elaborate work on the postage stamps of the United States.

The directors of the club voted, a few days ago, to award the merit medal, which is now being designed, to Mr. Pack for his recent monograph on the first stamp issues of Victoria, Australia, including those with the half-length and the enthroned portraits of Queen Victoria. In England two such awards are offered yearly, and there is a similar one in Germany.

Mr. Pack's collection of early Victoria stamps is one of the finest in the world. In the international exhibition in London last May it won the champions gold medal for the best collection of British or British Colonial stamps. Only other collection that compares with Mr. Pack's is owned by King George VI. The King was so much interested in Mr. Pack's work that he sent him study his entire collection of early Victoria stamps—the first time that such an honor has ever been bestowed upon an American.

More American collectors than ever before represented in a foreign exhibition sent their collections to London meeting. Among the winners were Arthur Hind, Alfred Lichtenstein, Representative Ernest Ackerman of New Jersey, Edward Knapp, John Klemann and Arthur Newton Pack. Their combined collections, valued at more than $1,000,000, showed strikingly the increasing interest in stamp collecting in this country among those who have outgrown the fitful stamp fever of the schoolboy.

Other prominent collectors here include Colonel E. H. R. Green, William H. Crocker of San Francisco, whose specialty has been early Hawaiian stamps; former Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Senator Ashburn of Arizona, Senator Crampton of Michigan, Senator Dallinger of Massachusetts, Admiral O. R. Harris, General Henry Hill Bandholtz, General Charles A. Coolidge, a cousin of the President who commanded the American forces in the Peking Boxer rebellion; Judge Robert Emerson of Providence and Edward S. Knapp of this city, whose specialty is stamps of the Confederate States.

Besides the King of England, several other members of royalty are devoted to the hobby of philately. King Alfonso of Spain has for many years been a collector of the stamps of his country and of the Spanish colonies. One of the features of the recent ation sales of the Ferrara stamps in Paris was the contest in bidding between the agent of the Spanish King and Arthur Hind for several rare old Spanish stamps. The King's agent lost the contest, and the stamps came to this country.

King Ahmed Fuad of Egypt is a collector. One of his specialties is the issues of the Confederate States, and a few years ago he purchased the collection of those stamps formed by Gerald S. Curtis of Garrison-on-Hudson, which was one of the best in America. Prince Oscar of Sweden is a prominent philatelist, specializing in Scandinavian stamps. In Austria the most prominent collector is Prince Hohenlohe. His Chilean group is particularly fine.

In England the Marquis of Bute is making a collection of all the stamps issued during and since the European war. It is said he has already spent $300,000. The Earl of Kintore, the Earl of Kingston and Lord Ranfurly, formerly Governor of New Zealand, are among other British collectors.

Many stories are told at the Collectors Club meetings of unexpected finds made by philatelists in the pursuit of their hobby. It is this phase of collecting that contributes so much zest to the pastime. Charles J. Phillips, formerly a dealer in London and, since his retirement, a New Yorker, says, "Many a woman has burned a small fortune when she made a bonfire in the back garden of old correspondence found in the attic. Many a business firm has sent its old papers to the junk shop and thereby destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of valuable old stamps.

"In Philadelphia a few years ago a mass of old papers was obtained by a man who knew something about stamps. Within a short time he sold his purchase for more than $50,000. The old papers contained quantities of fine early United States issues, and, in addition, many important autograph letters. Stanley Gibbons, a London dealer, years ago purchased a sackful of triangular Cape of Good Hope stamps from a pair of sailors. He paid $25 for the lot and sold the stamps for more than $3,000. As prices go today, he sold them cheap.

"The King of England obtained one of his greatest rarities, a beautiful copy of the two-penny Post Paid Mauritius, 1847, in a curious manner. The stamp was discovered by an old collector, who found it in his forgotten schoolboy collection. It was purchased by King George for $7,250.

"In Demerara, British Guiana, a Miss Rose found, several years ago, a pair of the rare 1850 British Guiana two-cent stamps. She gave them to her vicar to sell for the benefit of his church. They passed through several hands, and were purchased at last by Arthur Hind for $15,000.

"I advise any one who has old letters dating from 1847, when the first United States Government issue was made, to about 1870, to look them over carefully. Something of value is almost sure to be found among them."

Everybody a Millionaire

Besides the provisionals and "high values" issued in Germany during the last months, the German Banknotes printed in the same period are of much interest to the Collector. I offer a set of 10 different Banknotes from 10 Millions to 50 Billions and one of my superb Collections of

OMNISCIENT PHILATELY.

(Providence, R. I., philatelists are pluming themselves upon the following editorial which appeared in the Providence "Journal" on February 22. E. Tudor Gross, in submitting the clipping, declares that commendation of this character has a lot of influence in moulding public opinion and especially when it appears in a paper of the standing of the Providence "Journal".—W. O. W.)

For the thirty-ninth consecutive time the Rhode Island Philatelic Society has just been in annual session in this city to discuss the latest thing in postage stamps and to dine in joyful kinship of spirit. The Rhode Island Society is the oldest organization of its sort in the country; the history of prepaid-postage stamps is not so very much older than the association; and by the interest still displayed, what one thought of in childhood as a pleasant after-school hobby is again proven to be an exact and far-reaching study.

Philately embraces a good many other things. Many will confess having learned more geography from "approval sheets" than from the class-room charts, and more history from surcharges and provisional issues than from the text-books. The general collector is a traveller at home, a careful follower of international politics, a well-informed authority on the present state of government in every corner of the globe. He is a cosmopolite, for all his homekeeping habits. He knows where to look on the map for the Leeward Islands, for St. Pierre and Miquelon, for Mauritius—with its priceless one-copy stamp—and for Inhabane, which a good many of us have never even heard about. Moreover he can tell one South American republic from another by dint of avoiding innumerable swindles in "collection issues" where-with certain unscrupulous Latin generals have, in the past, actually financed their revolutions.

Who was Bolivar? The philatelist knows, for he sees his lofty brow in seven colors in his album. Who was Toussaint L'Ouverture? Ask the stamp-collector, for he doubtless possesses that patriot's uncanceled portrait in red and blue and green. History, familiar and obscure, is perpetuated in his picture-gallery.—Roosevelt, Edward VII, Ferdinand, the third Napoleon, Wilhelmina, the Weirid Rajah Brooks, the unhappy Manuel and half the pretenders and dauphins of the last century. And the World War remains with us in retrospect in small, gum-backed symbols! Philately has not only dignity but zest, not only the magnetic interest of a hobby but the enduring benefits of scholarship. Rhode Island is fortunate in being the eldest brother of collectors.

GERMAN RENTENMARKS.

Messrs. Whitfield King & Co., in their January Bulletin, write:—"The German stamps in the new currency have appeared and we have received supplies, but on finding that their cost was about 1/3 per mark instead of 1sh as we had expected, we made enquiry through our bankers if drafts payable in the new 'Rentenmarks' could be obtained, as the bank had ceased to deal in marks. The following extract from their reply explains the position:—

"There are no dealings in the London market in the new Rentenmarks, nor can we give you any idea as to their value against sterling. We understand that most commodities in Germany are no priced in gold marks, with the object of avoiding continual re-pricing owing to the fluctuating value of the paper mark. Gold marks, however, are no longer dealt in, but in order to obtain the price to be paid for any particular article, one has to obtain the official rate declared daily by Berlin for one gold mark paper marks, and multiply the same by the value of the article in gold mark. By this method the value of the gold mark invariably works out somewhere between 17 and 18 to the £, as against the pre-war value of 20.45.

"Our remittances to Germany have been made in Bank of England and Treasury Notes, which our agent has sent for paper marks, the Bank deducting per cent. for exchange. The stamps are bought over the Post Office counter at paid for in paper marks, which are taken at the official rate of the day. In addition to the Bank exchange we also have to pay our agent's commission, so that we actually receive only about 16 marks for £1. We trust this explanation will satisfy our new issue subscribers, whom we are charging 1/3 per mark, plus our commission."

POSTAGE METERS.

A. H. PIKE, Binghamton, N. Y.

It is possible that some of the WEEKLY readers have lost interest in postage meters due to the fact that it has been some time since the last check was printed. To compile a list of this kind is quite a task and the printers are adverse to putting the material in type. Regardless of these obstacles collectors are going right ahead with their collection. A few are striving for a complete set, but the majority are satisfied with the rare items.

All first class mail permits including meters are as closely related to philately as any postage stamp ever issued. Instead of an issue of stamps universally used by a country for a number of years, mail permits represent a distinct variety for every individual user. Besides users, after securing their permit, might try out several different makes of machines. Some used only for a few days others possibly weeks and another make of machine installed. Quite a number of meters have been changed, due possibly to some defect. In all these cases a different stamp is used. That is, the designs used on the various machines differ sufficiently to be recognized. Besides, the change of meter number can be easily recognized. In some cases the permit number has been changed.

These machines are put out on trial, loans, rent as well as sold, and even after they are sold they are discontinued. All discontinued varieties after a short period of use are more or less rare, the same as a postage stamp would be. Obsolete varieties have sold as high as $40.00 and hundreds of them have changed hands at prices ranging from $1.00 to $5.00.

The first use of a postage meter was on Nov. 16, 1920. The highest number used in this country at the present time is No. 2,281. Canada allotment of meters commenced at No. 4,000. England commenced with the No. 3,000 series but as these numbers do not show on their permits it is of no interest to collectors. The actual meters in use of all denominations at the present time is much less than 2,000, with a possible 200 rare varieties, still we get letters from philatelists stating that there are so many varieties that it seems useless to try to collect them.

These same philatelists would consider their stamp collection very small if they only had 2,000 varieties. It is not necessary to get every variety of first class permit any more than it is to expect to own one of each of every stamp of any country. Getting one of each of every variety of permit would be much easier than getting the stamps.

We are not urging any one to drop their stamps, or any other hobby and specialize on meters, but we feel safe in saying that this feature of philately should not be neglected. Secure at least a representative collection, know the rare varieties and keep your eye out for them. They represent postage paid, they are used in place of stamps and each have an individuality in three ways besides the amount, (1) name of the user (2) permit number. (3) meter number. It is impossible to find any two of the above combinations duplicated, so that each variety is distinct.

The trouble with most stamp men is that they wait until an issue is obsolete and high priced then there is a mad scramble to get varieties. It is like our present day associates; we do not fully appreciate them until they are gone. Personally, it does not make any difference to me whether any one else collects meters or not. They interest me immensely and most of my correspondents seem as interested as I am, but I continue to go on with the compilation of data for every user believing that some day a complete record of this material will receive its full appreciation.

The check list and Addenda published in the WEEKLY and later put into book form was far from being a success with the publishers. I have found out since that the main reason was that this list was arranged alphabetically by states and under each state the cities and under each city a numerical list of permits. The majority prefers to arrange these numerically by meter numbers. A new check list is being compiled in this form and we would appreciate very much suggestions from readers as to the best method of arrangement.

While at the A. P. S. convention in Washington, last summer, I found the majority of those in attendance inter-

WASHINGTON, D. C.

By WARNER BATES. 73 W. Eagle St., Buffalo, N. Y.

(This department deals only with U. S. issued before 1890 and mainly postal issues. The editor cannot give valuations on minor varieties, etc. Stamps sent for examination should be of interest because of oddity, scarcity, etc., or to clear up some debated question. Postage should be enclosed with registration fee when desired, also self-addressed envelope. —Ed.)

E. A. Dexter, 2001 Walbrook Ave., Baltimore, submits some examples of guide dots on the two cent green, Washington. The lot submitted all show dots at the left of the oval containing Washington's portrait, these dots being in various locations, some outside the design and others merging with the lines up the background.

One specialist in stamps of the 1870 to 1888 period in writing to a correspondent recently says regarding guide dots: "These color dots occur on almost all of the stamps but are quite frequently covered by the design. However, I have never paid any attention to them." The editor realizes that it will never be possible to define exactly the limits that any specialist shall draw for his own collection, this being a matter of preference. Some stop at a page of shades and nice copies of a stamp. Others add a few nice cancellations. Some collect cancellations only and go into this matter rather seriously. Others, like the editor, go the whole way and collect anything that might be considered as making one stamp different from another, provided the difference is a legitimate one. Personally, the editor feels that the guide dot varieties on early U. S. stamps are interesting and collectible. They are plate varieties and were placed on the different designs by the engraver for a definite reason. Some, such as triples, are quite rare.

"Will you kindly tell me if there is any book published on U. S. cancellations of the 19th century which places an approximate valuation on the various varieties? Also, where I can secure a copy?"

The above inquiry from G. Maurice Pepper, No. 321 North Downing St., Piqua, Ohio, brings up again the need for some sort of guide to the values of minor varieties and cancellations. In the opinion of the editor of this department, a workable guide to cancellations could be gotten up and printed at no considerable expense and there are indications that the sale would be rather large in the United States, especially if the price were not too high. Of course, to attempt to list and price all of the thousands of varieties of cancellations on all the various issues of U. S. stamps would be a herculean and very expensive task. Perhaps the time will come when it would be worthwhile but that time has not arrived as yet. It should, however, be possible to work out a guide on some of the commoner stamps that could be applied to other values by the use of a little horse sense on the part of the reader.

For example, such a catalogue might list the values of standard cancellations on such stamps as the three cent 1851, three cent 1857, three cent 1861 (without grill), two cent Black Jack (without grill), three cent 1869, three cent 1870 (without grill), three cent 1873, three cent 1879, three cent 1882, two cent red brown 1883 and two cent green 1887. Each of these values would be sufficiently representative of their respective groups as to give the specialist a workable basis for computing the value of similar varieties on the scarcer stamps of the same periods.

To save space and typography cancellations could be for the most part considered under certain standardized groups, noting the commonest of each group and one of the scarcest, and giving the approximate range of price between the commonest and the very scarce items of each group. This would leave it up to the specialist to fill in the gap according to his own knowledge of the game and his individual ability to compute values. To illustrate what is meant a few sample groupings of cancellations common to the three cent greens are given below. The first ones listed in each group are the common varieties and the second listings are the scarcer:

Quarterings (solid block of color).
Quarterings (outlined blocks and fanciful shapes).
Targets (three and four ring, medium size).

Targets (five rings and more or very small targets).

Grids (enclosed or unenclosed with five or six bars circular in form).

Grids (Odd shapes, Large square bread-toaster type).

Checkered (medium and large sized checks of irregular shapes and grouping).

Checkered (Diamond shaped checks in hexagonal and other fancy forms or the conventional checkerboard).

Stars (medium size, solid blocks of color, unenclosed or enclosed within circle).

Stars (extremely large stars with or without hollow center, stars within stars, outline stars enclosed in circle, clear stars in solid blocks of color, various fanciful forms of stars).

It would be necessary to make special footnotes in the case of certain cancellations to explain odd variations from type, the reason for relative valuations in some cases, etc. As for the scarcer types of cancellations, such as "Don't, U. S. Mail," "Supplementary Mail," "Paid

ATTRACTIVE APPROVALS
If you are a general collector, my approvals will appeal to you. Try them and see money. A reference will bring you a selection to look over these winter months. Edgar W. Fielding, 126 W. 20th St., Wilmington, Del. [H] etc., these would have to be listed separately for all stamps covered. Color cancellations, such as red, orange, pink, magenta, purple, blue, etc., would have to be taken into consideration but, a judicious combination of listings and use of extensive footnotes all of these things could be combined in such a catalogue without making it too bulky. Such a catalogue would be doubly interesting if it could go more extensively to minor varieties than any now existing, listing some of the commoner or varieties that interest specialists such as arrow copies, imprint copies, the number copies, scratched and checked plates, various kinds of papers and, as hard, soft, linen like, ribbed horizontally and vertically, American and paper, etc.

Probably the best way of arriving at valuations in such a catalogue would be to examine specialized selections from a large number of dealers and make a composite chart showing the comparative prices asked for various varieties by all. After a sufficiently large list of prices had been built up averages could be struck which should fairly well represent the market valuations of the stamps or cancellations. It probably would improve and increase the value of the work if it could, before being printed, be submitted to a number of experts for review and comment.

There is a field that might show a good fit for some stamp publishing house on a matter that would be of the greatest benefit to the ever growing army of collectors in early U. S. stamps, especially to the younger men who are going into that particular branch of philately. Without doubt the sale of the book would be very large as many general collectors would buy it, as well as specialists.

Did You Get One?

A few weeks ago we advertised a "starter" packet of 25 attractive copies of Scott's No. 210, the 2c red-brown of 1883, to include at least four extreme shades and a variety of cancellations, such as stars, dated towns, numerals, letters, colored targets, etc., post paid for $1.00. Perhaps you intended to order one and make up an interesting page as a starter in the collection and study of cancellations. It is not too late; we have more of them and want your order on the basis of "satisfaction guaranteed or your money back on request".

Behind the starter packet are a score of approval books filled with classified cancellations on No. 210. These are for the advanced collector as well as the beginner. Other books of cancellations on No. 33, 43, 44, 42f, 49, 50, 52, 53, 63, 65, 68, 71, 73, 76, 78, 113, 114 and practically all of the "Bank Note" issues to 1888. Tell us what you want and your limits; we are sure to have something you need. [H]

J. O. MOORE, Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y.

Not long ago this department spoke of an upright goat cancellation on the two cent red brown, 1883. Dr. Homer Collins, 417 New Jersey Building, Duluth, Minn., submits an entire envelope, two cent red on amber, showing the upright goat within an outline circle, postmarked "Quillayute, Wash., March 7, 1885." Not having the first stamp mentioned at hand for comparison the editor cannot be sure that the two are exactly the same but if his memory serves him correctly they are identical. It surely is a most interesting cancellation and a mighty pretty piece on the cover submitted by Dr. Collins. Another pretty thing submitted on the two cent brown envelope (entire) is a large, fanciful Maltese cross (outlined) postmarked "Groesbeck, Minn., Feb. 6 1885."

Dr. Collins says in a facetious mood: "I note in the last paragraph of a recent issue of 'Early Low Values Specialized' that Major Bonesteel is looking for some 'switch' watermarks. There is always something new for the specialist."

Well, the editor of this department gets blamed for a lot of things but in this case he wishes to absolve himself from the blame for all the various idiosyncrasies that typographers display at times. For many years he has felt that typographers in general were placed on earth for the purpose of making writers uncomfortable and keeping them in hot water. "Switch" watermarks is nothing to what any competent typographer can do to a piece of copy when in the proper mood. In a recent issue the typographer made the editor speak of the two cent red brown of 1883 as "rarities." The word intended was "varieties." Obviously this particular typographer had a good sense of humor. And so it is that every time the writer picks up a magazine which is supposed to contain a piece of his work he does it in fear and trembling and if, after reading through something he has written after it is in type he finds that there are no typographical errors he offers up a prayer of thankfulness.

E. L. Willard, West Campus, State College, Pa., sends a most interesting variety of the two cent red brown, 1883. The stamp in question shows a rather solid-looking line of color parallel with the left edge of the stamp and about one-half millimeter from the edge of the design. There is also a distance [Copy is plain, but our "typographer" itches to make it "distinct."—Jewett.] vertical line running through the "w" of "Two." Has any reader a duplicate of this variety?

F. P. James of Lancaster, N. Y., submits a copy of the two cent, U. S. Inter Revenue, orange, first issue perforated, showing a very plain shifted transfer along the left side. The "Two" at the left side is very clearly shifted as are the letters "U. S." both at top and bottom. The left hand figure "2", both top and bottom are shifted, the lower one being so badly shifted as to make the figure appear considerably thinner than normal. Some of the lines of the ornaments and background on the left side of the stamp show traces of the shift.

CANADA PHILATELIC AGENCY.

A. B. Kunderd, Goshen, Ind., recently ordered some stamps from the Canada Philatelic Agency, Post Office Department, Ottawa, and in return received one-half of his order made up of very poorly centered stamps, the specimens of a character that no particular collector would place in his collection.

He wrote the Department immediately the letter quoted below and it will be noted that reference is made to a charge of more than face value for the stamps ordered. The Canadian collectors will do well to improve the service at their Agency and it would be in order for them to suggest a duplication of the service that we are receiving from our Washington Agency. The letter of Mr. Kunderd follows:—

"It is with great disappointment that I acknowledge your letter of March 3rd, containing postage stamps recently ordered. Inasmuch as the enclosed stamps are not well centered copies and are very disappointing to any collector to receive, if you do not feel inclined to replace them with good copies I will thank you to return the defective ones to me.

If it is going to be your policy to send anything just so it is stamps you will soon lose the confidence of people sending you good money for these and expecting nice additions to their stamp collection.

The United States government has developed quite a business in the sale of unused stamps and are exceptionally fine in sending only choice copies, anything else can be used for mailing purposes.

It will be only by furnishing good copies that your Department can hope to thrive as it should. If I have to buy several copies to get one good one each time I would simply give it up in disgust. Put yourself in the position of receiving a poor grade of merchandise from your merchant where good quality should have been furnished.

Another point I should like to make clear to you is that it is by no means fair for any Government to ask more

REVIEW OF VICTORIA.

HALF LENGTH PORTRAITS AND THE TWO PENCE QUEEN ENTHRONED.

By EMIR.

This scholarly and exhaustive study by Charles Lathrop Pack, F.R.P.S.L., F.R.G.S.L., is decidedly a most impressive and beautiful example of the printer's art. The handsome yet dignified exterior of this large volume is but the fore-runner and fit counterpart of the large type, soft, thick paper and the admirably clear, enlarged half-tone illustrations, of which there are no less than seventeen pages.

It is most difficult to present such matter to the non-specialist reader and still do justice to both—the reader and the subject. The book in question treats of only four stamps. For our convenience let us list them:

THE FIRST FOUR STAMPS OF VICTORIA.

	Scott	Gibbons
I. ONE PENNY	{ 1 Dull Red { 1a Vermilion { 9 Vermilion rouletted. { 2 Rose { 2a Pink	{ 1, 2, 3, and 4 Ham's* 1st setting { 5, 6, and 7 Ham's 2nd setting { 8-13 Ham's 3rd setting { 14-19 Campbell's 1st setting { 20-26 Campbell's 2nd setting
II. TWO PENCE	{ 5 & 5a Fine Background & Border { 6 & 6a Coarse Background & fine Border { 7, 7a, 7b & 8 " Background & coarse "	{ 27-31 Ham's 1st setting { 32-35 Ham's 2nd setting { 36-41 Ham's 3rd setting { 42-52 Ham's 4th setting
III. THREE PENCE	{ 3 Blue { 3a Light Blue { 4 Indigo { 10 Blue, rouletted { 10a Deep Blue, rouletted { 12 Blue, perf.	{ 53-56 Ham's 1st setting { 57-61 Ham's 2nd setting { 62-69 Ham's 3rd setting { 70-84 Campbell's 1st setting { 85-89 Campbell's 2nd setting
IV. TWO PENCE	{ 14 Reddish Brown, eng. { 15 Gray Brown, lith { 16 Brown Lilac, lith { 16a Red Lilac, lith	{ 90-91 2 shades, eng. { 92-97 6 shades, lith { 98-101 4 shades, lith, worn

From the above we can draw the following simple statistics:

1st stamp, Scott lists 5	Gibbons lists 26
2nd stamp, Scott lists 8	Gibbons lists 26
3rd stamp, Scott lists 6	Gibbons lists 37
4th stamp, Scott lists 4	Gibbons lists 12

Total 4 stamp, Scott lists 23 Gibbons lists 101

Mr. Pack gives incidentally a catalog or check list of his collection, arranged evidently according to Gibbons, but the major portion of his work deals with the problems and his solutions of plating. This is to a great extent original work and represents the painstaking labor of many years and the liberal use of ample funds.

The scheme of the work is set forth herewith so that the reader may judge of its exhaustiveness and great value.

45 pages—Political & Statistical 30 pages—Historical & Technical 38 pages—Biographical & Topical 48 pages—One Penny
28 pages—Two Pence (Half-length)
48 pages—Three Pence
18 pages—Two Pence (Queen Enthroned)
18 pages—Cataloguing Mr. Pack's collection of the above, which, as is well known, won the Grand Gold Medal at the London Exhibition recently.

In addition to the half-tones used, there are countless diagrams of settings sprinkled throughout the text in juxtaposition to the corresponding reading matter. Mr. Pack is meticulous in giving credit to earlier plating enthusiasts and where he has discovered contrary facts and, therefore, evolved new settings, he states his reasons and conclusions in such a simple and convincing manner that this "pleases the eye yet delights the mind."

Unfortunately, such a work will never appeal to the masses. Handsome, scholarly, dignified and a magnificent tribute to Philately, it must, by its very nature, be appreciated only by the few "cognoscenti." Therefore, all the more credit to Mr. Pack since he labored for his hobby without the reward of general acclaim.

In conclusion, readers will do well to be guided by this prescription: If you collect generally, take the 23 Scott varieties; if specialistic, Gibbons 101 are in order; if you want to study (and plate) the advice is—Victoria Pack.

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB.

Ray E. Loring, Marseilles, Ill.
Francis H. Bolich, Wadsworth, O.
A. A. Quevli, Windom, Minn.
H. A. Diamant, St. Louis, Mo.
E. E. Armstrong, Chicago, Ill.

In the same mail two applications for membership were received on Thursday, March 6. One came from Francis H. Bolich, 190 East St., Wadsworth, O., and the other from Ray E. Loring, Marseilles, Ill. Mr. Loring is secretary of the Amateur Trapshooting Association of Chicago. We welcome both these new members to our club.

A collector of U. S. blocks of four only is A. A. Quevli, of Windom, Minn. Mr. Quevli commenced collecting in 1888 and after ten years of active work took a vacation for eleven years, when he again started collecting in blocks of four. He takes his place as a member of the Honor Club. He is president of the firm of Quevli & Co., dealers in general merchandise at Windom.

"No St. Louisian is thus far on your honor list, so here is my check with wishes for the continued success of your publication. I like to be with the leader in affairs which are of interest to me, and I have certainly overlooked no opportunity to keep St. Louis in the philatelic procession and at the same time show my high regard for you and your associates. I await the arrival of your paper as anxiously as I do my business periodicals and I read it from the first page to the last, advertisements as well as news matter." Thus writes H. A. Diamant of the St. Louis Commission Co., St. Louis, Mo., in a letter sent to our Chicago office and with it a check for $5 to cover membership in the Honor Club. Mr. Diamant on his letterhead takes for his motto "To the front" and we appreciate his co-operation in helping the WEEKLY to larger achievements.

W. W. Betts of Clearfield, Pa., sends us a five-year subscription from E. E. Armstrong of Chicago, Ill., and we are pleased to add his name to our list.

THE MANAGING EDITOR

JUST Good U. S.
Mr. — wrote that he had been noticing my ads for some time and on several occasions had intended to write me. Now he is one of my regular customers.
If you are one of the "intenders," delay no longer, for some mighty good U. S. are passing through my hands every day.
If you must have very fine copies, I can furnish them at market prices. If just good copies are sufficient, I can offer them at prices which are sure to please you.
My stamps cost me good money, so let's swap! references. Mine A.S.D.A. No. 200. What's yours?

NEWS GLEANINGS.
—From Mr. W. C. Stone, Springfield, Mass., we have received a handsome little work that reviews the history of the Springfield Stamp Club from first to last; and the record of the accomplish-ments of that active body is a proud one. Springfield's club has entertained three conventions of the American Phila-telic Society in the years as follows: 1902, 1912, 1922 and we suppose that it will be on the lookout for the 1932 meeting. The pictures of the members of the club add to the interest of the book and pleasant recollections are revived in the minds of the old-timers in reading of the work and play of the members of this admirable organization.

—A philatelist writes from West China to the effect that having lost his stamps from a boat in a river, he is dis-couraged as a collector; and thinks that he will try his luck as a dealer.

—Mr. Douglas P. Ball, Chicago, has just shown us three values of the new lithographed set of Guatemala, the one cent green with quetzal; the fifty cen-tavos, pink, depicting the Colon Theatre; and the $5 orange with representation of statue of Garcia Granados.

—Paris is using the special cancella-tion: "Jeux Olympiques, Paris, Mai-Juin-Juillet," to advertise the forthcom-ing Olympic Games.

—A card is at hand from the W. C. Henry Philatelic Service announcing the opening of a very fine stamp store at 12 Mercantile Arcade, Los Angeles, Cal., on March 10. The firm makes the proud claim that "this will be the most up-to-date store devoted exclusively to the sale of U. S. and foreign stamps and accessories in the world."

—A stamp club has been organized in San Antonio, Tex., called the Temple Junior Stamp Collectors Club. It will meet monthly at the Baptist Temple. Wm. Kilburn is president, Daisy Walker secretary and R. H. Perry adviser.

—Stanley Gibbons, 391 Strand, Lon-don, England, has sent us a 48-page pamphlet listing albums, catalogs, hand-books and philatelic accessories sold by that firm. As may be imagined, the book is filled with data of interest to the stamp collector and a copy will no doubt be sent to any applicant.

—Any "shut-in" who would like an obsolete copy of Scott's catalog may have one free of charge and postpaid by applying to John G. Jewett, 274 Charlton Ave., South Orange, N. J. Only one to a person.

—A drive for membership has been inaugurated by the Precancel Society. Full information with rules of the con-test can be obtained from Maury Swartz, Box 416, Penn. Ave. Sta., Washington, D. C.

—We are compelled to advise various interested parties that we are unable to locate H. L. Wiley, the author of our booklet on the U. S. 3c Green. We have used every endeavor to do this, but are unable to ascertain his whereabouts.

—No doubt a number of collectors are unacquainted with the fact that in the measurement of perforations the top measurement is given first. In other words a stamp perforated 11x10 means that it is perforated 11 at top and bot-tom and 10 at the sides. P. D. Booth of St. Joseph, Mich., suggests that it would be a good idea to pass this information along. Mr. Booth also writes us of the pleasure of a call made upon A. F. Fil-strup of Benton Harbor, Mich., and his experiences in viewing a fine specialized collection of U. S., including singles, blocks, pairs and strips, as well as a fine range of covers.

—A reader is informed that James Campbell was the postmaster-general in 1853, when the first U. S. stamped en-velopes were issued.

—Perhaps the following statement in the course of an article by Mr. E. S. Knapp in the Collectors Club Philatelist will help a reader who inquires about forged or faked Confederate cancella-tions: "If a Richmond postmark, in which the letter V of VA. is serified and shows a period after the VA., it is a fake cancellation."

—From Mr. C. W. Love, we have re-ceived a copy of the Living Age for March 1, 1924, which contains a well-written review of "New Postage-Stamps," which shows close attention to the subject on the part of the writer. The earthquake stamps of Japan are accounted the most interesting of the recent comers.

—A subscriber believes that it would be a good plan to put to a vote the mat-ter of issuing a Wilson Memorial Stamp, believing that such a stamp would be popular with philatelists. Our impres-sion is that a plebiscite of this kind would not furnish tangible evidence to the P. O. Department of the need of such a memorial issue.

—Through the kindness of Alfred H. Benner we have had the privilege of in-specting some varieties of U. S. which indicate the pleasure that one may ob-tain from looking over the common stamps of any country, and especially the U. S. Specimens of the old 3c red perf. and imperf. are submitted showing Washington "asleep" and "weeping" and the later 1c Franklin "blind."

—L. S. Holmes, M. D., of London, Ont., Can., sends us a copy of the Lon-don Advertiser of Saturday, March 1, which gives the particulars of a local Hobby Fair to be held in that city in the near future. This event will be for boys and girls with hobbies and it is ex-pected that the authorities will have a real job in placing all the stamp exhibits that will be sent in. Various prizes will be awarded.

—L. J. Flerlage, sales manager of the I. P. A., informs us that Harry E. Klotzbach underwent an operation of appendicitis on March 10. Naturally all his friends and fellow members wish him a speedy recovery and matters of a philatelic nature will necessarily be de-layed for a short while.
